

Chapter 331: He Was Well Aware of This Fact

The hotpot meal did not last long, and the earlier incident was soon forgotten.

Yu Lingfeng, who was sitting with Bo Jinyan, found Mo Jiangye pleasing for once.

“Let’s go,” his friend whispered to him.

After all, they could no longer enjoy their hotpot.

He took another look at Ye Erruo, only to receive a frosty glare from her husband. After flashing a contemptuous smirk at him in return, he turned to leave.

As the two of them were leaving, Bo Jinyan dropped something to the ground. The woman happened to notice this when she turned around to retrieve her scarf in preparation for leaving with her husband.

She wanted to call out to the man at first, but they were a long distance apart and, after taking into consideration various reasons, she could not bring herself to do so. She figured that, if the necklace was truly important to him, he would come back to the shop in search of it.

“Let’s go.” Mo Jiangye wrapped his wife up tightly in layers again.

“Are you two leaving already?”

“My hubby has something to do later, so we can’t stay here too long. You guys can continue your meal.”

“...”

“Just a second, hubby.”

The woman crouched down to pick up the item that Bo Jinyan had dropped on the floor earlier.

The moment she touched the item, however, she entered a trance. An image of a sea of flowers flashed across her mind, reminding her of the flowers that her servant had been receiving on her behalf. Alas, it was gone so fast that she failed to get anything from it.

She took a glance at the item in her hand, which was a colorful necklace that could not be any more ordinary with a strange pattern formed by flower petals.

“What’s wrong?” Her husband turned his head back and gave her a quizzical look.

“What’s this? Who gave it to you?”

“I picked it up from the floor.”

“Do you like this necklace? Just keep it then,” he told her.

Feeling dumbfounded, she replied, “This belongs to someone.”

“I’ll buy it from its owner.”

“Nah. Just leave it with the cashier. The owner might come back searching for it.”

Mo Jiangye reached out to take the necklace from her. The material of each petal felt exactly the same as the one she had lost before.

“Are you sure you don’t want it?”

“Nope.”

He then took her hand to leave the hotpot shop. As they made their way out, he dropped the necklace on the cashier counter and Ye Erruo instinctively turned her head back to take another look at it.

“Where are you taking me?”

The man merely spat out, “Somewhere.”

Of course, she knew he was taking her somewhere, but where exactly was this place?

They saw a man standing right in front of them as soon as they exited the hotpot shop.

“Old Master Lin?”

Mo Jiangye acted as though he had never seen him and just led his wife straight past him.

“Stop right there, Xiao Ye!” the elderly man cried out to his grandson. The lack of response prompted him to yell, “Ye Erruo!”

The younger chap suddenly stopped in his tracks and frowned in displeasure.

“Ye Erruo! I want a confirmation from you today. Are you making use of Xiao Ye?”

“No.” Ye Erruo looked over her shoulder to glance at Old Master Lin. It’s freezing outside today, as it’s snowing quite heavily, yet he still tried to find a way to meet his grandson just like every day. It must be tough on him.

“Very well! Xiao Ye, I’ve done my part to warn you. Let me just ask you one last time: Do you intend to never return to the Lin residence and disown your grandfather?”

In response, Mo Jiangye snidely remarked, “Are you even my grandfather? From the day you allowed my woman to get hurt and refused to acknowledge her, you have no longer been eligible to be part of my family. You and I have nothing to do with each other.”

All along, the old man had only seen in him nothing but his abilities. Because of his mother, the elderly man had preferred Lin Jingxuan. It was not until he had discovered that that grandson of his had grown up to become a useless bum that he had poured his attention on him instead.

He was well aware of this fact!

Chapter 332: Resembling an Injured Little Beast

All along, the old man had seen in him nothing but his abilities. Because of his mother, the elderly man had preferred Lin Jingxuan. It was not until he had discovered that that grandson had grown up to become a useless bum that he had poured his attention on him instead.

He was well aware of this fact!

“Fine! Very well then!” Old Master Lin yelled at him before shooting a furious look at the woman.

I only have his best interest at heart, yet he doesn't appreciate my concern. Sooner or later, he's going to get hurt from all her deceit.

He had sent someone to look into this matter. Ye Erruo and Lin Jingxuan had been close when they had still been a couple. It was exactly like Su Qing Ning had said—the two of them had tried to elope, but their attempt to do so had failed. From then on, the woman's attitude had pulled a one-eighty!

Even before then, he had heard news of the couple going steady and had been aware that his precious Xiao Ye had been fond of her. However, it was not until further investigation that he had realized that her relationship with his other grandson was not as simple as he'd thought. They were deeply in love with one another and, according to Su Qing Ning's words, Ye Erruo's love for Lin Jingxuan ran so deep that she could sacrifice her life for him.

