

Sweet Love 3051

Chapter 3051: The Love Of Your Life (22)

“Do I smell good?”

The corner of Little Yichen’s eyes twitched as he sniffed seriously.

“Mmm! The fragrance of shower gel!”

“Do you still smell Chinese medicine?”

At this reminder, Little Yichen was surprised and exclaimed, “No, I can’t smell it anymore!”

Strange. Every time after he had taken the medicine, there would be a strong and lingering smell of Chinese medicine on him.

The boy asked nervously, “What happened? Did you not take your medicine?”

“I did!”

“Really?”

Every time after he had taken it, he’d smell like medicine.

“Don’t you lie to your brother. If you stop taking medicine, it will...”

“I already said I’ve taken it!”

Youyou added, “However, I’ve applied a lot of shower gel and put on some perfume. If I smell good like this, I think Little Sister won’t mind me!”

Little Yichen smiled and nodded.

However, Youyou was not in a hurry to carry Yueyao. Instead, he secretly stopped taking his medicine for the next two days. It was only when the smell of Chinese medicine was completely gone from him that he felt relieved.

However, when he stood in front of the crib and looked down at the wide-eyed tiny baby lying in it that he became nervous again!

He raised his arm solemnly and sniffed his sleeve. He could not smell any medicine. Then, he took a deep breath and smiled.

He no longer had the smell of Chinese medicine on him. This also meant that now, there was no other valid reason for his little sister to reject him!

What if Little Sister cried again?

It would mean she really hated him!

His great fear was that his sister would not like him!

Little Yichen encouraged him, saying, “Youyou, what are you waiting for? Didn’t you say that you wanted to carry Little Sister?”

Youyou hesitated for a long time before he carefully picked up little Yueyao and took her into his arms.

He stared at the little bundle nestled in his arms. The little fellow was staring back at him with a pair of curious eyes and a thumb in her mouth. Suddenly, his heart started beating faster, worried that she would start crying the next second!

Mu Yazhe watched the child from the side, as the boy held Yueyao in his arms with an extremely pious and solemn expression. It was as if the baby was a sacred little angel who could not be blasphemed!

As the baby and the boy exchanged looks, Youyou unconsciously held his breath under her curious gaze.

The little thing's eyebrows had yet to grow out, and her face was chubby with baby fat. Her eyes and eyelids were slightly puffy, but her eyes were as black as agate. They exuded a lively aura as though they were the purest spring water pools in the world!

Just as he was feeling extremely nervous, the baby's widened eyes curved into two little crescent moons. Her tender smile was silent, but it melted his heart!

When she smiled, she was especially pretty. At that moment, Youyou felt as if an angel was smiling at him!

The nervousness on his face immediately faded. He lifted his head excitedly and said to his father, "Daddy! Little Sister is smiling at me!"

"I can see that!"

Youyou was extremely moved. He gently rubbed his face against hers and let out a crisp laugh.

"Little Sister, I'm your brother! I'm Youyou. Hello."

Youyou's gaze fell on Yueyao's soft cheeks. His handsome eyes were filled with a doting smile.

He whispered lightly, "Yueyao, welcome!"

Welcome to this world!

Welcome to my world!

Chapter 3052: The Love Of Your Life (23)

This was probably considered a formal greeting between him and little Yueyao!

For Little Yichen, this was a heartwarming moment. He walked over to Youyou and rested his chin on his shoulder. He quietly watched the soft little fellow stretching her arms and legs in Youyou's embrace. She put her chubby little hands in her mouth, at times curling her fingers.

"She even knows how to curl her fingers?"

Little Yichen quickly moved her hand away from her mouth and said, "Don't chew at your hands!"

Then he wiped the saliva off her hand with his own hand.

Hua Jin laughed as he watched from the side. "Yueyao has really found the right family to come into. Look at how her two brothers dote on her."

Curiously, little Yueyao opened her mouth and spat out a small bubble. She smacked her lips and put her finger in her mouth. Her bright eyes rolled around quickly as she took in the world around her.

