

Chapter 271: Little Boss!

"Alright. Please eat first. I will go get the ring."

"Are you still coming back tonight?"

"I am coming back." Just as she was about to rush out, Mo Jiangye grabbed her arm and held on to her.
"I will go with you."

"You can stay home and eat. I will be back once I get the ring."

Mo Jiangye glanced at the delicious food on the table. "I'll eat on the way."

A few minutes later, Mo Jiangye was driving Ye Erruo back to the bar. They'd only brought along the steamed egg, as they could not bring the noodles she had cooked for him. Therefore, Ye Erruo was scooping up and feeding Mo Jiangye some steamed egg while he drove the car.

"Go to S City with me tomorrow."

"Mm? Why are we going to S City?"

Mo Jiangye turned his head around and glanced at her. "We are going to collect red packets."

Ye Erruo smiled. "Should I prepare some small gifts for them?"

She was going to meet all of Mo Jiangye's close friends tomorrow, the same people who had been calling her 'sister-in-law' and 'little sister-in-law' every day.

"What do you want to prepare?"

"I don't know, that's why I am asking you."

"There's going to be 1,000 to 2,000 people. What are you going to prepare?" he asked while turning the steering wheel.

"That many?"

"It isn't that many," he spat.

Ye Erruo put down the spoon nervously. "We should still prepare something out of consideration."

"Consideration? There is one thing they would definitely like."

"What?"

His lips curled up into a smile as he caressed her stomach with one hand. "A little boss in here. Of course, they would like that."

"..."

"We're here." He leaned over and unfastened her seatbelt.

"We can just head in from the back door."

The moment Mo Jiangye got out of the car, he wrapped her up tightly with a cloak before walking with her through the back door.

“Yao Tiao is taking care of a dog inside. Do not go inside. Just wait for me by the door. I will look for it in the washroom.”

“Okay.”

Red Bean barked and jumped happily in its cage when it heard some movement. Thankfully, the cage had metal bars. Therefore, no one could see its movements inside clearly.

“Young Master Mo? What are you doing here?” Ji Sichen asked with an astonished expression.

“I am waiting for Ruoruo.”

“Oh.” Ji Sichen secretly examined Mo Jiangye from top to bottom. He had never seen “Young Master Mo” up close before.

He was remarkable and was indeed compatible with Xiao Ruo. It was laughable that he used to have certain feelings for Xiao Ruo... His chances with her were practically zero.

“Alright, I found it.”

“Xiao Ruo, you haven’t gone back yet?”

“I did, but I came back to look for something.”

“Then you came at the right time. A lunatic has been constantly trying to find you at the front of the bar,” Ji Sichen said.

She did not need to ponder long to know who it was.

“Get someone to kick her out and do not let her in next time.”

“I did. She then brought a bunch of people in and seemed like she wanted to cause a scene. She offered ten million yuan for a night’s worth of your songs.”

“She sure is shameless,” Ye Erruo sneered.

“I’ll offer ten million yuan in exchange for her life,” Mo Jiangye said mockingly.

“You could bear to do that to your little girlfriend?”

Mo Jiangye furrowed his eyebrows and lowered his head before he said right next to her ear in warning, “Baby Ruo, if I ever hear you calling other women my girlfriend once more, don’t blame me for treating you badly.”

“...”

Ji Sichen coughed softly. “I’ll get a few more people to kick her out.”

Ye Erruo pushed Mo Jiangye aside. “I’ll go have a look.”

They had to first ask the other customers in the bar to disperse before kicking anyone out or getting into a fight.

When Ye Erruo emerged from the backstage area, Qing Ning instantly took notice of her and... the man beside her.

“Brother Jiangye...” Her adoring eyes instantly landed on Mo Jiangye as she stood up excitedly. She had not seen him for many years, but he had become even more attractive.

Chapter 272: Only You

Similarly, the first people to notice Ye Erruo when she appeared were Bo Jinyan and Yu Lingfeng.

“Brother Jiangye...” Qing Ning’s eyes sparkled. She had finally gotten to see him.

“Ah! He’s so handsome! So handsome!”

“Who is that man?”

“Their hands...”

Everyone’s line of sight was drawn to their intertwined hands in an instant.

With a vague smile, Ye Erruo walked hand in hand in Qing Ning’s direction.

On the stage, the people who were unaware of what was going on remained immersed in the upbeat music that had begun to play.

Ye Erruo and Mo Jiangye found a relatively-empty corner and sat down. It was a small booth not far from the booth Qing Ning was sitting at.

Qing Ning left her numerous bodyguards and walked over to them with a smile.

“Brother Jiangye, I am back. I went to the Lin Family’s residence to look for you today, but the maids said that you had moved out. I made a lot of effort before I managed to find out where you live, but the butler told me you were not in,” Qing Ning said as she sized up Ye Erruo out of the corner of her eyes.

