

Chapter 11

This is the most important chapter! There is still lots to come... so please pay attention and VOTE VOTE VOTE! I'm not kidding I haven't uploaded in SO long and I am SUPER sorry! Whoever is still waiting for it be uploaded and such, THANK YOU for your patience!! I really appreciate it and hope you enjoy this chapter!

I woke up, as usual, to a singing Natalia. I got up with no problem today, I was happy to be back with my friends. I got up and took a shower, pulling on my uniform and braiding my hair, adding a cream ribbon on the end.

We made our way downstairs for breakfast and ate peacefully with Julie and Rick. Cameron sat next to me today. He's really sweet and we got along nicely, but I realized he did not have any special ability, so I decided not to get overly close to him. There was a battle going on right now, I couldn't afford to have a mortal sidetrack me.

Talia, Rhea and I were called during lunch to Jake's classroom. We all exchanged looks of worry, what did he want from us?

As we walked slowly up the stairs and reached his room we paused, scanning the hallway. There was absolutely no one in sight.

Suddenly, Jake appeared down the hall, where I was kidnapped before. We took a down the hall until a voice called out to us,

"REVENGE! I will get revenge on you NOW and forever! You do not deserve this! EVER!"

The floor went ablaze around us. Talia and Rhea screamed in terror. The funny thing is, I know what's wrong. This is the demon. He's jealous (obviously) and wants revenge for our power. I knew Talia would die in only a few minutes, and something would happen to Rhea, though I don't know what. The only person that can survive this is me. I wasn't even fully awakened yet! Not all my powers are complete, and that made it hard to defeat someone who is centuries old and still angry!

I did the only thing I could think of, I blew. I blew a big enough space in the wall of fire to quickly push my friends through to safety. Other students joined them then, Julie, Rick and a few others. Everyone had concern clearly written on their faces. But I knew what to do. I spoke back to the demon,

"What do you want?!" I screamed.

"I want power! REVENGE!"

"Revenge for what? This is present time! The person you want revenge for is dead!"

"NO! Whitney is not dead!"

I realized it then. My great grandmother Whitney. He wanted her.

Grandmother Whitney spoke in my mind.

Yes Dear?

You need to come out here, NOW!

Why?

Because you no longer need to be here! You need to go with this demon. He needs you to save the world. To make peace, you must go with him!

I can't, Ashton dear.

No, you must! We will all die if you don't.

Okay dear....

I felt a fire course through my body and felt it lick at my heart, silently scorching it. I felt something exit my body, silently but with light pain. A gush of wind blasted against me, and I opened my eyes to see what everyone has been waiting for for decades.

My Grandmother Whitney's ghost and spirit was coasting outside of the ring of fire, towards the demon. As she came close to him he said one last thing,

"Ashton! You must choose now where you will go, what path you will follow, who you will spend time with. Choose carefully, there is no changing destiny!"

Suddenly I was surrounded by screams, people wanted me with them! They really did! I felt loved and... torn. I couldn't decide, I couldn't! But.... I needed to.

"Ashton! Hurry up! We have to go before someone finds us!" Natalia yelled.

"No, Angel! Don't leave me, I can give you everything!" Jake yelled painfully. I was hurting him.

I looked between them and didn't know what to do. If I go with Natalia I could have friends and continue the life I started. If I go with Jake I know he'll never leave my side and I'll always be happy. The draw towards him got stronger every day and it got harder and harder to be away from him. Something was wrong. I could feel it, if I didn't distance myself eventually I would never be able to leave his side and I would forget my past... including Matt. I couldn't afford to lose that!

So, I took a step in Natalia's direction, and saw Rhea appear, instead of Grandmother Whitney in the dream I had. As I continued stepping forward I saw more of my friends, and the fire got higher in the process.

After an eternity I was right at the fire. I was two times as tall as me. I put my finger in it carefully, it didn't hurt. Instead, it was a blinding pleasure, luring me in. I knew in my heart I would have to hold onto my head in order to get through it, otherwise, who knows what will happen!

Silently, I turned around the Jake,

"I'm sorry, Jake. Maybe sometime we can meet again, but not while this battle is still going on, and the world needs to be saved,"

I saw a tear slip down his face silently, mirroring my hurt expression no doubt,

"I really am sorry. Come find me, soon."

I stepped into the fire, feeling my senses disappear in the process. I held on to my train of thought in the blinding darkness until I saw a light. I pushed harder, thinking of everyone there waiting for me.

As I pushed through the final stream of fire it all disappeared, including Jake and the demon, along with my Grandmother Whitney. Instead of my friends, in front of me stood Madame Laurence and Sir Flagsta, both looking at me weird.

They gestured for me to follow them and I did, into the Madame Laurence's room all the way down the hall and they said a sentence in sync,

"You will see your friends again, when you have learned what you have just done."

I stared at them in utter confusion and worry. What had I done?

Madame Laurence and Sir Flagsta paced around the room, stopping only to tell me what I had done wrong and what really happened.

Want to know?

- 1) I gave a demon what they wanted, she was already dead!!
- 2) I turned away my soul mate, my soul mate??yes! Jake was your other half and you sent him away! oh...
- 3) You walked away from a demon, Technically he walked away from me, I only stepped out of the ring and did what he told me to.
- 4) You never thought of what this might mean for the school, did you? I did actually! If I went with Jake I wouldn't be here to save the world and my friends wouldn't do anything with themselves.
- 5) You left an angry and hurt soul mate, and powerful, somewhere in the world! So? He'll listen to me! He knows I can kick his butt and if he hurt anything, he knows it would hurt me too and Jake wouldn't do that.

After hours of going on like that they finally gave up and told me to go to sleep, it was past midnight already.

When I entered the room Talia and Rhea were fast asleep so I quickly changed into pajamas and fell asleep quickly, exhausted from this day. Why must I save the world???

~~~~~

"Ashton!"

"Ashton! Come here!"

I got up from the couch and walked over to my mom, where she was holding something in her hands. In a small bundle of blankets lay a child, one of a perfect mix of me and Jake.

Was this my child?!

His deep blue eyes looked up at me under a mess of brown hair.

It was my child...

It was Matt!

I decided I would name this boy Matt and he would be the highlight of my life.

I took Matt from mom and sat down in the loveseat as Jake appeared on top of the stairs, smiling. Mom quickly left the room and he sat down next to me, pulling me close as I leaned my head on his shoulder.

"This is our baby, Angel," he whispered.

"It's our baby, Matt." I spoke. I felt him smile against my head. I was so happy. I felt myself smiling too, and we gazed into each other's eyes in complete love and happiness....

I love you, Angel.

~~~~~

Those last words of my dream lingered in the air as I awoke. Talia and Rhea were just waking up too.

It was going to be another long day!

~~~~~

WHAT DO YOU GUYS THINK????!! hehe this took me sooooo long.... VOTE AND COMMENT!!!

Continue reading next part ↗