

Sweet Love 2941

Chapter 2941: Gu Xingze's Cornea (3)

Qin Zhou was a little confused when he heard this. "Chairman Mu, what are you thinking?! Do you know this is the best opportunity?! You have to know that cornea donors are hard to come by, and time is a critical factor. And it's not as though an operation can take place immediately the moment you can identify a donor! Or, could it be, you mind that this pair of corneas are from Gu Xingze?"

"It's not that."

Mu Yazhe smiled. "He protected my woman. I have only respect and gratitude for him. I'm not so petty as to bear a grudge against a man who saved my woman's life!"

Qin Zhou bit his lips. "Then why wouldn't you let Shishi undergo the transplant?"

"The pressure and guilt caused by Gu Xingze's death have already crushed her."

Mu Yazhe took in a deep breath. "She's pregnant now. The child in her belly is the only hope that can help her get back on her feet. However, if she undergoes surgery now, that child is not likely to survive! If she's sober, she won't bear to part with it. If we were to put her through surgery in an unconscious state and without telling her, she'll definitely fall apart when she realizes it. But most critical of all... I have no idea how devastated she'd be if she were to find out one day that she had regained her sight because of the corneas donated by Gu Xingze."

Qin Zhou was speechless for a moment.

Mu Yazhe looked at Qin Zhou intently and continued, "You should know that she won't be able to accept this. He died because of her, and if on top of this, she should regain her sight with his corneas, it will all be too much for her to bear."

"But—" Qin Zhou was hesitant nevertheless.

"The doctor wouldn't suggest immediate surgery in any case."

Mu Yazhe added, "She's not in a good state of mind right now, it will be dangerous."

Noting his stubbornness, Qin Zhou gave up.

Hua Jin was a little surprised to hear this. "You mean that the timeline is so urgent that once the corneas have been removed from the donor, the surgery must be done immediately."

"We'd still need a day to prepare before the surgery." Mu Yazhe's lips curled up slightly. "There's no time."

"So..."

Clenching his fists, Hua Jin said sadly, "So then now, Gu Xingze's cornea..."

"I heard that they've been given to a seven-month-old child."

“A kid?!”

“Yes, a boy. His was born without corneas, but perhaps it’s just fate that brought this child and Gu Xingze together this way. The surgery was very successful, there was no rejection.”

Mu Yazhe pursed his lips. “I remember that it was carried out in the same hospital. I went to take a look on the day of the surgery. He’s a good looking boy. He’s six months old and has a pair of beautiful peach blossom eyes. I heard that his name is Jing Yang.”

This child had a pair of large and beautiful eyes. Before entering the operating theater, when he was being prepared, he even squinted and smiled. His eyes seemed to contain countless twinkling stars.

He’d grow up a handsome young man!

“Jing Yang...”

Hua Jin silently recited the name and suddenly smiled. “That’s good too. For Gu Xingze, this is a new lease of life.”

However, he could not help feeling disappointed.

Unlike people who were born blind, Yun Shishi had normal vision, which would put her only in even greater despair losing her sight.

Every time he saw her fumbling around while trying to reach for something, his heart would ache.

Chapter 2942: Jing Yang

Hua Jin silently recited the name and suddenly smiled. “That’s good too. For Gu Xingze, this is a new lease of life.”

However, he could not help feeling disappointed.

Unlike people who were born blind,

Yun Shishi had normal vision, which would put her only in even greater despair losing her sight.

Every time he saw her fumbling around while trying to reach for something, his heart would ache.

However, every time he saw her sitting quietly on the sofa with her head lowered and her loving gaze resting on her lower abdomen, she radiated with a motherly glow that was gentle and warm.

“We can wait till after the baby has been delivered and her physical condition is stabilized,” Hua Jin said optimistically.

“Uh huh.”

By the time Yun Shishi and the two children returned home from a stroll, Hua Jin was already done washing the dishes.