“Mo Jiangye!” He reached out and pulled Ye Erruo into his embrace.

Qing Ning was taken aback. However, she called out, “Bro Jiangye, is she Ye Erruo?”

Mo Jiangye no longer pestered her about the new name she called him by. Without ever glancing at her, he answered, “Yes.”

“She is really pretty. I heard that she is now my sister-in-law?”

Mo Jiangye lifted his chin and looked askance at her. “Is there anything else?”

Qing Ning bit her lips. “Yes. I’ve missed you quite a bit. We haven’t met in many years. I miss the times you took me out to play, when you taught me archery, self-protection, and brought me along when you went hunting.”

Ye Erruo’s brows furrowed into a line. F*ck! They had been that close? Archery? Self-protection? Hunting? Weren’t all these the same things he had taught her before?

At that moment, complicated feelings flooded her heart...

Mo Jiangye was just about to speak when Qing Ning comfortably found a place to sit. "I kept hearing that this was the bar opened by my sister-in-law, so I came to support her."

When she saw Ye Erruo's unhappy expression, Qing Ning was secretly elated.

"Daddy and grandpa were really happy when they found out that I'm back. I was hoping to treat you and Grandfather Lin to dinner at our residence tomorrow."

Mo Jiangye seemed to have not heard what she said, as he rested his head on Ye Erruo's shoulder and explained gently, "I've taught many people how to shoot, but you are the only one I taught personally. You are also the only one I took out to hunt alone. There's nothing to say about self-protection. I've only personally taught you. She was the one who joined the army through her connections in the first place. It had nothing to do with me."

The anger in Ye Erruo's chest was appeased when she heard his words. She secretly tightened her hold on his hand. "You do not have to explain to me."

Mo Jiangye let out a burst of soft laughter lovingly.

He rubbed her soft cheeks intimately and said, "Alright, I'll stop explaining."

After all, he was already done with his explanations. She had heard them all.

After being ignored by Mo Jiangye despite calling him several times and seeing them talk softly to one another, Qing Ning thought about it before standing up to pour a cup of tea. She brought the cup to Ye Erruo.

"Sister-in-law, I would like to atone for my sins and all the previous conflicts we had with this cup of tea. I hope you won't mind."

Upon seeing her serious expression, Ye Erruo smiled. Her two-faced nature was displayed vividly. In front of Mo Jiangye, she was like a knowledgeable girl from a wealthy family, yet when Mo Jiangye wasn't around, she was like an uneducated madwoman.

Ye Erruo's lips curled into a smile. "I mind."

What was the point of acting? There was no point in mentioning how hypocritical she was. Ye Erruo could see how much Qing Ning wanted to get rid of her, yet she was trying to conceal it by making every effort possible.

Qing Ning was so furious that she did not know how to respond at that moment.

Chapter 273: So Long As I'm Still His Wife, Any Other Woman Who Pesters My Man Is a Mistress

"You!" screeched the enraged woman, who ultimately suppressed her anger at the last minute.

Chuckling away, Ye Erruo slipped her arms around her husband's neck as she shot a warning look at the other woman as though she was declaring her sovereignty.

This man is mine!

Qing Ning took a deep breath before she managed a forced smile with great effort. "I hope sis-in-law is magnanimous enough to overlook the inappropriate way I behaved previously. That's right, Brother Jiangye. You should bring sis-in-law along to our house for dinner tomorrow."

Ye Erruo played with her hair as she replied airily, "No, thanks. My hubby wants to introduce me to his band of brothers tomorrow, so we won't be able to make it for dinner at your place."

The young lady turned grim. "I-Is that so, Brother Jiangye?"

"Yes."

"You two can join us for a meal the next day then. It's been a long time since my grandfather last saw you, and I haven't met Grandpa Lin in a while either."

Mo Jiangye kneaded his wife's tender hand as he obediently asked her with a smile, "Do I have your permission to go, wifey?"

She shot him a look. "No."

"Okay. We won't go then."

Qing Ning's eyes bulged wide in incredulity, as she had never expected the man to listen to his wife so much.

"We'll be staying in S City for at least a week, so we can't drop by for a meal at your house."

"Oh... We can always have a gathering once you return."

Ye Erruo's lips twitched in disgust. Can't she discern the underlying meaning of my words? Very well. I'll make things clear for her once and for all.

"I have no desire to dine at your place."

Her curt reply made the other woman grit her teeth in anger as she flashed them a stiff, embarrassed smile. "O-Oh, okay. Brother Jiangye, you—"

"I go wherever she goes."

"B-But grandpa wants to meet you badly!" she cried out, looking aggrieved.

Ye Erruo snuggled in her husband's arms. "Get your grandfather to meet Mo Jiangye then. I'll set up a gathering and send a car to fetch your grandfather for a meal. You, on the other hand, need not come."

