

Sweet Love 3801

Chapter 3801: A New Addition (417)

Gu Jinglian saw that her eyelids were so heavy she could hardly keep them open, yet she struggled to stay awake. "If you're tired, go to sleep. I'll accompany you."

Chu He was happy when she heard that. "You're not going anywhere?"

"Of course."

Chu He refused to sleep, fearing that it would be dark and he wouldn't be there when she opened her eyes again. She would be alone and it would feel awful. Gu Jinglian knew she felt uneasy, so he took the initiative to tell her that he would be staying put.

He hadn't expected her to feel insecure. However, he could not be bothered to tease her now, he only felt heartache for her.

Chu He closed her eyes in relief with that reassurance.

She was in too much agony. On top of that, the drug was slowly wearing off, and the pain was taking its toll.

When Gu Jinglian heard that the C-section cut had to be closed with six layers of sutures, his heart ached even more. He had every intention to be by her side throughout the recuperation process.

In the evening, Butler Fu arrived with Baby Chu and Linxi. Chu He woke up at this point and the wound started to hurt. After all, it was six layers of suture. However, Chu He bore with the pain and said nothing about it.

Even Butler Fu was surprised. "You don't feel any pain?"

"It doesn't hurt much. It's nothing like removing a bullet without anesthesia." Chu He said casually. The fact was that it hurt a lot. It was just that pain was something that grew worse with the attention one gave it.

Focusing on being relaxed was actually the best way to deal with pain. At least it was a distraction.

Baby Chu and Linxi saw that Lotus Chu was lying on the bed and asked after her anxiously.

"Mommy, are you sure it doesn't hurt?"

"It won't hurt if you sing a song for Mummy."

Linxi became nervous when he heard that and said immediately, "Don't. Baby Chu sings badly!"

Linxi had very quickly exposed Baby Chu as the latter was just about to start singing. The boy said with an unhappy expression. "What do you mean I sing badly?! I haven't even shown you what I'm capable of!"

"Well, don't start. You can't even keep in tune for a nursery rhyme. You have no talent for singing."

Baby Chu was stumped.

Chu He looked at Baby Chu's aggrieved expression and almost burst out laughing, but stopped herself as she was afraid that it would affect her wound. She held back her laughter and said, "Baby Chu, why don't you talk to Mommy instead of sing!"

"Mommy, you believe what Linxi said too?" Baby Chu defended himself aggrievedly. "My singing isn't bad!"

"Fine then!"

Chu He suddenly turned to Gu Jinglian and asked curiously, "Have you seen the two little ones?"

"They've been sent to the nursery. I haven't been to see them yet."

'You must be dying to see them!' Chu He urged the man, "Go and see the two little ones! Baby Chu and Linxi are here accompanying me."

Gu Jinglian nodded. In fact, he had wanted to see the twins for a long time, but he'd been too nervous about leaving Chu He alone before Butler Fu arrived. Now that Butler Fu was here, he was relieved.

Gu Jinglian walked towards the nursery. There was only one incubator in the huge room, and the other little one was lying in it too. The man pushed open the door and walked in. In the incubator, the two little ones were lying facing in one direction, their little hands held tightly together.

Such a heartwarming scene actually touched Gu Jinglian's heart.

He did not expect to see such love between the babies.

Chapter 3802: A New Addition (418)

The two little ones didn't have much strength in their small hands, but they held each other tightly. Their eyes were closed, and their tiny chests gently rose and fell. They were quiet, but warm, as if nothing could separate them.

Gu Jinglian pushed the door open and walked in. He walked over to the incubator. Inside, the two little ones lay quietly with their eyes closed. It was hard to imagine that only a day ago, they had been quietly curled up in Chu He's womb. Now, he was seeing them face to face.

Gu Jinglian looked at them, his expression tender, and the love in his eyes endless and unfathomable. He was deeply contemplative about how he could present the beauty of the world to them. He stood in the nursery for a long time, reluctant to leave. He also had a new understanding of the definition of a father.

