Chapter 38: She Became a Singer

“Did you hear that?” He squeezed her hands hard.

“Psst... That hurts!”

Mo Jiangye took out his cell phone and found news for her to read. It was a news report about the hospital that Wang Qiang was sent to. A new doctor had prescribed his treatment. He had caused a mix-up of the medicine in many wards and as a result, a few lives were lost. The hospital had already closed down.

After thirty minutes, the car gradually came to a halt. Mo Jiangye leaned sideways and unfastened her seatbelt. Come out.”

“This is.... Lin Teng??”

Mo Jiangye opened the car door without uttering a word. The place that he wanted to bring her to was actually his workplace. He wanted to see her for 24 hours a day. However, she would be busy with her own affairs very soon. Most likely, he would not be able to see her all the time even if he were to make her come to his office.

He pulled her hand and brought her into the building. He then said, “I will be working overtime till 12 midnight today.”

“A-ah?” So, he brought her here to keep him company while he worked overtime?

“President!”

“President!”

They attracted everyone’s gaze along the way.

Very soon, Ye Erruo took the elevator and arrived at Mo Jiangye’s office.

A computer, snacks, and beverages were placed in front of her. Mo Jiangye had prepared everything well in advance.

“Wait here for a while. I’ll bring you for dinner afterward and then home to sleep.”

“...Okay.”

After settling down Ye Erruo, Mo Jiangye began to work. His long and slender fingers hit the keyboard swiftly. There were heaps of document folders beside him.

He emanated a noble aura all over and looked super manly when he was at work. Ye Erruo could not help but more glances at him a few more times. He mysteriously curled his thin lips into a smile and his eyes filled with an indulging look.

Ye Erruo lowered her head and began to think about some song lyrics in a serious manner. In an attempt to boost her popularity, Star Glory Company had registered an account on a platform for her. She was supposed to write a song then arrange the music and record another song and hand it to them. They would then broadcast the songs on the platform and she would officially launch her debut via the platform.

This was the largest network platform in the entertainment industry and numerous dancers, singers, and directors used this platform. Many people became famous via this avenue. Some directors also looked for suitable actors and actresses there. It had many chat rooms and each was hosted by someone. The host was often the most formidable character.

On every first day of the month, the music chat room would conduct screenings to discover talents. The first day of every month was also the day when the music chat room gave major recommendations. When the time came, it was the most popular room with the highest number of hits.

Everyone who wanted to enter the room had to meet certain requirements. The first and foremost requirement of every room was to specify a song for the visitors to modify the key, pitch, and everything required for them to sing a reproduced version of the song. There was a pk stage outside the room. The more hits one's song had, the greater the chances of him or her entering the room.

After entering the room, they still had to go through the host's assessment. If they could pass the assessment, the host would find resources for you. Most of the time, the hosts were professional music producers, songwriters, or people working for the record companies. In fact, it was rare for people to pass the first round of assessment by the various hosts.

The first thing that she needed to do now was to modify the tune, rhythm and so on of a song. The melody of the original version of this song was very melancholic and oppressive. She needed to wreck her brains on the music arrangement.

Time passed gradually. Ye Erruo was not sure when she fell asleep on the sofa. Mo Jiangye, who had intended to work overtime, ended his work earlier.

He walked to the sofa and gently patted her face that looked flushed from sleeping...

Chapter 39: Debut, Shot To Fame?

He went to the sofa that she was sitting on and patted her cheeks lightly which had turned red from sleep. Her face was delicate to the touch and he wanted to keep caressing it. He wrapped her jacket tightly around her and carried her in his arms. Ye Erruo opened her eyes instantly, looking dazedly at Mo Jiangye. “What time is it?”

“Ten o’clock.”

“Oh, let’s make a trip back to the old Lin family residence tomorrow,” She said softly, finding a comfortable position in his embrace.

Mo Jiangye said coldly, “The old residence?”

“Mmm, I am going to take...”

“No!”

Going to the old residence would mean that she would have a chance to see Lin Jingxuan. He would not allow it.

“...Why?”

“Are you asking me why?” He narrowed his eyes, using a mocking tone.

Ye Erruo sighed. Alright, she would get someone else to get it for her. She had left something behind at the old residence of the Lin family. It was given to her by her foster mother. She only remembered it today.

A week later, the cover song that “Little Ah Mei” sang before entering the assessing room went viral.

These days, Ye Erruo was kept occupied with her music career and she could not be bothered with Gu Feirou. She felt happy with her current life.

Room G:

The host, management and various trainees were in a meeting. It was rare that everyone in Room G was present.

“Little Ah Di, I haven’t been seeing you lately. Are you ready for the concert at the end of the month? This is a good opportunity for you to meet your fans officially.”

Gu Feirou said softly, “I am ready.”

“Mmm, you will go on stage in person this time. You will definitely pleasantly surprise the audience.” The host was the producer from Moon Glory Company, who signed the contract with her.

“I will definitely do that.”

“Ah Qi, the person who wants to enter the adjacent room seems to be someone who imitates Little Ah Di.”

“Boss, I have run a background check on Little Ah Mei. She is the new singer that was signed by Star Glory Company. The host next door is known for being sharp and strict. She won’t be able to enter the room.”

“That girl has talent. If she is given proper guidance, she will shoot to fame in the future. Get her to join us.”