Qing Ning almost flared up at her rival's provocation right there and then despite her good upbringing.

"Sis-in-law, I know we got some bad blood between us over what happened previously, but there's surely no need for you to be so petty as to hold a grudge against me, right? I'm Brother Jiangye's childhood friend. We grew up playing together. What's the big deal about me having a meal with him on the rare occasion that I'm back in the country?"

A stern look appeared on Mo Jiangye's face. However, just as he was about to speak, his wife spat out, "I've always been a narrow-minded person who easily holds a grudge over the most trivial things. The idea of you having a meal with my man makes me jealous and upset. If I get upset, my husband will naturally not attend your dinner.”

The man was on cloud nine when he heard that his wife got jealous of him having a meal with another woman. As his heart soared, there was an increasingly wide beam on his face.

Out of curiosity and burning desire to see just how long the other woman would rein in her anger before she finally exposed her hypocritical side to the man, Ye Erruo went on provoking her.

“To my knowledge, you didn’t actually grow up with him and he never asked you to come around to play, so why are you still pestering him by pretending to be his childhood friend? Isn’t that right, hubby?”

He gave her another peck on the cheek. “That’s right.”

“You’re going overboard, Ye Erruo. I only want to have a meal with Brother Jiangye. Why are you so agitated?”

A smirk hung on her face as she studied the young lady before her. I’ve already made things very clear to her, yet she insists on pestering my man? Ha! I’ll deal with her the way one should deal with a mistress then!

“So long as I’m still his wife, any other woman who pesters my man is considered a hussy. Any idea what the word ‘hussy’ means?”

Mo Jiangye asked, “What does it mean, wifey?”

“A mistress bent on destroying my marriage.”

Chapter 274: I Do Not Have Enough Lobsters to Eat

“Who are you calling a mistress?” Qing Ning could no longer contain her rage.

“Whoever intends to become a homewrecker and snatch my man for herself will be considered a mistress. I wasn’t referring to you, Ms. Qing Ning,” said Ye Erruo ever so innocently.

“YOU!”

The woman stood up, stomping her feet with her hands trembling in fury before all of a sudden turning around and leaving their table.

She let out a smug snort as she picked up her drink and took a sip. And I thought she was so capable.

Behind her was a gleeful Mo Jiangye, whose eyes were smiling crescents. His arms were tightly wrapped around his woman’s waist.

“You’re holding me too tightly. Loosen your hold.” Ye Erruo looked down and tried to pry his hands away.

Alas, not only did he not loosen his hold on her, but he hugged her even tighter than before. “Okay, repeat what you said earlier.”

“What I said earlier?”

“How would you feel if I dined with another woman?”

She turned her head over and shot him a look. “Just tell me directly that you want to hear me say that I would get jealous.”

This made the man smirk wickedly. “Okay.”

“...”

Suddenly, the woman, who had left their table just moments ago, returned ever so calmly as though nothing had happened earlier. “Brother Jiangye, I’ll treat you to a meal whenever you’re free.”

Ye Erruo burst into laughter as she sarcastically asked, “When would you be free, hubby?”

“All my time belongs to my wifey.”

“...”

Qing Ning fought hard to keep the smile, which was threatening to slip off, on her face as she left the bar with her entourage of bodyguards.

“Tsk, tsk, tsk... Say, why is she so thick-skinned?”

Mo Jiangye suddenly stood up and picked his wife up. “Does she even have dignity?”

“Hmph!”

“It’s getting late. Let’s head back now.”

While hugging him tightly, she blurted out weakly and petulantly, “You’re not allowed to dine with her.”

He peered down at the woman in his arms, who seemed to have become even more adorable than before.

“I won’t dine, meet, or talk to her. I wouldn’t dare go against my wife’s wishes.”

She sucked her lips in satisfaction. “Is that so?”

“Yes—Ha!” The man started snarling all of a sudden in a certain direction.

Curious, she followed his line of vision, only to see Bo Jinyan and Yu Lingfeng having a drink not far away from them. The two men turned their heads over at that moment, probably sensing that someone was looking in their direction, and their eyes met.

“Why are they here?”

“That’s exactly my sentiment. Why are they here?” Mo Jiangye gritted out. “Don’t tell me that you have no idea whatsoever.”

“I truly didn’t know they would be here.” The surprised woman wanted to be put down on the ground.

“How long have these two been camping here? How lucky of them to turn up on the rare day you decided to come here and sing! That’s no easy feat,” he said.

“It’s just a coincidence.” How could they possibly be camping here in wait for me?

He set her down on her feet and put an arm around her waist as he narrowed his eyes at the men sitting at the opposite table, who raised their beer cups in greeting and flashed particularly brilliant smiles at his woman.

