

Sweet Love 3591

Chapter 3591: A New Addition (207)

Through the window, Youyou could see a blue body of water. He knew that they were traveling on the sea, which meant he was very much a prisoner. It would be almost impossible for him to escape. It seemed he was destined to be held captive by this man. Since this was the case, he thought he might as well go with the flow.

Youyou lay down on the bed and said coldly, "You don't have to watch over me. I can't escape anyway."

Gong Jie was surprised at the boy's calmness and widened his eyes. However, he quickly laughed it off and stood up. "Have a good rest today then. You'll be home tomorrow."

With that, he left the room. When the door closed, Youyou closed his eyes and quickly fell asleep.

In the meantime, at the Mu residence, Yun Shishi was restless. She returned to her bedroom, and tossed and turned in bed. She could not sleep well and felt uneasy. Gong Jie had sent a message saying that he was already on the way back with Youyou and told her not to worry.

However, she was nervous, excited, and uneasy. She was a little worried about her son, but she was even more worried about Little Yichen. Would he be too lonely, staying alone on the island?

Initially, she did not agree to this proposal! Although this would bring Youyou back, but what about Little Yichen? Was he supposed to stay on that island indefinitely, on Youyou's behalf? She heard that there was nothing on that island apart from a huge castle. It was almost isolated from the rest of the world, Wouldn't Little Yichen feel lonely? Just imagining Little Yichen staying on the island alone made her heart ache. She felt that it was too unfair to him. She also felt that Mu Yazhe was heartless.

However, Little Yichen said that he was only temporarily replacing Youyou. It did not mean that he would never return. It was a matter of urgency to bring Youyou back and recover his memory as soon as possible. Everything else could be settled afterward. If Youyou continued to stay on the island, nothing would go smoothly in the future.

Yun Shishi reluctantly agreed.

Before Little Yichen left, Yun Shishi held him to sleep for the night. Little Yichen hugged her tightly. As he was going away for a long time and did not know when he would be back, he could not help but feel a little reluctant. Afraid that it would add to his sadness, Little Yichen did not dare to linger before they set off, and left in a hurry.

Now that Youyou was already on his way back, she felt inexplicably uneasy.

Two days later, the ships docked at the port.

'Mu Yazhe and Yun Shishi were waiting at the harbor ahead of time. When Gong Jie carried Youyou off the ship, Yun Shishi saw them from afar. She and Mu Yazhe excitedly dashed up to them, but before they even got close, tears started streaming down their faces!

Youyou looked at the tall and handsome man in the crowd whose eyes were fixed on him, but the boy looked away coldly. However, when his gaze fell on Yun Shishi and saw her looking at him expectantly with bloodshot eyes, for some reason, his heart began to beat erratically. Youyou felt oddly stunned by his own strange reaction.

Yun Shishi walked up to him and held his face in her hands. Looking left and right, she still could not believe that it was really him. She felt like this was a dream. It was only when she caressed his face and touched him with her fingertips that she was sure it was real!

She hugged him tightly in her arms.. Hot tears fell on his shoulders as she said in a quivering voice, "Youyou, is it really you"

Chapter 3592: A New Addition (208)

Youyou frowned and said expressionlessly, "You've got the wrong person."

"..." Yun Shishi's expression froze.

Mu Yazhe frowned slightly and exchanged glances with Gong Jie.

Gong Jie immediately said, "He doesn't remember anything. His memories have been sealed through hypnosis."

Youyou pursed his lips mockingly and looked away impatiently. To him, the so-called amnesia that Gong Jie mentioned was ridiculous.

Amnesia?

How could he have lost his memory?

Who were these people and why did they say such strange things?

In fact, it only proved that Alice's hypnosis had been too successful. The false memories she had created had long since taken root in the boy's mind. The fabricated memories had led the boy to really believe that he had grown up in the Gong family. He was Gong Fan, not Youyou. Hence, what Gong Jie said was a complete lie to him. He wasn't going to fall for it easily.