Something's definitely fishy about her complete change of attitude.

There must be something going on here.

That said, the elderly man saw no need to continue looking the young one up only to get snubbed in return. The latter did not give a hoot about anything the Lins had. On top of that, Mo Jiangye was not his only grandson.

Never mind that he refuses to acknowledge me as his grandfather. He even fell out with me over a woman! How capable of him indeed! One day, that woman will surely ruin him!

Since he insists on having his way, I'll just wait to see what happens to him!

“In that case, I'll think I've raised an ingrate!” He then heart-wrenchingly took his leave after saying this last sentence to his grandson.

“Raised?” Mo Jiangye scoffed in response. Ha!

Upon sensing the change in her husband's emotions, Ye Erruo hastily grabbed his hands and tried to distract him by saying, “Didn't you say you wanted to take me somewhere?”

“Yes. Let's go.” He put his arm around her waist as they climbed into the car.

It was very warm inside. The moment they boarded the car, the sullen man removed his wife's extra outer layers.

“You still have me.” She consoled him as she snuggled into her husband's embrace. He had truly done plenty of things for her sake.

“Yeah.”

She held his face in her hands and leaned in to give him a comforting smooch.

Quite naturally, the man would not just let the kiss end this way when she had actually taken the initiative. Although he started out as the passive one, he soon dominated the kiss.

Her eyes flashed wide open at the abruptness of his kiss.

Meanwhile, the driver, who was driving the car steadily, sensed that something was amiss upon noticing the reflection on the window. Very tactfully, he raised the car's partition to give the couple some privacy.

"I only have you now, Baby Ruo," Mo Jiangye whined weakly, sounding truly pitiful.

Her heart softened at the sight of his weak display. She was thus successfully deceived by his facade.

"Where are you taking me?" the woman asked all of a sudden, changing the topic of the conversation.

"I have an important last-minute meeting to attend."

"Eh? Didn't you return Lin Teng to Old Master Lin? You have another company?"

He let out a low chuckle in his sexy yet husky voice, which sounded like music to the ears.

"You've seriously underestimated your man's capabilities."

Does she think that I have lost everything now that I no longer own Lin Teng?

How am I supposed to support her and give her a stable life if I have nothing at all?

"Your naughty hands need to behave!" The woman shot him a glare and gripped tightly his hands, which were up to no good.

He immediately gave her an aggrieved look in return.

"You're the only one that I can call family now, Baby Ruo," the man, who resembled an injured little beast, choked out.

His reply put a frown and a pout on her face before she eventually gave up stopping his advances.

When he saw that she was acting all tamed and docile now, a naughty gleam flashed across his eyes and his lips tugged upward in a wicked smirk.

Chapter 333: Untitled

"You!" she hissed in warning at him through clenched teeth.

He paid no attention, of course. Mo Jiangye did not let her go until the end of the journey.

"We've arrived at our destination, Young Master," announced the driver when they reached an office building. The large letters 'MTR' were hanging over them.

They proceeded to alight from the car. While the woman was doing so, her legs momentarily gave way for a moment and she nearly stumbled to the ground.

As he took her hand in his, he led her into the building.

Inside, the people coming and going appeared to be very busy and swiftly left to do their own things after greeting Mo Jiangye with a soft murmur.

“Wait for me here. I’ll be back in an hour.” The man led her to his office so she could wait there while he went to his meeting.

“Okay.”

The minimal office felt warm and comforting, and photos of her could be found everywhere within the room, be it on the bookshelves, the flower stand, or the decorative racks. His desk was decorated with solo shots of her and photos they had taken together.

Among those photos were many candid shots of her either cooking, sleeping, or just walking.

I never realized that I was being photographed...

Knock, knock, knock went the door before a lady in professional work attire entered the room, hauling a big grocery bag.

“The President told me to pass this to you.”

Ye Erruo went forward and collected the bag, which contained a bunch of snacks, from her.

“May I know what you would like to drink?” The lady ventured further inside the office.

The office pantry had everything, including coffee, milk tea, tea leaves, and soy milk powder.

“I’m neither thirsty nor hungry.”

“Alright. The President will only be back in an hour or so. You can read a book or watch some TV programs while you pass the time in his office.”

“I got it, thanks. You can get back to work.”

“Okay. Just come look for me if you need anything. I’ll be in the office next to yours.”

She nodded in acknowledgment.

The lady then left with a bunch of documents in her arms.

It was very warm in the room, so Ye Erruo soon started to feel hot under her thick layers of clothes. After stripping off her outer coat, she toured around the office before eventually coming to a stop before a small rack with a display of a colony of rabbits.