“You said they weren’t here for you.”

“...”

“Let’s go home.” The sight of these two men was a total buzzkill for him.

Ye Erruo followed her husband closely. “It’s been quite a while since I last showed up. They had no idea that I’d be here, so it must have been a coincidence.”

The man remained sullen. “When are you going to close this bar of yours?”

“Why do I have to close it?”

“I don’t like it,” he answered frostily. “Do I not have enough money for you to spend or enough food for you to eat? Why do you need to have a bar to earn money?”

The woman, who was walking behind him, suddenly jumped in front of him and leaned against him to whisper in his ear, “I don’t have enough lobsters to eat.”

Chapter 275: I Have Some Interest In Dogs. Could You Bring Me to Take a Look At It?

Mo Jiangye shot his wife a look. “So you have been secretly eating lobsters here behind my back?”

The woman shrugged. “No.”

“Xiao Ruo...” Yao Tiao’s voice echoed from behind.

“Hm? What is it?”

“I think Red Bean is out of kibbles. Help me buy some when you come over tomorrow so I won’t have to make a trip to the store.”

A dark, flustered look took over her face as she hastily pulled her friend aside. “Okay, I got it. I’ll get someone to deliver the kibbles here tomorrow.”

“Great, thanks!”

Meanwhile, the man frowned. “What is this Red Bean you’re talking about?”

“It’s a dog. Yao Tiao is pet-sitting someone else’s dog.”

He was hypersensitive to dogs now, especially ones with the name Red Bean, so Mo Jiangye’s face sank even further.

“Is it a dog with red fur?”

“Bingo.” Yao Tiao nodded fervently.

“Does it look like a teddy bear?”

“Yep.”

While standing beside her, Ye Erruo secretly reached out and tugged at her friend's arm, desperately wishing that she could get her friend's mouth to zip up.

Her husband pressed on with a sneer. "Is it as round as a ball?"

"It used to be, but it's all skin and bones now due to its poor appetite." Yao Tiao, who was clueless about the situation, spilled the beans about the dog to the man.

"And it's very fond of Ruoruo?"

"Yes, that's right—"

The other woman hastily put a hand over her mouth, pushing against it in warning. "That's enough. As you said, it's getting late. We ought to head home now."

After inhaling deeply, the man tugged at his shirt's collar with a creepy smile. "I have some interest in dogs. Could you bring me to take a look at it?"

Yao Tiao appeared confused as she replied, "Okay."

Ye Erruo shot a death glare in her friend's direction. If Mo Jiangye finds out that this is Red Bean, Yao Tiao will have to take care of it by herself. I won't be able to help her should Red Bean refuse to eat its meal again.

The other woman hesitated when she realized this. "Young Master Mo, aren't you allergic to dogs?"

"I've recovered and been cured of my allergy."

"Red Bean isn't here today. Why don't I bring it to you next time? Yes, how about next time?"

He pulled his wife over to him. "A sound was coming from the dog cage in the lounge."

"That's a cat, Young Master Mo."

"Oh, that's fine. I have some interest in cats too." Upon saying that, he pulled his wife in the direction of the lounge before Yao Tiao could even react.

Ye Erruo frantically waved her free hand at her.

"Keep waving at her for help."

"..."

The door to the lounge was kicked open with a bang.

The abrupt, loud noise startled Ji Sichen, who was inside the lounge searching for something.

"W-What's the matter?"

The other man headed straight toward the dog cage, which was not far away from the entrance. "Open it."

"No. Stay away from it. You can't touch dogs."

"Didn't you say it was a cat?"

“...”

“Open it.”

The nerve of her! She raised that ugly mutt behind my back! How dare she do that?

“There’s nothing inside. Young Master Mo, you should step further back.”

He gripped Ye Erruo’s wrist tightly in his hand as he eyed the dog cage. “Cut the crap and just open the d*mn cage.”

“Are you guys looking for Red Bean? It went out earlier,” said Ji Sichen.

The woman heaved a sigh of relief when she heard that. Knowing that her husband disliked Red Bean and that he was allergic to dogs, she had tried her best to stay away and minimize her visits to the bar during this period. Moreover, Yao Tiao’s pet-sitting job would be considered complete when Bo Jinyan picked up his dog in a few days.

Hm? That’s not right. Didn’t he say he would be abroad or something? He was here earlier. Did he come to fetch Red Bean?

Naturally, her husband did not miss her relieved look and was all the more certain that the dog Yao Tiao had been taking care of was the ugly mutt that he knew!

“Ye Erruo!”

Chapter 276: Are You Actually Feeling Embarrassed?

“Ye Erruo!”

The woman stifled a shudder. “W-What?”

“Are you raising that ugly mutt behind my back?”

She adopted a look of ignorance. “Pardon?”

“Go on! Go on feigning innocence all you want.” The man stomped his foot on the ground twice.

