

Sweet Love 3751

Chapter 3751: A New Addition (367)

Gu Jinglian bit on the glutinous rice ball and smiled wickedly. He slid his hands around the back of Chu He's neck again and kissed her. Bit by bit, he licked the remaining soup off her lips.

Of course, other than Butler Fu, the guests and other people who were crowding in the room to watch were tortured badly by this very public display of affection.

After finishing the two bowls of soup, Butler Fu urged Chu He to touch up her makeup while Gu Jinglian went to the door to greet the guests!

The man felt most reluctant to carry out this task as he felt rather awkward standing at the door! However, Butler Fu insisted on this, maintaining that it was tradition so he had to comply. Thus, Gu Jinglian and a few groomsmen positioned themselves at the entrance of the Gu family residence and braced themselves to welcome the guests.

Not too long afterwards, Chu He came over, coincidentally running into Meng Qingxue and Mu Yanchen.

Meng Qingxue exclaimed when she saw Chu He standing at the door in the dazzling red dragon and walked towards her. She reached out to hold Chu He's hand and sighed with emotion, "Chu He, you look exquisite today! You must be the most beautiful bride I've ever seen!"

Chu He smiled and said, "Thank you!"

She saw that Meng Qingxue brought only Mu Yanchen with her. The man was in a western suit. It was obvious that he had taken the pains to dress up meticulously, his hair was also handsomely styled. Mu Yanchen smiled at her and said, "Congratulations!"

However, he did not dare to look Gu Jinglian in the eye.

Nevertheless, the groom said amiably, "Welcome!"

Chu He asked curiously, "Where's the little one?"

"The little fellow caught a cold a while ago. Otherwise, we would have brought him!" Meng Qingxue added, "Chu He, congratulations! We wish you a blissful marriage that you'll hear the pitter-patter of tiny feet soon!"

"Yes, thank you!"

After Meng Qingxue gave their wishes, she took Mu Yanchen's arm and, ushered by Butler Fu, they stepped through the doorway. Mu Yanchen also handed Butler Fu the gift that he had prepared. Butler Fu laughed heartily and accepted the package.

Updates by

The gift was a large red packet. Given Butler Fu's experience, he knew just by feeling it, that it must contain at least 100,000 yuan, which was a very decent and presentable gift from Mu Yanchen!

Actually, Meng Qingxue and Chu He did not see each other a great deal. They communicated through phone calls and text messages. However, Chu He had taken care of Meng Qingxue previously, so Mu Yanchen was naturally grateful. Hence, it was only reasonable to present a decent cash gift, even if only for Qingxue's sake.

Gu Jinglian and Chu He now stood together at the door to greet the guests, and they did that for an hour.

Shortly afterwards, two Bentley cars pulled up at the entrance. Gu Jinglian took a glance and saw Mu Yazhe and Yun Shishi alighting from the vehicle. Yun Shishi could be seen carrying Yueyao as she emerged from the backseat. Then the chauffeur opened the other door and Youyou, Little Yichen, and Lisa filed out.

The whole family of six were here. Gu Jinglian's expression changed when he saw this. This Mu Yazhe was the most ostentatious among the guests and had mobilized his whole family. The groom's gaze fell on Lisa. Seeing that she was here, he guessed that she must have settled down in the Mu family.

However, in comparison to the amiable attitude of Meng Qingxue and Mu Yanchen, when Mu Yazhe led the family of six to stand in front of him, Gu Jinglian noted Youyou's arrogant expression and obvious disdain for him!

The groom's expression turned cold. This fellow, he had the audacity to bear such an annoying expression when he had yet to settle scores with him over the North Africa matter.

Youyou glanced at Gu Jinglian and made his point, "I really didn't want to come, but Daddy insisted so I had no choice! I hope that the banquet food doesn't taste too yucky."

Chapter 3752: A New Addition (368)

"..."

Youyou had a condescending look on his face, as though coming here to attend Gu Jinglian's wedding banquet was lowering his own status!

Everyone fell silent.

Gu Jinglian almost blurted out: Get lost.