They were the rabbits they had bought during their trip to the private estate.

The rack was filled entirely with little bunnies that looked particularly comical in this minimal office.

She could not resist giving the bunny’s ears a pinch before she eventually went to lie on the sofa with a pair of bunnies in her arms while she scanned her surroundings.

There was another knock on the door at that moment.

A woman in thick, gaudy makeup entered, holding a document in her hand.

She was stupefied to find a stranger lying on the sofa with the bunnies in her arms. “Who are you? Don’t you know that the things in the President’s office can’t be touched?”

Ye Erruo turned to look at the intruder. "Pardon?"

The woman was instantly rendered speechless as she gawked at the other person. Despite seeing this woman in the photos found in their President's office many times, she had not expected that such a ravishing person would truly exist in this world.

"O-Oh. I apologize for the intrusion." This must be our President's wife. "Is the President—"

"He's gone to a meeting."

"Ah, I see. I heard that he was in the office today, so I brought over a document that needs his signature. Could I trouble you to inform him about this when he returns?"

"Sure."

"Thank you."

"It's no trouble at all."

Knock, knock went the door yet again before another person came in with a huge stack of documents.

"Eh? Sis Hua, you're here too. Quick, come and take this from me."

"Why are there so many documents?"

"It can't be helped since the President hasn't been coming to the office. I've taken care of everything else. All that's left are these documents, which require his signature."

"Where's PA Bo Yu?"

"Beats me. These documents were sent to him long ago, but no one has signed them so far."

"Leave them here. I'll inform Mo Jiangye when he returns."

That person's head snapped in her direction at once.

Chapter 334: I Will Snatch Her Away

"You!" cried that person in shock.

Sis Hua picked up a document from the desk and left while pushing that person out of the room.

However, someone else soon came in and took a big stack of documents with him, leaving behind a small pile.

Just like that, many people were coming in and out of Mo Jiangye's office during the entire time he was having his meeting. Most of these people seized this chance to take a look at their President's wife.

Every single one of them entered and searched the entire office, only to be surprised or amazed at the sight of Ye Erruo before swiftly taking their leave.

...

Resplendent lights shone down on the glass table, where the necklace that had been dropped behind at the hotpot shop lay.

When Yu Lingfeng made his way downstairs, he saw his friend staring vacantly at the necklace.

“What’s wrong?”

“Nothing’s wrong.”

“When are you going back then?”

He appeared to be deep in thought as he took a seat on the sofa. “Things are a little tricky on Mo Jiangye’s end. How do you expect me to leave when I can’t get in touch with Xiao Ruo at all?”

“The Queen has already sent someone to urge us to hurry up many times. If we don’t return to Blue Tower, she’ll make a trip here herself.”

“Worst comes to worst, let’s just get that Xiao Nuo person close to Mo Jiangye and swap her for Xiao Ruo.”

Bo Jinyan disagreed with the idea, however. “That was my initial plan, but after meeting him several times, I now find this plan infeasible. Besides, Xiao Nuo has lost her vision in one eye.”

“How is it infeasible? We just need to get that woman to stall Mo Jiangye for a day.”

As he stroked the necklace in his hand, he whispered, “Mo Jiangye seems to care for Xiao Ruo a lot.”

“He cares for Xiao Ruo?”

How can he—someone full of shortcomings—be possibly worthy of my little princess?

“You’ll take Gu Feirou and Xiao Nuo back to Blue Tower first and I’ll stay behind to take care of the rest,” said Bo Jinyan in a meaningful tone.

“Xiao Nuo as well?”

“Yes, take her back. She might prove to be a big help to us one day.”

“No, I’ll take Ruoruo back on my own. You can return with those two women first.”

He furrowed his brows in displeasure. “I’ll take those two back while you stay here? How do you intend to take Xiao Ruo away from Mo Jiangye’s side then?”

“I’ll snatch her away!” Yu Lingfeng spat out coldly.

“Snatch her? Do you want her to hate you? Do you think Xiao Ruo will willingly leave with you?”

He was rendered speechless. “What do you mean?”

“I’ll get her to return to Blue Tower with me of her own free will and make her forget Mo Jiangye and everything that happened here.”

Wouldn’t that... be going overboard?

It’s not hard to tell that Xiao Ruo is very fond of Mo Jiangye. If we wiped him from her memories...

The air suddenly felt still as silence descended between the two men, who each had their own thoughts on their minds.

“Actually, I think it might be a good idea if she doesn’t return to Blue Tower,” Yu Lingfeng solemnly declared with heartache after a lot of consideration.