“That’s the dog Yao Tiao was paid ten million yuan to temporarily pet-sit. It has nothing to do with me.”

Mo Jianye scoffed. “Then why did you shower before returning home?”

“Don’t you have a dog allergy? Of course I have to shower to get off any dog fur that might have landed on me before coming home.”

“You know all about my dog allergy. That’s why you never go around touching dogs, save for that ugly mutt!” he said eerily. There it was. She had admitted the truth about that dog.

“Showering here before going home is a habit of mine.”

He gripped her shoulders. “Why didn’t you say so earlier?”

She could not come up with an answer.

While standing beside them, Yao Tiao stealthily nudged the dog cage to a corner. "I'm the one taking care of the dog, Young Master Mo. Red Bean's owner returned and fetched it away earlier."

"Why didn't you say so right from the start?"

"I-I... Well, I only found out about it now." She was at a loss for words.

Ye Erruo pried her husband's hands off her. "Don't tell me you thought that this Red Bean is the exact Red Bean we had previously?"

"Isn't it?"

"Of course not! Yao Tiao already told you that she's the one taking care of it. Plus, the fact that the dog's owner collected it is the best proof that they're two different dogs."

Her words made the man waver slightly. "Something's not right! Why did it like you so much then?"

Yao Tiao's lips twitched hard. This was the first time she got to see Chief Mo jealous first-hand...

"Red Bean is also fond of me and Ji Sichen. It likes pretty much everyone it sees," she answered earnestly.

His eyes were squinted as he kept doubting their words. "Did you pick it up then?"

His wife was left speechless again.

Feeling utterly helpless, Ye Erruo eventually lied through her teeth. "Does petting count?"

"You can touch any dog you want except for that ugly mutt."

"Do you detest Red Bean that much?"

Of course!

"Well, I'm sorry to disappoint you then. The dog Yao Tiao was pet-sitting wasn't the Red Bean you had in mind."

"Red Bean? It's just an ugly mutt!"

"Yes, yes, yes. It's just an ugly mutt. An ugly mutt." She echoed his words as though she was coaxing a child.

"Ha ha ha ha..." Yao Tiao guffawed all of a sudden.

Mo Jiangye's face darkened in an instant. Keeping his emotions in check, he cast a cold look in her direction. "Funny, huh?"

"No..."

"Let's go home." He pulled his wife's hand and swiftly strode off toward the exit.

His reddening ears failed to escape Ye Erruo's notice.

"Are you actually feeling embarrassed?"

“Care to repeat what you just said?” He turned his head toward her, regarding her with a poker face and eyes gleaming with threat and lethality.

Immediately, she said, “What did I say earlier? I forgot it all.”

“You’d better not be lying to me, Ye Erruo.”

“I-I wouldn’t dare.”

The man stayed silent.

“You must be hungry. You only had two eggs for dinner.”

“What’s with that grin on your face? Wipe it off.”

D*mn it! Why would I get jealous of an ugly mutt? And what’s with the way Yao Tiao looked at me earlier?

The woman leaned over from the side and placed a peck on his cheek. “Alright.”

As Mo Jiangye was opening the car door, Ye Erruo spotted a dog out of her peripheral vision. The dog was running madly toward her from a short distance away. The streetlights shining down on its slim figure and fiery red fur made it easy to distinguish that it was Red Bean.

She panicked as she shot straight into the car and pulled the man standing outside in at once.

“Start the car quickly and get moving. I’ll prepare dinner for you when we get home.”

He did not doubt her words in the slightest, for he leaned toward her to help her fasten her seatbelt. While doing so, however, he noticed a dog-like figure through the side mirror.

Chapter 277: Untitled

Untitled

“I can do it on my own. Just start the car.” Ye Erruo pushed the man away and fastened the seatbelt herself.

Mo Jiangye could not help staring into the mirror on her side over and over again with a frown. It really looks like a dog.

She placed her hands on his face. “What are you looking at? Let’s go home now. Don’t you want your dinner?”

“I saw that ugly mutt,” he stated flatly through clenched teeth before suddenly opening the car door to go check things out.

Aghast, she hurriedly opened the door on her side. “Mo Jiangye, are you possessed? I’m not gonna cook dinner for you if we don’t get moving.”

BAM! The door was slammed shut as he sullenly made his way toward the back of the car.

Feeling utterly speechless, Ye Erruo hastily went up and hugged her husband’s arm. “Did you see wrong?”

“Impossible.”

Awoo... Red Bean, who was just a short distance away, began dashing toward them.

She pushed the man behind her at once. “There’s really a dog here. Stay away from it.”

Red Bean, meanwhile, was mad with delight upon seeing Ye Erruo. It was practically about to sprout wings from its back and fly straight to her.