Yun Shishi was at a loss. The child standing in front of her had the same face as Youyou. Every feature on his face was so familiar. In the past year or so, he had appeared in her dreams countless times, but they were out of her reach.

However, now that the real Youyou was back, he was like a stranger. The Youyou who used to cling to her and call her 'dearest Mommy', seemed to have disappeared for good!

Yun Shishi felt a little disappointed. She was extremely upset as her tears started to fall on his shoulders. She was heartbroken.

Seeing her tears, Youyou felt upset for no reason. He turned away from her.

To him, Yun Shishi, Gong Jie, and Mu Yazhe were all complete strangers. They didn't matter.

With difficulty, Yun Shishi asked, "Youyou, can't you recognize me?"

"I've said it!" Youyou finally could not take it anymore. He pushed her hand away and said coldly, "I've said it before; my name is not Youyou! You've got the wrong person; don't call me by that name again!"

These words were undoubtedly heartbreaking! Yun Shishi's heart ached like it had been cut by a knife. She clenched her fists and held back her tears. Mu Yazhe stood next to her and held her shoulders tightly. He consoled her, "Don't be anxious. Give it some time."

"Uh huh..." Yun Shishi asked the boy cautiously, "May... may I carry you?"

Youyou looked at her coldly without saying anything. It was as if he was looking at a stranger. Instead of retreating, she reached out and picked him up.

He was so cold. His skin was cool, as if he had been born that way. Even his palms were cool and not nearly as warm as his brother's. Yun Shishi hugged him tightly. Even though he had become so cold and distant, she was already extremely glad that he was still alive!

It was good as long as he was alive.

She had initially thought that he would never return.

She was grateful enough to have found her son!

Throughout the journey home, Yun Shishi held Youyou. Despite his obvious struggle and rejection, she refused to let go and held him even more tightly. His body was so cold, she wanted to use her own body temperature to warm him up.

Youyou, on the other hand, felt extremely awkward. Since he could not break free, he decided to stop struggling and just looked out of the window without looking at her.

His gaze, which lacked any emotion, was terrifying. This sort of terror couldn't be described with words and was heartbreaking..

Chapter 3593: A New Addition (209)

Youyou had been gone for three days, and during this time, Little Yichen had suffered terribly on the island.

He was given nutritious meals, cereal, fruits, and all sorts of boiled green vegetables that were so bland he couldn't taste a thing. There was broccoli in every meal. He ate until his eyes almost turned green!

The boy increasingly felt like a rabbit. Every time he sat at the dining table, it was as if he was being tortured. As he ate the tasteless vegetables, he felt like a rabbit that had lost all hope in life. He held the broccoli and nibbled on it resentfully. The problem was, even if he could put up with this amount of vegetables, where was the meat?! There was no meat at all!

No wonder Youyou had become so thin after disappearing for more than a year! Good grief, how could he not be thin?

According to Alice, Youyou's protein intake had to be controlled because of certain drugs he was taking. However, that shouldn't mean no protein at all?!

The worst thing was that there was no rice, no rice, no rice! The most tragic thing had to be emphasized thrice!

Little Yichen's stomach was as large as a cow's and normally needed at least two bowls of rice. But there was only a side dish here, not even rice. Finally, when the nth nutritious meal was served, the boy swayed, teetering on the verge of collapse. He was so hungry that he felt dizzy. Finally, with a thud, he fell face-first into the plate.

Meat..

Meat..

Little Yichen had a dream. In the dream, he saw a huge piece of steak with hands and feet running like a human being, some distance ahead of him. As soon as he saw the meat, his eyes watered and he started drooling as he ran after it. Just as he almost caught up with the meat, Lisa slapped him awake. When Little Yichen woke up, he realized that he was in Lisa's arms. At some point, saliva had dripped from the corner of his mouth onto her chest.

Lisa's face was ashen as she said coldly, "You are still able to talk in your sleep?"

Little Yichen blinked in surprise and furrowed his brows in confusion. "What was I saying?"

