

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 455

"Hanson!" Spencer was suppressing his anger. "The money is ready and my life is ready, send me the address and stop hurting her."

Hanson thought that he had really caught the right person. Therefore, he joked with a smile, "Mrs. Marsh, is Spencer in love with you? He is willing to trade his life for yours."

Jennifer was still trying to struggle, she had words to say.

But how could Hanson let her speak?

"Ms. Marsh, I'm impressed. You got 1 billion dollars ready so soon?" The phone was turned and the camera was pointing at Hanson, who was smiling with his legs crossed.

However, his smile was somewhat scary. "Spencer will drive here alone with the money and I will send you the address."

"No!" Ivan grabbed the phone from Spencer's hands. "I'm coming with him."

"You are in no position to negotiate with me," Hanson said indifferently, ignoring him, "Both of you."

Jennifer was exhausted, sweat broke out on her on her forehead.

"Why should I believe that you will let her go?" Ivan asked calmly, afraid that Hanson would change his mind.

Hanson didn't answer.

There was anger in Ivan's eyes, but he was still trying to be calm.

"Spencer can take the money to you, but I have to be there to pick Jennifer up and with a doctor. She's hurt, I need to get her treated."

Hanson didn't refuse, he thought for a while and said, "Are you sure you will only bring one guy?" After saying that, he looked at Ivan.

"I am sure," Ivan dared not ask for more. After all, this guy was a maniac.

He had to ensure Jennifer's safety.

"Fine. But remember your words." Hanson didn't think a doctor would get in the way, "But if you break your promise, you will go back with her dead body."

Ivan was anxious, "I am a man of my word. I hope you are as well. And stop hurting her."

"Of course." Hanson looked pleased, "Send him the address. You can come over, I will be waiting for you."

After that, he hung up the phone.

Ivan was both angry and worried about Jennifer. She must be scared.

He felt sorry for her.

Ivan had never been so humble in his life. Jennifer was his weakness.

Just then, his phone rang and he received several photos of the warehouse.

They called Rowan over and set out.

Spencer got an address from Hanson. His guess was right.

The navigation was on and Rowan drove. Although he didn't say anything, he was worried about Jennifer as well.

Ivan and Spencer were in the back seat.

They should be discussing the plan to get Jennifer out, but none of them said a word.

At the checkpoint, after smoking the cigarettes, Hanson's men had all passed out.

The drug in the cigarette could make them faint for 12 hours.

On the first floor of the warehouse, Ivan's men had snuck in through the window. They saw two men guarding the gate.

They exchanged glances and snuck over. They covered the guards' mouths from behind and injected anesthetic into them. The guards passed out.

After dragging them out of the house, they texted Ivan.

They could smell something horrible in the air.

They noticed the dripping fluid from the staircase. One of them got close to smell it and made sure it was gasoline.

They texted Ivan about it.