Besides, he could not refute that her safety was guaranteed while she stayed by her husband’s side.

His friend’s face darkened. “How is she going to be a part of my family if she doesn’t return to Blue Tower?”

He felt absolutely conflicted. To be honest, he would prefer it if Xiao Ruo was not a part of his friend’s family. He just wanted him to treat her with love and sincerity, but that would be too unfair to her.

On top of that, if she did not return to Blue Tower... the chances of him meeting her again in the future would be practically non-existent.

“She has to return!” Bo Jinyan articulated his thoughts clearly, his eyes flashing with obstinacy, determination, and solemnity. “I’m capable of protecting her for life. I’ll give her a glamorous and lavish wedding and make sure that she belongs entirely to me, including her heart and body.”

Chapter 335: Erasing Ye Erruo’s Memory

Yu Lingfeng could only sigh, knowing very well that his good friend had made up his mind.

Bo Jinyan repeated his instruction. “You’ll take Gu Feirou and Xiao Nuo back to Blue Tower first.”

“What about Xiao Ruo?” The man was still harping on about his beloved little sister.

“She won’t remember any other man she met in her life soon. This is the last time I’m going to indulge her.”

She can do whatever she wants with Mo Jiangye now, but this is their last chance to be together. She’ll become a brand new person when she leaves with me, and I’ll be the most important person in her life!

On the other hand, Yu Lingfeng was contemplating his friend’s words with furrowed brows. As much as he disliked Mo Jiangye, he knew his little sister cared a lot about him. Erasing the man from her memory seemed a tad cruel in his opinion.

Still, he had to admit that retaining the memory would have unwelcome repercussions.

“Can’t we find another way to resolve this problem? How about trying to explain this matter to Xiao Ruo instead?”

“Explain? What’s there to explain?” Bo Jinyan objected. He knew that many thorny issues would surface as well if they were to reason with her. It would work against them and her in the long run.

The only way was to make her forget Mo Jiangye. This would be the most effective and efficient solution to all their concerns.

Furthermore, she would be spared from any suffering, so this was definitely the best way out!

The man concluded their discussion resolutely, “We’ll settle this then. Let me handle Xiao Ruo’s affairs. I’ll bring her back to Blue Tower safe and sound, and you can get to meet a brand new Ye Erruo.”

Then, Gu Feirou was seen emerging from the entrance slowly. “So the two of you are here!”

“When did you get up and why are you wandering around?” Bo Jinyan chided her, looking displeased.

One of the male attendants following the princess quickly pulled out a stool for her to sit down.

“I’m not tired. Where is Ye Erruo?”

“What do you mean?”

“One of her corneas has been removed for me, right? Where is she now?”

“Why are you looking for her?”

Gu Feirou had a look of absolute hatred on her face as she answered, “Taking her cornea isn’t enough. She has hurt me time and again so she has to pay double for her transgressions!”

Bo Jinyan took a deep breath before replying, “You’ll return to Blue Tower with your elder brother tomorrow.”

“No, I won’t! I want Ye Erruo to pay...” The woman stopped short as she gazed straight into the man’s ominous glare.

“Ye Erruo will follow you back to Blue Tower tomorrow.”

The woman let out a cry, “Really? Is that true?”

“Go back and rest now!”

A male attendant instantly helped the lady get on her feet. “Princess, let’s go back to your room now.”

“Thank you, brother.” With a satisfied smile, the woman finally left the room with her male pets in tow.

“Where is she?”

“Young Master, are you referring to Xiao Nuo?” the servant asked Bo Jinyan cautiously before adding, “She is locked up in one of the rooms, but do not worry, Young Master. That room is far away from the princess’s room so Her Highness will not get to see her.”

The man got up from his seat. Unlike his usual self, he was strangely aloof and distant that day.

“What are you planning to do?” His friend hurried after him.

He did not reply as he entered Xiao Nuo’s room with an inscrutable face.

By the time he re-emerged from the room, his friend had an odd expression on his face as he waited outside the door.

“What did you do to her?”

“Just remember, Xiao Nuo will be Ye Erruo in the future. All you need to do is bring Gu Feirou and this woman back to Blue Tower tomorrow. If the Queen asks for me, you can tell her that I’m attending to some business here for the time being and shall return to the country after I settle these affairs.”

His friend remained quiet when he added unexpectedly, “Oh, one more thing. Bring Aby back with you tomorrow as well.”

“Aby is still here?” Yu Lingfeng asked with a start.

His friend’s mouth twitched when he recalled the way that creature had threatened him with a hunger strike again in the past couple of months. The thing was, he had found out that the dog had been snacking behind his back while putting up a daily act of despondency and pitifulness. He knew because the smart-aleck had regained its former round size despite being on a hunger strike for two months. That fella should have looked scrawny by now if it had truly gone without food.