“Rou? Rou’er?”

Lisa gave him a strange look and said, “It was a name.”

Little Yichen pondered for a moment before scratching his head. “I... I dreamed that a piece of meat was running in front of me.”

Lisa’s eyes darkened.

What, meat with legs?

Could his dream be any more absurd?

He asked, “How did I end up fainting?”

Lisa replied coldly, “Low blood sugar.”

“Low blood sugar?!” Little Yichen cried, “I was healthy when I came here. I’ve only been here three days and now I’m so starved I have low blood sugar!?”

Lisa rolled her eyes. “Who’s fault is it that you eat so much?”

“I haven’t had meat for days.”

On the way here, the food on the ship was already rather bad. He had thought that he could have a good meal once they landed, but as it turned out, he had been given green vegetables for every meal.

He was starving! He really wanted to know how Youyou managed to survive in the past year!

“Didn’t Youyou end up with low blood sugar, given that he had had no meat?”

“The pills Alice concocts contribute to meeting his nutrition needs.” It was rare for Lisa to speak this much. She glanced at him disdainfully. “Are you awake? Can you get off the bed and walk?”

“I.. I’m famished.” Little Yichen said pitifully, “I want to eat meat”

“Human meat, will you eat it?” Lisa asked.

Little Yichen gave her a look of disgust. He was skinny all over, but what could he possibly do?

Suddenly, his gaze fell on Lisa’s slightly bulging chest.. She had already entered puberty, so her chest was becoming rather obvious..

Chapter 3594: A New Addition (210)

Like two little steamed buns.

Little Yichen's face suddenly flushed red.

She glanced at him, then followed his gaze to her chest!

No matter how unintelligent one was, one could tell what he was staring at!

The girl's expression darkened. She suddenly released her grip on him. Little Yichen lost his balance and fell to the ground with a loud thud.

"Pervert!" Cursing coldly, Lisa stepped over him and headed back to her room.

Little Yichen sat up on the ground and rubbed his butt in pain, yelling aggrievedly, "What?!"

Ouch! She wasn't the least bit gentle! Wasn't she respectful and gentle towards Youyou?! He indeed did observe that! How unfair!

Little Yichen swiftly got onto his feet and ran after her, muttering, "Why are you so gentle with Youyou and so rough with me?"

Lisa rolled her eyes expressionlessly and ignored him.

"Hey, since I'm replacing Youyou now, you should treat me as though I'm Youyou and be gentler!"

The girl suddenly stopped in her tracks and turned around calmly. She gave him a meaningful look and sneered, "Are you as smart as Youyou?"

"Are you as well-behaved as Youyou?"

"Youyou is not a pervert like you!" She glared at Little Yichen coldly. "Mu Yichen, I'm warning you. If you... stare at me again..." Instinctively, she covered her chest with her hands and said with a livid expression, "Keep your eyes to yourself! If you keep looking, I'll dig your eyes out!"

With that, Lisa walked away.

Little Yichen's jaw dropped as he watched her walking away. "That's violent," he said wistfully.

Even though Little Yichen had absolutely no love for green vegetables, he had no choice but to "eat grass" calmly so as not to expose his own identity. After four consecutive days, he finally could not take it anymore. He started a hunger strike, becoming very stubborn and insisting on eating meat.

There was nothing Lisa could do. So, in the guise of wanting meat for herself, she ordered the cook to prepare a steak.

That night, Little Yichen lay in bed, clutching his growling stomach. He tossed and turned, unable to fall asleep no matter how hungry he was.

The lights suddenly came on.

Having switched on the lights, Lisa walked in with a tray. Little Yichen was initially sleepy and confused. He was on the verge of falling asleep when he suddenly smelled an alluring fragrance and sat up straight!

He sniffed in the direction where the aroma was coming from. Lisa walked to the bed with the tray and said expressionlessly, "Get up and eat."

Little Yichen's eyes lit up when he saw the fried steak on the plate!