Little Yichen could not stop praising him. "Uncle Hua Jin is so awesome. His cooking skills are not bad and he has washed the dishes till they're squeaky clean."

Hua Jin could not help laughing when he heard this.

He squatted down and reached out to pinch Little Yichen's pink cheeks. "Do you really think my cooking is great?"

"Yes!"

"I thought your little taste buds have been spoiled by Youyou's cooking. I'm surprised you actually don't mind my cooking."

Hua Jin heaved a sigh of relief.

Youyou commented, "Although your cooking isn't exquisite, it's edible nevertheless."

Hua Jin: "..."

Yun Shishi was greatly amused and burst out laughing. "Youyou, don't be too picky! Do you think everyone is like you? You were born with fussy taste buds."

Youyou smugly threw his arms around his mother.

Mu Yazhe snorted and remarked coldly, "I do suspect if you're a mutant."

"Because I'm very particular about food!"

Youyou continued, "Unlike Little Yichen, who would even think that egg fried rice is delicious."

"Cough." Yun Shishi cleared her throat awkwardly.

That was a long time ago.

Once, on a whim, she made egg fried rice and invited the two little lads to try it.

In the end, when Youyou saw that the fried rice wasn't perfect, he pushed it away in disdain. Little Yichen, however, held the bowl in his arms and ate a few mouthfuls. After that, he even smiled and said, "Mommy's cooking is so good; the fried rice is so delicious!"

Who knew if he was speaking the truth or if he in fact thought it tasted awful but for the sake of his mother, tried to look as though it was delicious.

Little Yichen argued, "Mommy's cooking is indeed not bad!"

He really couldn't tell it wasn't perfect.

Besides, he was famished that day and was too focused on eating to notice anything strange about the way it tasted.

Yun Shishi immediately raised her hands in defeat. "All right! All right! Youyou, your cooking is the best. Mommy's cooking is not as good as yours. Are you satisfied now?"

Youyou was pleased on hearing this. As if he felt that this way, he would be able to secure his position as the 'chef' in the family, a look of smug satisfaction spread across his face.

Mu Yazhe and Hua Jin looked at each other, laughing helplessly.

Hua Jin deliberately teased, "Youyou, it's not good for you to be so conceited! It's just good culinary skills, what's the big deal?!"

Youyou gave him a haughty look.

The whole family was amused.

Chapter 2943: The Living Cannot Donate Corneas (1)

The next day, Hua Jin went to the hospital for information on Jing Yang's condition.

He saw the child through the window in the common ward on the fourth floor.

It had been more than half a month since the cornea transplant, and the child was recovering very quickly. He had already been transferred from the special care unit to a normal ward, and he would be discharged soon.

The child was good-looking.

His skin was fair and tender, and his eyes were big and bright. His eyelashes were long and thick like black phoenix feathers. When he blinked, they looked like fluttering butterflies.

What a beautiful child!

If he hadn't known better, he would have thought that the child was a girl!

When he smiled, two tiny dimples appeared on his cheeks, making him really attractive.

Hua Jin was in a daze looking at the child through the window, when he heard a timid voice saying, "Hello, you are..."

Turning his head, he saw a girl of about twenty. She stood by the side looking extremely nervous. She was dressed very simply, in a white blouse and a pair of washed-out jeans. Her dark hair was loosely tied back with a headband.

However, even though she was simply dressed, her spirited nature did not escape him.

She was very pretty in a delicate and refreshing way, with beautiful big eyes, a high nose bridge, and handsome facial features.

Hua Jin sized her up and immediately guessed her identity.

"Are you Jing Yang's mother?"

The girl widened her eyes in surprise. "Eh? How did you know?"

"Because the both of you have similar eyes, don't you?"

The girl smiled and a shy blush spread across her face. She asked cautiously, "Who are you then?"

Obviously, she did not recognize him. It was also obvious that she did not care much about the entertainment industry and rarely watched entertainment programs and television dramas.