Mu Yazhe was amused when he saw this. "What is she looking at?"

"She's probably looking at her two young brothers!"

Gong Jie walked over and said to Youyou, "Let uncle carry her."

"No!"

Youyou pouted and tightened his arms protectively around the baby. "She's finally not crying when I carry her. Let me hold her a little longer!"

Gong Jie furrowed his brows as well. "I haven't been able to carry her for the past few days. Little Yueyao wants to see Uncle too. Give her to me!"

The boy turned around, refusing to let him touch the baby.

Little Yichen, who was watching from the side, was amused. He said, "From now on, Little Sister won't need to get off the bed and walk. When we go out, I'll carry her and after that, Youyou will carry her, then Mommy will carry her. After that, Uncle and Daddy and I will fight over who may carry her next! Her tiny pair of legs will become merely decorative pieces!"

Yun Shishi leaned against the bed and smiled. "Alright! Stop fooling around with her. Carry her to me; it's time to feed her!"

When Mu Yazhe heard this, he quickly stood up and handed the baby over to her. Then, he turned around and swept a meaningful glance across the room. When everyone saw his gaze, they tactfully walked out the door.

After everyone left, Yun Shishi lifted her clothes and fed the child.

While the child was breastfeeding, Mu Yazhe sat by the bed and looked around. Suddenly, he said, "This child has your eyes."

"How can you tell?"

"I can tell by the outline of her eyes."

Mu Yazhe gently pinched her cheeks. He did not dare to use force, but his symbolic touch was as smooth as milk.

He added, "It's good that she takes after you. When she grows up, she'll definitely be a beauty."

"Didn't they say that our daughter looks more like her father? We won't be able to tell yet, it's too early to come to a conclusion! I think our daughter will be prettier if she looks like you."

Mu Yazhe's heart was filled with infinite tenderness as he looked at his daughter!

This was different from how he felt when he first carried Mu Yichen in his arms!

At that time, he had not been there to experience the pregnancy, nor had he accompanied Yun Shishi throughout, to be with her through all the ups and downs. He did not even witness the arrival of the new lease of life in the delivery room.

Hence, when he carried Mu Yichen, he simply looked at the boy and exclaimed in his heart, Oh! This is my son!

It was just that although he was happy, he was not deeply moved. As Little Yichen grew up, he did not know how to take on the role of a father. He only knew that he could not pamper him too much, or else he would spoil him and that would not be good!

Therefore, being strict with his son was his education philosophy.

Chapter 3053: The Love Of Your Life (24)

Therefore, being strict with his son was his education philosophy.

Little Yichen had always been in awe of him.

However, with his daughter, his fatherly instinct seemed to have finally awakened. He also knew that if a child were to be doted on in the right way, it would not be spoiled.

Especially when this pregnancy had taken place during a difficult time in Yun Shishi's life, he had come to deeply understand that the baby didn't come easy!

The process encompassed both pain and happiness, as well as the anxiety of waiting. Hence, when the man looked at little Yueyao, it was no longer through the eyes of the ignorant father he was eight years ago, but a mature and steady father!

If Yun Shishi's existence had changed the arrogant and haughty man in any way, it would be that she had gently worn away his sharpness and rough edge. Because of her, he had learned to love.

Then the arrival of Yueyao injected infinite tenderness into his heart, making him a gentler father.

When he looked at the baby, she stared back at him. Suddenly, he was overcome by emotions. She was worth everything!

He wanted to give her the best things in the world!

Perhaps this sentiment had something to do with the special relationship between father and daughter!

Why else would they say that a daughter is a father's lover in his past life?

It was a special sort of destiny. Mu Yazhe's love for Yueyao was indescribable. He loved her deeply and wanted to take good care of her!

Some babies are born with sparse hair, but little Yueyao had thick black hair, long eyelashes, fair but healthy skin.

