

Chapter 291: Untitled

“Look! Look!” He thrust the crystal ball in his hand toward his Chief.

Ye Erruo picked up the crystal ball and studied the babies inside it, which were too cute for words.

“Do you want these babies?” Mo Jiangye, who was right beside her, whispered the question into her ear.

“Aren’t they adorable and endearing?”

“Should we try harder then?” His hoarse, sexy voice, which was filled with magnetism and allure, reverberated in her ear.

“I’m sure that if my superior genes are combined with yours, our kids will turn out a hundred times more adorable than these two dolls.”

The people around them perked their ears when they heard that. “Yes, yes, yes! You two should start having children as soon as possible.”

Mo Jiangye’s heart soared when he sensed that she was beginning to waver. “See, so many people are looking forward to meeting their Little Chiefs.”

Ye Erruo gritted her teeth as she mulled over the issue of having children before she eventually relented and made a concession. “We’ll let nature take its course.”

That comment caused a wide beam to spread on the man’s face. Is she relenting now? Is she finally agreeing to give birth to my children?

Let nature take its course?

Heh. I’ll aim for her monthly ovulation then...

“Look at how cute these twins are!” A cry of exclamation came from somewhere nearby.

Ye Erruo was speechless

Soon enough, there were a hundred people with balls containing twin babies.

“Can I buy this ball from you?”

“Scram.”

“Don’t you have a big order to send out by tomorrow? If you tag along with Chief tonight, you won’t be able to complete that order. You might as well let me have this ball.”

“No, just bug off. How could that so-called big order be any more important than our sister-in-law and our future Little Chief?”

“Hey, sweetie. I know you’re single, so why don’t I introduce you to someone? In exchange, you will give me the ball you got, alright?”

“F*ck off, you d*ckhead. I just got myself a boyfriend. If you dare curse my relationship, I’ll punch you in the mouth until you end up with swollen, sausage-like lips.”

“...”

As soon as these results were out, many people started attempting to buy the balls from the one hundred people who had gotten the balls with the twins.

Among those who had failed to draw a ball with twin babies were Xu Xu, Wang Yiyang, and Zheng Yi. They stared forlornly at the balls they had drawn before exchanging a look of tacit understanding.

What a joke! Given our close ties to Chief, why would we need a stupid ball to decide our fate tonight?

“Come over here! The one hundred people who were picked can come over and register their names here, lest someone tries to take advantage of this chaotic situation and sneakily mix into the crowd!” shouted Xu Xu at the rest of the people with air and grace.

“Yep, that’s right. If you have drawn a ball with our two Little Chiefs, please come over here to register your name.”

“Xu Xu, I’ll take down their names while you and Wang Yiyang take a headcount,” said Zheng Yi.

“Okay.”

Before long, a hundred people proudly and excitedly stepped forward to register their names under the watchful, jealous eyes of the remaining 2,000 or so people.

Mo Jiangye, who was holding his wife’s hand in his, slowly made his way toward them and solemnly declared again, “From now on, this woman will be your sister-in-law and my only wife.”

“Yay! Cheers to our Chief and sis-in-law!”

“May Chief and sis-in-law have an everlasting, blissful marriage from now on.”

“May sis-in-law be our Chief’s wife and our sister-in-law until our next life!”

“May you still be our Chief, sister-in-law, and Little Chiefs in your next lives!”

“May you all always be our Chief, sister-in-law, and Little Chiefs!”

The last comment sparked an instant hush over the entire hall.

The person who had shouted out that last felicitation proudly accepted envious looks from all around him.

Mo Jiangye, who found that particular felicitation pleasing to the ears, curled his lips up in satisfaction.

“Xu Xu, add him to the list of people who are going with us tonight.”

“Thanks, Boss!” That person shouted in gratitude out loud in sublime glee, as though he was afraid that people would fail to hear him.

“What the heck! Chief, how could you—”

“Hey! Didn’t you say only a hundred people would be going?”

Chapter 292: Any Request That Has To Do With My Daughter Will Be Deemed Invalid!

Mo Jiangye smiled graciously at them when Bo Yu walked in with a box in his arms. The bodyguards behind him arrived in a similar fashion. “These are candy favors from your sister-in-law. Also, those who failed to make it into the group of 100 can go look for Bo Yu with a request. He’ll help fulfill all your requests.

“Of course, any request that has to do with my future daughter will be ignored and deemed invalid.”

“Wow... Following Boss’s footsteps does guarantee pretty good benefits.”

Meanwhile, Ye Erruo, who was baffled by her so-called candy favors, looked up quizzically at the man.