"Meat... meat..."

Like a heretic devotee, the boy sat upright and ready. Lisa picked up the over-bed table before bringing the tray to him. As if a hurricane had swept through, the large piece of beef disappeared in a matter of a few minutes.

Lisa was dumbstruck as she stared blankly at the knife and fork in her hand. Still looking as if he was starving, the boy asked eagerly, "Is there more?"

"Are you a pig?" Lisa said angrily, "Even pigs don't eat as much as you do."

Feeling aggrieved, Little Yichen retorted, "I've been hungry for a few days. This bit of meat is not even enough to fill the gaps between my teeth."

Without another word, Lisa turned around angrily and walked out, slamming the door behind her..

Chapter 3595: A New Addition (211)

Another half hour later, Lisa walked in with another tray. Besides steak, there was a cheeseburger, ham, and soft boiled eggs.

When Lisa had walked into the back kitchen and said to the cook, "I'm still hungry. Cook me another steak."

God knew how astonished the chef was!

He stared back as if she was a strange monster!

Youyou could not eat meat, and his nutritious meals were all vegetarian. He could not eat any protein or fat, so people would become suspicious if he asked for meat. Hence, Lisa had to claim it to be her own meal. Except that her appetite was usually pitifully small, not even a fraction of Little Yichen's.

Hence, when she requested for another steak, the people in the kitchen looked as though they'd seen a ghost.

"Last meal! That's it!" Lisa warned.

Little Yichen nodded his head vigorously as he wolfed down the steak and finished everything else. Only then was his stomach comfortably filled! He was almost moved to tears!

Not completely satisfied, Little Yichen licked the black pepper gravy on the knife and fork. Lisa sized him up impassively. No matter how she studied him, this guy did not look like a noble young master. Instead, he looked like... a refugee who had been starved for a long time.

“Your table manners are not elegant at all!”

Bad review!

Little Yichen grimaced somewhat as he retorted sarcastically, “A full man doesn’t understand a hungry man. Try starving yourself a few times!”

“In the past, you didn’t even know idioms and couldn’t work out basic arithmetic questions. It’s been a while since we last met, but you’ve improved!”

Little Yichen retorted indignantly, “Who says I can’t do math?! Set a question, and I’ll show you!”

Lisa mocked, “Do you think I’m as childish as you?”

“Hmph, I don’t suppose you know too many math questions, right?”

The boy regarded her scornfully. “Do you what you get when you multiply 10 by 102”

Lisa looked at him with even more disdain and asked, “What’s 15 multiplied by 78 and then divided by 20?”

Little Yichen was speechless for a moment. Then he looked stumped! This math question could not be solved by counting with his fingers! The problem was that even though his arithmetic skills had improved, he still needed to use the method that Youyou had taught him. He was far from being capable of mental arithmetic!

“Do you know the answer then?”

“58.5, idiot.”

Feeling aggrieved, Little Yichen fell onto the bed.

The girl took the tray away and said in disdain, “Say, how could you and Youyou be twins? Why is Youyou so smart while you’re so stupid?”

With that, she walked away nonchalantly.

Little Yichen clenched his fists in anger as he glared at her departing figure.

How infuriating!

He was actually being despised by the girl!

He was going to sleep!

Little Yichen lay on the bed with the blanket in his arms. He closed his eyes angrily, yet the image of Lisa’s disdainful gaze kept appearing in his mind...

“Idiot...”

“Idiot...”

“Idiot...”

That demonic voice echoed in his ears.

Little Yichen could not take it anymore. He sat up and threw the pillow on the floor. “More like you’re the idiot!”

At the Mu family residence.

After preparing dinner, Yun Shishi walked to the bedroom door and knocked lightly.

There was no response.

Yun Shishi pushed open the door and saw Youyou sitting on the bed, looking out of the window expressionlessly. She gently said, “It’s time for dinner.”

Youyou did not move. His back view seemed still for a long time, she couldn’t even hear the boy breathing.

