

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 277

Ivan always listened to Aubree, but he felt Aubree was too stubborn to respect him.

Ivan began to ponder his relationship with Aubree.

Finnley looked at the children and thought it was not a good time to talk about it.

After all, Aubree was the children's grandmother. Finnley didn't think it was correct to judge her before the children.

"Hank, I want to go home first," Ivan said.

"Yes, Mr. Marsh."

The car drove towards Emerald Bay.

After dropping off the children, the car drove to the company.

Finnley pulled down the soundproof panel and seriously answered Ivan's question. "When you were 17 years old, a big fire hit the Marsh family. You rushed into the fire to save Madam Aubree, and your back was injured. You always attach great importance to her."

"A big fire?" Ivan couldn't remember anything about it. "But there's not any scar on my back."

"Miss Brooks cured your injury." Finnley said, "She is a famous pharmacist and known as Darcie. She even cured Madam Aubree's a while ago."

Saying that, Finnley took out his phone. "Look, this is a picture of Madam Aubree. She wore a mask at that time. Even in summer, she had to wear long gloves and had all her skin covered."

According to the date watermark on the photo, Ivan knew it was taken three months ago.

So, it didn't take long for Aubree to recover from her injuries.

"Mr. Marsh, Madam Aubree has always hoped that you could marry Miss Collins, and you wanted her injury to heal. You searched all over the world for famous doctors, but whatever they did was useless."

"I suspect that Madam Aubree made a deal with Miss Brooks, like, if she agreed to receive treatment, Miss Brooks had to leave you." Finnley said, "I really can't think of any other reason besides this."

Ivan was deep in thought.

Finnley added, "This is just my guess."

"I need you to find her for me." Ivan remembered those photos again and couldn't help wondering who the man beside Jennifer was.

Everyone was waiting outside the operating room while Jennifer left with that man.

Mya said that Jennifer said yes to his proposal.

According to Mya, they went on a vacation in a castle and took many selfies. Ivan put a ring on Jennifer's finger and kissed her on the lips. Thinking of this, Ivan couldn't figure out why Jennifer changed her mind.

Ivan was confused and upset.

"Okay." Finnley changed his mind and decided to help Ivan remember the past and fight for Ivan's happiness.

Finnley would give Aubree the runaround from now on.

Ivan received a message at 3:00 p.m.

It was a location from Finnley.

Ivan asked, "Where is this?"

"It's a lily shop. Miss Brooks always goes there to buy some lilies."

"Okay." Ivan immediately turned off the laptop. "Then I'll go there. Take care of the company."

At this time, Catherine had already arrived at the bridal shop.

She said to Aubree on the phone, "Auntie Aubree, I've just arrived. You can take your time here."

"I'll be there soon." Aubree was in the car and she asked in a good mood, "Did you talk to Ivan about it? Did you ask him to come today?"

"No, he had a full schedule today, so I didn't want to hold him up." Catherine did not dare to call Ivan. She was embarrassed about what happened in the conference room.

"I don't think so." Aubree said, "Marriage is more important than anything else. I'll call him and tell him about it."

With that, Aubree hung up the call.

Catherine held the phone, worried but expectant.

The bridal shop was huge. Under the bright crystal lights, the wedding dresses on the racks looked dazzling, and seemingly the air was filled with sweet happiness too.

"Miss Collins, your custom-made wedding dress is shown in the window. Please come with me." The shop assistant beamed at her.

Catherine nodded and followed the shop assistant. When she turned around, she saw a familiar figure passing outside the door. "Wait a moment." The next second, Catherine rushed out.