Chapter 336: Everyone’s Duty To Stay Away From Retards

“Aby did not return to Blue Tower.”

Yu Lingfeng was caught in a dilemma. “What if it refuses to eat when we bring it back?”

“Let it die from hunger!”

“...”

All of a sudden, the door behind them opened.

Xiao Nuo stuck her head out to have a look.

“Who are you?”

Yu Lingfeng was stunned. He glanced at Bo Jinyan and asked, “Did you hypnotize her?”

“All she knows now is that she is Ye Erruo,” Bo Jinyan said coldly.

He found it very easy to make someone forget everything. Of course, it was not impossible for him to control someone.

“...”

“When you return, do not let Gu Feirou anywhere near her. You have to think of a way to hide her.”

Yu Lingfeng nodded his head. “Then I will leave Xiao Ruo to you.”

“Mm. You should head off and prepare for your return to Blue Tower tomorrow,” Bo Jinyan said as he heaved a sigh of relief.

“Young Master, Young Master! The princess has taken a few people out to have fun.” One of the maids rushed over to give a report.

“Just ignore her.”

The maid was taken aback. “A-Alright.”

“Send someone to follow them. Make sure that they return tonight.”

“Yes, sir.”

“How did this retard get hold of Xiao Ruo’s necklace?” Yu Lingfeng severely questioned the situation.

“It doesn’t matter how she did it. She is now the Blue Tower Royalty’s princess and your sister.”

“Damn it. If she is truly my sister, I will make sure to hide far away from her. It is everyone’s duty to stay away from retards.”

“It isn’t a bad thing now that the necklace is on her.” Bo Jinyan’s eyes fell on the hall on the first level.

Gu Feirou had brought ten of her boys out to have fun.

The ten men were making a din about wanting to head out to play while coaxing Gu Feirou to the sky. Amid all the delight, she led them out, not caring about her eye.

Gu Feirou walked arrogantly with her head held high in front of the ten men as they walked into a shopping mall in the city center.

She was wearing half a face mask to cover her injured eye, her luxurious princess gown, and a crown on her head. She was holding a scepter in her hand as well, which made her look exactly like a princess.

She exuded a luxurious air, especially due to the necklace around her neck. It looked extremely valuable at first glance and gave off a hint of a mystery, making one’s eyes light up as they looked at it.

Gu Feirou loved it very much. This necklace was a gift from one of her male pets.

She had heard that this necklace was capable of making one’s skin beautiful. Wearing it for a long time would make her skin fair and tender and her figure slim. Plus, the necklace exuded a faint fragrance that made one feel comfortable and incredible just by smelling it.

Originally, Gu Feirou had been wearing the necklace that represented her identity just as Yu Lingfeng had said. However, when she’d thought about how inconvenient it would be, she had decided not to put it on.

Compared to that, she loved this necklace way more!

“Are they filming a TV show?”

“Where is this princess from?”

“She is really pretty and she has such a great presence.”

Upon hearing the admiring words all around her, Gu Feirou swelled with happiness. She straightened her back, her eyes becoming arrogant and aloof as she thoroughly enjoyed the compliments and envy of the crowd.

She had never felt so noble before. She felt a sense of superiority, as if the world was beneath her feet.

The ten men behind her seemed like her loyal servants.

“Princess, where is this place?”

Gu Feirou raised her jaw arrogantly as she said, “This is the sales counter dedicated to MTR.”

She wanted to buy all the MTR-branded lipsticks, bags, clothes, and shoes that day.

Previously, she had always been envious of Ye Erruo’s status. Now, she was finally the female lead.

All of a sudden, her eyes were attracted to a dress studded with diamonds...

Chapter 337: Untitled

All of a sudden, her eyes were attracted to a dress studded with diamonds...

"Hello, Miss. Welcome."

"May I know how we can be of service today?"

Two staff members greeted them passionately.

"I want this dress. Wrap it up for me," she said coldly.

The staff members followed her line of sight, momentarily stunned when they saw what she was looking at. One of them hurriedly said, "I am sorry, Miss, but the dress by the display window is not for sale."

Upon hearing that, Gu Feirou felt unhappy.

"Not for sale? Why did you hang it there if you are not going to sell it?"

"I am very sorry, Miss. This is a gift from our boss to our Madam. It was custom-made earlier, so it was temporarily placed on the mannequin. It will be packed away as soon as possible."

"No. I want this dress. How much is it? I will pay for it."

"I am sorry, Miss, but we are not selling this dress." The staff members were in a tough spot.

