

Sweet Love 1441

Chapter 1441 Tit for Tat 4

Everyone knew that Qin Zhou had a poisonous tongue. His name was truly not in vain after personally experiencing it today!

This Qin Zhou, he seemed to be angering her to death!

As for Yun Shishi, she was clearly trying to make her uncomfortable!

Lin Zhi gritted her teeth in fury, but she could not do anything to the duo and could only stand at the side and say peculiarly, "I was also overwhelmed to receive Director Gu's recognition, but since he picked me to be the female lead, the director must have his thoughts about it! After all, he is a highly acclaimed gold director in the industry. His insight leaves no room for any doubt!"

She was borrowing Gu Xiaoyang's words to raise herself on a pedestal!

Her praise about the director having foresight was just her way of flaunting that she had relied on her abilities to clinch the female lead role in the 'Lethal Beauty'.

The manager was filled with much disdain inside.

Since when was it based on her abilities?

If the entertainment industry was dependent on its people's capabilities, where would she and her dishonest practices go?

Had she not relied on her financial backer to reach the top?

The moment the man thought of this, he became furious. If not for his charge somehow wanting to challenge the second female lead role, that female lead role might really not have been Lin Zhi's.

He had mingled in this industry for so many years. With so many relationships and connections, how could he be unable to clinch the female lead role?

He let out a grunt, unable to stand this actress insulting his artist in front of him. His impression of the woman had turned for the worse within a split moment, and he mocked her openly, "You'd better put on a good show, then! With our Shishi in the same drama as you, playing a villainous role, it'll be embarrassing if she becomes a hot topic while you're unable!"

Her expression had completely darkened at this point!

His words had truly stabbed her heart.

There was a reason why he had said that.

In the past, she had also starred in a period drama as the female lead. However, that role's character happened to be the typical naïve and sweet type, so it was not very well-liked. If it were a few years ago, that character's conceptualization might still have been welcomed by the audience.

Alas, the naïve and sweet trope had long been overused. The audience was already sick and tired of such a cliché character. Therefore, many people loathed the lead role she played.

If not for her attractive index, which managed to salvage the situation somehow, the drama would have lost her a lot of fans.

This was not all, though.

What left her feeling the most indignant was that, the second female lead who went crazy over love and hatred, as well as had an evil character design, became famous with the viewers due to its artist's exquisite acting skills.

Her limelight was, thus, completely masked by that artist's popularity.

The drama, then, became that female celebrity's representative work. The awkward thing was that, whenever the show was mentioned, most of the viewers' first reaction was in regard to the female celebrity who had acted the second female lead role rather than Lin Zhi.

Therefore, when she heard Qin Zhou's words, she knew that he was mocking her!

Why did he have to be so aggressive?

She was enraged. Shifting her gaze onto Yun Shishi, her narrow eyes got filled with hatred.

It must be because he was being protective of this newcomer!

After all, with him being her current manager, her earlier behavior toward the artist had likely angered him.

For what, though?

Why did he, the best manager in the industry and also an insufferably arrogant man, hold this artist in such high regard that he would protect her in every possible way?!

Exactly what was so good about her?

1442 Tit for Tat 4

What else did she have beside her looks?

Acting skills?

Lin Zhi had yet to see any of the newbie's works; at most, there were only a few movie trailers, so she had no idea how her acting was.

Given her haughtiness, though, she naturally thought nothing of Yun Shishi.

She deemed the latter's acting to be inferior to hers!

She debuted several years earlier, after all. In terms of experience and potential, she was confident that her acting skills were not beneath hers!

The newbie merely had good resources!

Still, where did all those good resources come from?

They all came from Qin Zhou.

Upon her debut, she got to work with Gu Xingze in a movie directed by Lin Fengtian. The superstar even specifically picked her to be his female companion at Huanyu's annual gala. Thereafter, she managed to appear in 'The Love Diary' as its second imaginary couple with the actor.

The last one was a true golden resource.

Why was that so?

As a brand-new online variety show, South Korea's top variety team was specially engaged to work on it.

Reality shows, being the best way to build a good image in front of the audience, were golden resources that many coveted.

It was out of reach to the average celebrity.

Not knowing how the show would be received in its early stages, the production team specially invited two B-listers to become an imaginary couple on it and reckoned that the results were not bad after recording several episodes.

