

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 262

After Jennifer took a bath, she was still worried, so she found Tammy and asked, "How is he?"

"After drinking some tea, he has fallen asleep."

"Okay. Rest early. Good night."

She was relieved and went back to her bedroom. But instead of going to bed, she sat down on the sofa in front of the window. She won't be able to sleep tonight.

His love for her would make her feel troubled.

She can't give him any promise so she can't live here any longer.

Then, she came to the table and sat down, picked up a pen and paper, and wrote him a farewell letter...

She wrote every word with care and sincerity.

After finishing the letter, she set an alarm for five in the morning. She was going to leave at dawn before he woke up.

The letter was filled with her apologies.

The same night in Emerald Bay.

The luxurious mansion was beautifully decorated with lights, like a transparent crystal palace.

Upstairs in the study, Ivan, who was wearing a black suit, stood by the window and talked on the phone.

After listening carefully to their report, he opened his thin lips lightly, and his voice was low but powerful, "This project involves too much, and we must obtain the collaboration with Mayon Inc. We must impress them with the most perfect and innovative project."

"Mr. Marsh, we have received news that the Jerald's also lay their eyes on this project and want to work with them. The two companies are already in contact in private and the top management of Mayon is also looking forward to partner with the Jerald's."

In fact, Ivan had heard about it this afternoon.

"They will be our only competitor." Ivan said, "I have contacted Mayon. For the sake of fairness, they will let these two companies take the plan at the same time and explain their advantages in person, so be sure to make a counterplan in case you need it."

"Understood, I will do two."

In the children's room on the same floor, the door was locked from the inside.

Alfie sat cross-legged on the big round bed holding the tablet. The tablet was full of codes that ordinary people couldn't understand. His little fingers quickly touched the screen, and some new information was quickly recognized.

While Diana sat beside him holding a glass of milk with a straw in it, and from time to time, she stuffed it into his brother's mouth to let him take a sip.

She served him properly and did not disturb him.

Half an hour later, Alfie turned to look at her, his bright eyes widened, "I found it!"

"Really?" Diana was very happy, "Horray!"

"Wait for a second." Alfie looked at the screen again, he quickly scanned the text on it like a scanner.

Then he explained to his sister, "The Marsh Group is going to collaborate with Mayon Inc recently, but there is a competitor called the Jerald's, our father needs to win this project for its benefits in the long run. Once we won it, the value in the future is inestimable."

"Is the Jerald's a hard nut to crack?" Diana asked with concern, "Compared with the previous R-Alan company."

"They may be stronger but I don't know if it is hard to deal with. I don't know much about them." Alfie put down the tablet, and he took another mouthful of the milk that his sister handed over, "No matter how difficult it is, I can nail it!"

"But... will Daddy blame us?"

"Of course not!" Alfie was full of confidence, "This is a gift for him. He has amnesia now and I'll give him a chance to know me again. As long as he thinks I'm amazing, he will have some interest in our mother."

"You seem to understand men well?" Diana wondered.

"Of course." Alfie put his hand on her shoulder and said with a smile, "Because I'm a man!"

"You are a boy!"

"A man!"

"A boy!"

"A man!"

"Hahaha..."

The two little guys were playing around and the milk in the cup was accidentally spilled on the bed.

They were stunned for a while, staring at each other.

“I’ll clean that.” Alfie said, “Mommy is not here. I need to take care of you!”