SLAM!

One of her male pets slammed a card on the counter.

"How can there be something you can't sell to our princess if she wants it? If this is a gift for your Madam from your boss, you can just make another one."

The dress on the mannequin could make every woman stop in her tracks and gasp in amazement.

It was stylish yet it did not lose its lavishness. It was both elegant and honorable. Every diamond on it had gone through elaborate craftsmanship and reflected every girl's princess dream.

"Take it down quickly," Gu Feirou said, both her eyes sparkling.

The staff members pulled them aside and explained patiently. "Miss, this is the only dress made from such a material in this world. I am not sure if you have seen it on the media, but it has been revealed that two diamonds as big as human heads appeared on the L Market. Every diamond on this dress was cut and custom-made from those head-sized diamonds. It is very rare, and it is impossible to make a second dress like this one. Besides, the designer has already left. Our store has to hand over this dress by the end of the day, so we really can't sell it or make another piece for you. We hope you understand."

The other staff member added, "Our boss really loves our Madam. Therefore, he attaches great significance to the dress. I believe a beautiful princess like you would not be willing to destroy a couple's kind intentions, right? We have other dresses here that would be a great fit for you. Please have a look at this dress, princess! It suits you very well."

The staff member took a princess gown from the side and gestured to it in front of Gu Feirou. “Miss, you can try it on if you’d like.”

Gu Feirou shifted her attention to the princess gown in front of her and reached out to caress it. Seeing that her focus had been shifted, the two staff members let out a sigh of relief.

“No way! I only want that one!”

Diamonds as big as human heads? A well-known designer? A limited-edition dress made by MTR?

Such a precious dress was only fit for someone with the right status. She was a princess. Therefore, she was the only person in this world worthy enough to wear this dress. If anyone else wore it, it would lower its value.

Only a princess could bring out the beauty of such a dress!

“How much is this dress? Give me a quote. Do not think that I do not have the money to afford it!”

The staff member forced out a polite smile. “Miss, this dress is not for sale. Please do not put us in a tough spot.”

“Fifty million. Is that enough?” Gu Feirou asked impatiently.

They had said that it was not for sale. They were not going to sell it. Did she not understand the human language?

The staff member put on a fake smile and said, “Miss, your measurements seem to be a little off the measurements of the dress. You are a smaller size, so I’m afraid you won’t be able to fit into the dress even if you buy it.”

Chapter 338: Crystal Shoes Have To Fit A Princess

“Miss, your measurements seem to be a little off the measurements of the dress. You are a smaller size, so I’m afraid you won’t be able to fit into the dress even if you buy it.”

Gu Feirou unconsciously looked down at her bosom, her face turning an ugly crimson shade in an instant.

She became furious immediately. “I like it and I am willing to buy it. I want this dress. I can buy whatever I want. I have a ton of money.”

“...”

“Wrap it up. I have my own designer, so you do not need to worry about my measurements. Who knows? I may not even like it after bringing it back home. I might just let my servants use it to mop the floor.”

The two staff members could no longer keep up their courteous act. They had been kind and patient with every customer, complied with everything they wanted, and treated them like Gods as they served them with their hearts.

However, they did not have to be patient when they encountered difficult people who were intentionally looking for trouble.

“Did you not hear what I said? Where is your boss? Get your boss here.”

“I am sorry, Miss, but our boss isn’t around.”

“Get your manager here then.”

The staff member stared at Gu Feirou in astonishment. Judging from her clothes, they believed she was a cultivated young lady from a rich family that had good taste.

Unfortunately, the lady’s character...

One really should not judge a book by its cover.

At that moment, a group of people walked over from the back.

“Senior manager...”

“What happened?”

“The lady insists on buying this dress,” the staff member said awkwardly.

The senior manager glanced at Gu Feirou before saying coldly, “Take the dress down and wrap it up.”

“Yes, sir.”

The two staff members took the dress down hurriedly.

“Hold on! Lady, this dress is not for sale.”

“I can give you the money. Do you think I can’t afford it? You should know that I can purchase every single thing in this shop!”

The senior manager looked at her strangely before he said, “Miss, this store is not selling this dress.”

“Princess, it is just a dress. Let’s not bicker with them. With a noble status like yours, why should you lower yourself and waste your time arguing with them?” A male pet reminded her from behind.

Gu Feirou thought about it. What he’d said made sense!

“Forget it, I am too lazy to be so calculative with you all. Bring out all the shoes in your store.” She walked to the side arrogantly and sat down.

The senior manager glanced at the staff members, signaling to them to do as she instructed.

A moment later, all sorts of shoes were brought out for the princess.