“Aby!” Bo Jinyan sternly chastised the dog from behind.

Upon hearing its name, the dog came to a sudden halt in the middle of the road and turned back its head with glistening eyes, looking confused.

“Come here!” The man gasped for breath as he followed it closely. It was obvious that he had been chasing after the dog for quite a bit.

“Get your *ss back here. I’ll count to three.”

Red Bean blinked as it lifted a paw, eventually choosing to head toward the woman.

It was standing in the middle of the broad, long road, while the couple and its master were located on opposite ends, where the streetlights were the dimmest and brightest respectively. Soon, Yu Lingfeng came running over, looking winded.

All at once, Mo Jiangye expressionlessly fixed a sinister stare on the dog that was making its way toward his woman.

“Aby,” Bo Jinyan gritted out sternly. “Take another step forward and you’ll be sent back to Blue Tower.”

Red Bean seemed to understand what his master had said, for its paw remained suspended in the air before it tentatively extended it and retracted it again.

“Come here!”

It raised its head and let out a howl in the woman’s direction.

“Ha!” Mo Jiangye scoffed. “So this is the dog that Yao Tiao has been taking care of?”

Ye Erruo sucked her lips. Can I say that’s not the dog? No—Can I say I know nothing about this at all?

“I guess so. I only met the dog today so I can’t remember clearly.”

“Very well.”

He took her hand and led her forward toward Red Bean.

“What do you want to do? Where are you going?”

The canine’s eyes lit up in delight when it saw the woman heading toward it. It kept turning its head back with every step it took toward Bo Jinyan.

Disgruntled, Bo Jinyan strode forward at once and picked up the useless mutt from the ground right away.

“I’ll take you back to Blue Tower tomorrow.”

Awoo... Red Bean howled in the air, whining as it lay in his arms.

With his lips curled into a threatening smirk, Mo Jiangye dragged his wife toward Bo Jinyan before coming to a stop about ten meters away from him.

“Good evening, Mr. Mo.”

His gaze landed on the dog in the other man’s arms. “Is that ugly mutt yours?”

“It’s my beloved pet.”

How smart of him to use a stupid, ugly mutt to catch my woman’s attention!

“I have already warned you to stay away from my woman, so this is the last time I’m warning you. The next time I see you two appear in front of her, I’ll wrap you both up—owner and dog—from head to toe and place you in coffins before I send you back where you came from!” His voice boomed out with cold savagery.

Yu Lingfeng appeared crossed when he heard that. How capable of him!

“One more thing...” said Mo Jiangye as his sinister gaze landed on Red Bean.

Chapter 278: Twins Equal Double Happiness!

“One more thing... If you use this ugly dog to seduce my woman again, it’ll be reduced to a bowl of dog rib soup. You’ll only find soup inside this bowl. None of the bones.”

Ye Erruo was speechless.

Bo Jinyan gave him a noble smile and replied, “I don’t know what you’re talking about.”

Mo Jiangye pulled his lips taut before sweeping one arm over his woman and reaching into his inner pocket with his other hand to take out a few lollipops. Slowly, he unwrapped the sweet wrapper and retorted casually, “It’s alright if you don’t know...” Then, he suddenly directed his cold gaze squarely at the other man’s eyes. “This dog will be gone for good if it appears before me again. Look after your animal well, Mr. Bo Jinyan.”

His hand swept over Ye Erruo again. This time, he reached for her neck to place the unwrapped lollipop into her mouth.

How the hell did he do that?!

CLAP! CLAP! Yu Lingfeng broke into applause with a smile. “Well said.”

“Xiao Ruo, do you like this dog?” The man directed a question at the lady, getting straight to the point.

Mo Jiangye answered on her behalf, “She doesn’t like it.”

After throwing a final warning glance at the two gentlemen and the dog, he bade them farewell. “Today is the last time I see the two of you and your dog.”

After saying that, he grabbed her hand and walked away.

“Arf! Woof! Woof!” Red Bean cried out anxiously from behind.

“You’ll be banished back to Blue Tower tomorrow. If you wanna play dirty with me by going on a hunger strike again, you might as well die of hunger! Just remember that you won’t ever get to see her again when you’re dead!”

The creature curled up into a ball forlornly and lay still in Bo Jinyan’s arms for once.

What a bad man!

Yu Lingfeng looked disapprovingly at the man’s back, which was disappearing from sight, and said, “Let’s bring her back next month.”

He really disliked Mo Jiangye. In fact, he hated him.

Bo Jinyan asked with a gentle smile, “Are you absolutely sure?”

“Positive.”

“How do you intend to do that? Taking someone away from that fellow is not gonna be easy.”

His companion threw him a glance. “Don’t you have a pawn who looks like Xiao Ruo?”

Bo Jinyan cocked a brow. “We are thinking of the same thing, aren’t we?”