Fortunately, Butler Fu was able to read subtle expressions and quickly stopped him, whispering, "Old Master, it's a joyous occasion. Don't get angry..."

Mu Yazhe suppressed his laughter. This son of his was too arrogant. He wouldn't even give Gu Jinglian some face. How tough was this kid.

While Yun Shishi was at a loss for words, Chu He burst out laughing!

Little Yichen tugged at Youyou's sleeve nervously and said, "Hey, Youyou, at the very least you should congratulate them!"

No matter what, Gu Jinglian saved his life and Lisa's as well. For that reason, Little Yichen had quite a good impression of the man! Youyou, however, did not like Gu Jinglian and looked at him with disdain.

Gu Jinglian was also not on good terms with the boy. The two of them were extremely hostile towards each other.

Yun Shishi quickly stepped forward and said to the newlyweds, "Jinglian, Chu He, congratulations! Congratulations on your marriage!"

Gu Jinglian snorted, but did not look too hostile. Clearly, Yun Shishi's timely intervention had somewhat quelled his anger.

Chu He couldn't help saying, "This little guy is too cute!"

There was such an uncanny resemblance between him and Gu Jinglian. How did they end up having such similar temperament? Arrogant, aloof, and with such disregard for others. One was a demon king and the other, a little demon king. No wonder they were at odds!

She felt helpless as well. She wouldn't have known about the conflict between Youyou and Gu Jinglian, or that during the time in North Africa, Youyou had caused Gu Jinglian to lose a piece of land. The boy, obviously, did not take the arrogant Gu Jinglian seriously. So of course the two of them did not get along.

Mu Yazhe went up to Gu Jinglian and said, "Congratulations. A little token of my appreciation, please accept it." He handed over a red packet. However, this red packet was rather long and big, but very flat.

Gu Jinglian immediately knew that the gift was substantial. Mu Yazhe could not possibly stuff a hundred yuan bill inside. It had to be a big check.

"Butler Fu!" Gu Jinglian called out.

Butler Fu immediately came over, took the red packet from Mu Yazhe, and bowed with a smile. "CEO Mu, Madam Mu, this way please!"

"Uh huh." Mu Yazhe nodded and put his arm around Yun Shishi as the six of them entered the Mu residence under Butler Fu's lead.

Seeing that there was no one else around, Chu He bent down and gently massaged her aching leg. She was wearing high heel shoes, but that was not the norm for her. On top of the shoes, she had been standing at the doorway for a long time. By now, her calf muscles were tense, and inevitably felt sore.

Noticing this, Madam Qin immediately asked, "Are you uncomfortable wearing high heels?"

Chu He nodded, "Yes, my feet are sore and my toes hurt too."

"Sure. Give me a minute. I'll get you a pair of flats." Auntie Fu asked, "Do you have a pair of red flats?"

"Yes, it's just a pair of cloth shoes, but they are red, so it should be fine. Chu He is pregnant, so she can't keep wearing heels. It's not good for her health."

"Yeah, that's true. Let's change those shoes quickly."

Madam Qin immediately brought the shoes over while Aunty Fu shielded the bride from view. Chu He removed her high heels and changed into the pair of flats. After this, she felt much better.

Chapter 3753: A New Addition (369)

It was a traditional Chinese wedding. Thus, there was a ceremony to worship the heavens and earth. After all the guests had arrived, Gu Jinglian and Chu He paid their respects in accordance with tradition.

It was the first time Chu He had come into contact with such a traditional wedding and she found it very novel. However, this wedding held more special meaning for Gu Jinglian. He had never thought that he would end up marrying and having children, much less that his wife would be Chu He.

Once upon a time, she was an Interpol officer, while he was a name on the Interpol's blacklist. They were two people that should never have crossed paths but now their lives were entwined.

On this day, Gu Jinglian appeared to be very happy. Along with Butler Fu, he did not reject any of the guests' toasts and drank some wine. When everyone was cheering for him to kiss the bride, he did not put on a sullen expression. Instead, he gamely put his hands around Chu He's waist and gently kissed her ruby red lips.