Hua Jin smiled faintly. "I'm Gu Xingze's friend."

"Gu... oh..."

The girl seemed shocked and covered her mouth like a frightened deer. Soon after, tears welled up in her eyes. She pursed her lips and said gratefully, "If you're Gu Xingze's friend, you must be a superstar too!"

"Yes," Hua Jin said. Through the window, he glanced at the adorable giraffe soft toy on the hospital bed and smiled. "I'm here to see the child."

"Uh huh, alright. Come in then!"

The girl welcomed him warmly into the ward.

Hua Jin did not stand on ceremony and walked into the ward taking a seat beside the bed.

After a brief conversation, Hua Jin found out her name.

Jing Qi.

It was a simple but pleasant name.

Initially, Qin Zhou had wanted to transfer Gu Xingze's cornea to Yun Shishi. However, due to her pregnancy, she could not undergo surgery immediately, so he found the child through the hospital.

Jing Qi had rushed to the hospital to clarify the situation. When she heard that there was a cornea donor, she was excited but she asked nervously, "How much is the surgery fee?"

"About forty or fifty thousand."

Upon hearing this, she felt uneasy.

She could not afford to fork out so much money and was troubled over how to raise this sum.

She did not know who Gu Xingze was and did not watch television. She worked at the factory thirteen hours a day.

It was because life was tough when she was pregnant with Jing Yang, that the child was born without corneas.

Chapter 2944: The Living Cannot Donate Corneas (2)

When Qin Zhou learned about this situation, he recalled that coincidentally, Gu Xingze had a sum of money that was specially set aside for charity.

In addition to being an organ donor, Gu Xingze had also filled in a form for surgical fund donation.

In other words, he had pledged a sum of money for the organ transplant surgeries, to aid families that could not afford the surgery fees.

When Qin Zhou brought up this matter, Jingqi felt extremely guilty. After insisting repeatedly, she wrote out a loan slip to Qin Zhou. She said seriously, "No matter what, this sum of money must be returned! Although I don't know when I can repay it, I will try my best to repay it."

The surgery was very successful.

Jing Yang was full of vitality. Other than his congenital eye condition, his little body was very healthy.

This little fellow was especially fond of smiling. He had a pair of extremely beautiful eyes, and when he smiled, it was warm and affectionate, as if countless little stars were hidden within.

The moment the gauze was removed, the 7-month-old child saw the nurse's face and laughed.

The nurses especially liked this little fellow.

"Why does this little guy like to smile so much?"

"He can't stop smiling, that's so funny!"

"During the surgery, he didn't cry even when he was given the anesthesia shot! I heard from his mother that from the time he was born, he was different from other children. Most babies come into the world bawling loudly, but what about him? The nurse who delivered the child slapped his butt and he immediately laughed."

"This is such a rarity."

Hua Jin raised an eyebrow at the boy, who was now being carried and teased by the nurse, and refusing to let go of his soft toy. "How cute."

"Thank you." Jing Qi said politely.

She nervously rubbed her palms together and said gratefully, "I've never dared to hope that the child can one day see, because the surgery costs are so high, in the tens of thousands, and our family can't afford it."

Hua Jin could not help feeling that something was amiss. He looked around and saw that there was no one else in the ward other than her.

He asked curiously, "Where's your husband?"

"He..."

Jing Qi felt awkward for a moment and immediately said, "He's rather busy and rarely has time for us."

"Oh, I see."

Seeing that she was unwilling to talk about it, he did not ask further.

“He was diagnosed with a problem with his eye upon birth, so we’ve been waiting for a cornea donor. But I didn’t expect that I’d be so lucky. The opportunity came so quickly that I didn’t have time to prepare the surgery fees.”

However, forty to fifty thousand yuan was an astronomical figure to her.

After six months of scrimping and saving, she had only accumulated over ten thousand yuan.