After the pilot run, they saw a huge market potential in it. However, as the show was still climbing the ranks, and in a bid to stabilize its popularity, they invited Gu Xingze on the show at a heavy cost.

As for the female guest, the production team initially selected another person instead of the newbie actress.

Only due to the superstar making a request to them did Qin Zhou manage to clinch this deal.

The former would withdraw from the show if the female guest was not her.

How could they let that happen?

Hence, without further ado, the production team extended their invitation to her.

The success of the show was dependent on the high ratings from the male guests and not the female guests!

As the top idol, Gu Xingze alone was sufficient to bring in the entertainment value and ratings for the entire show.

That was enough.

It did not matter who the female guest was.

Moreover, since the superstar personally made this request, the production team could only follow his wishes.

Lin Zhi gritted her teeth in anger. Her fury stemmed from her being unable to appear as a female guest on the show due to the superstar's insistence on picking the newcomer.

Why should the superstar pick her?

Did he like her?

What a joke!

As the senior actress regained her composure, she soon came to the conclusion that the female artist and her manager had some kind of unspeakable relationship.

Back then, when Qin Zhou terminated his contract with the superstar and signed on the newbie as his newest protégé, gossip and rumors started spreading within the circle.

Many people were shocked by the news.

Had he... gone mad?!

He actually terminated his contract with the superstar!

Come now!

Was his brain working at all?

The superstar was a cash cow.

With his career on the rise even today, the growing value of the man meant the growing potential value of the manager's career.

Chapter 1443 Tit for Tat 5

Despite having debuted for a decade already, the current hottest idol in showbiz and the nation's heavenly king was still in his heyday. With his career on the rise even today, there were more prospective developments to come.

Alas, the contract was terminated just like that.

At first, people thought that the two had a disagreement, leading to the superstar 'ditching' his ace manager. It was only later that they learned the two had parted amicably.

They got even more baffled.

Things were enigmatic and unclear.

Even now, not many understood why the manager let go of a cash cow, signed on a newbie, and unhesitatingly spared no resources on her.

What was even crazier was that he had actually created hype for his new artist at the expense of the superstar's popularity.

He must have gone crazy.

Could she have... been taken advantage of by the star manager?

Countless individuals seemed inclined to believe this possibility that, in return for his effort in supporting her to fame, he got something from her.

Managers tended to have the same status as their charges, but it was different for him. As an ace manager with the golden resources of an A-lister and as a shareholder in Huanyu, Qin Zhou was wealthy, formidable, and had a broad network of connections.

Putting all these aside, the point was that... he had an idol-looking face.

As such, countless female celebs were waiting in line for his favor.

Alas, like the superstar, Qin Zhou was averse to women. Many, therefore, thought him to be gay.

At the thought of this, Lin Zhi eyed the newbie with malice and disgust.

Yun Shishi astutely noted her sinister glare.

At this, she retracted her glare at once, lifted her haughty chin, and smirked in an elegant and indifferent manner. "It's been many years since my debut. Having been in the industry for years, my acting skills have become polished and refined. While I didn't have the potential in the past, things are different now!"

"Huh. I hope so." The manager sneered.

Unable to bear with the actress's arrogance, Yun Shishi gave an innocent laugh, tilted her head, and asked in feigned naivety, "Eh? Senior, are you here for the fashion show?"

Without waiting for the other to reply, he immediately cut in. "Shishi, you don't know about this, but some people, for the sake of walking the red carpet, pulled two all-nighters in a row to rush here from afar!"

Lin Zhi's face flushed in anger at that, and she glared at him with eyes full of puzzlement, hurt, and most of all, anger.

"Mr. Qin, you... you've gone too far with that comment!" She lifted her head haughtily. "As the spokesperson for their new spring collection, 'Nectar', it's normal for me to receive this brand's invitation! You saying that I did it for the sake of walking the red carpet is mere slander."

"How capable of you to be the spokesperson for the press conference! Ha ha! It's enough that you bragged about yourself in public; aren't you afraid of disgracing yourself when you do the same in front of me?" mocked and ridiculed the man mercilessly.

Her face darkened.

Indeed.

Louis Vuitton had three different marketing titles—brand partners, brand endorsers, and brand ambassadors—which could be easily confused with one another, but in fact, they had substantial differences.

For events like the Milan Fashion Week, that particular brand would select celebs or guests who matched its class and then invite them to this event as brand partners. This was done all to create hype for the brand.