“Let’s get it done and over with.”

“The time isn’t ripe yet. We need to wait a while longer.”

Yu Lingfeng let out a heavy sigh. “Try to get this done ASAP.”

With Red Bean in his arms, Bo Jinyan turned and walked back to the bar. “This isn’t the right time yet. You have to hold your horses.”

...

Inside the car, Mo Jiangye had a deadpan look on his face as he was driving. Ye Erruo turned her head to look at him, wondering what was on his mind. Is he angry... or not?

“Mo Jiangye?”

The man gave her a sidelong glance. “Stay quiet.”

“Okay.”

The two of them sat in the car silently throughout the journey. When the woman finished the lollipop, the man took out a few more for her. There were all kinds of flavors, especially the fruity types that she had taken a liking to recently.

“Why do you have so many lollipops with you?”

The man ignored her question and trained his eyes on the road instead.

That very night, Bo Jinyan received a huge box of lollipops at his mansion. They were the same as the lollipop that Ye Erruo had been sucking on earlier.

“Who sent these?”

“Young Master, they were sent by a gentleman who goes by the name Mo Jiangye.”

“Did he say why he sent them?”

“The gentleman said that he sent these sweets to celebrate his wife’s pregnancy. She was confirmed to be pregnant with a pair of twins two days ago. These celebratory sweets are for his wedding and baby shower. He also said that you won’t need to attend his wedding. These sweets will be sufficient.”

The corner of Yu Lingfeng’s lips suddenly twitched. Why did my sister settle for an imbecile? How can she bear to be with him for so long?

Pregnant with twins? Only a fool would believe that!

Chapter 279: Have You Both Boarded the Plane?

Bo Jinyan looked at the huge box of candy as he let out a silent laugh. It was hard to imagine a man like Mo Jiangye doing something like this.

“Keep it.” He opened a piece of candy and ate it.

“It doesn’t taste bad. Try it.” Bo Jinyan threw a lollipop at Yu Lingfeng.

“...”

“Fruit candy.” He chanted softly, holding and eating a lollipop in one hand while looking at the one in his other hand.

This was authentic fruit candy made of fruits that had been left out to dry and then been manufactured into lollipops. These lollipops weren’t too sweet and they were soft and hard enough at the same time when one ate them. It was like eating dried fruit. One could eat many sticks at a time.

“Should we let those men have a look at Sophie?”

Bo Jinyan, who had been heading up the stairs, almost lost his balance and twisted his ankle when he heard his words. The corners of his lips twitched. “Her name is Gu Feirou.”

Who the heck was Sophie?

Yu Lingfeng crossed his arms. “She looks a lot like Sophie. When the time comes, bring those men over to see which one she likes.”

“She only likes Lin Jingxuan.”

Yu Lingfeng raised his brows. “That’s easy to settle.”

He would have those men operated on to look like Lin Jingxuan. That would do.

“Oh, right. She has been brooding over Xiao Ruo’s cornea. Get someone to keep an eye on her. If she really dares lay a hand on Xiao Ruo, I would not mind gouging out her remaining cornea,” Bo Jinyan said softly.

He shot a glance at Yu Lingfeng from the second floor, his dangerous eyes filled with ferocity.

Yu Lingfeng curled his lips into a smile. "You vicious, merciless fella. You have no sympathy whatsoever. You are thinking exactly the same thing I am."

"..."

In the morning, the maids walked in and out in neat rows, bringing a set of clothes one after another into the bedroom. The make-up artist had been waiting for a long time.

However, Ye Erruo was still asleep on their huge bed. When Mo Jiangye walked out of the bathroom in his grey bathrobe after taking a shower, he immediately picked the woman up from the bed.

"What time is it?"

"6.30 am." He placed a gentle kiss on her head.

"It's so early..." Ye Erruo said drowsily before leaning against his shoulder and falling asleep once again.

"We are going to S City today."

Ye Erruo opened her eyes abruptly. She had almost forgotten about it.

"Wash your face, brush your teeth, and choose your clothes."

"Put me down."

Mo Jiangye set her down on the sink slowly and stared at her for a long time.

"What are you looking at?" Ye Erruo was suspicious. He had not been angry when they had returned yesterday. Could he be settling the score with her right now?

"You don't need to put on make-up. This is fine as well," he said softly.

"Alright, alright." Ye Erruo pushed him aside and began to wash up.

"Young Master!" The maid called out softly from outside the bathroom.

"Come in."

The maid carefully opened the bathroom door and said, "Young Master, Old Master Su has sent someone over to invite you to the Su Family's residence for a meal."

Ye Erruo, who was brushing her teeth, looked at the maid through the mirror. Old Master Su? Su Qingning's grandfather?

Mo Jiangye looked impatient. "I am not available."