Yun Shishi had ensured a balanced diet during her pregnancy. In addition, both she and Mu Yazhe had good genes. Hence, no matter what, the child would have turned out to be good looking!

When the nurse carried the baby in to be vaccinated, the other nurses were surprised and envious when they saw the child!

They were experienced and knew at a glance that this child would definitely be a beauty when she grew up!

When little Yueyao received the injection, she attracted a lot of attention. Even the department directors of the Gynecology and Obstetrics Department came to look. When the nurse returned the child to the ward, she said with enthusiasm, "You should have seen those doctors fighting to carry her! I didn't allow them to do so and simply told them that this little princess recognizes people. She'd cry if a stranger carried her. How disappointed they looked! Then, they all said that this child would definitely look good when she grows up!"

Hearing this, Mu Yazhe raised an eyebrow and said, "Look whose daughter it is!"

He sounded smug!

The nurse said to Yun Shishi, "Shishi, you're so lucky. Your husband is so handsome, and you have a pair of handsome sons and a daughter who's pretty as a little angel! The gods really bless you!"

Before she could reply, Mu Yazhe said, "You're wrong!"

"Eh? What do you mean?"

The man gazed lovingly at Yun Shishi and said, "It's my blessing to have married her."

The remark was like honey melting on the tip of her tongue, making the nurse even more envious. She exclaimed, "You guys are such a loving couple!"

With that, she left.

After she left, there were only the two of them in the room. Little Yueyao was asleep, while Gong Jie and the rest had taken Youyou and Little Yichen shopping at the Lezhi Holdings shopping center!

Now that Little Sister had arrived, Youyou insisted on buying some clothes, toys and teething sticks for the baby.

Chapter 3054: The Love Of Your Life (25)

Now that Little Sister had arrived, Youyou insisted on buying some clothes, toys and teething sticks for the baby.

Gong Jie had wanted to take a look at the little princess, but he was dragged away by Youyou.

Mu Yazhe snorted inwardly. This son of his was observant and knew that his parents had not enjoyed their couple alone time for a long time!

Recently, Le Zhi had launched a mother-and-baby counter. It was an idea proposed by Youyou when Yun Shishi was pregnant.

Lezhi had now basically been handed over to Li Hanlin. Li Hanlin had been promoted to become Le Zhi's CEO, while Youyou had retired gloriously. He did not want to waste time on other things. He had decided after Yun Shishi got pregnant, that he wished to spend more time with his sister.

In order to welcome his sister's arrival, he had especially urged Li Hanlin to develop the mother-and-child market. After more than eight months of preparation, Le Zhi launched the mother-and-child counter. However, in the recent days, there had been consumer complaints that the mother-and-child line was more focused on products for baby girls.

This however, was what the boy had requested. It was one of his personal interests.

When he was free and had some inspiration, he would doodle on the paper and design some toys for his sister. The development of the product would take some time, so he planned ahead. By the time his sister knew how to play with toys, he would give her the toys he designed!

Because of little Yueyao's birth, he no longer had to take care of the Heavenly Eye project. He tossed the half-drawn blueprint aside and did not bother with it anymore!

Gong Jie could not care to ask as well. Even though he was ambitious about the Sky Eye project, nothing was more important than his niece!

Even matters concerning the Hurricane Group had been relegated to the backburner by Youyou.

...

It was a rare moment of peace and quiet in the room, little Yueyao was sleeping soundly. Mu Yazhe lay on the bed and drew Yun ShiShi into his arms. She had fallen asleep but was stirred by his movements. Just as she furrowed her brows, she felt his hot breath on her cheek. Then, the man lowered his head and kissed her lips!

It felt like he had not kissed her for a long time!

But it was only a light and fleeting kiss as he did not dare to take her more deeply.

However, when their lips parted, Mu Yazhe lowered his eyes and stared into her eyes. Her face was flushed, making it seem as though it had been dusted with a layer of rouge. That pair of eyes seemed to be able to steal one's soul, and he could not bear to pull himself away from her.