Chapter 1444 Tit for Tat 6

Lin Zhi was merely the endorser for Louis Vuitton's 'Nectar' collection.

From clothes to bags, the entire series was merely the tip of an iceberg.

The job might seem glamorous on the surface, but with the series being only one of the brand's product lines, there was not much value in it.

Brand ambassadors, however, meant endorsing the entire brand itself.

Actually, so far, there had only been one brand ambassador in Greater China for Louis Vuitton, and that was Gu Xingze. No female celebrities had ever been selected.

Hence, the actress was already immensely satisfied with being an endorser for one of its product lines.

"What is she here for, then?" she demanded aggressively, shooting Yun Shishi a malicious look. "What works has she had so far? Surely, it's impossible for her to be invited by this brand?! At the end of the day, the one who truly rushed here from afar all for the sake of walking the red carpet is your artist."

"Cough."

Qin Zhou was absolutely amused.

Desperately trying to restrain herself, she fumed, "Am I wrong?"

"Sorry, but my artist did receive an invitation from the brand."

She arrogantly refuted at once, "Impossible!"

His brow arched indifferently. "Why not?"

"How could she have received an invitation? She's merely a newbie; what qualifications does she have to receive an invitation from them?!"

The manager brushed past her impatiently, unwilling to waste any more time on her.

He then turned around and beckoned his artist. "Shishi, let's pick your gown."

With that, he entered the VIP room.

His charge nodded and proceeded to follow him. The senior actress, however, shifted and blocked her way.

"You're not allowed to enter."

"?"

Frowning, she looked at the haughty actress in front of her with surprise.

"What do you mean?"

"Where's your invitation card?"

The actress spread her arms apart. “You don’t deserve to step in here without an invitation card, much less enter the VIP room!”

She had long found this newbie an eyesore.

Hence, she seized this chance to teach her a lesson for thinking highly of herself and showing no respect to her senior despite being a newbie.

Naturally, she needed to show her some attitude.

Yun Shishi, however, acted as if she had heard nothing and calmly bypassed her.

The offended actress shifted herself and blocked her again.

“Where are you going?”

“Excuse me, Lin Zhi, but please pay attention to your behavior as a senior, alright?” She smiled courteously at her.

Her face was stiff with sarcasm, though.

Thoroughly enraged, the woman spat viciously, “Get lost! This isn’t where you should be! Who do you think you are? Do you really think you’re a big shot now?”

Despite seemingly paying no heed to her sarcastic remark, the smile on her face faded and her eyes became frosty as she scoffed at the person before her.

“I believe it’s you who think herself as a big shot, senior.”

Her modest and polite tone was neither servile nor overbearing; it did not even have the slightest humility in it. She was ever calm, not at all losing her propriety over the other’s harsh words.

Chapter 1445 You can choose from what I have rejected. 1

Lin Zhi sneered contemptuously at the other before blandly saying, “Ha ha! A certain female newbie is actually dreaming of making use of fashion resources to increase her fame. Yun Shishi, do you think I don’t know what you’re playing at? There are many others like you in the industry who resort to dirty tricks and are unscrupulous in order to become famous. Don’t think I don’t know about your dirty methods!”

She paused then added sarcastically, “Do you think this is a marketplace where you can come whenever you want? It’s fashion week here—not a place for you to play. Go home, and don’t make a disgrace of yourself here!”

She proceeded to eye the newbie thereafter, only to find the latter at ease sans a bit of anger.

The latter, now, could remain composed at all times.

She could even calmly face the greatest insult thrown her way.

“Are you done yapping?”

She posed this question emotionlessly once the senior actress stopped talking; it was as if the person the other was shaming had not been her at all.

“You’re really shameless!”

Her indifference only further irked the actress, who gritted her teeth in anger.

Lin Zhi loathed that cold, bland look the most.

Like a clown who was all ruffled up and spewing insults out of anger, she felt herself becoming nothing but a joke!

Indeed. This was exactly how the other woman regarded her!

“Speaking of shamelessness, you’ve truly let me realize what a liar you are.”

Yun Shishi’s lips suddenly curled into a faint smile. With her beautified face, she presented herself as an elegant and noble aristocrat.

As she was taller by the senior actress by half a head, when she mimicked the latter by lifting her charming chin slightly, the latter could only raise her head up at her. Right then, the actress felt her aura diminish considerably from her presence.

“I did receive an invitation from this brand to attend the fashion show. What’s the use of finding trouble with me if you have a complaint? If you think I don’t have the class for the show, do you have it then?”