But that was the furthest he would go!

Chu He also felt that given Gu Jinglian's style, he was not the sort who would display his affections publicly. But although the man appeared abstinent, he was a very different person during intimate moments in the privacy of the bedroom. But this was not something he treated casually or would display in plain sight of so many people!

Someone hooted, egging him on to go to the bridal chamber.

Gu Jinglian immediately put on a straight face. Although he did not say anything, his attitude was obvious, it was a challenge, daring the person to mess around in the nuptial chamber. Of course, these people were only saying that. Who would really dare to mess around in Gu Jinglian's wedding chamber!

After the banquet ended, the guests gradually left.

At night, after Gu Jinglian had settled all matters, he returned to the room. Chu He, in her bright red wedding dress, was sitting on the bed with a pair of dolls in her arms. This was a pair of handmade dolls specially ordered by Butler Fu to place on the bed. One was a girl doll and the other was a boy doll, and they symbolized a marriage complete and blessed with sons and daughters!

The girl doll was named Bai Nian, which means "a hundred years", while the boy doll was named Hao He, which means "harmonious". Put together, the phrase means a lifetime of harmony! Coupled with the fact that Chu He was pregnant with a pair of twins, this pair of dolls was especially suitable! Chu He liked them so much she couldn't put them down.

Meng Qingxue was also there, holding Baby Chu in her arms and chatting with Chu He. When she saw Gu Jinglian, she stood up with a smile and said, "Ah, the groom is here! I should be leaving now. I won't interrupt your wedding night!"

Baby Chu was initially reluctant to leave, until Meng Qingxue whispered something into his ear. When Baby Chu heard it, he instantly grinned and left with her. The two of them exited the room, and Meng Qingxue did not forget to shut the door behind her.

Gu Jinglian turned around and looked at Chu He.

While Chu He was at ease and unrestrained in the presence of guests, but now that she was in the room alone with Gu Jinglian, she actually felt awkward and uneasy.

“Have all the guests... left?”

Gu Jinglian nodded and walked over to sit beside her.

He was wearing a suit, but because it was a Chinese wedding, there was no lack of Chinese elements on the suit. The collar and sleeves had golden embroidery and buttons with dragon and phoenix motifs.

Under the light, the entire room was a scarlet hue. Red curtains, red bed curtains, red window paper cuttings, red bedsheets and blankets...

Chapter 3754: A New Addition (370)

Red curtains, red bed curtains, red window paper cuttings, red bedsheets and blankets... Even everything Chu He was wearing was bright red and had an ancient charm to them.

Chu He clasped her hands together nervously, for a moment not knowing what to say! Gu Jinglian tugged at his tie slightly. He felt warm, perhaps because of the alcohol he had consumed.

It was their wedding night.

There is an ancient saying that a moment of springtime is worth its weight in gold.

However, for this couple, Gu Jinglian would probably and necessarily suffer a little! She was now pregnant with a pair of twins. As she was still in the early stages of pregnancy, it was best to avoid intimacy!

Butler Fu had reminded Gu Jinglian over and over again that they should not get intimate on their wedding night, to avoid affecting the fetus.

When it came to things relating to the children, Gu Jinglian was naturally very cautious. Hence, even though ideas came to him given the present environment, he could only relegate them to the back burner because of her pregnancy!

Chu He noticed that he was breathing heavily, but she didn't know that it was because of the alcohol. She thought that he was suppressing himself, so she blushed and said, “Aunty Fu says that intimacy should be avoided during pregnancy. I'm afraid we can't do that today!” Her remark was subtle..

When Gu Jinglian heard this, he turned to look at her intently. Even though the man knew what she meant, he feigned ignorance. “Do what?”

“Huh?” She played dumb.

“When you say ‘that’, what are you talking about?”

“I...” Chu He was annoyed. “Why are you asking when you know what I mean?”

“I don’t.” Gu Jinglian’s ability to act dumb was no worse than hers. “How would I know if you don’t tell me?”

At this point, his gaze fell on her face. The look in his eyes was so unfathomable and ambiguous that it overwhelmed her!

