

Chapter 5

OK, I have lost this 3 times in trying to copy and paste in this Microso Live One Note account thing and I will not be using it for wattpad writing anymore. It's been really annoying and I will stick to emailing it to myself and saving it to my computer. Not some account. Enough of my ranting! Here's the short chapter guys:

The fire should have scorched my fingers but it didn't. Instead I felt a sensation, happiness, as I sat surrounded by fire. I felt the presence.. spirit.. of the fire demon. He chuckled and continued circling me and circling me until it was driving me crazy.

"What do you want?!" I screamed. I could feel him probing at the edge of my brain, trying to get in. After a few minutes of trying he got in and set fire to my brain. I screamed in agony. My body may be able to take it but my brain can't.

"What. Do. You. Want?!!!!" I screamed again. He whispered, still circling around me, but also cooling the fire down.

"You. You will rule alongside me. We will be feared. Respected, and ruling. The world will be under our power, at our mercy. There is no need to push me away. I am stronger, and you and I are the strongest of them all. You may not know it yet, but once your full power is awakened you will want to join me. Be by my side and my side only. We were meant to be, Ashton. Meant to be together forever and rule happily. I can give you everything you have ever wanted. Just believe in me one more time. Trust your heart like you always do." I wavered at that point. My heart wanted him, so bad. I knew what he was saying was true.

A man appeared before me. He was tall, had dark hair and tanned skin. His eyes were a green like mine, pools of green and emotions. I could see them change to a lighter green, betraying happiness like mine. He was fit, you could easily see that, and what more, was that he is a fire bender. The demon. My brain whispered. Well then I like this demon.

"Come with me, Ash." he held out his hand and when I took it, sparks flew and it burned, a sensation I would go miles to feel again. I knew right in this moment, I would always want this man. I would always return to this moment when I pulled my hand from his grasp and looked away from his eyes and ran.

I ran straight into a black hole, where I fell and fell for all eternity, my life slipping away. If only I chose the path of love and happiness with.. Jake. That was his name.

"JAKE!!" I screamed as I fell down and down.

"I love you" I whispered before closing my eyes and drifting away, becoming a spirit, just like..... Jake.

Does this make up for losing two LONG chapters? I hope so! I total twister of the story. Can anyone guess what this means and what REALLY happened? I'm in a great mood now! Bring on Chapter 6!! :D

-AE

Continue reading next part