“You—”

“I do whatever floats my boat.”

“...”

“I’m done with the headcount, Chief,” reported Xu Xu out of the blue.

Then, Bo Yu said, “Get your candy favors!”

A large group swarmed over to him and the bodyguards in a flash.

As the sky gradually darkened, private planes took off from the auditorium one after another and gradually descended on a private estate—an upscale place the rich loved to visit.

“Are you tired?” Mo Jiangye whispered to his wife inquiringly.

The woman couldn’t help yawning. “What time is it?”

“Half-past six.”

“We slept too late last night and woke up quite early in the morning. I’ll take a short nap to catch up on my sleep before I get up for dinner later.”

“Okay.”

Thus, he led her to their designated room and tucked her into bed. Only after she fell asleep did he leave the room.

“Chief, where’s sis-in-law?”

The luxurious private room was filled with people.

“She’s asleep.”

Bo Yu, who was standing behind his boss, said, “Please feel free to entertain yourselves. Once Young Madam wakes up, we’ll gather for dinner.”

“Okay. Be sure to give us a call when she wakes up.”

“Will do.”

People began leaving the private room to find an activity for themselves.

Soon, a group of beautiful ladies entered the room. "Hello..."

A look of displeasure settled on Mo Jiangye's face at once. "Who let these women in?"

Xu Xu stifled a shudder as he squeaked out, "Not me."

"It wasn't me either."

"Hey, hey. Where are you touching me?"

The few remaining people in the room were baffled.

"They're hostesses who work here. They entertain customers by drinking, chatting, and even sleeping with them. It's a free service. If you don't need them, every single one of us just needs to give them a tip to send them away."

Finally, one of them understood what was currently going on.

As that person hugged the woman beside him with a lot of familiarity, he threw a look of disdain in the virgins' direction for making a huge fuss over nothing. No wonder they've been single all this while. They don't even dare touch the opposite sex. How on earth are they going to find themselves a wife?

Right at that moment, a woman approached Mo Jiangye and made a move to sit on his lap.

As soon as she bent her knees, the sullen man kicked her away at once.

"Ah—"

"I'd appreciate it if you stayed away from my young master," Bo Yu kindly advised her.

"Shoo, shoo. All of you leave." Xu Xu waved them away.

Wang Yiyang, who could not stand the strong perfume smell on them, pulled out the few remaining five-yuan bills left in his wallet and shoved them toward one of the ladies. "Alright, we have no need for you, ladies. Get out of here quickly."

The hostesses stared wide-eyed at the five-yuan bills in their colleague's hand, feeling dumbfounded and offended by them. This was probably the first time that they had received such a pathetic tip in their lives!

"Why aren't you leaving?"

They felt nothing but disdain for the men present at that moment, and their feelings were evident in their eyes. The ladies pivoted on their feet at once and sauntered out of the room while scornfully dumping the notes into the trash bin on the way out.

"Huh! What do they mean by this?" Wang Yiyang felt offended.

"Ha ha..." The rest of the group, however, laughed at him.

"I-It's nothing. Ha ha ha..."

...

Halfway through her nap, Ye Erruo groggily got out of bed in search of the bathroom, only to realize that there was not a single bathroom in this large bedroom.

“Young Madam.” Two bodyguards were standing outside her room.

“Where can I find a bathroom?”

“This way, please.” They proceeded to show her the way to the bathroom.

Just as the yawning woman stepped into the bathroom, she heard lewd noises coming from inside.

Chapter 293: Untitled

Low moans could be heard from one of the cubicles.

Ye Erruo’s lips twitched. She naturally knew what sort of sound this was.

Who are these fearless people going at it in public?

They left the cubicle door open to boot.

The toilet cubicles there were soundproof and so spacious that they had their own washbasins inside. She carefully pushed open the door to one of the empty cubicles and entered it. Once she was done with her business, she quietly exited the cubicle, only to bump into a man coming out of the innermost cubicle as he buckled his belt.

“You—” she shrieked.

“Hm? How did you get in here, babe?” The man studied her in pleasant surprise.

“Orffa, can you help me with the buckle?” A woman walked out of that cubicle.

“Ah!” Upon sighting the intruder, the woman let out a cry of surprise and hastily hid in the cubicle.

“I apologize for the disturbance.” Ye Erruo speedily made her way to the exit after offering an apology.

“Just a second.”

She did not stop, though. Instead, she made a break for the door without giving the man a chance to say anything else. The man, however, followed her.

There was an ongoing fight outside between four people, two of whom were the bodyguards who had shown her the way to the bathroom.

The scuffle abruptly ended with her bodyguards beating the lights out of the other two men.