Chu He was conscious of how her face seemed to be heating up under his gaze!

“Gu Jinglian! Stop asking the obvious.”

The man completely brushed it off, however, and insisted, “I really don’t know!”

“Hmph!” Chu He snorted and turned her face away awkwardly. “It means that we can’t have sex!”

Gu Jinglian responded with an “Oh”, but his voice trailed off.

He suddenly moved closer and pinched her chin, forcing her to face him.

“You sound regretful.”

“...” Chu He turned a deep red! “What do you mean I sound regretful?”

Gu Jinglian smiled. There was an evil charm to that subtle upturn of the corners of his mouth. He was obviously teasing her. “The meaning is literal. You know what I’m talking about.”

Chu He smiled. “I wonder who feels more regretful? Left high and dry not being able to consummate the wedding night... you must be the one suffering.”

“Who says I’m left high and dry?” Gu Jinglian suddenly leaned forward, pinning her under his weight. However, being especially mindful of propriety, he did not put all his weight on her.

Unable to withstand the sudden weight, she found herself immobilized beneath him. She looked up to meet his deep gaze. As if it had magical powers, it was like a bottomless abyss that seemed to draw her soul in!

Chu He was pinned down and could not move. She wriggled around uncomfortably.

Gu Jinglian frowned. “Don’t move.”

Chapter 3755: A New Addition (371)

“You...”

Gu Jinglian immediately interrupted, “Shh, don’t speak.”

Chu He didn’t quite understand what he wanted. Even though she was being pinned down by Gu Jinglian, he was supporting part of his own weight on his arms so that he didn’t rest his entire weight on her. The man sized her up, inch by inch, with a rare gentle gaze.

Scenes flashed through her mind, like a revolving lantern.

The first time they met, she stood before him, respectful though aloof, and cold like a machine. At that time, Gu Jinglian could already tell that this woman was no ordinary person. Later on, he realized that she was an undercover agent sent by the Interpol to lurk around him, to gather evidence and track him. However he did not expose her in a hurry. He gave her a chance. If she had given up her identity as a spy, he would not have killed her.

Logically speaking, given his personality, he would definitely have killed such a woman for betraying and deceiving him. However, for some compassionate reason, he did not. Except, Chu He also did not abandon her duty as an Interpol officer.

Thus, he made his move.

At that time, he was cold and decisive and didn't leave any room for retreat. Unexpectedly, she didn't die and on top of that, was found to be pregnant.

It was his child.

Their reunion five years later was unexpected but not surprising..

He was taken aback that their child was already five years old. The child's name was Baby Chu. When Gu Jinglian heard this name, he had no idea how to react. This name sounded a little old-fashioned although he eventually got used to it!

Later on, Chu He went to North Africa in the attempt to locate him. She came to him alone, amidst the crossfires of a war that had broken out.

Gu Jinglian was not expecting her. When he saw her, he was puzzled.

He thought that if he had died in North Africa, Chu He would feel relieved and leave the Gu family home with Baby Chu. Unexpectedly, she had come to North Africa to look for him.

The two of them fought for their lives as they made their way through North Africa.

At that time, on-board the vessel returning to the capital city, Gu Jinglian had already set his mind on her. He had decided that this would be his woman.

Gu Jinglian sized her up.

Chu He asked him uneasily, "What's wrong? Why are you staring at me like this?"

However, in the next second, Gu Jinglian's thin lips gently covered hers and kissed her tenderly. He gently pried her soft lips apart and slid his tongue in. For the first time in his life, he took the initiative and kissed her so tenderly.

Initially, Chu He was frozen by the sudden kiss and did not dare to move. But gradually, she warmed to it and responded to him.

When they kissed, the chemistry between them was unparalleled. Sensing her response, Gu Jinglian deepened his kiss. He took her hands and slid them around himself. Chu He smiled and closed her eyes, taking his lead and deepening her kiss as well.

Gu Jinglian turned around and positioned her onto himself, placing his hands against the back of her neck.

Chu He's black hair fell down and covered his eyes.