“I want the latest limited-edition ones.”

“Miss, all these are the latest limited-edition shoes.”

“This pair. Let me put it on and have a look.”

The staff member bent over and slowly removed the shoes from Gu Feirou's feet.

"No, this pair doesn't look good."

Before the staff member could help her put on the heels, Gu Feirou had pointed once again at another pair of shoes.

"Alright, I will change them for you right now."

A couple of minutes later, Gu Feirou nodded her head in satisfaction.

"Take this pair and help me change into that pair of heels as well."

The staff member bent down and helped her put on another pair of heels.

"No. This is too ugly. Change it, change it. Wait, that pair! That's the pair!" A glint of excitement flashed across Gu Feirou's eyes.

She had caught sight of a pair of pale pink crystal shoes that were being carefully taken out by a staff member so they could be wrapped up.

Under the lights, the pair of heels shimmered. They were a crystal dream that every girl would desire to own, and Gu Feirou was no exception.

"I am sorry but that pair of heels is not for sale."

Gu Feirou was truly furious this time. "You refused to sell that dress and now that pair of shoes. What kind of shop is this?"

"I am sorry, Miss, but this pair of heels is a gift for our Madam."

"I am fine without the dress, but crystal shoes have to fit a princess!" Gu Feirou said icily.

Chapter 339: The Poor Cannot Afford The Food Here

It is true that crystal heels befit princesses only, but honestly, does this woman consider herself a princess just because she is wearing a pair of crystal heels?

The store assistant felt full of disdain for the show-off standing before her. "I'm truly sorry, Miss," she told Gu Feirou.

"I don't care. I want that pair of crystal heels. You go and get it for me." The woman turned her head over her shoulder and ordered the male pets behind her.

"Princess, this pair of heels is too low-class for you. There are plenty of crystal heels in various styles in the Blue Tower Kingdom. If you really like crystal heels, you can get as many as you want when we return home. There are red crystal heels, blue crystal heels, and many more!"

"That's right, Princess. These crystal heels are very common in the Blue Tower Kingdom."

"You can easily find crystals and gems back home."

"Princess, let's not argue with them over this insignificant matter."

“Don’t get upset, Princess.”

Gu Feirou’s heart was moved by the words of her male followers. Are there really so many crystal heels back in Blue Tower?

“Fine. I’m not going to pursue this matter further. It’s true that I’m not keen on footwear that’s cheap and low-class,” the woman concluded as she shook her head.

The store assistant’s mouth twitched involuntarily. Is this woman calling these shoes sour grapes now because she can’t have them? I really look down on her!

“Give me size 38 in all the designs you have here. You can pack these up for me because I won’t be trying them on.”

“Miss, are you referring to all the designs?” the store assistant asked with a start. Is she for real?

“Of course, give me a pair of every limited-edition design. I have the money, so you needn’t worry that I can’t foot the bill.” As she spoke, she shoved the card that one of her male attendants had passed to her into the employee’s hand.

“Sure, sure! Please give me a minute.”

By the time the store assistant re-appeared before Gu Feirou, she was wearing a beam on her face. She returned the card to the Princess with a smile.

“Thank you, Miss. Please give us some time to wrap up your goods for you. Thank you for your patience.”

“Alright, but be quick!”

“Understood.”

The woman was feeling strangely good. She had never spent money so frivolously in the past.

Hmph! I would expect more than a dozen pairs of limited-edition MTR footwear over here. Judging by the fact that nothing comes cheap when it comes to this brand, I expect these shoes to cost at least millions of yuan.

As she was standing by the clothes rack, she commented while shaking her head, “The clothes here are really ugly. Oh, well, we can buy one or two pieces to use them as cleaning rags.”

“Hi, Miss. Your shoes are all packed. What else do you need from us?”

“Nothing. Let’s go!” the woman replied.

Right about then, a woman in corporate clothes walked into the store. “Are the clothes and heels pre-ordered by our Young Madam ready for collection?”

“Yes, they are, Sister Liu.”

“Tsk tsk!” Gu Feirou sized up the customer from head to toe before she walked toward the exit. As she brushed past the woman, she purposely knocked hard against Sister Liu’s shoulder.

“Hey, watch where you are going! Are you nuts?”

The Princess feigned innocence as she left the store with her head held high.

“Sister Liu, this customer was truly problematic. Just ignore her. Look, here are Madam’s heels and outfit.”

“Alright.” Sister Liu got into her car speedily after taking the shopping items from the assistant’s hands.

Gu Feirou went into a bout of senseless splurging after that. She got everything that had the MTR logo on it regardless of her need for it. Soon, the dozens of men following her could no longer handle the amount of shopping bags and had to call for reinforcements. A car would come and help them carry the goods.

