

Sweet Love 4101

Chapter 4101: The Other Side 70

“May I ask whose name this house will be in?”

Gong Jie turned to Hua Jin and asked, “What’s your name?”

“Hua Jin...”

“Real name.”

“Rong Jin...”

!!

“Write it down.”

“Oh...” The actor simply gripped his pen and signed the contract under the direction of the salesperson. Now he was even more dumbfounded!

“This is...”

He took a closer look and realized that his name was indicated in the column for the owner of the villa.

“What?” Hua Jin was getting increasingly confused. He couldn’t understand what was going on.

Youyou could no longer bear to see the actor in such a state of confusion. Hence while his uncle had gone to make payment, he took advantage of the opportunity and said to the confused man, “Well, Uncle Hua Jin, Natalia is my uncle’s adopted daughter. It’s just that, as you know, his job is a little dangerous so he can’t keep her with him all the time. After thinking it through, you’re the best candidate for the job.”

“Candidate?”

The actor looked at Natalia, his lips twitching fiercely. “Am I... now a foster father?”

“Uh huh!” Youyou put his arms around the actor and said coquettishly, “Uncle Hua Jin, we now entrust Natalia to you!”

“Wait!” The actor felt his head spinning. He waved a hand and tried to calm himself, finally regaining some of his composure.

He took a deep breath, opened his eyes, and forced himself to calm down. “You mean to tell me this child, Natalia, was adopted by Gong Jie, and then, because he has no time to take care of her, it has become my job?”

The boy nodded. “Uh huh.”

“I...” Frowning, the actor let out a frustrated sigh. “I have no experience with children.”

"It's not breastfeeding. You don't need to nurse or pacify her. Anyway, just take care of her as though you're taking care of me, that's all."

The actor listened to all this. It was still not making any sense. Obviously, the fact that he was about to become a "newbie dad" was not sinking in. He turned his empty gaze on Gong Jie, gulped, and said tentatively, "But I usually have a packed schedule... I have to film and stuff..."

Gong Jie suddenly groped around in his pockets as he asked, "How much do you make in a year as an actor?"

The actor was silent for a moment. "That income isn't guaranteed. Sometimes it's a lot, sometimes it's not."

"A hundred million?"

"... Can't get that much."

His brother raised an eyebrow. Without another word, he pulled out a checkbook, then with a fountain pen, scrawled his signature on a check.

By the time the actor leaned over to take a look, Gong Jie had already signed it for him.

"HSBC. You can just withdraw directly."

Gong Jie handed him the check. It was actually a blank check! The actor was dumbfounded!

Youyou explained, "You can have however much money you want!"

Hua Jin gulped again...

The house was also registered in his name, along with a check like this...

"I haven't done anything to deserve payment of any kind..."

"Says who?" Youyou glanced at Natalia and said to the actor, "As long as you take good care of her! As for work, take on a few shows when you have the time. If you're not, just focus on Natalia. Don't worry about anything else. Uncle will pay alimony."

Was this alimony going a little overboard... He didn't dare take it.

"Just take it and put it away!" Gong Jie grunted.

Chapter 4102: The Other Side 71

"Just take it and put it away!" Gong Jie grunted.

The actor shuddered at the commanding tone and pocketed the check.

After receiving the receipt and contract for the house, Hua Jin got into Gong Jie's car. Gong Jie instructed the driver to head for the furniture store.

Meikailong Furniture City.

While Youyou sat with Natalia at the dessert corner, Gong Jie took Hua Jin with him and they headed for the furniture section, pointing at various objects along the way. Basically, Gong Jie ordered and signed the bill for whatever he pointed at.

Hua Jin was speechless. As a celebrity, his income had always been considerable. However, it was definitely not to the extent that he could casually splurge a six- or seven- figure sum on furniture.

A set of kitchen cabinets at 800,000, a sofa set at 200,000, a coffee table at 500,000...

He was dumbfounded when he heard the price! Wasn't that a bit scary...?

He had thought that no matter how wealthy Gong Jie was, he might only be on par with Mu Yazhe. Now it seemed, that might not be the case! Buying a villa was like buying a set of toys, and he was buying these furniture pieces like he was playing house. It was as if the string of zeros on those price tags was just that – it was just a string of numbers to him!

By nightfall, the furniture arrived and appliances were sent to their new home. The actor stood at the entrance of the villa once again, feeling as if a lifetime had passed. What had happened today... He had not been able to react even up till now, it was simply unreal!

Holding Natalia's hand Youyou led the girl into the villa complex and announced jubilantly, "This will be your new home from now on, Natalia!"

The girl stood at the grand entrance, stunned. It took her a while to recover.

"From now on, do I live here?"

"Uh huh!"

"Oooh..."

Some of the color came back to Natalia's cheeks. She suddenly ran to the couch and sat on it. It was made of American leather and provided excellent back support. She felt wrapped up in it!

She relaxed her brow contentedly and smiled at the boy.

"I like this sofa!"