Gu Feirou seemed very unhappy. Other than imitating her name, the person had a very familiar voice. It sounded like Ye Erruo... She had to admit that the woman had good singing skills. If she was in the same company as her, given her talents, she might even s****h her limelight.

She knew Ye Erruo very well. Although the woman’s voice sounded like Ye Erruo, she believed that it was definitely not her!

“Sure, Boss, leave this to me. Star Glory is closing down soon, it will be easy to get her to join us.”

“Post the information that Little Ah Di is opening a concert onto the Internet.” Director Lee said.

“Sure, Boss.”

“By the way, Little Ah Di, we will use ‘MTR’ for the costumes for this coming concert. The company wants to make known that you are the fiancée of the president of ‘Lin Teng’ Corporation. What do you think?”

Gu Feirou answered, “Okay.”

Director Lee smiled. “I heard that Little Ah Di is going to be engaged with the president of ‘Lin Teng’?”

Gu Feirou smiled proudly. "That's right. We will be getting engaged next month."

"Congratulations."

"Congratulations, Little Ah Di. You are so blessed."

Everyone in the room was green with envy.

"Will we have the honor of attending the engagement ceremony?"

"Of course, I will send you an invitation."

"Hahahaha. We have not seen the president of 'Lin Teng' before. It is all thanks to Little Ah Di that we are able to meet such a formidable figure. It is our honor!"

"I can't wait to see Little Ah Di's beautiful face."

There were all sorts of gossip in the room.

"See you at the concert. Alright, director, I will get the clothes ready. I will leave the room."

"Okay."

Gu Feirou left the room and switched off the computer. She was on her way to look for Lin Jingxuan.

Stubborn Love Of A Roguish Scion Chapter 40 – He Would Make Ye Erruo Regret It

Chapter 40: He Would Make Ye Erruo Regret It

Lin Jingxuan's lower body had yet to fully recover, but he was feeling much better.

"Jingxuan, is it true that we are getting engaged next month?"

Lin Jingxuan pulled Gu Feirou into his arms. "Of course it is true."

He wanted Ye Erruo to regret her actions. She used to love him with her whole life. But after she became another man's woman, her temperament changed drastically. D**n it!

“Jingxuan, I will be holding a concert at the end of the month. At the very important moment of my life where I become famous. The company has asked that I wear ‘MTR’ clothing and I want to wear those clothes!”

Lin Jingxuan frowned, remaining silent.

“Isn’t ‘MTR’ the representative clothing brand of ‘Lin Teng’? Director Lee has the intention to make our relationship public. It is also a good chance for me to meet the fans officially.”

“Make public!?!?” Lin Jingxuan asked loudly.

Gu Feirou jumped in shock. “What’s wrong?”

“Who gave him the right to make our relationship public?”

She paled. “J-Jingxuan, what do you mean? We are getting engaged, can’t we make our relationship public?”

Lin Jingxuan felt slightly annoyed. “Now isn’t the time to make our relationship public. Tell Director Lee that if he dares to make it public, he can go ahead and do it.”

Gu Feirou’s heart sank, her eyes turning red. “Why? Can’t we make our relationship public? Jingxuan, do you know how hard it is for me to keep it a secret for so many years? Whenever I saw you being nice to Ye Erruo, I felt as if my heart was being pierced by needles. I thought that I finally made it, but...”

Lin Jingxuan hurried to pull Gu Feirou into his arms to comfort her. “Rou-er, I know that it has been hard on you all these years. But I have yet to take charge of the Lin family as well as ‘Lin Teng’. If we make our relationship public, it will affect my plans to get back everything that belongs to me. Can you wait for a little while longer? By the time I get back everything that belongs to me, I will tell everyone personally that you are my woman.”

Gu Feirou snuggled in his arms, gritting her teeth. Affect his plans? What impact would there be? It was simply that her family background could not be compared to his. She was an orphan without parents! He was taking issue with this?!!!

“But you said that we are getting engaged next month...”

“I will get engaged to you. By then, you can invite your close friends and I will invite mine. Similarly, we must not let others know about our engagement.”

Gu Feirou felt bitter inside. Hidden marriage!?!?

“I understand.”

“You can pick clothes from the sales counter. You can get whatever you like.”

“I thought that ‘MTR’ clothes have to be approved by Mo Jiangye before they can be sold?”

Lin Jingxuan said coldly, “I am the young master of ‘Lin Teng’, ‘MTR’ is just a small brand of ‘Lin Teng’. Who dares to stop me from getting the clothes that I want?”

Gu Feirou who was in a bad mood felt much better. Jingxuan was being much nicer to her now. In the past, when she asked him for ‘MTR’ clothes, he would come up with all sorts of excuses and would not give them to her.

“Did Ye Erruo send someone over here to take your clothes today?” Lin Jingxuan asked.

“Yes. She gave me those clothes last time, but she went back on her words to take them away.” Gu Feirou felt indignant. Those clothes were expensive.

Lin Jingxuan sneered. “They are just a few pieces. Tomorrow, I will give you as many clothes as she has taken away from you.”

Ye Erruo, you will definitely regret it. You will regret it for colluding together with Mo Jiangye!!!

“Really? Jingxuan, you are the best!!” Gu Feirou gave him a fierce hug and kissed him hard on the lips.