In the past, when Baby Chu appeared in his life, the child seemed to have appeared out of thin air. He had not even experienced the process of waiting and companionship. It was as if that child descended from the heavens. Therefore, he had never thought too deeply about the concept of a father.

However, with these two children, things were different. He had been by Chu He's side from the beginning of her pregnancy, he was even able to recall every detail throughout it. From anticipation, to the soul-stirring wait, to the two little guys "coming out of nowhere", one could say that he had experienced the sweetness and bitterness of it all. But more than that, there was much joy.

He finally understood what a father was, and he had a deeper understanding of the concept of paternal love. He stood there for a long, long time before reluctantly leaving.

Fortunately, the two little guys played their part and soon the whole family was reunited.

Two days later, the nurse carried the two little fellows into the room. She said that their vital signs had stabilized, so she brought them over to reunite with their mother.

The ward was a luxurious ward, so there was a special nursery. The hospital even provided milk powder and milk bottles, as well as all kinds of products needed for the babies. This saved Butler Fu the trouble of making last-minute purchases. After all, the birth had been so sudden that no one had been prepared for it. Gu Jinglian was even prepared to lose them at one point.

Unexpectedly, mother and babies were all safe. This was a surprise bonus! A blessing in disguise!

When Chu He saw the baby coming, she immediately struggled to sit up to carry them. However, Gu Jinglian was worried about the wound from her C-section and could not bear to let her carry them. Hence, he and Butler Fu each carried a baby and sat by the bed, so that she could “examine” them.

Chu He was greatly amused to see Gu Jinglian’s cautious manner. “That’s such an exaggeration. The stitches will be able to come off in a bit.”

“Still, we can’t be careless.” Butler Fu smiled. “It’s rare that Old Master is so attentive. To think that he remembers that you have a wound on your belly. Even I had almost forgotten.”

Chu He smiled. “Haha. So I should be so grateful?”

She did not care to say more, but hurriedly turned to check on the two babies. Their vernix had come off and their faces had regained a healthy complexion. They were fair and tender, a trait they had inherited from Gu Jinglian.

Gu Jinglian’s skin was very fair, more so than hers. Even Chu He was jealous for a moment, that the man had such delicate complexion!

However, it was fortunate that he had such good skin so that the little ones could inherit it.

Chapter 3803: A New Addition (419)

The more Chu He looked at them, the more they grew on her.

Butler Fu egged her on, “Guess which one’s the boy and which one’s the girl??”

Chu He chided, “How can I tell?”

“Take a guess! It’s fine if you’re wrong!!”

Only then did Chu He seriously examine the twins. The one in Gu Jinglian’s arms had big eyes and a high, pointed nose, just like him! Chu He was a little surprised. Most newborns had flat nose bridges.

However, this child’s was different. She could already see the outline of the nose, and the child’s thin lips resembled her own.

Her eyes were beautiful. They were slightly open. Even though her long eyelashes were drawn down, one could vaguely see that her glistening eyes were bright and compelling.

Like his.

When she noticed how Gu Jinglian held the child like it was a precious treasure that he couldn't let go of, she concluded, "This must be the girl!"

They were a pair of dragon and phoenix twins, the older brother was born first. The younger sister was ten minutes late.

Gu Jinglian was surprised. "How can you tell?"

The two babies did not look very similar because they were fraternal twins, their faces were quite different.

Chu He said, "I can tell by how lovingly you're holding her, so I guessed this must be the girl."

Everyone knew that Gu Jinglian doted on the little princess more. So, indeed, Chu He had guessed correctly. The man smiled and tightened his grip on the baby girl.

Chu He said, "Look at how much she resembles you. So yes, I can see that without you telling me!"

Chu He turned back to the baby boy, who was sleeping comfortably in Butler Fu's arms. He was sucking on a pacifier, and there was a trace of drool on his lips. He was sleeping so peacefully.