She was already trying her best to save money. She couldn’t possibly take from the child’s expenses, otherwise the child might not develop well.

Her monthly salary from the factory was just over 4,000 yuan. After deducting her expenses and the fact that she had given birth, she only managed to save up that much.

She had initially hoped that she would have saved up enough money for the surgery by the time a cornea donor came along.

Unexpectedly, six months later, there was sudden news.

After she received the call from the hospital, she did not have time to think. She took the child to the hospital for a series of examinations.

This was because if they missed this opportunity, no one knew when the next one would come along.

At first, she was worried that the child was too young and did not qualify for surgery. However, after the examinations, the conclusion was that the child could undergo surgery.

Chapter 2945: I’m Willing To Be Your Eyes (1)

At first, she was worried that the child was too young and did not qualify for surgery. However, after the examinations, the conclusion was that the child could undergo surgery.

“I was too impulsive. I thought that no matter what, I had to seize this opportunity, so I didn’t think too much and signed the consent. It was only after that I realized, I was so flustered I actually hadn’t considered the surgery fees. If it wasn’t for Mr. Qin’s care, maybe... sigh...”

“Are there very few cornea donors?” Hua Jin asked out of curiosity.

Jing Qi was stunned for a moment before nodding her head. “Yes, the demand makes supply very tight. After all, there are a lot of people who have eye diseases, but very few donors. I heard that in the past, the source of the corneas were the death row criminals. But now, the law does not allow it. You can say that voluntary donors are very rare.”

Hua Jin was taken aback. “If it’s my child, I’d be willing to exchange my cornea for it.”

“Of course!” Jing Qi smiled. “When the child was born, we found out there was something wrong with his eyes and a cornea transplant was needed. I asked if he could use my corneas, but the doctor said that this is not permitted by law, it’s illegal!”

“Why?”

“Because a living person is not allowed to donate corneas. In other words, even if I wanted to, the hospital has no right to perform such a surgery.”

“Why is that so?!” Hua Jin was agitated. “Why is it illegal? Why can’t a willing person donate?”

“No, it’s the same in other countries. It’s unfair to strip the cornea from the eyes of a living person and exchange the person’s sight for another person’s sight.”

Hua Jin was stunned and he felt his chest tighten.

He initially had plans to wait until Yun Shishi could undergo surgery before he’d go to the hospital to remove his cornea in exchange for her sight.

In the past, he had asked around indirectly, and found out that by donating one cornea, two people could see.

However, after hearing from Jing Qi that living people could not donate corneas, he felt utterly disappointed.

After leaving the ward, Hua Jin made his way to the entrance of the hospital absent-mindedly. He took a taxi to Yun Shan Shi Yi.

Yun Shishi had given him the key to Yun Shan Shiyi. He opened the door and quietly walked in. The first thing he saw was Yun Shishi carrying a spray can and groping her way to the back garden.

He followed behind her quietly and saw that she was walking very slowly.

The servant followed carefully next to her, not daring to reach out to support her.

Yun Shishi had a strong personality and made it a point to be independent. Unless it was something extremely difficult where she had no choice but to seek help from the servants.

Mu Yazhe had carefully rearranged the furnishings in the room. The angular furniture was especially wrapped in soft cushions on the corners.

He was very meticulous, anxious that, not being able to see, she would get hurt or walk into something when she moved around the house.

Hence, the corners of the table and the corners of the room were covered with soft cushions.

This way, even if she were to walk into something, it wouldn’t hurt.

Seeing that he had arrived, the servant was about to announce his presence when he immediately shushed her, signaling her not to alert the others.

Given this, the servant moved slowly to the doorway. She lightly crossed the threshold and stepped into the back garden. She made her way to the flower bed and meticulously watered the roses.

When Hua Jin came to the doorway, he saw her carefully supporting a stalk of flower as she watered it nonchalantly.

