

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 279

“Mya?” Jennifer was also taken aback. She was always helpful, so she didn’t expect that the one she helped was Mya.

And at that moment, Ivan got out of the car and came towards the entrance of the alley.

The punks, quite crestfallen, stood up. None of them had the urge to take revenge. After all, Jennifer was so good at fighting that they were no match for her.

Jennifer’s cold eyes made their hair on end.

“Who sent you?” Jennifer helped Mya up and stared coldly at the punks. “Why did you bully her?”

“A woman paid us in front of the bridal shop and asked us to beat this lady. That woman said we could receive more money if we took pictures. We don’t know who she is.”

“Yes, she is the one to blame. It’s none of our business.”

With that, the punks rushed away right away!

Hearing “bridal shop”, Ivan put on a long face, remembering what his mother said on the phone.

Catherine was there to try on her wedding dress, so she must want to get back at Mya for the humiliation she suffered that day in the restaurant.

When Ivan thought of this, his eyes turned even colder.

“Mya, are you alright?” Jennifer was worried about Mya. “You’d better see a doctor.”

“I’m fine.” Mya hugged Jennifer. “I’ve had a hard time looking for you! You’re hiding on purpose, aren’t you? Before Ivan told me that you were in Arkpool City, I thought you had gone far away!”

“Ivan?” Stunned, Jennifer pushed Mya away from her arms.

Not far away, Ivan hurriedly hid in the dark with straining ears.

Mya said as he dusted herself, “Yes, he went to see me.”

“He remembers you?”

“No.” Mya shook her head, “He doesn’t remember me. I saw him and Catherine in a restaurant. I was so angry that I rushed over and humiliated them. He then found out where I live and came over to ask about you.”

Hearing this, Jennifer got nervous. “What did you say?”

“He told me he had amnesia.” Mya asked, “Did you know about this?”

Jennifer got upset. “Yes.”

"So you knew he had a car accident?"

"Yes..."

Not far away, Ivan leaned against the wall and had a bad feeling.

Ivan remembered the photos, in which Jennifer, outside the operating room, left with Spencer before Ivan was out of danger.

Ivan was overcome with jealousy but he did not realize it.

"What's going on between you?" Mya asked worriedly, "If you don't make everything clear to him, he will marry Catherine! Have you read the news?"

"There is no misunderstanding between us." Jennifer smiled. "Anyway, he should marry Catherine." Then Jennifer dropped her gaze on Mya. "Who exactly did you offend? Why did that person have to use violence on you?"

Mya thought for a while and said, "It should be Catherine. Those guys said they met her at the door of the bridal shop. She should be there for a wedding dress fitting today."

"You should be careful in the future. Bring the bodyguards with you when you go out." Jennifer said, "You don't have to be indignant at me. I was the one who left him first."

When Ivan heard this, he clenched his fists.

"I'm a lucky dog. Although I don't have any bodyguards today, I meet you." Mya took Jennifer's hand. "Ivan doesn't like Catherine. He was in a low mood that day. I felt he was lonely, so he probably didn't want to get married."

"Don't talk about him anymore." Jennifer changed the topic. "Let's go get a coffee."

"Okay!" Mya was very happy. "Anyway, you can't lose contact with us anymore! I'm really worried about you!"

Ivan did not follow them. Instead, he turned around and got into his car, staring into the alley.

Ivan began to wait for Jennifer to come out and wanted to see where she was living now.