A hint of disgust flashed across the newbie’s face when she sized up the woman. “In terms of disposition, I’m really skeptical how you actually became Louis Vuitton’s spokesperson. You must be joking to compare your disposition with mine.”

The junior artist returned her humiliation to her senior in an extremely arrogant tone without concealing her viciousness and haughtiness at all.

Lin Zhi’s face flushed red as she glared back furiously. “What did you say?”

“Say, in terms of temperament, you’re no match for me.”

She paused, elegantly pulled out an invitation card from her handbag, and waved it in front of the senior actress. “Here’s my invitation card. Open your eyes big and take a good look at it.”

The latter saw it clearly.

It was indeed a Louis-Vuitton invitation card.

Did she really receive an invitation from them?

The female celebrity stood rooted in place, flabbergasted.

Just as the newbie was about to enter the VIP room, she clenched her fists, pulled her arm, and spoke sharply, “So what if you have one? How do I know if it’s real or fake?”

“What do you really want? Don’t be rude!”

The other lifted her chin. “Fine! I’ll take it that you did receive an invitation!”

Chapter 1446 You can choose from what I have rejected. 2

“You can choose a gown, but only after I’m done choosing!”

Yun Shishi received a rude shock when she heard that.

Lin Zhi’s meaning was clear and literal. She wanted to make it clear that she was here first, so she got priority in choosing the gowns prepared by the fashion brand.

Only after that could the other pick what she had left behind.

That was a big insult to the other.

The actress actually wanted her to choose from her leftovers?!

Her eyes widened in shock, not once expecting the senior actress to raise such an outrageous request. She retorted, “Why should you?”

“What do you mean by ‘why should you’?”

She questioned expressionlessly, “Why should you get the first pick? This is too much.”

“That’s just the way it is! If I must state why, then it’s because I have a higher celebrity rating and net worth than you. Based on these two points alone, you’ll have to give in to me. Are you satisfied with this answer?”

Looking cold, aggressive, and firm, Lin Zhi raised her head arrogantly.

Yun Shishi’s cold gaze fell on the woman’s hand, which was tightly clasping hers. “Unhand me.”

When Qin Zhou came out of the VIP room and saw this scene, he immediately stormed forward and slapped the actress’s hand away. “Remove your dirty hand; don’t touch my artist with it!”

From his words, it was obvious that he was very protective of his charge.

The senior actress stumbled backward in shock and stared at the man in disbelief and indignation.

“What are you doing, Sir Qin?”

“That’s what I want to ask you! Behave yourself and don’t touch my artist, or else don’t blame me for being rude!”

He paused and then narrowed his eyes sharply at her, his voice turning frosty. “Lin Zhi, have I been too kind to you earlier? Do you think I’m good-natured and easy to talk, and that’s why you’re bullying my artist undauntedly?! I’m warning you; recognize your place! If you dare bully Shishi again, I won’t let you off.”

“Mr. Qin!” she cried out in surprise, apparently finding his harsh words somewhat difficult to accept.

The manager merely sneered. “I have plenty of ways to ruin your reputation overnight! If you don’t believe me, you can always give it a try and see what happens. Today is the last time I’m giving you a chance; from now on, if I were to find out you bully Shishi again, don’t blame me for being ruthless!”

With that, he grabbed hold of his artist's hand and pulled her into the VIP room, leaving the stunned actress gaping and rooted in place.

In the VIP room. Frustrated with his artist, Qin Zhou poked her forehead.

"Dummy, how did you get yourself bullied again in the short time I was away?"

She was also feeling a little depressed as she bowed her head sullenly.

Her manager was not pacified, apparently. "Next time, if you bump into that woman again, don't be good to her! If she scolds you once, you retaliate tenfold! If she touches your one finger, you break all her ten fingers! I'll bear the consequences if something goes wrong."

"..."

Yun Shishi was fossilized.

She could not help wondering why she did not realize that the man was such a violent person in the past.

Her unresponsiveness got her another poke in the forehead. "Do you hear me? Don't let anyone bully you even when I'm not around in the future. Useless lass, you're really pissing me off."

Chapter 1447 You can choose from what I have rejected. 3

Her manager was not pacified, apparently. "Next time, if you bump into that woman again, don't be good to her! If she scolds you once, you retaliate tenfold! If she touches your one finger, you break all her ten fingers! I'll bear the consequences if something goes wrong."