The baby boy's profile was quite like hers!

Chu He had a sort of handsomeness that was not typical of a woman. She had beautiful almond-shaped, deep-set eyes. Although the bridge of the baby boy's nose was not as obvious as his sister's, one could imagine that when he grew up, he would have a high nose bridge like her. In addition, his jawline was like Gu Jinglian's, arrogant and angular.

These two kids were really something. They had inherited the best parts of their parents' looks!

Holding the baby, Butler Fu suddenly said, "You haven't decided on the baby's name, have you?"

"Uh huh."

"Then, what about pet names?"

Chu He said proudly, "I've decided on their pet names! See, I've been thinking about these."

Gu Jinglian glanced at her. "When did you decide on these? Doing that behind my back!"

"Do I need to do that behind your back?!" Chu He snapped, "You spend all your time reading. Whenever I asked you to think of a name, you'd say wait for the babies to be born."

However, Gu Jinglian said, "In the Gu family, there's an order to names. Gu family's children have to be named according to the character chart."

When it came to Gu Jinglian's generation, the character in his name was taken from a particular poem. Only the direct descendants could use the character "Jing".

As for Gu Xingze, he was the child of a concubine after all, so although from the same generation, he could not use the character “Jing.” When it came to Baby Chu’s generation, they used the character “Cheng”. This was from a pre-determined set of four characters allocated for that generation. Each generation may choose one of the four characters in no particular order.

However, for the twins now, they had to come up with a new poem.

Chapter 3804: A New Addition (420)

Chu He suggested, “How about the pet name ‘Qianqian’ for the girl?”

Butler Fu was pleasantly surprised. “That sounds nice!”

Chu He was pleased with herself. She glanced at Gu Jinglian. Since he treasured his daughter so much, he would probably be very fussy about her pet name. However, noting that the man appeared agreeable, she ventured to add, “Let’s give the boy the pet name ‘Ruirui’. How about that?”

“Ruirui?”

“Uh huh!”

“Okay.”

Butler Fu nodded, also looking pleased.

Gu Jinglian made no comments.

Thus the pet names of the babies were decided.

“Well, that’s something, isn’t it?” It had taken her a lot of reading and referencing to come up with the two names.

Gu Jinglian nodded. “Yes, it’s much better than the name ‘Baby Chu!’”

Chu He turned red and cleared her throat awkwardly before quickly changing the subject. “What names are you going to give them, Gu Jinglian?”

“I’ve already thought of the girl’s name.” Gu Jinglian looked at the sleepy baby girl in his arms and smiled. He rubbed the tip of her nose dotingly.

“Lingge.”

The flying dragon leaped through the clouds, and the crane flew through the spiritual (Ling) wind. The character “Ling”, which means “spirit” came from “24 Poems of the Wandering Immortal” by Tang Wuyun.

Chu He was surprised. “So you’ve already thought of a name.”

“No.”

Gu Jinglian said, “It only just came to me.”

“Ha!? Only just?” Chu He was extremely taken aback. She did not expect Gu Jinglian to be so accomplished in literature. He could casually recite a poem out of thin air, and furthermore, the name he came up with sounded better than anything she would have been able to come up with.

Chu He had given it thought. It wasn't as if she had not tried coming up with names. However, the names for a baby boy she could think of were Gu Yixuan, Gu Junfeng, and Gu Tianyi. Ultimately, these names were too... too common.

She had also come up with several names for the baby girl, but they were not as appealing as “Lingge”.

“So, have you thought of a name for the boy too?”

Gu Jinglian deliberated for a moment, contemplating as he looked out of the window. Suddenly he came up with a name, “Gu Xinghan.”

The galaxy is vast and void, but the heart holds a memory or two.

“Xinghan...” Even Butler Fu was startled.

Chu He repeated it several times. “Xinghan, Xinghan. Oh my, what a nice name!”

She only thought it was a nice sounding name, but she did not understand the meaning behind Gu Jinglian's choice.