Chapter 2946: I'm Willing To Be Your Eyes (2)

When Hua Jin came to the doorway, he saw her carefully supporting a stalk of flower as she watered it nonchalantly.

He walked over stealthily, but he had only taken a few steps when he startled the person who was meticulously watering the plants.

"Who is that?"

Yun Shishi turned around, facing the direction from where the sound came.

Ever since she lost her sight, her other senses had become extremely sharp, especially her hearing. Hence, she caught the faint sound of footsteps.

Hua Jin stopped in his tracks but remained silent.

Just as the servant was about to speak, Hua Jin raised his finger to his lips, signaling her to keep quiet.

Yun Shishi raised her brows. She knew at once that the person was trying to play a guessing game with her. She curled her lips and smiled with narrowed eyes. "Hua Jin, stop fooling around."

"Ha..."

Hua Jin widened his eyes in surprise. He walked to her side with a smile and squatted down. "How did you know it was me?"

"Your footsteps are heavy; it can't be Youyou and Little Yichen. Apart from him, only you can enter and leave this manor freely."

After a pause, she smiled faintly and continued, "But he doesn't play such boring games like you."

Hua Jin stuck out his tongue and said, "Sister, you're really something. Everyone says that pregnancy makes one dimwitted for three years. That's not true at all. You've become smarter after getting pregnant!"

She raised her hand, threatening to hit him. "I'm always smart, okay? Stop talking nonsense," she said in a huff.

As she spoke, she turned back and continued with what she was doing.

Hua Jin, on the other hand, stood by the side and watched in silence, for some reason finding much enjoyment in this quiet moment.

Just like that, he watched her carefully watering the plants, one hand supporting the flower stalk, the other holding the spray can, as though afraid that she might misaim.

Hua Jin observed her side profile. It was peaceful and warm. Even though she could not see and her gaze was not focused on anything in particular, there was a gentleness in her eyes that he had never seen before.

Ever since that accident, due to her pregnancy and her loss of sight, she had stopped working and instead stayed at home to rest.

Outside of his own work, Hua Jin would spend time with her.

He found that staying by her side had a calming effect on himself, no matter how frustrated he was.

As she watered the plants, Yun Shishi asked curiously, "You don't seem busy recently. Haven't you been taking on any work?"

Hua Jin replied matter-of-factly, "Of course I did. I took on quite a few jobs."

"Well... I wouldn't have guessed."

She put the watering can down, stood up, turned around, and groped for a seat with both hands.

Hua Jin immediately helped her to the seat.

"You claim to have taken on many assignments, but you've been coming over here so often. You don't seem busy at all."

"Isn't that only because I want to spend more time with you? Outside of work, the rest of my time is spent here." The man sounded annoyed.

This villa was huge and had many empty rooms.

Mu Yazhe had arranged for a room that was specially for Hua Jin so that he could stay here. After all, he had a lot of work to do, so he was less worried knowing that Shishi had company.

Initially, Hua Jin felt a little awkward. He felt like he was playing gooseberry.

However, Yun Shishi told him to treat them like family and to feel free to stay.

Only then did he feel more at ease.

Chapter 2947: I Will Live Well

Only then did he feel more at ease.

Usually, when he was busy with work, Hua Jin would stay in a nearby hotel. When he had spare time, he would stay at Yun Shan Shi Yi.

Yun Shishi smiled contentedly. "Should I be moved?"

"You should be moved! I've pushed away a lot of work to keep you company!"

With that, Hua Jin clung to her arm and said. "Haven't I told you before that if you should lose your sight, I'll be your eyes?"

"Yeah, I remember."

She paused. "That's good. After all, taking on too many jobs is bad for your health."

Feeling aggrieved, Hua Jin whined, "I'll still have to take care of my work. If I don't earn my keep, who's going to support me?"

She deliberately teased him, "I'll take care of you of course."