“Are you alright, Young Madam?” They were relieved to see her come out of the bathroom safe and sound.

“Yes, I’m fine.”

“Let’s go then.”

“Okay.”

No wonder that couple was brazen enough to fool around in public. They had bodyguards keeping watch outside. It’s just that their bodyguards obviously left their post earlier.

The other two bodyguards were left sprawled on the floor, moaning in agony.

This scene, along with the sight of the leaving figures, left the man, who came running out of the bathroom moments later, fuming.

“Useless things.”

When Ye Erruo returned to the corridor outside her room, she happened to chance upon Mo Jiangye leaving the room in a fluster.

“Mo Jiangye?”

He heaved a sigh of relief upon hearing her voice and seeing her standing not far away from him.

“Where did you go?”

“To the bathroom. Where are Xu Xu and the rest?”

“They’re in the hall.”

Xu Xu and the rest of the gang were currently choosing their food from the buffet selection available in the hall of the ground floor.

“You’re awake, sis-in-law. Here you go.” Wang Yiyang handed a plate to the woman. “You can get whatever you want to eat.”

“Let’s go.”

“What do you want to eat? I’ll get it for you.”

Mo Jiangye leaned toward his wife and whispered into her ear, “You.”

“...”

Rolling her eyes at him, Ye Erruo picked up a plate and left his side to get some food. Meanwhile, the smirking man went to take a seat somewhere nearby as he waited for her return.

There was a wide selection of delicious-smelling food there, including crispy shrimp. As she made her way along the buffet table, she would secretly scarf down a small mouthful of any seafood she saw. The heavenly taste of the food left her hankering for more.

This was all registered by Mo Jiangye’s eyes, as he would turn his gaze over to the woman from time to time. Despite knowing that she was secretly eating seafood, the man only chuckled and did not go over to stop her.

“Boss, while I was wandering around the place earlier, I heard that there’s going to be an event later.”

“Is that so?”

“A warrior with formidable skills is here today. He has defeated various wrestling champions and boxing champions from all over the world. Whoever is able to defeat him in a match will walk away with two diamonds.”

“Yes, that’s right! My gosh. Those two diamonds are each as large as a human’s head. I’ve never seen such ginormous diamonds in my life despite coming across many rare and precious treasures.”

Someone chimed in from the side. “They probably belong to the Blue Tower Royalty. Only at Blue Tower can one find such a ginormous diamond.”

“Blue Tower?”

“I heard that Blue Tower is an old place where lots of complicated stuff goes on among the royalty. However, it is also said that it is a developed country. Only God knows what sort of place it truly is.”

Chapter 294: I Own A Car And A House, Babe

“Yeah. The average person isn’t allowed in Blue Tower. Even if they are allowed to enter, they can only move around in a designated area. They can’t go into the inner city.”

“City?”

“Yep, most of them stay in small castles.”

“...”

“That’s not the point, though. The focus should be on those two diamonds. Shall we spar with him later?”

“That’s a good idea. Boss can take him on if we can’t beat him. Ha ha ha ha...”

Xu Xu chimed in. “Boss won’t give a hoot about those diamonds, let alone fight that man over them. It’s too degrading for him considering his status. Don’t you think so?”

As his chief lazily leaned back against the seat, he locked his eyes with a certain woman who was busy sneaking food into her mouth. Diamonds as big as human heads?

All good things should, of course, belong to my woman.

“Chief?”

Wang Yiyang snorted. “What do women love most? Diamonds, of course! Look at Boss! His eyes have never once strayed from sis-in-law. I can tell at a glance that he wants to win those diamonds for her!”

“...”

Xu Xu spoke after sipping on a mouthful of soup. “Giving her diamonds is a pretty good idea, but how is she going to wear such huge diamonds?”

“Are you dumb? We can always have them cut into smaller pieces.”

“You’re the dumb one.”

Mo Jiange appeared pensive. She also lacks an outfit...

“Why isn’t sis-in-law back?”

Ye Erruo, who was still lingering around the buffet table, already had a plate full of food.

The pumpkin balls there were especially delectable in taste, so she was in the middle of putting several on her plate when she heard a somewhat familiar voice coming from opposite the table out of the blue.

“Hey, babe!”

She raised her head in shock. Shoot. Isn’t this the man who was in the bathroom earlier?

“We finally meet again. My name is Orffa.”

“Okay.” She shot him a glance before dipping her head and focusing on taking more food.

Orffa arched a brow at her nonchalance. While placing the plate in his hand on the glass counter, he regarded the woman with electrifying, smiling eyes. “You’re really pretty.”