The room was beautifully lit.

On the bed, the couple embraced each other tightly as they kissed, as though merging as one...

Chapter 3756: A New Addition (372)

After the wedding, there was hardly a chance to get intimate. Moreover, with Gu Jinglian's personality, the woman probably could not get intimate even if she wanted to. Chu He entered a difficult period of pregnancy.

In the early stages of pregnancy, Chu He started to develop pregnancy reactions. Actually, she was in rather good physical condition, so her pregnancy reaction wasn't too serious. Aside from morning sickness, she couldn't bear to look at greasy food. The most peculiar thing was that, like many pregnant women, she developed a special fondness for sweet and sour things.

Butler Fu bought some sour and candied plums and placed them on the bedside table. Whenever Chu He was hungry, she would just nibble at one or two of these, as she had no idea if it was safe to eat too many.

She heard that too much sweet food during pregnancy could easily result in diabetes. Hence, she did not dare to eat too many sweet foods. When hungry, she would eat a little to satisfy her cravings and no more. On the contrary, Baby Chu and Linxi would sneak into her room to look for snacks.

They did not know why Butler Fu had prepared all these candied and sour plums. They only thought that Chu He was hiding these snacks from them, so they would steal a jar every now and then.

When Butler Fu found this out, he had a good idea who the culprit was. However, he only smiled and brushed it off. He feigned ignorance and replenished items.

When Chu He's pregnancy reactions were at their worst, she didn't eat much for two whole days.

It was not that she did not want to eat. Chu He was a person with an amazing ability to endure. Even though the food didn't appeal to her, she ate it nevertheless. However, before the food could be digested, she threw up everything.

Sometimes she even threw up bile.

After a week of this, she lost a significant amount of weight.

Pregnancy is tough!? This was Gu Jinglian's only exclamation!

In addition, she was pregnant with twins, so her belly was obviously larger than average.

Most women would only be visibly pregnant at four months pregnant. Chu He was only three months pregnant and she was already big.

However, even though she was pregnant, Chu He still insisted on exercising. In the mornings, after washing up, she would insist on taking a walk in the garden. After eating, she would move about as much as possible.

Updates by

Gu Jinglian never had the habit of taking walks in the evenings after he came home from work. But ever since Chu He got pregnant, he developed endless patience, and would hold her hand as they took their evening walks.

Gradually, the scale of these strolls got larger. Butler Fu would come along. Then, worried that Chu He would feel uncomfortable and throw up during the walk, Madam Qin started following behind eagerly too.

Baby Chu and Linxi started to worry as well. Hence, after dinner every evening, this entire troop would go for a stroll in the back garden.

Although Chu He's pregnancy period wasn't too heavy going, it went on for some time, naturally. During that period of time, she couldn't eat much no matter what. Butler Fu and Madam Qin went through a lot of trouble managing her diet. They did what they could and even hired a nutritionist to customize her meals.

In the end, none of the food suited Chu He. Other than porridge, she would throw up anything that had any hint of oil in it. Eventually, it was just easier not to eat. Otherwise, she wouldn't be able to take it, throwing up like this every day.

Thus, Butler Fu prepared fruit and vegetable salads. The vegetables were only washed with filtered water and sprinkled with a little condiments, accompanied by cucumbers and apples.

Chapter 3757: A New Addition (373)

At the very least, Chu He didn't react badly to these foods.

However, what surprised Madam Qin the most was that even though she was pregnant, Chu He maintained her emotions well.

It is said that during pregnancy, especially during the mid-term, pregnant women would often lose control of their emotions and become very irritable. Sometimes, they may lose their temper for no reason.

However, Chu He wasn't like that. Her emotions were so extremely stable that it made one's hair stand on end. She was calm and composed, no different from usual. On the other hand, Gu Jinglian's temper seemed to have changed significantly.

In Chu He's presence, he would not show any negative emotions no matter how foul a mood he was in. However, towards others, his temper was worse than before. In particular, every time Chu He threw up whatever she had just eaten, he would go to Madam Qin to throw a tantrum, blaming her for not having done a good job preparing the food. As a result, Gu Jinglian was especially irritable when he saw Chu He suffer.