"..."

Yun Shishi was fossilized.

She could not help wondering why she did not realize that the man was such a violent person in the past.

Louis Vuitton's VIP suite was divided into three cabins.

As she and her manager arrived early, they could occupy one cabin to themselves.

Lin Zhi, who also occupied one to herself, tried to hurry the person in charge in bringing her the gowns so she could do the selection first.

Normally, one show would require to change attire twice or thrice.

For the more famous stars, they would need at least four.

The greedy actress had the intention to get the best for herself and leave the rest for Yun Shishi.

Alas, how would Qin Zhou allow her that luxury?

No way.

Besides, who did she regard him as?

He had already established a solid network with the luxury brands when he was still Gu Xingze's manager. Surely, when it came to attire selection, the priority would go to his artist instead of her.

Moreover, the endorsement that he had sealed for his actress was the highest accolade of brand ambassadorship for Louis Vuitton in Greater China. Although this was not announced officially yet, the contract had already been signed. Naturally, the brand would want to reserve their best for the actress as their prospective ambassador.

Of course, Lin Zhi did not know about this and still presumed that the newcomer had flown all the way here just to snatch a spot on the red carpet. If she were to know that the latter was here by invitation from the brand directors themselves, she would definitely vomit blood in a fit of rage!

Hence, when the person in charge came over with the gowns, she immediately went up and, in pretense, demurely asked to go first.

In the end, the person in charge politely told her that she could not go first. The gowns were meant for someone else so she could do the selection after that.

Although the employee was polite and euphemistic in her reply, the actress was somewhat antagonized, as if slapped across her face. Thus, she suppressed her surging anger and tried to be calm when she probed further. "Do you mean to say that there's a bigger fashion celebrity around?"

That person nodded and politely replied, "I need to let the new season ambassador select the gowns urgently; please excuse me."

She had an ugly expression on her face by now, but upon realizing that the gowns were meant for the brand ambassador, she knew she could not protest further.

The status of brand ambassador was a notch higher than hers, indeed.

However, when she saw the person carry the gowns toward Yun Shishi's cabin, she was too startled for words!

Alarmed, she dashed up and asked in agitation, "Are you going to the wrong room?"

"Nope."

"Yun Shishi is using this room, and in the country, she's just a third-rate newbie... You must be kidding me!"

The embarrassment and disbelief on her face were apparent.

She reckoned that the person-in-charge had made a mistake.

Alas, the other party replied, "No, I'm not going to the wrong room! The new ambassador for Louis Vuitton in Greater China is Ms. Yun Shishi."

She almost lost her footing when she heard that.

Pulling a taut, awkward smile on her lips, she tried to confirm again. "Are you sure that you didn't get it wrong? She... that newbie actress... is the new brand ambassador of Louis Vuitton?!"

All this while, so far, there was only one brand ambassador in Greater China and that was Gu Xingze.

No other actress could get this title even though many wanted it as they were not good enough.

Chapter 1448 Wife slave, mommy's boy, and siscon are going for it together. 1

Even for her, she was just the spokesperson for one of the brand's many products at most!

She was already the envy of many actresses because of this!

Bluntly put, she could only snatch that endorsement deal from someone else after using some underhanded means!

She bit hard on her lower lip, her eyes burning red with jealousy!

How is it possible?!

The further she thought about it, the more incomprehensible it became!

Staring deadly at the gowns, she still could not reconcile with the fact and it showed clearly on her face.

Qin Zhou opened the door and, upon seeing the person in charge, politely reached out to shake his hand to exchange niceties. From his peripheral view, he caught sight of the green-eyed monster standing at one corner and smirked to himself.

"Hey! Why are you standing at the entrance? Why, are you thinking of trying on the dresses? Sure, but you must wait for my Shishi to try them first. You can have your turn after she has her pick!"

The other actress was so mad that she stomped her foot down hard. "Hmph!"

After that, she turned and returned to her room.

The manager rolled his eyes ostentatiously, took the gowns in, and closed the door.

Yun Shishi flipped through every item. There were ten pieces in total and were the best of the best for her selection.

Her manager wanted her to pick five.

"Five? That's too many."

"Please. Are you thinking of wearing one gown for the entire Fashion Week?" He glanced at her disdainfully.

She shook her head.

Suddenly, she picked up a piece of haute couture and tried to measure it against her figure.