He sat by the bed, motionless, it was as if he was frozen!

Chapter 3596: A New Addition (212)

Seeing that he did not respond, Yun Shishi walked into the room and slowly closed the door behind her. She quietly came to his side and squatted down in front of him. She saw that his eyes were as quiet as the waters of a still lake. He didn’t even look alive!

Yun Shishi’s heart ached terribly. She raised her hand to caress his face, but Youyou’s eyes narrowed as he slapped her hand away in disgust!

Slap!

The heavy slap displaced her hand to the side.

“Even if you don’t care about offering one-sided affection, you should know your limit.” Youyou swept a cold glance at her. Wherever his gaze fell, it was as if frost had struck. Yun Shishi could sense his pair of cold eyes on her face. Every inch of her skin seemed to have frozen over! Every time she looked at his cold expression, pain gnawed at her heart!

How did he...

How did he become like this?!

Yun Shishi bit her lips tightly as tears streamed down her face. Her heart was broken by his cruel words!

“What are you crying for!” Youyou said in frustration, “Crying is all you do. Even if you want to cry, don’t do that in front of me. It’s such an eyesore.” With that, he stood up and walked to the French window. His voice was emotionless as he said, “That’s enough acting already!”

Her heart throbbed with pain. “Youyou, I don’t know why you’ve become like this, but I’m your mommy!”

“Youyou... Youyou..”

Youyou closed his eyes and finally turned around impatiently. He said coldly, “Don’t call me by that damned name again!”

Damned...

Hearing this, Yun Shishi felt as if she had been dealt a heavy blow. It was undoubtedly heartbreaking.

Youyou, that was his name.

He had said that no matter what, he would never change his name or surname. His surname was Yun, and his name was Tianyou. He’d always be Youyou because this was the name his mommy gave him, and he cherished it very much.

However, the Youyou now was so heartlessly calling this a damned name...

Yun Shishi felt as if a knife was being plunged into her heart!

“Yiyaya..” Suddenly, there was a childish voice coming from outside the door.

Yun Shishi looked up and saw the door being pushed open. Mu Yazhe was standing at the door, holding the young and tender Yueyao in his arms. Gong Jie whispered, “Yueyao has been calling for her big brother...”

‘Mu Yazhe walked in with Yueyao in his arms. When Yueyao saw Yun Shishi, she immediately opened her arms and chirped for a hug.

Yun Shishi took Yueyao from Mu Yazhe’s arms and gently held her little hand. She kissed her forehead and said, “Yes, Big Brother is back, Big Brother is back..”

Yueyao turned her gaze to the figure beside the bed and suddenly froze.

‘Big... Brother..’ Her tender voice was filled with childishness, crisp and clear like a wind chime.

Youyou looked up and saw the little guy in Yun Shishi’s arms. Her skin was as fair as porcelain, and she had a pair of clear and bright eyes. Her long eyelashes curled upwards. Even though she was only two years old, her features were already starting to take shape, and they actually resembled his own.

He was stunned.

Yueyao suddenly reached out her small hand and raised a finger. Pointing at him, she looked up at Yun Shishi and opened her mouth. “Big... Brother...”

Tears welled up in Yun Shishi’s eyes as she immediately said, “Yes, it’s Big Brother, it’s Big Brother...”

She still remembered! She still remembered Youyou carrying her and patiently teaching her to call him 'big brother'!

Chapter 3597: A New Addition (213)

With Yun Shishi's affirmation, Yueyao was greatly encouraged. She was so excited that she made little sounds and struggled to get down. Yun Shishi lowered her onto the ground. Yueyao took a step forward and suddenly lost her balance. She fell to the ground with a solid thump. However, as if she could not feel any pain, she clumsily stuck out her butt and got up from the ground. With her arms wide open, she walked towards Youyou with unsteady steps.

She was wearing a pair of squeaking shoes that Mu Yazhe had bought for her. Every time she took a step, it would make a squeaking sound and emit light. Initially, Yueyao did not like to walk and kept pestering Yun Shishi to carry her. When Yun Shishi was done carrying her, she would get Little Yichen to carry her, followed by her father.