"No way! You're still relying on Brother-in-law to support you. Besides, I'm a grown man, not a gigolo who lives off women. I'm not going to have a woman support me!" Hua Jin said.

Yun Shishi smiled and suddenly asked, "Where did you go today?"

Hua Jin hesitated briefly, though he had no intention to hide it. He said unhurriedly, "I went to the hospital today."

"Hospital?"

For a moment, she was alarmed. "Why did you go to the hospital? Are you feeling unwell?"

"No. I'm was there to visit a kid."

"A kid?!"

"Uh huh."

Hua Jin paused then asked casually, "Did brother-in-law mention the name 'Jing Yang' to you?"

"'Jing Yang'?" She looked confused. "No."

"Did you know, when Qin Zhou was sorting out Gu Xingze's belongings, he found out that when Senior Xingze was alive, he had signed an organ donation pledge. Jing Yang had accepted Gu Xingze's corneas and has successfully undergone surgery. I saw the kid today. He's very good-looking, especially his large and bright eyes, and now he's recovering well.

The smile on Yun Shishi's face froze, and her eyes involuntarily turned blank.

Hua Jin was immediately nervous when he noticed her expression. "What's wrong? Sister, it's been so long, surely you'd have gotten over Senior Xingze already?! Ever since that incident, everyone has been trying not to mention his name! Although I feel that Senior Xingze's death is regrettable, one can't always be obsessed with the past, right?"

Yun Shishi's pupils dilated.

Hua Jin frowned a little as he held her hand tightly. It was heartbreaking to watch her being this way. "Let the past go, okay? Even though I know it's not easy, you still have to face the fact that he's no longer around. The reason why I mentioned this child to you, is because I hope that you realize, although Senior Xingze is no longer around, he has obtained a new life in this world, in another way!"

“Hua... Hua Jin...” Yun Shishi held his hand back and said quietly, “Don’t worry. I won’t let you guys worry like before.”

Feeling a little skeptical, he asked, “Really?”

“Uh huh... I understand. I really do...” Her eyes reddened as she said in a hoarse voice, “Hua Jin, don’t worry, okay? I will take care of myself. I’ll live well and pull myself together again. It’s just that it’s still painful when I hear his name.”

Chapter 2948: Special Reunion (1)

“Sister...” The more Hua Jinyu looked at her, the more his heart ached. He hugged her tightly and said in between sobs, “You’re really not responsible for Senior Xingze’s death. Don’t torture yourself and don’t live in guilt. I think that if you truly love someone, you’d give without asking for any returns. Gu Xingze treated you well out of his own will and without any regrets! He loves you like his own life and would definitely wish for you to be well!”

“Yes, I understand!” She hugged his shoulders gently and sobbed. “I understand... so I’ll be fine, I’ll be fine...”

As Hua Jin wiped away her tears, he heard her say, “I want to see that child.”

Noticing his silence, she pleaded, “Even if it’s only for once. I really want to meet him.”

“I can take you to see him, but at least, let’s wait till tomorrow.”

Hua Jin explained, “When I left the hospital, the child was already asleep. After all, he’s only seven months old. He needs to rest.”

Yun Shishi nodded.

The next day, Hua Jin canceled an interview and took her to the hospital.

When they arrived at the ward, Jing Qi was not there. Hua Jin guessed that she must have gone to make arrangements for discharge.

Jing Qi said that the child had been recovering very well and there was no need for him to stay in the hospital any longer. Every day in the hospital added a day’s worth of expenses.

Since the doctor had already hinted that the child could be discharged, she thought it was a good idea to do that as soon as possible.

Pushing open the door to the ward, Hua Jin tiptoed into the room holding Yun Shishi’s hand.

The child was sitting up on the bed, staring at the world around him with his wide eyes blinking and full of curiosity.

Hua Jin had specially brought a gift for the kid—it was a Le Zhi pink unicorn plush toy.