He was never good at expressing himself in front of Chu He, but his heart ached for her. Everyone could tell!

One time, Chu He found out about it and felt especially bad. Whether she vomited or not had nothing to do with the food that Madam Qin prepared.

The repulsion she felt was instinctive, she would react to the slightest trace of grease. Perhaps she would feel much better after this period of time.

Chu He guiltily went to see Madam Qin and apologized to her, but Madam Qin laughed!

"I was wondering what serious matter brought you here! Sigh, it's all fine. Old Master's temper has already greatly improved! In the past, he had a foul temper all the time."

"Did he get angry often?"

"Losing his temper often is not necessarily bad. At least, he'd feel better venting his anger than keeping things to himself."

Madam Qin mentioned some of Gu Jinglian's past.

In the past, Gu Jinglian had a ruthless way of dealing with matters. For example, if a servant accidentally broke a vase, the man would definitely drive her out of the Gu family residence without another thought. Now, he might look displeased, but at most, he would give a verbal warning. He was no longer so ruthless that he'd not give any leeway.

"Moreover, the fact that Old Master reprimanded me like that could only mean that he dotes on you. Think about it, he blames me because you throw up after eating my cooking. His heart aches for you, so naturally, he can only vent his anger on me. I'm already old, and he's still young. How can I be calculative with him?"

As Madam Qin spoke, she laughed.

Chu He looked helpless. "You have spoiled him since he was young. If I had been around, I wouldn't have let him develop such a bad temper."

"Old Master doesn't have a bad heart. Rumors have it that he's very bad, and he has a terrible reputation! However, as long as you interact with him sincerely, Old Master's heart is actually very gentle." Madam Qin sighed again. "You say that we doted on him and spoiled him, but we also feel sorry for him. Old Master has always been lonely and self-reliant... since he was young. He is not close to anyone. We watched him grow up. But think about it, no one is perfect. In this world, how can there be a perfect person? Other than being a little arrogant and having a bad temper, Old Master has few other faults!"

That was not untrue!

No one's perfect! There is no perfect person in this world. Gu Jinglian was not a god, he was only human. A mortal. Even a god is not perfect, let alone a human.

However, up to this point, everyone could see the changes that Gu Jinglian had made.

Thank you readers

Chapter 3758: A New Addition (374)

“Moreover, Old Master's temper is much more restrained now. Look, no matter what troubles he has in his business, he rarely brings these emotions home! Since you've been pregnant, he has never been angry at you once, and for that matter, angry at anyone else in your presence! People change for the sake of their loved ones. Although you may not realize it, as outsiders, we can see it very clearly! Although the change in Old Master is subtle, we can sense it nevertheless!”

Chu He nodded.

She too had noticed that Gu Jinglian's temper is significantly milder now.

He was not good at taking care of others, and during the time of her pregnancy, he might not have done a very good job. However, he did his best within his capabilities, such as accompanying her for walks after dinner, giving her back rubs when her back was painful from supporting her large belly, even though he was exhausted and could hardly keep his eyes open.

Sometimes, when she was hungry in the middle of the night, the man would even drive to a 24-hour convenience store to buy her some freshly cut fruits, biscuits and bread. She would usually have fallen asleep by the time he returned. He would place the food by the bed, so that if she woke up from her hunger again, he could just reach out and get it.

These things did not go unnoticed by Chu He. The changes that the man made for her was something no one could have imagined.

The short yet seemingly never-ending early stage of pregnancy seemed to have silently come to an end one morning.

That particular day, Chu He woke up to an overwhelming feeling of hunger! She shook Gu Jinglian awake and said that she wanted to eat chicken drumsticks. Other than drumsticks, she also wanted rice and pork ribs soup. She felt hungry enough to swallow a cow.

For some reason, the hunger was so intense that the moment she woke up, her appetite was on fire and she felt like eating everything.