It was good that she was tall; if not, the design of these Euro brands, which usually fit models standing at 1.7 to 1.8 meters would be too bulky for most Asians.

It looked as if Lin Zhi, who was only 1.58-meter tall, would have to cry by the time it came her time to try the gowns.

She did not have the frame to carry off these dresses. One wondered how high her stiletto would need in order for her to barely bring out the classiness.

Qin Zhou approached the actress and tried to find something suitable for her, but no matter how many times he looked through the pile of dresses, there was none that satisfied him.

“This dress isn’t captivating enough!”

“The colors on this piece are too dull!”

“This one is too fanciful!”

The experienced manager skipped a few pieces.

...

In the end, only two dresses among the pile seemed reasonably acceptable.

The actress was close to tears by now.

“Boss Qin, you are really picky.”

Cocking a brow, the manager glanced at her once and retorted sharply, “I’m not picky, but there are a few dresses that don’t suit you because your frame is too petite.”

His words hit the bull’s-eye!

She was deeply affected as she secretly wiped away the tear of despondency.

She could not be blamed in the first place!

The European models had broad shoulders and heavy frames.

Although Yun Shishi was tall, she was very slender and frail. As the gowns were not customized for her, she would be unable to bring out the style in them.

“How about trying this piece?”

Her manager went through the pile again and threw her another gown.

She put it on, and after encircling her once, he crossed his arms across his chest, looked her up and down again, and reluctantly spouted, “It’s all right.”

“...It’s only all right?”

“You really have a small frame.”

Narrowing his eyes, he said, “It’s inborn, anyway; there’s nothing we can do about it.”

Just as he finished with his words, someone knocked on the door.

He thought Lin Zhi was there to create trouble again. Looking unfriendly, he walked over and opened the door but saw a fashionably dressed lady standing outside, instead, who addressed him in Italian.

“Sir, how are you! There’s a mister who specifically prepared a gown for Ms. Shishi. Is it convenient to hand it over now?”

“Who is that?”

“Mr. Mu.”

He was befuddled and confirmed again. “Are you sure that the gown is meant to be delivered here?”

Chapter 1449 Wife slave, mommy’s boy, and siscon are going for it together. 2

“Are you sure that the gown is meant to be delivered here?”

“Yes, sir. It can’t be wrong.”

“Come in, then!”

The person brought the gown in.

It was a haute couture—a delicate shoulder gown which borrowed the designs of a cheongsam. Also, the gown was adorned with blue and white porcelain elements. It was elegant and slim-fitting.

Compared to the other dresses, this gown was extremely conservative.

Apart from the shoulder area, everywhere else was covered and hidden from sight.

Qin Zhou began to break out in a cold sweat as he lifted the gown to have a look.

This dress was indeed beautiful, but... there was wholly nothing to look at!

This was suitable for the fashion show, but as for walking the red carpet, it seemed a little too plain.

It should at least reveal some of her long legs.

He heard that it was designed and tailored specifically to Yun Shishi’s figure and shape.

Mr. Mu?

She caressed the dress, instantly figuring out who the sender was!

Her manager helped her into the gown, but just as she was trying it on, a knock on the door was heard.

“Who is it now?”

He walked over to open the door, only to see two people standing outside, each holding a gown carefully in their hands. They were looking at each other in dismay.

“You both...”

He was stumped and looked at them with harshly twitching lips.

“You both are...”

“Hello, I am here to send Ms. Shishi a custom-made haute couture.”

“Hello, I am here to send Ms. Shishi a custom-made haute couture.”

It was as if both were speaking in the same tone.

Just as they finished their words, both seemed shocked. Exchanging looks, they began scrutinizing each other.

The man asked in a daze, “Who is this gown from?”

“Mr. Gu.”

“Mr. Yun.”

They opened their mouths at the same time again. Shortly after, they looked at each other as if they were secretly in a competition.

Qin Zhou rubbed his forehead as he let out a sigh. He gestured to them as he opened the door. “Send them in!”

The two people squeezed through the door, fighting with each other to deliver the dress first.

When Yun Shishi was done trying the gown, she walked out of the room, only to see three more dresses being sent into the huge VIP room. Her eyelids twitched harshly at the sight.

One set was sent by Mr. Yun, and it was a high-class, European-style dress. It was from Louis Vuitton’s fall collection, tailor-made and extremely expensive.

The other two gowns were from Mr. Gu.

