

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1493

"No."

"But I'm exhausted."

"All you need to do is lie down. I'll serve you."

Ivy was speechless.

Liam pulled her up from the bed and carried her into the bathroom. "Aren't you hungry? Go shower and make food."

They showered together, put on clothes, and headed downstairs.

Liam held her hand and said, "Are there ingredients at home? I'll do it. You just wait by the sofa and watch tv."

"It's late. Just make some pasta."

"Is it that late?"

"It's late. Siena still needs to go to school tomorrow."

"What else?" Liam walked over to the bed, sat down, and patted the position next to him. " Have you forgotten what you promised me just now?"

"What?" Ivy asked curiously.

"Miss Landers, it's not good pretending to be ignorant."

"Are you talking about this?" Ivy approached him and sat on his lap. She clutched his handsome face.

"Mister Liam, this isn't good, with no restraint, what if you get weak by overdoing it?"

"Do you think I will?" Liam let her hold his face in her hands with her thumb wandering around his face.

The feeling of pleasure slowly spread to him with every touch.

"It's hard to say." Ivy smiled flirtatiously at him.

"Ivy, I have been keeping myself clean for thirty years, only so that I could spoil you rotten. Do you think I would allow myself to get weak?"

"Won't you?"

"Why don't we try to find out?"

"Sure." Ivy pushed him to bed and climbed on top of him...