She acted as though she had heard nothing and turned around to leave.

Her impression of this man, who would do such a thing in public, was definitely poor. She found him vile and hated the way he had chatted her up.

She picked up a bigger plate from the counter, prepared to leave once she filled up this plate with food. Alas, the stranger followed her everywhere she went, even though she paid no heed to him.

“Do you know who I am, babe?”

The corners of her lips twitched in annoyance. Why should I know? You’re nothing but a pesky fly!

“Come on, say something.” He wolf-whistled at her in a blatant attempt to flirt with her.

All ready to leave now, Ye Erruo picked up the two plates of food when a card suddenly flew and landed on one of the plates. She stopped in her tracks at once and cast a sullen look at the plate with the exclusive black card on it.

“Let’s be friends.” Orffa made his way over to her side and leaned on the glass counter beside her as he flashed her a charming smile. “You’re the prettiest girl I’ve ever met.”

She plastered a neutral smile on her face in return. “I’m sorry. I’m a married woman and I don’t make friends of the opposite sex.”

Upon saying that, she made a move to walk away, but her arm was tugged back instantly by the man. “Come on, babe. I’m a rich, handsome chap. I own a car and a house. You won’t lose out by being friends with me.”

As he spoke, he squeezed her arm a little, which made the woman’s expression turn frigid at once.

She proceeded to smash the plates of food right into his face, hitting him hard with the plates themselves.

“YOU!” He raised his fist in her direction...

Chapter 295: Leave My Woman Alone

“YOU!” Orffa threw a punch straight at the woman.

However, a huge force pulled his arm back in mid-air before he could reach her.

He swung his head abruptly to check out the intruder. A haughty-looking man was standing next to him, eyeing his fist frostily.

CRACK! The sound of bones cracking could be heard.

“Who are you?” He aimed his other fist at Mo Jiangye’s head.

The other man dodged swiftly, caught hold of the outstretched arm, and threw the heavy man over his shoulder and toward the dish rack on the side.

BANG!

SPLASH!

The dish rack, which was made of tempered glass, could not withstand the direct impact and broke into pieces instantly, sending the food, plates, and glass fragments splattering all over the place.

“Sis-in-law, are you alright?”

“I’m fine.”

Mo Jiangye shot daggers at the man on the floor with his eyes. “Leave my woman alone.”

He then thrust her protectively into his possessive arms. Does he think he can touch my woman? Well, he’s courting death!

The commotion invited many curious stares from onlookers. Orffa lay paralyzed on the floor when he jumped up with a sudden move and directed his fist angrily at his opponent.

Xu Xu, who was standing beside his Chief, caught the attacking fist with his hand and was thrown to the floor by the blunt force.

“WTF! Brothers, take arms!” Upon seeing his sworn brother being struck, Wang Yiyang quickly called for reinforcements.

Within seconds, the attacker was neatly surrounded by the gang.

“Who are you?” Orffa enunciated accusingly.

“The person who will beat you to death,” Zheng Yi replied with a sneer.

Mo Jiangye escorted his lady to a safe place and asked, “Did he disturb you?”

“He’s a creep,” she said.

“No one move!” At right about this time, a large group of policemen in black uniforms swarmed in with their handguns.

“No moving!”

The situation was finally under control after a few minutes.

Orffa rubbed his fist against his other palm and waved his finger arrogantly at Mo Jiangye. "I'll remember you."

"Take him away."

A few policemen immediately walked up and led him away.

"How are you feeling, buddy?" Wang Yiyang asked his mate worriedly as he helped Xu Xu get up from the floor.

"Are you hurt?" Anxious, Ye Erruo was about to walk over to him.

"O-M-G! My poor waist hurts! Gosh, I'm turning old. I better find a wife soon, or I'll be left without offspring!"

Ye Erruo was left speechless.

"I'm good. No worries, sis-in-law." After reassuring her, he cursed the assailant. "Don't let me catch him next time."

Patting his shoulder, Zheng Yi told him, "You're such a loser. How long has it been since you last sparred with our boss? Your skills have deteriorated tremendously! Have you been skiving?"

"COUGH! COUGH! Don't slap my shoulder! This was an accident! I was careless. I didn't expect that fella to have the strength of a bull when he looked like a scrawny monkey."

"So is he a bull or a monkey?"

"Get lost!"

"Ha ha ha ha!"

Everyone burst into laughter and helped him find a place to rest.

"Are you sure you are alright? Should we get a doctor to examine you?" Ye Erruo suggested.

"Don't worry, sister-in-law. This fella has a long life ahead of him. He used to be knocked over by our Chief all the time. Today was just a sample."