He walked up to the bed and helped Yun Shishi to a seat. He bent over to look at the little guy and gently said, "Uncle is here to see you again! Are you surprised?"

"Yiyaya—" The child reached out his hand and actually raised a tender finger to point at him. His eyes widened in curiosity.

Hua Jin tapped on his tiny finger before placing the toy unicorn beside him.

The unicorn was medium-sized. A child of Youyou's height would be able to hold it with one hand.

However, the little guy was only seven months old after all. When he opened his arms, he was able to put them around the toy.

It was obvious that the little guy especially liked this furry toy. He hugged it and rolled around on the bed. The seven-month-old child had already learned how to crawl around on the bed and was especially energetic.

Not being able to see, Yun Shishi could only hear a series of bell-like laughter coming from the bed. It was extremely pleasing to the ear.

The crisp laughter was like the clear spring of a mountain stream or even the sound of a bell.

It made her smile.

After settling the discharge procedures, Jing Qi returned to the ward. Stepping in, she almost smiled upon seeing Hua Jin when she noticed the stranger sitting by the window. For a moment she was stunned.

Although the person was a stranger, upon closer inspection, she seemed familiar, as though she had seen her somewhere before.

She suddenly recalled seeing this woman in the advertising posters at the bus station.

She endorsed a high-end cosmetics brand that was exceptionally expensive. When she was shopping at the mall, she had come across the brand's counter in the cosmetics section on the first floor. A poster of this woman was also displayed at the counter.

Her name was... Yun Shishi?

Chapter 2949: Special Reunion (2)

Her name was... Yun Shishi?

However, right now, she was bare-faced, and not wearing elegant makeup like in the advertisements.

Before she went out, she had only washed her face, in fact.

Seeing that the sun was high in the sky, Hua Jin had insisted that she went back in to apply some sunscreen.

Hence, at first glance, Jing Qi did not recognize her.

Even though makeup did indeed make a difference, the lack of it did not diminish the woman's beauty at all.

"Sorry to interrupt you again." Hua Jin immediately stood up and politely greeted her.

"Not at all! I'm very grateful that you can come to visit Yangyang." Jing Qi glanced at the little fellow who was hugging the toy on the bed and immediately guessed who had given it to him!

"How do you do?" Yun Shishi greeted Jing Qi. "Are you Jingyang's mother?"

"Uh huh."

"May I... carry the little guy?" She smiled gently.

Although Jing Qi found it strange, she did not stop her. Instead, she smiled and said, "Alright, but be careful. This little fellow is still a little heavy."

Hua Jin picked up Jing Yang and handed him to Yun Shishi, who reached out her arms and took the little guy into her embrace.

Jing Qi was a little surprised to have noticed that she did not seem to be able to see anything. She opened her mouth but eventually did not ask any questions.

Surprisingly, the child in her arms didn't mind the unfamiliarity at all. He widened his eyes in curiosity as he studied her. His tiny hands started exploring. First he stroked her hair, then his large black eyes were drawn to the necklace around her neck. He reached for it.

The child was young and therefore had no sense of propriety. He was exerting quite a lot of strength.

When Jing Qi noticed this, she chided him, saying, "Yangyang, behave yourself, stop moving around!"

Yun Shishi immediately replied, "It's alright, really!"

She could not help feeling a little regretful not being able to take a good look at the child.

However, hugging the soft little bundle, she was immediately brought back to a time many years ago, when she was holding the newborn Youyou in her arms.

His body was just as small and soft, like a little ball of water or glutinous rice. It was as if he could be easily moulded!

She carried the child carefully. Although she was a little rusty at it, she had enough experience. It only took a glance to know that she was a mother.

The little guy became even closer to her. It felt so comfortable when she hugged him. His eyes were curved like crescent moons, and he was laughing and making little noises. One wondered what he was saying!

Hua Jin said, "The surgery went very smoothly. There were no signs of rejection. The little guy's eyes are especially beautiful. When he grows up, he'll surely be as handsome as me."