Hence she saw him coming up to her again, his large palm firmly holding onto the back of her neck, almost not allowing her any room to retreat. His kiss invaded her lips and beyond, searching deeply. She snorted softly, her tone soft and tender, and her body giving out waves of heat!

His body tensed up as well, as he felt a certain part of him react with a familiar sensation. Instinctively, he started to demand for more than just a kiss. He wanted to have more and more of her!

Their lips were intertwined, and their breathing gradually quickened. He stared at her. Even though her eyes were closed and she could not see, she could sense his smoldering heat!

Forcing himself away from her lips, he started kissing her collarbone.

He had wanted her for almost ten months, but he knew very well that now, right after she had just given birth, she would not be able to take him.

Yun Shishi snapped back to her senses and pursed her lips. She understood how much effort it took for this energetic man to stop here.

Chapter 3055: The Love Of Your Life (26)

“Honey, it’s been tough on you.”

The pregnancy had been tough on her, but it had not been easy on him either!

For the past ten months, she had clearly seen his efforts. His forbearance, his tolerance, his care, his companionship, these were all obvious to her. He had given as much as she did.

If they could switch places, this proud man would have been willing to bear the pain of childbirth for her.

Especially during the time when she was extremely depressed, it was also he who brought her out of that darkness, a step at a time.

She suddenly said, “Actually, there’s something I feel torn apart over!”

Mu Yazhe stroked her hair and raised an eyebrow. “Hmmm? What is it?”

She pondered for a moment, and hesitated for a long time before deciding to tell him about it. “Say, haven’t we always been doing very well with the pregnancy prevention measures?”

“Uh huh...”

Mu Yazhe’s eyelids twitched. He quickly understood what she was puzzled over!

“But how did I manage to get pregnant?” This still stumped Yun Shishi. “I know for a fact that I’ve always taken long-term contraceptives. Does this mean they don’t work?”

“Contraceptive pills are not good stuff to be taking. It’s not good for your health long-term! Don’t take them again in the future!” The man did not answer her question but deliberately changed the topic.

Yun Shishi’s thoughts were not led astray by him, however. She continued to harp on this topic since she just could not figure it out. “We are careful about contraception. Apart from me taking medicine, you do use condoms sometimes. Logically speaking, it’s almost impossible to get pregnant!”

Mu Yazhe was hesitant to tell her the truth. The reason that the contraceptive pill failed was because he had been evil and replaced her contraceptive pills with folic acid pills. The pills looked almost identical after removing the packaging. She might not have been that observant or studied it that closely to see the difference.

However, he was worried that it would upset her to find out what he had done to get her pregnant.

After all, this was against her wishes and his action did not seem very honorable.

Hence, he probed, "Don't you like our daughter?"

"I do of course! I like her so much!"

Yun Shishi was annoyed at him. "What are you saying? How can I not love my own daughter? After all, she is my own flesh and blood. It's just that I wasn't prepared to get pregnant back then, so this child caught me off-guard. However, after Yueyao was born, I realized I was the fortunate one! It's considered a blessing to have both sons and daughters. You were so right that this is a daughter!"

Mu Yazhe instantly fell silent.

She added, "I guess we can call this a beautiful accident!"

"Actually..."

He replied, "I've always wanted a daughter!"

"Uh huh!"

"But this time, even if we had ended up with a son, I would still love him and be very happy! So..."

After some deliberation, he said, "I replaced your contraceptive pill with folic acid pills. So, Yueyao's arrival was within my expectations but also beyond my expectations! Because I never thought that it would really fulfill my wish. The heavens have blessed me and fulfilled my wish!"

Yun Shishi was stunned for half a second, but her expression did not change much. She only curled her lips faintly in response.

He thought that she would be really upset. He asked curiously, "Aren't you angry?"

"Hmmm?"

"Angry with me, for replacing the birth control pills."