"No worries, sister-in-law." Xu Xu performed a few turns and twists with his torso and then started to have a feast again, just like he used to behave.

The woman heaved a sigh of relief upon seeing that.

His Chief narrowed his eyes ominously at him and said, "We'll have a few sparring matches after this."

"No, no, no, Boss!" His henchman, who was horrified at the suggestion, hastily shook his head and waved his hands at the same time.

"This was truly a miscalculated step!" he declared solemnly.

Chapter 296: Baby Ruo Is So Intelligent

"Miscalculated step?"

The young chap nodded his head with a serious look. "Yes, I underestimated the opponent. I'll punish myself later by running at least ten kilometers. Now, let's tuck in."

"He he he..." Wang Yiyang, who was sitting beside him, patted his shoulder again sympathetically.

"Since when has he stopped working out?"

But then again, they'd had a few sparring sessions not long ago.

"Sis-in-law, if you are harassed again, don't defend yourself with utensils. Lift your high heel and kick him in the crotch so he'll remain impotent for good." Xu Xu tried to change the topic.

"Little sister-in-law isn't wearing her high heels today."

"All she needs to do is kick with her leg. Wearing heels is optional."

"That's right. There's another way. Use your two fingers to hook his eyes."

"Yes, or you can use your elbow to hit his chin or nose bridge."

"Get Boss to teach you some self-defense tactics."

"He did," the woman replied.

Mo Jiangye dipped his head to glance at her. "Why didn't you use them just now? Have you forgotten the steps? Let me give you a refresher later."

"I didn't forget..."

"That chap seems to be skillful. Sister-in-law might not be his match even if she took him on. Besides, she might get hurt in the process. Anyway, he was beaten into submission earlier, right?"

Wang Yiyang patted Xu Xu's shoulder again. This time, he received a stern warning from him. "Keep a distance of three meters from me from now on!"

"..."

"Boss, let's eat first. We can watch a sparring match later." Someone reminded their chieftain as he brought a spread to the table.

It seemed that the sparring venue had attracted many onlookers. It would be fun with the crowd there.

The man leaned into his woman's ear and whispered, "I'll teach you new self-defense tactics later. We'll stop the lessons only when you defeat Xu Xu."

Ye Erruo stared at him with her beautiful, big, round eyes. "But I think I'm already good enough. An average man cannot come near me at all."

"An average man? Then what about non-average men?"

"..."

“Boss, it’s enough if she knows just some self-defense skills. A woman doesn’t need to be too much of a fighter. A tough woman will stop depending on a man, so being docile is good. Besides, no one would dare to touch her with you around.”

“That’s right!”

“There’s nothing wrong with her now. It is good for a woman to lean on the side of fragility and feebleness. Don’t train her to become a man!”

“Yes!” The rest agreed as they tucked into the food.

The man mulled over their words and decided to drop the idea in the end. He then asked the woman, “How much seafood did you consume just now?”

She turned her head to glimpse at him. “What do you mean?”

“Do you think I’m in the dark about this?” He had caught her in the act earlier.

“Not really.”

“This is still a confession,” he told her brashly.

“So what do you intend to do about this?”

The food was already in her tummy. Was he thinking of making her vomit it out?

“Boss! Boss!” Xu Xu tried to put a stop to it.

“Hey, sis-in-law, this is a good chance to pacify him. He’s just been waiting for this moment.”

This time, the woman wasn’t shy at all as she put on a full display of affection for the man without further ado.

“Where are our cell phones?” Everyone started to take out their phones to capture her proactive, amorous stance.

Ye Erruo was at a loss for words.

Why do they have such odd habits?

After taking his phone out in a hurry, Wang Yiyang snapped a long-distance shot before getting a close-up and finally finishing it off with a video clip.

Mo Jiangye looked at his woman with eyes full of loving indulgence. With his forehead plastered against hers, he kissed her petal-like lips and said, “Baby Ruo, you’ve become more understanding and adorable recently.”

The woman hugged him lovingly by the shoulders and agreed with a faint smile. “That’s because you’re a good teacher.”

“Baby Ruo is such an intelligent and fast learner.”

What!

Gosh, the couple was indubitably force-feeding them their mushiness!

Chapter 297: I Think It Is Time For Me To Get A Wife

“The match is about to start!” Not far from them, someone suddenly got up and ran out.

“The show is about to start, Boss. Do you wanna watch?”

“Let’s go! I haven’t seen a diamond the size of a human head.”

“How useless! You better step aside. Boss and sis-in-law, you can ignore them. Please continue your hanky-panky.”

