Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 220

Jennifer had woken up at this time. She hadn't had a sound sleep the whole night and kept having strange dreams.

Carrying her bags, she went downstairs taking the elevator, with the room card in her hand and her headphones on.

She had no regrets left here in New York anymore. She was going to take the 10-o'clock flight to Dutch.

Walking out of the elevator, she went to the receptionist. "I'm checking out. Room 2501. Thank you."

"It's done. You are welcome, ma'am."

After leaving the hotel, she came to the crossroad and waited for the traffic light.

Suddenly, a black Maybach squeaked to a halt in front of the hotel. Before the valet could open the door for Ivan, he had rushed out of the car and into the hotel lobby.

Ivan came to the receptionist and asked, "Hello, is the woman staying in Room 2501 still here?"

The receptionist answered, "She had just checked out and left."

Ivan nervously dashed out of the hotel.

"Mr. Marsh! Be careful! There are a lot of cars on the road!"

Ivan searched for Jennifer everywhere on the bustling street with his sharp eyes.

He stopped there and kept searching.

It hadn't been long. So, she should still be around.

At this moment, Jennifer had crossed the street and the traffic light had turned red.

She was thinking about having some breakfast. The song Love Goes by Sam Smith was playing in her headphones.

She loved the lyrics and the melody as well as the singer's voice. It was as if this song was made for her.

"Jennie!"

Ivan captured her across the street in his eyes.

He was overjoyed and excited.

However, there were a lot of cars and she was getting further and further away from him. Ivan saw that a taxi stopped beside her and she was about to get in.

"Jennie! Don't!"

He immediately ran after her.

Squeak!

A rapid pickup truck was forced to brake.

But it was getting closer and closer to him.

Bang!

The truck hit Ivan…

"Mr. Marsh!" Ivan's men were in shock.

Ivan was hit hard. His body were thrown in the air and then fell heavily on the cement ground beside the plants with his head hitting the hard surface. Blood gushed out of his head and he felt dizzy. He couldn't move…

"Jennie…" he tried to call her name, even though he didn't even have any strength to move his finger. "Jennie… Don't go…"

"Mr. Marsh!" His subordinates came, startled. "Mr. Marsh!"

At this moment, Jennifer had gotten on the taxi, which slowly drove away…

Somehow, her heart skipped a beat just now. She didn't know why.

Looking out of the window, she saw several cars pulled up across the street.

The driver sighed. "Another car accident."

"Car accident?" The song had finished playing and Jennifer heard the driver.

The driver explained, "Yes. I saw from the rearview mirror that a guy was hit by a car hard. I think he might have died… People really need to be careful when crossing the road. Why in such a rush, right?"

Jennifer didn't answer, just looking out the window with a frown.

There was a traffic jam because of the accident.

The police got here in time and cordon off the spot. The medical staff carefully helped Ivan into the ambulance and then rushed towards the hospital…

In a VIP ward of a hospital in Arkpool.

Catherine, who was in bed, suddenly woke up and opened her eyes. Then, she saw Linda sitting beside her bed and staring at her.

"Did you have a nightmare?" Linda asked in confusion.

Catherine calmed herself down and shook her head.