But Butler Fu understood. Gu Xinghan. Baby Chu was named Gu Chengze. Together, their names combined to give the name Xingze.

Butler Fu narrowed his eyes and smiled. He looked at the boy in his arms and said softly, “Ruirui, your father named you Xinghan. Do you like this name?”

“How lovely!” Chu He was without a doubt satisfied with both names.

The night deepened. Chu He went to bed early.

Because the wound had yet to heal, the two little ones were fed formula milk. However, Chu He did not seem to be producing enough milk either, despite them having hired a lactation consultant and supplementing with fish soup.

Hence, Gu Jinglian hired two wet nurses. This was a huge relief for Chu He and enabled her to focus on recuperating.

Because she had a cesarean section, and unlike in a natural birth, it had taken a great toll on her body.

Even she felt indignant for her body. This tough shell had fought with her through life and death situations and suffered too many injuries. Now, there was another scar on her belly. However, this scar was sacred. Through it, she had brought two new lives into the world.

Lingge, Xinghan...

Those two names were beautiful.

Chapter 3805: A New Addition (421)

Soon, it was time to remove the stitches. During the process, she didn't complain of pain at all, to the nurses' great surprise.

Many women who had undergone cesarean section, no matter how strong they were, would express pain in some way when their stitches were removed. However, this one was holding her cell phone and looking at it without even a frown.

Too strong.

Of course they had no idea this pain was really nothing to Chu He.

After removing the stitches and staying in the hospital for a few days, she finally returned to the Gu family residence.

Chu He felt refreshed and happy to be home. At least she would no longer have to smell the disinfectant in the hospital. Although the smell of disinfectant was not pungent, it was not amiable.

All things considered, she was probably the least burdened mother. She didn't have to worry about getting up at night to coax her child or worry about breastfeeding all the time. Nothing seemed to have changed about her except her once-flat belly.

During the confinement period, the two little fellows were taken care of by a professional nanny. Furthermore, Gu Jinglian, the new father, was more enthusiastic than her.

Sometimes, he would get up in the middle of the night and go to the nursery to take a look even if the babies were obviously not crying. At this rate, it was more likely that the babies would end up crying because of his over enthusiasm.

Especially where Lingge was concerned, Gu Jinglian carried her all the time. Because of this, she was the closest to him.

As a result as well, no one else had a chance to carry her. In the first place, the man had explicitly forbidden anyone to carry her, except for Chu He and the wet nurse. Butler Fu himself did not have this privilege. Even Chu He was starting to feel like something was wrong.

She took Butler Fu aside and asked curiously why Gu Jinglian liked baby girls so much.

Butler Fu shook his head.

Gu Jinglian was now very different from what he used to be. In the past, the old master would avoid women and even children, and kept them at arm's length.

The changes in the man brought about by marriage and children were not something that could be explained easily!

In short, Gu Jinglian had completely become a slave to his daughter. Even though knowing that the child was too young to learn to speak, he would carry Qianqian and spend the entire morning patiently teaching her to say "Daddy".

As for the baby girl, she was only an infant and did not understand Gu Jinglian's intentions. However, she was amused by his repetitive reciting of "Daddy". When she smiled, Gu Jinglian laughed.

The nursery had a small terrace, just big enough for a deckchair. Whenever the sun was out, Gu Jinglian would hold Qianqian and lean back in the sun. Compared to Gu Jinglian's tall figure, Qianqian was like a curled up little kitten in his arms. The contrast was great.

Sometimes, Chu He even felt that Gu Jinglian could hold the child steady with just one hand. She wondered how tall Qianqian would grow. But no matter whom she took after, she would be at least 1.75 meters tall! However, she was now only a baby and was extremely comfortable curled up like a tiny ball in Gu Jinglian's arms.

The father and daughter were bathed in the glow of the sunlight. It was wonderful, peaceful and blissful.