“I can’t bear to watch the two of them any longer. I want any girl to be my wife after looking at them.”
That person grumbled.

“What kind of match is that?” Ye Erruo asked in astonishment.

“A man that looks strong and stout will join the fighting match later, but what is more amazing is his two black diamonds that are as big as human heads. Most of the people are actually here to catch a glimpse of the diamonds.”

“The diamonds are as big as human heads?”

“Yup! You also find that unbelievable, right? They also come in different colors: black and pink.”

“Let’s go.” Mo Jiangye stood up.

“Yeah, let’s go!” The gang broke into cheers as they followed the couple out of the hall.

The place was already filled with people when they arrived at the venue. Psychedelic colors decorated every nook and cranny, turning the arena into a glamorous spot. Above their heads, sky lanterns were hanging bright and spirited in mid-air.

The gigantic Ferris wheel nearby was full, as there was a young couple in each of the cabins.

In this alfresco setting, champagne, music, billiard games, and gambling tables were aplenty.

“Here, Boss. Come this way.”

They passed through a corridor lined with flowers and reached another hall.

The sound of drums and loud applause reached their ears.

Girls in bunny suits were pole-dancing on two sides of the grand hall.

They could see a few steel pipes suspended in mid-air inside the place. The girls were twirling, flipping, and doing the splits on these poles. They did not have any hanging wires on them, so the most they could do to break their fall was grab hold of the pole fast.

Above the ladies, the lights were constantly changing colors, painting the hall in various shades.

These bunny ladies could be bribed to show off their flexibility even more diligently when they spotted someone they fancied.

“OMG...” Dumbfounded, Xu Xu stood staring wide-eyed in disbelief. He had only observed these women on TV programs in the past. To think that he was able to catch sight of them in real life now!

A matching ring was in the center of the hall, but the world-renowned, formidable fighter had yet to appear.

Suddenly, a rose was dropped on Xu Xu’s head without warning.

This got his attention, as he unconsciously turned his head around.

With her soft and flexible body folding across a steel pole, a bunny lady smiled at him and sent him a flying kiss.

“He he!” The people standing next to the flabbergasted lad sniggered knowingly.

The bunny lady sprang from the ground and leapt into the air with her hands clinging to the pole, her eyes looking seductively at the man the whole time. As she gradually flipped upside down on the pole, she started to dance provocatively while she reached for the back pole...

The man could feel the heat reaching the top of his head. He could stand it no longer!

Many members of Mo Jiangye’s band of brothers had not been exposed to such debauchery in the past.

CLAP! CLAP! Enthusiastic applause could be heard.

“WOW!”

Two diamonds the size of human heads were carried onto the stage. These diamonds were undeniably the center of attention.

“The stones are as big as two heads!”

“Good day, everyone! Please return to your seats.”

The poles flanking the sides of the grand hall receded into the background until they could no longer be seen. The two bunny ladies also slowly retreated.

“What is it?” Ye Erruo turned and saw Xu Xu gawking in a certain direction.

“Xu Xu?” She flapped her hand in front of him to try to get his attention.

“S-Sister-in-law, I-I think it’s time for me to get a wife.”

Chapter 298: The Master, Orffa

“What?” Ye Erruo was stunned.

“Sir, please head over to your seat.” At that moment, many staff members came out and pushed Xu Xu and the rest to the side.

“Ha ha ha!” A few buddies behind them burst into laughter.

“Are you all running a fever? Why are you still having nosebleeds?”

Mo Jiangye shot a glance at Xu Xu and the rest, his lips curling into a dubious smile.

The seats on both sides of the hall began to slowly rise from the underground.

When everyone had roughly sat down, the master still did not appear.

“Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to this sparring tournament. Today, anyone in here can challenge our best fighter, Orffa! If you beat Orffa, you can walk away with the two black and pink diamonds placed on both sides of this location.”

Ye Erruo furrowed her eyebrows. Orffa?

F*ck!

The man she had met in the washroom had been called Orffa too.

It couldn't be that big of a coincidence, right?

Yes... That vulgar man couldn't be the master.

“Our contestant is currently preparing backstage. We hope that everyone can remain patient. Thank you.”

The audience broke into enthusiastic applause.

Meanwhile, upbeat music began to play in the hall.

Ye Erruo leaned against Mo Jiangye and shouted into his ear, “I am going to find something to drink!”

She had eaten too much earlier and was feeling a little thirsty from the saltiness.

Mo Jiangye hugged her waist and moved her along with him.

“Boss, where are you going?” Wang Yiyang asked loudly.

“I am thirsty,” Ye Erruo said.