"Old Master Su said that if you are unavailable today, they can wait for a day when you are free to go over as long as you let him know beforehand."

"Get out."

"Yes."

Mo Jiangye glanced at Ye Erruo and said, "I will probably never have the time to attend this gathering. Not even in my next life. Whenever you are interested in going, just let me know."

Ye Erruo smiled. "Okay."

He stepped forward and hugged her from behind. "Good morning, Baby Ruo."

"Good morning."

Buzz! Suddenly, Mo Jiangye's phone rang outside the bathroom.

Mo Jiangye only released her to answer the call.

"Boss, have you and sister-in-law boarded the plane?"

"That's right. Where are you two right now?"

"Where is sister-in-law? Where is she? Can you let her speak to us?"

He could hear a lively discussion and excited greetings on the other end of the line.

Would he have picked up their call if he had already been on the plane?

Mo Jiangye looked down at his phone. He suddenly didn't feel like taking her there anymore.

Chapter 280: Your Sister-In-Law Is Shy, Soften Your Voices

"Boss? Where are you?"

"Eh? Did we lose the signal?"

"Sister-in-law, sister-in-law."

Mo Jiangye hung up the call with one click.

While she was changing clothes, he picked set after set for her to try on. Every single piece of clothing looked great on her.

He stared at her with steady eyes while she was doing her make-up.

"What's wrong?"

"I still think that you look great without make-up."

"Make-up will make me look a little more dignified."

"..."

Half an hour later, Mo Jiangye pulled her hand away and examined her from head to toe. His eyes were exceptionally heated with astonishment and possessiveness. Forget it, he would let these fellows feast on her with their eyes.

"How do I look?"

"Baby Ruo, you look great in anything you wear. Let's go."

"Are we not eating breakfast?"

"We will eat on the plane."

The plane ride to S City lasted at least three hours.

Moreover, the people there were all waiting both anxiously and heatedly.

The enormous private plane was finally flying over S City at around 1 pm.

“Why isn’t Boss here yet?”

“What about Bo Yu? Is there any way to contact Bo Yu?”

“Don’t be anxious, don’t be anxious. I contacted him earlier. They will be arriving soon.”

Rumble! The plane was spiraling in the sky.

“F*ck! They’re here, they’re here.” Xu Xu led the way as he dashed over.

The plane slowly descended on the huge field. A thousand people were waiting excitedly on the sidelines with sparkling eyes. They were finally going to meet their Boss’s woman!

On the plane, Ye Erruo was a little nervous, as if she was an ugly daughter-in-law meeting her parents-in-law. She was going to be meeting a ton of people soon, and her palms were all sweaty.

Mo Jiangye held her small hand, separating her fingers and intertwining his fingers with hers. “You look nervous, Baby Ruo.”

Ye Erruo glared at him. How could she not be?

His lips curled up into a smile. “Relax. There’s nothing to be anxious about.”

He made it sound so easy.

As the cabin door began to slowly open, Ye Erruo suddenly became even more nervous for no reason.

“Your hand is sweaty.” Mo Jiangye lowered his gaze and laughed gently, wiping her hand with a tissue.

“Just imagine all of them looking like Xu Xu. I didn’t see you being so nervous when you met Xu Xu for the first time.”

“How is this the same thing?”

There had only been three people around when she’d met Wang Yiyang, Xu Xu, and the rest, but there were going to be 2,000 of them at one go today...

“Can you still walk? Do you need me to carry you?” He smiled and looked at her with a mischievous gaze.

“I am not nervous to the point that my legs are weak.”

“Let’s go.”

Bang! Bang!

When Ye Erruo stepped out, both sides of the plane were filled with people. She was covered in colored streamers as the spacious field was flooded by cheers.

Mo Jiangye hugged her shoulder and glimpsed at her sideways with a vague smile.

There were fireworks and Ye Erruo's head was suddenly showered with fresh flowers.

"Nice to meet you, sister-in-law!"

The greeting echoed abruptly, the voice loud and powerful. Ye Erruo's heart thumped against her chest.

"Nice to meet you all."

"Wow! What a cute sister-in-law."

"Ah! She is so compatible with our boss."

"Ha ha! Boss finally has a wife."

"Stand properly and shut up." Mo Jiangye's voice was neither soft nor loud, but the crowd, which had initially been noisy, instantly went silent.

Behind them, Bo Yu took a cloak and handed it to Mo Jiangye.

"You all..."

"You guys have frightened sister-in-law." Xu Xu suddenly emerged and said what Mo Jiangye wanted to say.

Everyone had loving smiles on their faces as they looked at one another before hurriedly saying, "Sister-in-law, we are sorry."

Mo Jiangye placed the cloak on Ye Erruo and hugged her waist as they walked toward the palace hall.

"Your sister-in-law is shy and easily frightened, so you have to lower your volume," he said lazily.