Gu Jinglian was a little cautious. Ever since she developed pregnancy reactions, she had been advised not to eat greasy foods. And although her sudden request now for drumsticks and pork ribs soup worried him somewhat, he nevertheless got out of bed and asked Butler Fu to take care of it.

Butler Fu was also a good cook and did not wake Madam Qin to do this. He personally cooked a pot of pork ribs and radish soup, braised chicken drumsticks, and some rice.

The few of them sat around the dining table in trepidation, holding their breath until Chu He finished a bowl of rice, two drumsticks, and a few ribs. She looked up, her mouth greasy. Famished, she couldn't care less about her appearance. She was only focused on eating, and now she had rice grains stuck to the corners of her mouth.

Gu Jinglian's heart ached when he saw her gobbling down her food. Obviously she was starved. Perhaps it was hard for others to understand this kind of hunger. She was so hungry that her whole body was trembling, as if she was going to faint the next second!

After breakfast, Chu He went back to the room to lie down. Gu Jinglian did not dare to fall asleep, however, as he was worried that she would throw up everything she had eaten. Everyone was on high alert, but unexpectedly, Chu He slept through the rest of the morning and didn't wake up until noon.

Around noon, Madam Qin made another pot of braised pork. Chu He got out of bed and sat down to eat again. But because she was no longer that hungry, she ate unhurriedly. For the entire afternoon, Chu He didn't show any signs of vomiting.

Everyone was extremely nervous nevertheless, worried that she would suddenly throw up.

Thank you readers

Chapter 3759: A New Addition (375)

Eventually, although everyone was on guard for the entire afternoon, Chu He did not vomit. Uncle Fu was overjoyed! Probably this early stage of pregnancy had come to an end!

From here on, there was no need to be overly cautious although they still could not completely relax. When Gu Jinglian came home from work at night and everyone sat around the dining table, the man picked up some red braised pork for her and urged her to eat a few pieces of meat. After she ate it, there was no sign of nausea.

Madam Qin exclaimed happily, "Chu He, you don't feel unwell?"

"Uh huh, I don't!" Chu He grinned and said, "There won't be any vomiting from now on!"

"Waaaaa!" Madam Qin immediately beamed with joy. She and Butler Fu looked at each other, both extremely gratified!

"It's good that there's no more nausea. You can finally start nourishing your body!" Butler Fu said with heartache, "You haven't been able to eat much during this period and that has made everyone in the household nervous. Even Old Master hasn't slept well for a few days, being constantly worried that you'll feel unwell."

Gu Jinglian cleared his throat and shot him a warning look, annoyed at the man for speaking out of turn.

Butler Fu smiled. "Old Master is shy. He dotes on his wife and doesn't want it to be spoken aloud!"

"Butler Fu!" Gu Jinglian issued another warning, this time making Butler Fu so nervous that he fell silent.

Chu He covered her mouth and chuckled.

“Alright, stop scaring Butler Fu already!” Having said that, she turned to Butler Fu. “Butler Fu, I’ve made you and Madam Qin worried these days! I’m not sure what happened overnight. When I woke up, I was craving some oil and meat. Almost dying for it! After eating the drumsticks and ribs, I didn’t feel sick or nauseous. It’s really amazing.”

“The same happened to me when I was pregnant. This pregnancy reaction came and went suddenly! This simply means that your pregnancy reaction is gone.”

Chu He nodded, feeling as if a heavy burden had been lifted off her shoulders.

Pregnancy reactions were too torturous. She had no idea how she had managed to get through it alive. It was too tough. She felt tormented, and so did everyone else around her! Fortunately, that was now history.

After the pregnancy reaction period had passed, Madam Qin and Butler Fu busied themselves with keeping the mother-to-be nourished.

Previously, she had thrown up almost everything she ate. She had lost a lot of weight, and lacked nutrition. Therefore, Madam Qin made old hen soup and nourished Chu He with chicken soup for three days in a row, hoping to replenish all the nutrition that she had lost previously.

Chu He didn’t like to drink soup, so Butler Fu had to coax her. “The nutrients of this old hen are all in the soup. Eating chicken meat isn’t as good as drinking this soup. Moreover, you have to stop thinking that you’re drinking this for yourself. Think about it, you’re pregnant with two little ones! If you don’t nourish yourself, you’d be treating the little ones unfairly!”