Chapter 3056: The Love Of Your Life (27)

"With me, for replacing the birth control pills."

Yun Shishi shook her head. "At first, I only thought that the birth control failed. After all, the success rate of contraceptive pills is limited, so I didn't think too much about it. After that, I looked through the medicine box and saw that the medicine in it was different from what I used to take. I only suspected it, but I didn't expect that it was you who secretly replaced it with the folic acid pills."

Mu Yazhe smirked. "As long as you're not angry!"

"Why should I be angry? Only my man can think of such a clever trick! Secretly replacing contraceptive pills with folic acid, this is very much your style! It's brilliant! I've never had the intention to blame you."

However, after Yueyao, I really don't want to have another child! It's not because of my body, but because I don't want my love to be spread too thinly!"

Yun Shishi snuggled into his embrace and said gently, "With you, Youyou, and Little Yichen around, and now that there's Yueyao, I feel that I'm the happiest woman in the world! I can't ask for anything more. My wish is for all of you will be safe and happy. That's more than enough for me!"

"I don't want you to have another child either!"

Mu Yazhe replied, "I've never experienced it before, and now that I've accompanied you through childbirth, I feel that giving birth is too much for a woman! Having three children is enough for me!"

Yun Shishi nodded. "Then, we'd better take contraception seriously. Otherwise, if we were to end up with another 'beautiful accident', I wouldn't know what to do! And by then, if I'm advanced in my years, I'd seriously suffer!"

"It's not good to keep taking birth control pills. On the other hand, condoms are not fail-safe."

"How about I go for a ligation procedure when my body recovers a little more?" She smiled.

Startled, he frowned and said, "No!"

"The ligation is just a very simple surgery, and it will solve many problems!"

Since they were on this topic, Yun Shishi wanted to have a good talk with him about it.

"Hubby, you know me! I'm yours for a lifetime, there will be no one else apart from you, so I don't really need this fertility function anymore! In this lifetime, I will only have these three children and no other children! Since no contraception method is fail-safe, why not just completely avoid it?"

"I heard that undergoing ligation is bad for a woman's health. Since we're talking about this, I might as well tell you my decision!"

"What decision?"

Mu Yazhe solemnly said, "I plan to go for a vasectomy!"

"W-What?"

This took Yun Shishi by surprise!

This man was actually telling her he was going for a vasectomy!

What were the implications?!

This meant that he would lose his fertility forever!

The fact is that most sterilization surgeries in European and American countries are performed on men. This is because vasectomies are relatively less risky and the man would recover in a short period of time. Basically, they are able to resume their work right after the surgery. The impact is minimal.

A few days after she had given birth, the doctor had asked him if he would consider letting Yun Shishi undergo a ligation since they already had three children.

This was the first time he had heard of this term. He was a little puzzled, so he asked around and found out what the surgery involved.

The doctor had explained that both men and women could undergo a sterilization procedure.

Chapter 3057: The Love Of Your Life (28)

The doctor explained that both men and women could undergo a sterilization procedure. However, male sterilization was less risky, and the chances of complications would be greatly reduced. Moreover, the chances of failure were extremely low, and there was basically nothing to worry about.

However, a woman who undergoes ligation will have to face the risk of an ectopic pregnancy, for example. An ectopic pregnancy can affect her health, apart from causing inflammation and infection, the growth will need to be removed through an operation.

However, in this kind of environment in China, most men were very against such surgeries. This might have something to do with its deeply rooted male dominant society!

The general opinion was that this kind of surgery was the greatest disrespect to a man's dignity!

The vast majority of men believed that assuming the responsibility of contraception would lower their own status. Furthermore, fertility was regarded by many men as vital to their status. Vasectomy was misperceived as an equivalent of castration. There were even many men who had the thinking that if they should divorce their wife one day, they would no longer be able to bear children of their own if they had undergone the procedure. Hence they did not want to go down this dead end.