On the other hand, Ruirui, who was in the crib, was treated differently. He seemed to be ignored! Hence, carrying Ruirui and basking in the sun naturally became Chu He's task. But Chu He was not as biased as Gu Jinglian. She liked and doted on both sons and daughters.

Therefore, Rui Rui became closer to Chu He and Butler Fu.

Chapter 3806: A New Addition (422)

Telepathy between twins.

Does it really exist?

Chu He contemplated this question.

That was because whenever one of the twins started to cry, no matter which one, the other would start crying too, it didn't matter how far apart they were.

At first, Chu He didn't believe in such things. Once, the confinement lady had carried Ruirui to another room to change his diaper. Qianqian had been sleeping peacefully in the crib when Chu He saw her little hand grab at thin air. Then, as if the baby felt uneasy when she couldn't grab anything, she opened her little mouth and cried sadly.

Chu He picked her up and tried to coax her, but the baby would not be consoled. She continued to cry.

From a distance, the confinement nanny walked over with Ruirui, who was also crying. She asked nervously, "Aiya, why is the child crying so hard?" Then, she saw that Qianqian was crying too. The confinement nanny felt a headache coming on.

As soon as the diaper was changed, Ruirui had started crying, which the confinement nanny found very strange.

When he had just been fed and the diaper had not been changed, the child had not cried. Now that he had a clean diaper on and should be feeling refreshed, he was crying aggrievedly. After coaxing him for a long time without success, she felt a little helpless.

Only then did Chu He wonder if there could be a faint telepathic connection between the twins. Otherwise, why would the crying of one influence the other to cry? She thought it was a coincidence, but she did not expect there to be something more!

The two little guys were very clingy towards each other. The brother clung to the sister, the sister clung to the brother. When they fell asleep, the boy would hold his sister's hand tightly. No one could pull them apart. After all, the children were young and tender. No one dared to use force since the babies were still developing.

Chu He had also stealthily pried open Ruirui's fingers. However, once his fingers were pried open, he immediately closed his tiny hand around her finger again. His hand was so tiny that her finger was enough to fill it. Ruirui mistook her hand for his sister's and fell asleep again.

On the other end, Qianqian, feeling the emptiness in her hands, started to stir. Her hands began to flail, as if she were groping for something. But no matter how hard she groped, she couldn't find her brother's hand. She seemed uneasy. She opened her mouth and began to whine pitifully.

Chu He asked the confinement nanny to carry Qianqian away. Not long after Qianqian was carried away, Ruirui closed his eyes and cried too.

Chu He was truly stunned. She carried Ruirui to the nanny and found that Qianqian, who was in the nanny's arms, was crying sadly!

Could emotions really be transmitted telepathically?

Not only that.

Once, Gu Jinglian was sunbathing on the terrace with Qianqian in his arms. For some reason, Qianqian let out a series of tinkling laughter. At that same point in time, Ruirui was lying in the cradle, holding Chu He's hand and sleeping quietly.

As if sensing something, his lips suddenly curled up slightly. Although he didn't laugh aloud, he did obviously smile for sure.

One could think of this as a coincidence.

However, it happened all the time, so much so that Chu He had to believe that something as magical as telepathy really existed!

Chu He told Gu Jinglian about this. At first, Gu Jinglian did not really believe it. It was not until he experienced it personally that he believed this subtle communication between the siblings really existed!

This was amazing!

Chapter 3807: A New Addition (423)

The rather brief confinement period sailed past uneventfully under the careful watch of Madam Qin and Aunt Fu.

Coincidentally, Chu He learned that Gu Jinglian had closed all the casinos under the Gu family and banned them as a family business.

She was surprised and wondered why he did that.

One had to know that although a casino was not a lifeline business for the Gu family, it was enough to create some impact.

Gu Jinglian did not specifically mention this to Chu He. Butler Fu had only mentioned it by chance. He was surprised to see Chu He looking stunned.

“Didn’t Old Master tell you about it?”