Wang Yiyang hauled Xu Xu and Zheng Yi along as they stood up speedily.

“Sister-in-law, I am thirsty too. I'm also feeling a little hot.”

Not even a moment later, seven people followed Mo Jiangye out to find some water.

The music outside was graceful and soothing. It sounded a lot more comforting than the music playing in the hall.

“Damn! I am dying from the heat,” Xu Xu said.

Mo Jiangye led them into the small hall on the side. There were various drinks there, such as champagne, pure water, juice, and cola.

“Drink slowly. It is a little hot.” Mo Jiangye poured a cup of hot water and brought it to Ye Erruo's lips.

The rest of them each found something they liked to drink.

“Sir, are you all paying together?” The staff member stared at Mo Jiangye with eyes full of astonishment.

“Yes, all together.”

“The total price is 80,000 yuan.”

“Cough, cough!” Ye Erruo almost choked on her mouthful of hot water.

A cup of tea and seven bottles of iced cola cost 80,000 yuan? Were they made of gold?

The quiet Bo Yu, who stood beside Mo Jiangye, paid the bill as requested.

“You can choke just by drinking water?” Mo Jiangye patted her back.

“...”

“I am still feeling a little hot.” Xu Xu’s face was flushed.

“We are going to go take a bath. Boss, you and sister-in-law can head back first.”

Mo Jiangye turned his head and glanced at them. “Okay.”

He held her hand and headed in another direction out of the hall. At the exit, several people were standing beside a large-scale claw machine.

The claw machine contained fine cars, beautiful ladies, and many more things.

Above them was a huge claw. One could try to catch something inside by paying 10,000 yuan. The fine cars would be pushed by hand, and they could walk away with one if it was pushed to the set location. Every person was only allowed to push once. As for the beautiful ladies, there was no limit to them.

Apart from the fine cars and beautiful ladies, there were also ordinary toys and dolls.

When they were halfway there, Mo Jiangye suddenly pulled Ye Erruo to the claw machine.

“You want a car?”

Mo Jiangye stared at the pair of soft toys on the side. There was a pair of fluffy rabbits.

“I want these...” He pointed at the two bunnies.

Chapter 299: A Nest of Rabbits!

“I want these...” He pointed at the two bunnies.

Suddenly, a young child beside them glared at Mo Jiangye with her huge eyes. “No, you can’t have them. That pair of bunnies belongs to me.”

Ye Erruo looked at the toddler and laughed. “Mo Jiangye, you want that pair of rabbits?”

“I can’t have them?” He narrowed his eyes.

The toddler got a little anxious. In a girly voice, she said, “They are mine.”

Mo Jiangye shot a glance at her. “You want this!”

He pointed at a white rabbit on the side.

“No, no. I like the pink one.”

“Then, this one!” He pointed once again at a completely pink bunny.

“I don’t want that. I want the rabbits with both colors.”

Ye Erruo was speechless. She did not understand why he would want the bunny toys.

“Those are mine,” Mo Jiangye said softly.

Only then did Ye Erruo notice that the words “Ruo” and “Ye” were embroidered on the pair of bunnies. What an unusual coincidence!

The two bunnies were the same kind of rabbit, a mix between grey and pink. They looked very similar to the huge rabbit toy they had at home.

“Where are your daddy and mommy? Why are you alone?” Ye Erruo asked gently.

“I want the bunnies.”

Suddenly, his eyes lit up as he saw an identical pair of bunnies without the embroidered words. “I’ll help you get them,” he said in a soft voice that was rare to come by.

He swiped his card directly and chose the numbers that corresponded to the location of the bunnies. The pair of rabbit toys immediately dropped to the bottom.

Mo Jiangye bent down and handed the bunnies to the toddler. She was small, soft, and adorable. The two bunnies were stitched together, so her face could barely be seen when she hugged the soft toys to her chest.

Mo Jiangye’s gaze was strangely soft. If his daughter was as small as this in the future...

“Ai Ai, come here!” An elegant woman called out from not that far away.

“Thank you, big brother.” The little toddler gave him a small peck before running away with the bunnies.

Mo Jiangye’s body became taut as he remained frozen in the same spot.

That elegant woman gave Ye Erruo a friendly smile as a form of gratitude before carrying the toddler away.

“Has your soul been fished away?”

Mo Jiangye regained his senses and touched his face. “Baby Ruo, I’ve just been molested by another woman, yet you aren’t jealous at all?”

“I’ll kiss it back.” As soon as she said that, she pecked him on the cheek.

He bit his lips and stood up. Thereafter, he bought every toy in the claw machine with the words “Ruo” and “Ye” embroidered on it.