In addition, many men treated women as their personal possessions, exclusive to themselves. This was part of the respect they received.

After all, a man's priority was to continue the family line.

However, Mu Yazhe felt that he had to eliminate all potential risks where Yun Shishi was concerned.

He was adamant.

Why would he let his woman take such a risk?

Even if it was only a 0.01% chance, it was unacceptable.

Moreover, he had no worries because this woman, this great woman, had already fulfilled his greatest wish and given him a daughter. In that case, fertility was no longer something he needed!

He had set his mind on this woman to be the only woman to be by his side till the end!

He would have only one wife and all his children would only be hers and his!

After the vasectomy, he would never again have to worry about those tramps trying to sow discord between him and Yun Shishi!

This was a concern for him as well!

After all, regardless of his marital status, there were too many women who coveted him. There was no guarantee that there won't be another woman like Song Enya, who would use despicable means.

Once he was sterilized, he would no longer have such concerns!

And at that point, if another woman should appear out of the blue and claimed to be pregnant with his child, then this silly wife of his would have the confidence to give her a tight slap!

The doctor had also explained to him the process of a vasectomy, which would involve a keyhole to access the vasectomy tube so that cuts could be made to the tubes. Although this surgery might sound somewhat frightening to some, a woman's sterilization surgery was even more inhumane, in his opinion!

When a woman undergoes ligation, a cut has to be made on her abdomen and fallopian tubes have to be separated from each other by more than ten centimeters. Two incisions have to be made.

Upon hearing this, Mu Yazhe immediately rejected the idea.

However, in bed, he did not really like wearing condoms. He always felt that it was not very comfortable. Furthermore, in a certain aspect, his senses were very sharp. Hence, this uncomfortable feeling was magnified infinitely. In the past, he did not wear condoms because he was hoping for another child – a daughter. But now that he had both sons and a daughter, he could not bear to see her go through another pregnancy. He thought that since he did not like wearing condoms, he should go for sterilization.

Mu Yazhe had briefly mentioned this to her about it but had not discussed it at length.

Chapter 3058: The Love Of Your Life (29)

Yun Shishi could not bear it for she felt that it was too big a sacrifice on his end.

However, her concerns were nothing to him!

After all, a woman is the carrier of new life. She has to go through menstruation every month, which is a burden in itself. On the other hand, a pregnancy lasts ten months. After birth, a woman's figure goes out of shape and recovery takes a long time. Then, she has to go under confinement and breastfeed.

What about men?

They only need to be responsible for sowing the seeds if they wish to have a child. And if they get the woman pregnant by accident, they only have to cough up the money. Ultimately, the one who suffers is the woman!

In this aspect, women are much disadvantaged.

That was why he made this decision.

Holding her tightly, he said, "I have no worries about the longevity of our marriage, nor do I worry about whether to have another child in the future. The risk of having a vasectomy is also small. This is my decision. I'm just telling you. It's not a discussion. It's good that you know about it. You don't have to say anything!"

His attitude was very firm. He was only informing her about this matter and not asking for her opinion!

Yun Shishi was extremely touched when she heard that!

This man couldn't bear to have her undergo ligation!

She did not expect that he had already made up his mind!

However, it was just like him to say such a thing!

Perhaps, if she had not mentioned this, he would have kept it from her and secretly undergone the surgery before he'd tell her anything about it.

He was a man of few words and always been a silent giver. In his mind, he was willing to give unconditionally to someone who was worth it, without any underlying motives.

He loved her, and loved her only. He did so without reservation. It was pure and simple.

Yun Shishi was touched by his thoughtfulness and acceptance. She was even more touched by his love for her. Wrapping her arms around his shoulders, she leaned over and kissed his face.

"Thank you, Hubby!" She told him sincerely.

The corners of his lips turned upwards in a smile and he was about to kiss her when the door of the ward suddenly flew open. He looked up sharply and saw Gong Jie standing at the door. Having stumbled onto this suggestive scene, an awkward expression appeared on Gong Jie's face.