'Whenever she went out, she would want to be carried. Even when she was at an age where she could walk, she did not like to jump around and was extremely quiet. Hence, Mu Yazhe bought many pairs of shoes like this.

The little fellow found this new and exciting. With every step she took, the shoes would squeak, and so she became more diligent in walking. Even though she was still not a steady walker, it was smooth enough.

Little Yueyao walked up to Youyou. Feeling that she was about to trip, she reached out to cling to Youyou's leg with both hands and sat on the ground like a lazy koala bear. She lifted her head and smiled at him foolishly!

This smile seemed to light up the whole universe! When she smiled, her two front teeth were revealed and made her look like a rabbit, cute and playful!

Yueyao cried out, "Big Brother! Big Brother!" She was fluent and articulate. Youyou understood her at once.

He turned his face away awkwardly and did not look at her. Yueyao could not help feeling aggrieved when she noticed that Youyou was ignoring her. She tugged at his pants and tried to move her hands up his pants!

She looked like a koala!

Yun Shishi was just about to smile in relief when she saw Youyou taking a step back to dodge Yueyao.

Yueyao lost her balance and fell to the ground. She sat up and felt upset all of a sudden. Her entire face wrinkled as though she had suffered a great grievance!

“Big Brother...” She felt aggrieved, and two silver beads formed at the corner of her eyes. She pouted, but she held it in!

When Yun Shishi saw this, she immediately walked over and wanted to carry Yueyao, but the little girl pushed her away. Even though she was only two years old, she had inherited Mu Yazhe’s stubbornness and aloofness. She did not want Yun Shishi to carry her, so she stood up again and staggered toward Youyou!

Youyou widened his eyes in shock. She had once again come up to him and put her arms around his legs like a koala bear, her eyes full of affectionate attachment!

“Big Brother...” Yue Yao had tears in her eyes, but she stubbornly refused to cry or let go. She wanted him to carry her!

Youyou, however, remained unmoved. His eyes flashed as he turned away from her! After a long silence, he said deliberately, “I’m not your brother!”

Yueyao widened her eyes. She clearly did not understand what he was saying, However, seeing his determined expression, she could no longer suppress her aggrieved emotions and tears rolled down her cheeks!

“Wah...” Yue Yao clung on to his leg and started crying pitifully.

Yun Shishi hurried over and picked Yueyao up into her arms.. She was both angry and helpless as she said, “Youyou, she’s Yueyao, your sister! You used to like her a lot!”

Chapter 3598: A New Addition (214)

“You used to like her a lot. You’d carry her and teach her to say big brother’. Now that she has learned to address you, you’re ignoring her.”

Yueyao pouted pitifully and cried while saying, “Big Brother ignores me... Big Brother ignores m

Youyou turned around expressionlessly and said in an icy tone, ‘I’m not interested in playing family with you guys.

“So get lost.” Youyou coldly turned his head and sat back on the bed like an ice sculpture.

Yun Shishi picked up Yueyao and left with a sigh.

The door closed softly.

Youyou looked back at the door with indifference. However, there was a flash of absent-mindedness in the depths of his eyes. The image of the teary Yueyao appeared in his mind, and his thoughts became increasingly chaotic. He collapsed onto the bed, threw the covers over himself, and closed his eyes.

Outside the door, Mu Yazhe and Gong Jie looked at each other when they saw Yun Shishi’s dejected and gloomy expression.

Gong Jie said, "Shishi, don't worry. Youyou's words now are unintentional. He doesn't remember you or Yueyao. It's understandable that he treats you as an enemy."

Mu Yazhe agreed with Gong Jie and consoled her, "Well take it slowly."

"What if." Yun Shishi asked worriedly, "what if he doesn't remember for the rest of his life?"

