

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 347

Linda quickly lifted her up and helped tidy the wedding dress

Catherine suppressed the heartache, and smiled, "Let's go there too." A gritty light burst from her eyes.

"What?" Linda was shocked. Her mind went blank for a few seconds.

Catherine held back her tears. Thinking of how the wedding cars were driving to the wedding venue, she tried to calm down.

She decided to take it as a PR crisis.

"Ms. Collins...I don't think this is a good idea..." Linda was very upset, thinking that since Ivan had done this, nothing would change his mind, and going there would only embarrass themselves.

"Go." Catherine gritted her teeth and lifted her dress, walking toward the door, "I know he won't marry me, and I don't expect him to marry me."

"Then why are we going there?" Linda was anxious, "Wake up!"

"To send our blessings. I've loved him for so many years, I have to say goodbye, right?"

Linda didn't believe it, "Then change your wedding dress before that."

"Why would I? I'm going to make his wedding an unforgettable one!" Catherine raised her voice, there was already light of hatred in her eyes. She wanted to destroy Jennifer with her own hands.

Why did Ivan fall in love with Jennifer even after losing his memory?

Why couldn't he see her, who had stayed by his side for so many years?

"Are you going?" Catherine stood in the doorway and rolled her eyes, "Or shall I go alone?"

"Ms. Collins, calm down..."

"I am calm." With that, Catherine lifted the hem of her dress and took a step out.

Linda had to keep up.

The pink Lamborghini, which was full of lollipops was heading towards the destination.

"I didn't think you would do this." Jennifer found that he didn't care much about his luxury car.

He smiled, "There are a lot of kids in Sunshine Village, and these are all for them."

The Lamborghini was followed by a long line of wedding cars. Sitting in them were people from Sunshine Village.

There were old people, as well as Alfie and Diana's friends.

Everyone wore their best clothes.

“Why am I so excited that the head of the village is getting married?” A middle-aged woman couldn’t help but say, “It’s like I’m going to get married myself!”

David teased, “You weren’t so excited when you got married!”

“Right, right, right! I wasn’t so excited. I didn’t think much on the day I got married.

“This car is so spacious and comfortable! What is this called? Just now my son told me, I forgot again, look at my fish memory!”

“It’s called Volvo. It costs millions of dollars. This is probably our only time to sit in such a car.”

“No, if you miss the feeling, just tell Jennifer!”

“Oh my God, this wedding is so grand. Am I in a dream? Jennifer is so lucky to marry such a rich man!”

“Yeah! Her husband is the president of the Marsh Group. He has both money and power. He is the like a king of Arkpool City.”

“I’ve always felt that Alfie and Diana are extraordinary, much more intelligent than other kids. It turns out to be genetic!”

In the cars, people were chatting lively. Jennifer was easy to get along with, and people all felt relaxed.

At the main wedding car in front.

Jennifer sat next to Ivan. He held her hand, sharing their warmth. They were getting closer and closer to happiness...