Behind him, also at the doorway, Hua Jin's view was obscured by the man. Seeing that Gong Jie had stopped in his tracks, he pushed the man's shoulder angrily. "Why are you getting in my way. Move in!"

Two little heads popped out from either side of his legs. They were surprised to see Mu Yazhe and Yun Shishi entangled in an embrace.

Little Yichen fumed. "Daddy! You're so despicable! You purposely sent us away so that you can have some alone time with Mommy, right?!"

"Daddy is so cunning!" Youyou chimed in.

Mu Yazhe glared at Gong Jie. "Why didn't you knock when you came in?"

"I... I didn't expect you guys to be doing the lovey-dovey! There's no sign on the door either, that says no entry, hanky panky in progress!"

In his heart, he was sure that Mu Yazhe had deliberately sent him away so that he could have his sister to himself!

That was too much!

Mu Yazhe snorted, but he did not let go of Yun Shishi. Since he had been caught red-handed, there was no need to hide it!

It was nothing embarrassing for him to be kissing and hugging his own woman.

Gong Jie was the first to walk to the crib. Having secured the prime spot, he wanted to carry little Yueyao.

Little Yueyao was still asleep. Her sleep was a little shallow, hence when he reached out to touch her tiny, soft feet through her thick little booties, she could feel it and gave a hard kick.

Chapter 3059: The Love Of Your Life (30)

Sensing that someone was touching her, she kicked at Gong Jie's hand like a bunny!

"Eh? So strong?"

Gong Jie found it extremely interesting, and saw that her two little feet were still moving up and down. He had the thought of tickling her so he reached out his long fingers and gently scratched the soles of her feet through her socks!

Little Yueyao was very sensitive and reacted to the tickling. As Gong Jie teased her, her legs kicked even harder!

"Haha! Like a little rabbit!"

Youyou and Little Yichen immediately came over to take a look, only to see little Yueyao's legs kicking up and down like the paws of a little rabbit. Her brows were slightly furrowed, and she appeared to be displeased!

Youyou was eager to protect his sister and immediately said, "Uncle, don't disturb her sleep!"

"She's been sleeping for a long time so it's probably more than enough rest?"

Gong Jie smiled and grasped the baby's little feet with his big palm, revealing his white teeth in a devilish manner.

By now, little Yueyao had been truly woken up by him. Her face was wrinkled and she looked like she was about to cry!

Of course, a baby lacking sleep would vent her unhappiness by crying!

"Oh, oh," Gong Jie consoled her calmly. "Don't cry, don't cry! Uncle will carry you; Uncle will dote on you!"

Youyou burst out laughing as he watched on!

It was amusing watching an arrogant man like his uncle carrying such a cute little thing that didn't even take up the length of his arm. He looked like an ordinary father, coaxing his daughter with infinite tenderness. It was hard to imagine that this man was the most frightening chief commander of the Hurricane Group, Gong Jie.

The difference was simply too great!

Youyou could not stop chuckling.

Seeing him snicker, Gong Jie snapped, "What are you snickering about?!"

Youyou cleared his throat and smiled elegantly. "Nothing much! I just feel that Uncle is rather adorable."

Gong Jie looked away awkwardly and snorted in a tsundere manner.

Mu Yazhe turned around and told her, "I'll make arrangements for the operation in the next two days. You don't have to worry."

"Isn't that a little rushed?"

"No, it's just a minor surgery. It doesn't require much effort and energy!"

Mu Yazhe then said to her, "You just have to focus on completing your confinement period and recuperate well. You still have the wedding to prepare for!"

"Wedding... Aiya, how could I have forgotten about this!"

Yun Shishi laughed at herself. "I was so focused on Yueyao that I've forgotten someone owes me a grand wedding!"

"You may have forgotten, but I haven't! Still, you have to wait until your eyes recover! Otherwise, how regretful would it be if you can't see how beautiful you look in your wedding dress?"