‘No. I didn’t even know that.’

“Afraid?”

“Do you know anything about the man who kidnapped you that day?”

Chu He nodded in response. She still felt a lingering fear when she thought of what had happened that day. Especially when Gu Jinglian resolutely put on the balaclava, her heart was in her mouth!

This man, such a proud and insufferably arrogant man, was ready to lay down his life for her and the child. She had never thought that he, who was once hailed as a demon king, would have such a soft side.

“Afraid?” For a moment, Chu He did not understand what Butler Fu meant.

He let on that Gu Jinglian had sent someone to settle the matter with Black Panther while Chu He was still in the hospital. The matter of Black Panther was not a complicated one to deal with. Qingjiu was not badly injured. He had fractured bones, but the drill had not gone in too deeply.

If not for Gu Jinglian’s boldness at that point, he probably would not have been able to protect such a loyal subordinate.

Most of the Gu family’s enemies were established in the casino business.

In the casinos under the Gu family’s name, other than some hooligans, there were also some big shots. Among them, many had lost tens of millions or hundreds of millions overnight. In the blink of an eye, they might have gone bankrupt. However, these big shots were sore losers. Therefore, because of their casino business, the Gu family had many enemies in the underworld.

In the past, Gu Jinglian did not care because he was single. However, now that he had a wife and children, he had no choice but to reconsider.

Other people might not have let go of such a lucrative business. After all, the daily cash flow of the casino was easily in the hundreds of millions. Moreover, this could be considered a net profit. Who would be willing to give up such a good deal!?

Perhaps what Black Panther did really frightened Gu Jinglian. He wasn’t willing to use Chu He and his children as stakes and chips anymore. He couldn’t afford to lose. So he considered the matter carefully.

Currently, the Gu family's main source of revenue, other than the Gu Corporation, was the casino.

He was determined to ban the casino, relook at the Gu Corporation business plan, and refocus his attention on the family. He wanted to spend more time with his children as they grew. Especially Qianqian.

The birth of his daughter seemed to have injected an unprecedented gentleness into his hard heart. He wished he could spend every day with his daughter, watching her as she grew up.

Gu Jinglian only told Butler Fu about this matter. The news also made its way through the industry.

When they learned that the casino business was going to be banned, everyone was puzzled and shocked! They wondered why Gu Jinglian was doing this.

Chu He was stunned for a long time when she heard this. She was deeply touched!

Chapter 3808: A New Addition (424)

Although Chu He was a little surprised to know that Gu Jinglian wanted to ban all the casinos under his name, she understood his decision and silently supported it.

"Actually, I think that one doesn't have to be wealthy in life. Material things and treasures are not as important as your family's safety!"

Butler Fu couldn't agree more. "That's right! Old Master didn't understand this but now he does!" For some reason, Butler Fu felt touched. He sighed and suddenly said, "Chu He, I really have to... thank you!"

Chu He looked up in surprise to see Butler Fu clutching his sleeve and silently wiping away his tears.

Chu He had never seen Butler Fu lose his composure like this. This elderly man was always smiling happily. No matter how bad the situation was, he never shed a tear.

She was a little shocked. She quickly stood up and asked in confusion, "What's wrong? Butler Fu, why are you... why are you suddenly crying..."

"In the past, I never dared to hope that Old Master would have his own family. This child had a cold personality since he was young and had no concept of kinship. However, you know... That day, I saw him carrying Qianqian on the balcony basking in the sun, he was holding the baby so gently and looked so doting. I almost couldn't believe my eyes."

Gu Jinglian was a truly changed man. The former Gu Jinglian was cold, heartless, and unwilling to stop in his tracks for any woman. Although, Chu He didn't feel anything, because Gu Jinglian's changes were gradual and traceable. However, if the present Gu Jinglian were to be compared to what he was like when she first arrived at the Gu family residence...

In comparison, the difference in his attitude towards Qianqian and Baby Chu was obvious!