Chu He understood at once what Butler Fu meant.

She proceeded to drink the soup even though she didn’t like it.

There wasn’t a lot of ingredients in the chicken soup. Although the original flavor was light and delicate, it was naturally delicious. In addition to chicken soup and pork ribs soup, Butler Fu also focused on nutritional balance, fruits, vegetables, and meat dishes.

Adhering to the nutritionist’s formula, Chu He gained some weight after half a month. Everyone was overjoyed. This meant that the nutritional meals were working!

Within half a month, Chu He had more or less regained her weight.

She was worried, however. “Butler Fu, if you keep pampering me like this, I’ll end up like a pig.”

Thank you readers

Chapter 3760: A New Addition (376)

Butler Fu was tickled to hear this.

“Why? Are you worried that if you should turn into a pig, Old Master will despise you?”

Chu He laughed, “if I were to turn into a pig, I would even despise myself.”

“No way, why would Old Master despise you!”

Chu He snorted, “I have no wish to be so fat. Don’t give me so much food in the future!”

However, despite saying that, she ate and slept anyway. Chu He felt that she was almost no different from a pig, given that all she did was eat and sleep repeatedly, not having to worry about anything else.

Gradually, she progressed into her fifth month of pregnancy. Chu He’s belly increased in size. Normally, at five months, the belly wouldn’t be huge. However, Chu He’s belly was round and full. She did not think much of this when she was at home. However, when Gu Jinglian accompanied her to a prenatal checkup, the contrast became obvious against other women who were five months pregnant!

For a moment, Chu He even wondered if her huge belly was caused by too much eating, or if there were other reasons. But as the doctor had said, other pregnant women were carrying only one baby, but she had two. Naturally, her belly would be bigger than the average.

However...

This was really way too big!

As Chu He was over five months pregnant, Madam Qin was worried that mother-to-be’s hair was too long and it was draining too much nutrition from her body. Therefore, she suggested to Gu Jinglian to take Chu He for a haircut.

Gu Jinglian was unwilling, however! He could not understand how hair could drain nutrients.

Madam Qin explained to him that hair growth was a big drain on nutrients, especially the ends of Chu He’s hair, they were starting to split, which meant that her nutrition status was not keeping up. Seeing that Gu Jinglian was unwilling, Madam Qin guided him patiently and persuaded him repeatedly, reassuring him that even if she cut her hair, it would grow out again.

With that said, Gu Jinglian grudgingly relented!

However, Gu Jinglian could not bear for her to lop off too much of her tresses. When the scissors were level with her ears, Gu Jinglian could not take it anymore. He stood by, glaring at the pair of scissors in the hairdresser’s hand. His burning gaze made the hairdresser feel as if the scissors in his hands were melting!

They turned scorching hot!

Hence even though Butler Fu was standing at the side and trying his best to convince the hairdresser to cut it shorter, the latter could only laugh bitterly but would not cut it any further!

It was only then that Butler Fu noticed with amusement Gu Jinglian’s icy gaze and understood what was going on!

He silently chided the Old Master for being childish!

After the haircut, Chu He stood up and looked at herself in the mirror. She used to have short hair, but had stopped cutting it since she got together with Gu Jinglian. Now that she was sporting a short style again, she was not used to it.

“What do you think?” Chu He turned to look at Gu Jinglian and mumbled, “I’m not used to having short hair!”

Gu Jinglian snorted angrily, feeling even more uncomfortable than her!

Noting his sullen expression, Chu He suddenly reached out and patted his head. “Alright, don’t be angry. Once the goods are unloaded, I’ll let my hair grow out again!”

“Once the goods are unloaded?” Gu Jinglian did not understand what this meant.

Chu He and Butler Fu exchanged looks and laughed. In the world of mothers-to-be, the term “unloading goods” means delivering the babies.

During the prenatal checkup, she had chatted with another pregnant woman, who subsequently invited her into a WeChat group.