Yun Shishi, on the other hand, was a little pessimistic. She said uneasily, "I heard that cornea donors are hard to come by, and there's no guarantee that I'll get lucky! I'm only worried that... by the time my eyes recover, Yueyao will have already grown up!"

Youyou immediately said, "Mommy is letting her imagination run wild again! With Daddy and Uncle around, Mommy shouldn't need to worry unnecessarily!"

"Everyone says that Yueyao is beautiful. It's a pity that I can't really see her!"

She suddenly lamented, "It's regretful that I can't take a good look at my daughter! I wonder when I'll be able to see her face clearly."

As she said this, Yun Shishi could not hide the disappointment on her face. She lowered her head and caressed Yueyao's cheeks, feeling regretful!

Chapter 3060: The Love Of Your Life (31)

"Little Yueyao, do you know, Mommy doesn't want to miss out on a single moment of your life."

Hearing these words, Hua Jin was somewhat shaken.

He suddenly stood up and instructed the nanny to take good care of Yun Shishi. He then walked to Mu Yazhe's side and gently patted his shoulder, pointing to the door to indicate that he wanted to speak in private.

Mu Yazhe nodded, got up, and walked out of the room with him.

As though afraid that Yun Shishi might overhear their conversation, Hua Jin stopped only when he was out on the balcony. Mu Yazhe followed over and asked, "What's the matter?"

He asked, "Shishi's eyes... Would you be able to find a suitable donor?"

Noting how anxious he seemed, Mu Yazhe realized this matter had been bothering him for a long time. He replied, "Don't worry."

"How could I not worry? There has been no news for so long, and there's no suitable source of donors."

"I'm waiting, too."

"What if one doesn't come along?"

Hua Jin grew increasingly anxious. "Now even a hope to see Yueyao is an extravagance! My heart aches to see it, so I hope that she can undergo surgery as soon as possible."

Mu Yazhe frowned, but there was a long silence.

Seeing his silence, Hua Jin thought that he was also worried about this matter. He felt compelled to add, "If we really can't find a donor... use... mine...?"

The moment he said that, Mu Yazhe was stunned. "Yours?"

"Uh huh!"

Hua Jin nodded his head heavily and immediately explained, "Brother-in-law, don't worry. I'm willing! If Shishi can regain her sight, I'm willing to pay the price of my corneas! Also, don't worry that I'll lose my sight. I've asked the doctor, and he said that even one cornea is fine."

"No way!"

Mu Yazhe thought it was ridiculous. He did not expect this fellow to have gone as far as to bring this up to the doctor. He was not merely saying it.

Hua Jin retorted, "Why not?"

He said, "Didn't the doctor tell you that the cornea of the living may not be removed?"

Hua Jin was stunned.

He really hadn't given too much thought. He had only asked the doctor if it was possible to operate on just one eye if there was a cornea, and the doctor's answer was yes. Hence he figured that if there really wasn't a donor source, he'd trade his eyes for hers.

"Brother-in-law, we should be able to do this through connections, right? I can sign the agreement. If it's voluntary, there won't be any dispute."

"Are you crazy?!"

Mu Yazhe reprimanded him, "If she found out that she was using your cornea, what would she think?"

"Of course we can't tell her!"

“Brother-in-law, I promised Shishi that I’ll be her eyes if she really were to lose her sight one day!” he declared resolutely.

The man cut him off. “No, no means no.”

“Brother-in-law!”

Hua Jin was getting agitated. “If I had known you’d disagree, then I wouldn’t have told you.”

“I have a donor source,” Mu Yazhe suddenly interrupted him.

Hua Jin was stunned. “What?”

“I have a donor source!”

Naturally, Hua Jin did not believe his words.. He thought that he was just being perfunctory. Instead, he asked, “Since there is, why haven’t you prepared for a transplant? Besides, since you have a donor source and the cornea is viable for only 48 hours out of the human body, you are obviously just being perfunctory!”