The former Old Master would never be like this! Old Master had changed, but Butler Fu felt extremely relieved! He thanked Chu He for appearing in Gu Jinglian's life, so that as a result his old master became more mature.

Chu He smiled and said nothing. She lowered her head, but her mind was racing.

She was thankful too. She was thankful to Gu Jinglian for having appeared in her life. No matter how tit-for-tat it had once been. Regardless of how the two of them had once drawn their daggers at each other.

However, the happiness they had found today was so precious. Hence all the more they cherished it.

Suddenly, the respectful greetings of a few subordinates floated in from the courtyard.

“You’re back, Old Master!”

Chu He stood up and walked to the window. She saw Gu Jinglian entering the courtyard.

She smiled, picked up Qianqian and Ruirui, and carried them carefully downstairs. Together, she and the two children greeted him.

“I’m home!” Gu Jinglian looked over and saw Chu He holding the twins in her arms and looking at him with a grin!

“Uh huh!” A smile formed on his face as he walked to her side and took Qianqian from her. He held the child gently in his arms and coaxed her. Lifting his eyes, he gently kissed her forehead.

“Are you tired?” she asked.

Gu Jinglian shook his head. “Not at all!”

Chu He smiled and turned around. The dusk was infinitely beautiful. She leaned gently against the side of his shoulder. Her heart was filled to the brim with happiness and bliss...

Chapter 3809: A Perfect Match (1)

Spring time.

Xiangshan Film Studio.

The crew of “Demon Eyes” had their grand opening ceremony to mark the beginning of filming.

An adaptation of the famous novel “Heavy Snow”, “Demon Eyes” caused a huge uproar when its publicity poster was launched.

Among the cast, Hua Jin was the male lead in “Demon Eyes”. He played a nine-tailed fox demon. He was dressed in blood red and had long silver hair. His sinister and demonic appearance made an impression on many fans of the original novel and they looked forward to it.

“Demon Eyes” was a fantasy idol drama. The female lead was played by the up and coming starlet, Bai Lu, who was aggressively promoted by Huasheng Film and Television.

This original novel was once a bestselling fantasy masterpiece that sold tens of millions of copies.

Moreover, after it was confirmed that it would be developed into a television drama and the news that Hua Jin would be the male lead was released, the production team successfully received a huge investment.

After the opening ceremony, the production team began a long shoot in a low-keyed manner.

On location.

In the dressing room, Hua Jin, in an antique robe, was holding a special company proposal. His eyelids were flickering.

He skimmed through the content and read out loud, "Fan meeting?"

"Uh huh." The agent nodded and said excitedly, "Hua Jin, the production team has specially organized a large scale fan meeting. Didn't you endorse the LP phone some time ago? Now, the phone manufacturer and the production team are collaborating to host this fan meeting. During the release of the new flagship phone, they will immediately draw ten lucky fans who will have the chance to participate in visiting the crew of 'Demon Eyes.'"

"Can I reject it?" Hua Jin asked.

He was not willing to undertake such a thankless task!

The agent's face fell. "But... I've already promised the director."

"Are you crazy!?" The actor tried to hold his anger in, then gritted his teeth. "Even if it's a fan meeting, couldn't you at least invite normal fans?"

He could not forget that the last time he attended the premiere of the movie, he had also randomly selected a lucky fan to go on stage. As the actor walked towards the fan who had gone on stage, smiling, that fan actually rolled his eyes and fainted on the ground, twitching all over.

It sent the actor into shock.

He couldn't remember what happened after that. He only knew that the scene was at best chaotic. It wasn't until an ambulance was called to take the fan to the hospital that he learned that the young fan had epilepsy. She would have a seizure when she encountered any agitation or overstimulation.

Following the incident, the actor had to visit her a few times. However, because he was worried that the young fan would have a fit again, he had to do it through the window in the end. Such a thing should not be given a chance to happen.

Afterwards, he experienced various fans fainting in front of him more than a dozen times.