"Don't be so pessimistic." Gong Jie said as he sensed a headache coming on, "I'm more worried about you than Youyou." He was worried that she would be disappointed, fall into despair and sadness, and never recover from this setback.

Yun Shishi shook her head and replied plainly, "I won't. I'll become stronger. Now is when Youyou needs me the most. Xiao Jie, don't worry!"

She smiled at him.

Gong Jie took Yueyao over from her. Seeing that the little fellow was still upset and teary, he kissed the corners of her eyes and coaxed, "Yueyao, don't cry. Uncle will carry you."

"Uncle..." Yueyao threw herself into his arms and wrapped her arms around his neck. Gong Jie was overjoyed. It was rare for Yueyao to be so affectionate towards him, taking the initiative to put her arms around his neck. He could not help kissing her repeatedly, and would not let go of this little squishy ball.

Mu Yazhe turned frosty and said, "Since you like babies, you should have one yourself."

Gong Jie scoffed. "No, I love Yueyao the most."

As he spoke, he subconsciously put his arms around her protectively, as though worried that Mu Yazhe would snatch the child away from him. Their clowning around put Yun Shishi in a slightly better mood. It was as if sunlight had shone into her heart.

It didn't matter. It didn't matter that the boy didn't remember her.

She would work hard to make him remember.

It was late at night.

Youyou lay on the bed. Even though he had not eaten for a day, he did not feel hungry. He carried Alice's medicine with him. To a certain extent, these medicines would give him a feeling of being full and could help supplement various functions.

He stared at the ceiling, his cold eyes emotionless.

Footsteps suddenly came from outside the door, followed by a long silence. Then, the doorknob turned as the door was pushed open.

In the darkness, he could hear the approaching footsteps.

Youyou furrowed his brows slightly and closed his eyes, but he did not close them completely. Through the slits, he saw a slender figure slowly walking towards his bed and then sitting down quietly by it.

"Youyou.."

A pale and unadorned hand slowly caressed his cheek and tucked his hair behind his ear.

Yun Shishi sized up his sleeping face and said with some heartache, “Why have you lost so much weight?”

Chapter 3599: A New Addition (215)

The boy remained silent and pretended to be asleep.

Yun Shishi looked at him quietly, wishing that she could make up for all the longing and missing that she had felt in the past year with that one glance. It felt like ten thousand years had passed, in that one glance.

She remembered how his little wrinkled face had flushed and swelled as a newborn. After returning to the nursery following emergency treatment, he looked so weak that she thought she was going to lose him. She had just given birth, but insisted on visiting him every hour, with help from Yun Yecheng.

Initially, he was weak, but later on, he slowly regained some vitality. He started to wave his tiny hands, held them in the air, and kicked around.

It was the first time she’d carried him out of the incubator to feed him. Premature at eight months, he was light as a feather.

She remembered the first time he opened his eyes. Those black eyes were like embedded agate, glistening with spirit! He opened his eyes and smiled at her, showing her his tender pink gums.

The first time he called her “Mommy” was when she was scooping rice vermicelli for him. The little guy was playing with a toy by himself when he suddenly spoke. “Mommy...”

She turned around in surprise and walked up to him. She wanted him to repeat what he said, but he was too preoccupied with the toy and would only smile at her foolishly. He did not speak again. However, Yun Shishi was unable to calm down! She had been waiting for this for too long! Every time she tried teaching him pronunciation, she would speak in an exaggerated manner, but it did nothing except amuse him.

Gradually, he grew up and became mischievous. However, he was still weak and often had to go to the hospital. Thus, throughout the year, the spacious ward was like his second home.

She remembered one time he fell from the hospital bed because he couldn’t sit still. She was so frightened that she rushed over and picked him up. He cried at the top of his lungs and howled in pain. He rarely cried. Even when he had to take an injection, he was so stubborn that he would not shed a single tear. This time, he cried non-stop, clinging to her tightly.

She had to coax him for a long time before he would stop crying, Then he quietly fell asleep with his hand tightly clutching her shirt.