"Narcissist!"

She chided him, "He's bound to be more handsome than you."

"Sister, you're so biased! I have been praised by my fans as a peerless beauty!"

"You may be fresh meat now. In a few years, wouldn't you be just a piece of old bacon? No matter how good-looking you are, you'll still grow old!"

Yun Shishi stroked the child's smooth and soft hair as she said, smiling, "This little lad is so tender you could squeeze water out of him."

Jing Qi asked cautiously, "Are you friends with Mr. Gu Xingze?"

Yun Shishi smiled wryly.

"Mmm, yes."

"I recognize you. You're the popular celebrity Yun Shishi, right?" Jing Qi smiled and said, "I don't usually have time to watch television, but I've seen your advertisements."

Chapter 2950: Special Reunion (3)

Yun Shishi replied, "I'm not a big star. I only entered this industry out of my love for acting."

Jing Qi was rather moved to hear this.

She had heard that celebrities were good at putting on airs and acting haughty. After all, they were always in the limelight. They had the love of their fans, and were always receiving flowers and applause, their annual income were in the tens of millions. Even people like Gu Xingze earned hundreds of millions every year.

Hence, these celebrities were definitely a step up from the ordinary folks.

When she first met Yun Shishi, she naturally felt uneasy and at a loss. At the same time, she felt a little inferior and looked up to the woman.

However, Yun Shishi's easygoing attitude surprised and touched her.

She did not put on any airs at all!

She was not being hypocritical when she claimed that she was not a superstar. She simply felt that she was just an ordinary person.

"You're different from the other celebrities!"

Jing Qi smiled. "You're so famous, yet when you talk to me, you don't put on any airs!"

As she said this, she walked over and asked with concern, "I wanted to ask earlier on, are your eyes... injured? You look as though you... can't see anything?"

Yun Shishi calmly replied, "Yes. My eyes are injured and I can't see anything."

"...Is that so?"

Jing Qi knitted her brows in confusion. She was a meticulous person and a thought suddenly struck her. She asked in an odd tone, "Aren't you Gu Xingze's friend? Then... when he donated his corneas, you could have accepted them and undergone a transplant operation!"

Yun Shishi kept her silence for a long while.

Jing Qi was sensitively cautious as she asked, "Am I being nosy? I'm sorry... I'm a boorish person who may say inappropriate things! Sometimes, I mean it to be a word of concern, but it comes out sounding all wrong. If it's a little annoying, I hope you don't take it to heart! If I'm being nosy, I will stop asking."

"Not at all..."

Yun Shishi calmly continued, "I can't undergo surgery now because... I'm pregnant. If I undergo surgery, it won't be good for the fetus. I want to protect the child, so we're putting aside the matter of my eyes till later."

"oh, I see..."

So that was why!

She thought to herself, this pretty superstar must be a close friend of Gu Xingze!

That was because she noticed that when Yun Shishi was carrying the child, the look in her eyes was not simply fondness, but there was a sort of pity, pain, and even longing in her expression.

Obviously she had lost her sight, but it seemed as if she could see something, through the child!

Yun Shishi held Jing Yang in her arms lovingly, but Jing Qi knew that the longing and heartache on her face was not because of her fondness for the child.

She did not know if this was a form of entrustment, through which she placed her longing for Gu Xingze on this child.

Jing Qi came back to her senses and smiled. "Congratulations! You're going to be a mother!"

Yun Shishi smiled. "Thank you."

She suddenly turned her head and caressed the little fellow's face. She could not hide the regret in her expression. "What a pity I've lost my sight. I would love to see what the little fellow looks like otherwise."

"In the future, when your eyes have recovered and the little guy grows up, I'll definitely bring him to you and you can take a good look then."

Jing Qi did not have a glib tongue, but she spoke her mind. She had never learned how to be tactful, but she had always gone straight to the point.