This cycle repeated itself to the point that he became numb to it.

"Of course the fans are very excited to see their idol!"

"All right, fine, I leave these things to you!" With that, Hua Jin massaged his forehead, rested his chin on his hand and closed his eyes to rest.

After rounds of screening, the fans visiting the idol production team were confirmed.

A week later, when Hua Jin had just finished a shoot, the stage manager brought him to a paddle boat. It was already night time.

The stars in the heavens were reflected on the lake. The night sky and the lake seem to merge as one.

There was a large lake in the film studio. This visit involved circling around the island in the lake, on the paddle boat.

Chapter 3810: A Perfect Match (2)

Before the actor could change his clothes, a staff member came to rush him. "The fans have been waiting for a long time. The media reps are also here!" Hence, without waiting for the actor to change his clothes, the staff hurried him to the boat.

Hua Jin's fans had been waiting for him for a long time by the time he arrived on the boat.

The actor had only just set foot on the boat when a deafening cheer broke out.

"Hua Jin!!"

"Ahhh! It's my Hua Hua! God, it's the real person, the real person..."

"It's the real deal! He looks better than he does on TV!"

"Does my idol have an intrinsic glow that is soft and beautiful? Why do I feel like he's glowing!"

One of the fans, who was in the early twenties, held the jade pendant around her neck excitedly and muttered with tears streaming down her face, "Mom, I've finally seen the real Hua Jin. Boohoo... I've completed your last wish for you. You can rest in peace in heaven..."

Out of the corner of his eye, Hua Jin suddenly saw an old granny standing up unsteadily and looking at him excitedly, so much so that even her white hair seemed to be glowing with vitality!

The man was so shocked that he retreated half a step. He grabbed his assistant and asked, "Oh my God. Who is this aunty?"

"She's your fan."

"What!? I have a fan who is that old?"

"Not only that. If it weren't for the age limit, an eight-year-old kid would have been part of this group too!"

"..."

Among so many fans, only one girl was very calm.

Actually, it would be more accurate to say she was dumbfounded than calm.

She was in a black and white dress, and her soft hair was neatly tied up. Her exquisite oval face, even without any makeup, was not inferior to those glamorous actresses.

It seemed that there was at least this one fan who appeared normal.

Just as the actor started to feel gratified over that possibility, the girl suddenly stood up and walked over to him amid a chorus of exclamations.

“Why... it’s you!?”

The actor looked puzzled.

Please god, this woman looks perfectly normal. Please don’t tell me there’s something wrong with her!

It’s a visiting trip for his fans, so of course it was him. Who else would it be?

His lips stiffened as the girl spoke again. “Won’t we be seeing Tang Yu during this visit?”

Tang Yu?

Embarrassed, Hua Jin turned to his assistant. “Who’s Tang Yu?”

“Oh, I think it’s... the newbie who plays a supporting role in the production!”

The assistant thought for a moment. “The one who plays the Cang Yun, Senior Brother to the female lead... that’s Tang Yu!”

“Oh!”

Hua Jin recalled somewhat that Tang Yu was probably a newcomer who came from some mass selection exercise. He did not seem to be well-known.

He asked doubtfully, “...Does Tang Yu have a fan meeting?”

“I don’t think so.”

“Well then...”

The girl started to say something, then caught herself and pulled the invitation from her purse. When she read it again carefully, she realized she had made an error.

This was a visiting event for Hua Jin’s crew only, but she had mistakenly thought that they could visit the entire crew. And now...

She actually had no chance to see Tang Yu! The girl couldn’t help feeling discouraged! She said, “I want to get off the boat!”

The actor raised an eyebrow at that and kindly stepped aside for her. Just as she brushed past Hua Jin, the girl said faintly, “I think there must be a conspiracy behind Tang Yu’s failure to secure the male lead role!”

The actor frowned, thinking he had misheard what she said. “What?” he asked with some surprise.