This was a nest of rabbits!

The price to purchase the soft toys that needed to be caught in the first place was ten times more expensive.

“You bought so many of them. How are we going to carry them all?” The corners of Ye Erruo’s lips twitched as she looked at the nest of bunnies while the claw machine continued to drop toys down.

Mo Jiangye touched the words on a bunny’s body with his warm fingertips and said, “There’s a way.”

Not long later, someone came along to help them pack all the bunnies. They were all placed in their customized packaging before they were put in a huge bag.

“Sir, your things. Please carry them properly.”

Bo Yu hurriedly went forward and grabbed the sack. He stared at the bunnies in the bag from time to time, wondering why Young Master would buy so many children’s toys.

“This is you, and this is me,” he said solemnly while looking at the bunnies in his hands.

“...”

“No one can ever separate us.” He caressed the area where the two bunnies were joined. The moment they were forced apart, the two bunnies would break.

Chapter 300: Untitled

“Nobody can separate us.” He reiterated his words out loud for emphasis this time.

“Yes, no one can force us apart.”

“Let’s go. The match is about to start.”

Bo Yu, who was trailing behind Mo Jiangye, carried the large sack of little bunnies into the grand hall.

The match had just started. Rowdy sounds of excited applause could be heard inside the venue.

“Boss!” Wang Yiyang called out to his Chief agitatedly. “It’s that monkey we fought with earlier.”

Mo Jiangye looked across the arena with furrowed brows. True enough, it was the opponent they had met earlier that day.

“What a small world. I didn’t expect that we would meet him so soon! I’m gonna knock this b*stard out cold today.” Xu Xu, who had arrived earlier, swore through gritted teeth.

Ye Erruo was stunned to see the creep on the stage. “It’s really him.”

PONG! On the wrestling platform, the wrestler mercilessly knocked out each of his opponents, sending them crashing to the floor one after another.

“Orffa! Orffa! Orffa!”

“Orffa! Orffa! Orffa!”

All around, people were screaming and yelling his name enthusiastically.

The wrestler stood arrogantly on the stage. His eyes were full of disdain as he delivered a fatal blow to each challenger.

"I admit defeat! I admit defeat!" One of the challengers begged for mercy after he was badly beaten up.

PONG! Orffa kicked the body of the defeated opponent out of the ring, sending the poor man flying a few meters away from the arena.

With his hands held high, the wrestling king showed off his victory conceitedly. Soon, all those who had been defeated by him were carried off the stage by medical professionals.

"Introducing the next challenger: the Wrestler!"

A loud noise was heard as a figure that weighed a few times more than Orffa entered the ring. Every ounce of his muscles rippled as he moved.

"Start!"

"Orffa, go for it! Orffa!"

The man on the stage looked at the newcomer with condescension and then showed him his middle finger.

"C'mon!" he provoked the Wrestler by hooking his index finger, signaling for the latter to approach sarcastically.

The newcomer took the bait and started to draw close to his opponent with heavy footsteps. Alas, before he had time to attack, Orffa had already sprung on his back and knocked him down to the floor with one punch.

As the Wrestler crushed to the ground, Orffa started launching ferocious attacks with the goal of killing him.

Xu Xu watched angrily from the side. Gnashing his teeth, he loosened his collar and declared, "Let me pass! I'm going on the stage."

"Are you serious? You better be careful." Ye Erruo grabbed him by the hand as the young chap walked past her.

Her man gazed at her outstretched hand quietly before pulling it back and telling her off at the same time. "You can warn him with words alone. Is there a need to touch him?"

Ye Erruo was speechless.

"Sis-in-law, rest assured. I'm now going to prove that the fall earlier was just a misstep."

"Do your best, Xu Xu!"

"Go and knock out this monkey!"

"Yeah!" Wang Yiyang cheered on their sworn brother eagerly.

In the meantime, the Wrestler was carried off the stage by a few workers on duty.

“We’ll now invite the next challenger.”

Wang Yiyang led his gang into welcoming Xu Xu with animated applause.

“So it’s you?” Orffa tilted his head with a smile when he saw his next opponent.

Xu Xu paced on the spot a couple of times. “He he!”

“Start!” The judge yelled at them to start the fight.

“I’ll break all your bones today,” Orffa told the young chap provocatively.

Xu Xu could not be bothered to exchange any words with him as he launched his attack.

“Orffa! Orffa!”

“Xu Xu! Finish him, Xu Xu!”

Their supporters cheered on their respective men as they fought it out on the stage.

PONG!

Xu Xu was suddenly thrown on the floor with a loud thud...