When they arrived at the snack section, the woman inhaled the fragrance and thought to herself, This is the smell of money. Only the rich can afford the food here. Yes, only a Princess like me can afford to eat here.

“Mrs. President, let me carry your handbag for you.”

“Alright.” Ye Erruo obliged as she dug into the little buns with the chibi[1. “Chibi” is a Japanese slang term that describes a specific style of caricature that depicts characters as small and chubby in an exaggerated fashion.] artwork of her husband on them.

This store could customize cute cakes and pastries based on the customers’ requests.

The lady was holding a few buns with chibi designs of Mo Jiangye in her hands while waiting for the store to give her the buns with the cute artwork of her on them.

“Ye Erruo?” Gu Feirou blinked in disbelief. Am I imagining things?

Chapter 340: A Laugh of Sweet Indulgence

“Ye Erruo?” Gu Feirou blinked in disbelief. Am I imagining things?

Wasn’t this woman just captured by my fiance so that one of her corneas would be removed for me? What is she doing here?

She marched toward her enemy.

Suddenly, Ye Erruo’s phone buzzed for attention. The young assistant by her side took the bag of bread from her hand and passed the phone to her. “Mrs. President, your phone is ringing.”

“Hello. Is that Mo Jiangye?”

“Where did you go?” The man on the other end of the phone sounded a little displeased.

“I was hungry and I went out to buy some bread. I’m near the office. I shall return soon...”

“Are you craving bread?”

“Uh-huh. By the way, there’s a pastry store here that is rather interesting. I’ll bring some buns for you to try later. They are really soft and chewy.” She could not hide the wide smile on her face as she gobbled down another ‘Mo Jiangye’ pastry.

Her assistant swooned because of the sight, though.

“Alright, bring a few more later. The meeting will drag on so I’ll finish late tonight,” he told her gently.

“Okay.”

“Come and look for me in the meeting room once you return.”

“You want me to look for you in the meeting room?” she asked with a start.

“Yes, I want you to bring me the buns personally.” He could not stand the thought of her being far away from him. It made him feel nervous and uneasy. That was why he had called her immediately when he had been notified that she had left the office.

“Alright.”

“There’s another store nearby that sells the dumplings you like. You can search for it and have some food there before you come back to the office.”

The woman looked around her before she replied, “Yup, I can see it. I’ll get a few dumplings for you too.”

He chuckled. His voice was full of sweet indulgence when he said to her, “Alright. I’ll eat whatever Baby Ruo gets for me.”

“You should continue your meeting now. I’ll hang up.”

“Sure. See you in a bit, baby.”

Ye Erruo could feel goosebumps forming on the back of her neck. “Okay, see you in a bit.”

After putting down the phone, to everyone’s astonishment, the man resumed his detached persona again and continued the meeting.

“Miss, your buns are ready.”

The buns with her chibi artwork were finally ready.

“Let me have my bag.” The lady reached for her purse, ready to make the payment, but her assistant was too dumbfounded by the sight of her beauty to notice her instruction.

“What happened to you?” She waved her hand in front of her young assistant, hoping to catch her attention.

Startled, the assistant blushed beet red as she tried to regain her composure. “Ah? Oh, what? What do you need? Oh, how much is it?” What’s wrong with me? Why am I so captivated by another woman?

“The total is 8,619 yuan, but you can round down to 8,600 yuan.”

“Alright.”

“Ye Erruo, is that you?” a shrill voice said behind her.

The lady subconsciously turned to check behind her and found herself staring in the eyes of her arch enemy.

As she turned her head around, the sight of her with her hair fluttering lightly in the breeze caught the male pets standing across from her by surprise.

Who is this beauty?

Her skin was dewy and soft, and her eyes sparkled with delight. Her lips looked so tantalizing that it was almost criminal to look at them. The ten men across from her felt time stop the moment she swung around to look at them. It was as if she had walked out of a painting.

The ten male pets held their breath as their eyes stayed on the woman. The word ‘goddess’ would not be good enough to describe the distinctive aura that this beauty possessed. In their opinion, she was probably the most beautiful woman on earth.

“Gu Feirou?” Ye Erruo cocked her brow in surprise. Why is she wearing a mask in public? Oh, right... She is blind in one eye.

On the other hand, her enemy was still staring at her in disbelief. It’s her. It’s really her! What about her eye? Why is she...

“How come your eye can still see? Why aren’t you blind?”

The lady chuckled in bemusement. “I think you are the one who’s blind, not me. Yes, that’s right. You are indeed blind.”

“Arrest her!” Gu Feirou yelled at her men.