Her manager glanced at the style for a moment and could immediately tell that the two gowns were Gu Xingze’s taste.

After looking at the designs again, he was rendered speechless.

These two dresses were custom-made and expensive. Just the rose-colored dress alone was priced in the eight digits.

...

What a huge spend!

He blushed in shame.

The superstar really put a lot of thought into this for Yun Shishi. These two gowns had one-of-a-kind designs from a master.

They might not be from Louis Vuitton’s new collection, but the two outfits were limited editions.

It was only obtainable due to Gu Xingze’s long-standing relationship with Louis Vuitton.

Qin Zhou looked at it for a moment. Since it was custom-made, he could gauge that she would have a strong presence if she wore this.

In comparison, the cheongsam design sent by Mr. Mu was a little inferior.

It was too conservative.

It was not revealing in the slightest bit.

When it came to walking down the red carpet, what was crucial was catching people's attention.

Therefore, he hurriedly asked his charge to try it on.

Just as she changed into the different dresses, a knock on the door was heard again.

The man was stumped as he looked at the door.

Who else could be sending a gown over this time?

He walked over and opened the door, only to hear a few hushed exclamations from outside the door.

"Oh, my god! What a beautiful gown!"

Chapter 1450 Wife slave, mommy's boy and siscon are going for it together. 3

"Oh, my god! What a beautiful gown!"

"I heard that this is Mark's design? What an elegant style! It's so beautiful! I really love such elements in a design!"

"It is Mark's limited-edition masterpiece!"

Qin Zhou opened the door, only to see a well-dressed gentleman carrying a top-grade fashion gown.

The stylists in the workroom were surrounding the dress, their eyes filled with surprise and envy.

Compared to this garment, all the dresses sent by the different brands for the fashion show were worth nothing!

This was something no one had seen before. It was stunning!

"Hello! Is it convenient now to send in the gown?"

"Who sent over another dress again?"

"Another?" The man was also befuddled.

He replied seriously, "I mean: Who sent this gown over?"

"Nice to meet you, sir; this gown was sent by Mr. Gong. It's a limited-edition garment from Louis Vuitton."

The manager was speechless again.

“...”

Who is Mr. Gong?!

Yun Shishi had just returned into the room after trying on the outfits when she saw another dress being brought in. Her legs shook at the sight.

Who else sent her a dress this time?

She glanced at it for a moment and was completely blown away by this high-class gown!

It was so beautiful!

It was truly beautiful!

She was in complete shock. This garment was simply breathtaking!

The gown was different from the previous few they had received. It was a long dress that trailed the ground, and it employed a fluffy design to bring out the waistline exquisitely.

What was the most attractive about the garment was the ink design on it; from the pure, white sleeves continuing down to the fluffy skirt, it looked as if the dress had emerged from an ink-and-wash painting. It was magical, like an ethereal fairy. It was simply gorgeous!

It was otherworldly; it was truly otherworldly.

Looking at all the gowns sent into the VIP room, it was most likely this dress that suited her the best!

Even someone picky like Qin Zhou also had his breath taken away.

Who was Mr. Gong?

His eyesight was too good for words.

This gown was the most suitable for walking the red carpet.

The fashion week this time was oriental-themed. This gown would be fitting for the theme and would definitely catch everyone's attention!

It could be said that, with just this dress alone, she would definitely be guaranteed a spot in the entertainment news.

It was not because of anything else but this dress. It was priceless and magnificent beyond compare!

According to others, this gown was Mark's limited-edition design, and it was priced at nine digits.

It was a heroic masterpiece.

Qin Zhou could not help but be deeply moved. "Who exactly is this Mr. Gong?"

"Mr. Gong?"

Yun Shishi was a little surprised. "This gown was sent by him?"

"Mhm."

He nodded as he cast her a measuring glance. "Is he your friend?"

She was stunned for a short moment, but as her eyes landed on the garment again, she smiled.

She could already guess a little who that so-called Mr. Gong was!

It had to be Xiao Jie.

However, how did he know that she was at the Fashion Week? He even knew the right time to send the dress over.

"Shishi, go ahead and try on this dress. I think it'll look beautiful on you," urged her manager.

The artist nodded and carried the gown into the fitting room.

With the help of an assistant, she was done putting on the gown after about ten minutes. She lifted the skirt slightly and walked out of the fitting room.

The moment she re-appeared, Qin Zhou's gaze could no longer leave her!