It was not until he was five that his condition gradually stabilized. She liked to bring him to the park. Every time they came home in the afternoon, he would prepare a meal and wait for her like an angelic child, to eat together.

Initially, he did not know how to cook and his fried rice would turn out to be a ball of black gooey mess. It made Yun Shishi so angry that she reprimanded him and told him not to enter the kitchen without permission. It was not because he did not cook well, but because she was worried that he would accidentally cut himself or set the kitchen on fire.

However, Youyou seemed to have a talent for cooking and as time went by, his culinary skills improved. Whether it was Chinese, Western, Japanese or Italian cuisine, he excelled at them all. Yun Shihi was both touched and heartbroken.

“Even if that Youyou who would dote on Mommy, who knew how to do housework and cook... even if that very, very capable Youyou never comes back, it’s fine...” She took in a deep breath and smiled. “Even if that tsundere, sensible, sometimes sharp-tongued Youyou with a dark side doesn’t come back, it doesn’t matter...”

Chapter 3600: A New Addition (216)

Yun Shishi put her arms around his shoulders as her tears falling uncontrollably onto his face. “Whether you remember it or not, you will always be Mommy’s Youyou...”

“Mommy really misses you... I really miss you... I really miss you...”

“It’s Mommy’s fault. Mommy didn’t protect you well... No matter how cruel or heartless you are, Mommy won’t blame you...”

“But please don’t leave Mommy again.”

Her hot tears fell onto his cheeks and rolled down continuously.

Yun Shishi held his face and gently kissed his forehead. Her tears fell onto his eyelashes. They slid between his eyelids and seeped into his eyes.

Youyou’s vision was obscured by her tears. They seemed to flow into his heart through his eyes, causing his heart to inexplicably tighten and twitch. The pain was suffocating as it washed over him in waves!

‘Why was she crying?’

Stop crying.

Her tears were upsetting and confusing him!

Why are her tears making me lose control of my own emotions?!

‘When he heard her sobbing, he suddenly felt a sharp pain in his heart, as if it was being ripped apart!’

What was going on?

What exactly was going on?

Youyou suddenly felt a sharp pain in his head. His heart was in turmoil and he frowned. When he came back to his senses, he felt her posture stiffen. Only then did he realize that he had unconsciously wrapped his arms around her shoulders. It was as if he had lost control and was hugging her reflexively!

Youyou was so taken aback that he instantly pushed her away and sat up on the bed. Even though he tried to hide his embarrassment, it was too obvious!

“You...” She stared at him in disbelief!

Youyou’s breathing quickened as he stared at her warily. Leaning back in bed, he asked emotionlessly, “Are you done crying?”

Yun Shishi was stunned by this sudden change. She was not even prepared for it. When the boy hugged her, she actually thought that Youyou was back! However, it was only a brief moment of joy, with everything returning to square one the next moment!

Youyou said icily, “You don’t have to show such an expression!” He turned and looked out of the window, refusing to look at her pained expression.

“Youyou, do you know why I named you Youyou?” Yun Shishi said, “When you were born, you almost died because you were born so prematurely. Fortunately the heavens were kind to me... you’re the best gift, so I named you ‘Yun Tianyou’.”

“Ha, isn’t that meaningful.” Youyou coldly replied, “I’ll say it one last time. My name is Gong Fan, not Yun Tianyou.”

As he spoke, he felt a splitting pain in his head! He held his head, the veins on his temple throbbing from the pain.

Yun Shishi asked worriedly, “What’s wrong? Do you have a headache?”

She rushed out the door and found the first-aid kit. She rummaged through it until she found some painkillers. Then she carried the water into the room and handed it to him.

“Here’s some painkillers. Once you take it, your head won’t hurt anymore...”

“That’s enough!” Youyou was hit by a splitting pain in his head and was extremely agitated. His anger boiled as he abruptly swept her hand away. “Go away!”

With a crash, the glass holding the water fell to the ground and broke into pieces. The pills scattered all over the floor.