Youyou came over and extended his open palm to her, saying, "Come on, I'll show you your room!"

"Uh huh!" Natalia took his hand as they walked to her "princess room". The entire mansion was decorated in American style. The princess room also had a decidedly fairy-tale romance feel to it. The white solid-timber four-poster bed, the pristine white sides, pink curtains, walls in pale pink theme, the beautiful lighting fixtures—all of it exuding a warmth she had never felt before!

"Do you like it?"

Natalia pursed her lips and gave a small nod. "Uh huh ... I do!"

"From now on, this is your room!"

“And... what about you?”

“Me? This isn’t my home. It’s your home.”

Suddenly, there was a look of disappointment in Natalia’s eyes. “You... don’t live here?”

“Uh huh.”

“Then who will stay with me?”

She suddenly felt uneasy. “Will I be living alone?”

“No...”

...

Five minutes later.

Hua Jin was squatting in front of Natalia with Youyou next to her. “From now on,” the boy reminded her quietly, “he will be your guardian. You may call him Big Brother!”

“Wait!”

The actor cut him off. “How does she address your uncle?”

“Daddy.” Youyou added matter-of-factly, “Because Uncle is her adoptive father!”

Chapter 4103: The Other Side 72

“Daddy...” Hua Jin looked awkwardly at Gong Jie, then at Youyou, and complained bitterly, “Isn’t that a difference in seniority?”

That made sense to Youyou. He racked his brain, but before he could say anything, Natalia said, “Then I’ll call you Mommy!”

“Mommy...” The actor almost choked and clutched his chest in disbelief.

How did this lass come up with that address?!

Youyou was greatly amused when he heard this. He covered his mouth and burst out laughing.

“Hahaha!” Mommy...”

Gong Jie turned ashen. He should have been angry, but he actually felt helpless. More than that, he questioned Natalia’s logic.

The actor immediately explained to the girl solemnly, “You can’t call me Mommy. I’m not a woman.”

“Eh?” Natalia cocked her head to one side, then said something that nearly caused the actor to keel over. “Aren’t you a woman? I thought ... you and Daddy were a couple!”

The painful blow hit Hua Jin’s like an avalanche! He was furious! “What!? You thought...”

This child actually thought he was a woman?!

Hua Jin rubbed a hand over his face, feeling terribly aggrieved! He admitted that he had a rather pretty face, but surely not to the extent of being mistaken as a woman by a child! And even worse, Natalia had assumed they were an item! The actor was livid and on the verge of spewing blood! He felt an urge to run for the door!

Natalia hid behind the boy when she saw Hua Jin's ashen face. "Did I say something wrong?" she whispered.

Fighting the urge to burst out laughing, the boy said with a wave of his hand, "No... no! It's just that Hua Jin is a man, not a woman."

The actor grumbled irritably. "The first thing I said when we met was that I was an uncle..."

"Uncle? That's a good way to address you."

The boy snapped his fingers at Natalia. "Or you can just address him as 'Uncle'!"

The actor agreed. "Well, address me as 'uncle', then!"

Gong Jie nodded as well, clearly agreeing with the sentiment. "From now on," he said to Natalia, "you will address him as 'Uncle', hmm?"

The actor shuddered at that. It was for no reason other than the fact that he realized... Gong Jie was unexpectedly gentle whenever he was speaking to Natalia! His voice was so gentle that it could drown someone.

Fortunately, it was Natalia he was talking to. If it had been any other woman, it would likely result in a cardiac arrest! Even he himself could not help feeling a momentary tingle in his heart listening to that gentle voice.

Natalia simply nodded at that, when a thought occurred to her. Releasing her hold on Youyou's arm, she clattered over to Gong Jie and grabbed the corner of his shirt, asking wistfully, "So... where are you going, Daddy?" She felt a little lost.

The man frowned. Although he'd become accustomed to being pestered by a little girl with no blood ties calling him "Daddy", he still seemed not to have fully accepted his role as being a "newbie dad".

After all, the sudden change from a single man to a single father... Mentally, he found it difficult to accept it so quickly.

Chapter 4104: The Other Side 73

However, his feelings for Natalia had grown considerably in the past few days.

Speaking of which, it was quite incredible. Natalia was especially close to him.

In order to get close to Natalia, Youyou had tried all means including tempting her with candies and talking to her in a nice way. Now that Gong Jie had brought her here, Natalia seemed to like clinging on to the man, and would gravitate towards him wherever he went.

Youyou was curious too, as to why Natalia particularly liked Gong Jie, and asked the girl this.

The little lass said righteously, "Because Daddy is tall and handsome, and he even gave me candies!"

!!

Unconvinced, Youyou retorted, "I'm sure I'll be tall and handsome when I grow up. Besides, I gave you candies too!"

"But you're not my daddy!" Natalia's words left the boy speechless.

He twitched his lips and could say nothing more!

Fine! Was this the charm of a mature man!

"Daddy, don't you live here?" Natalia clung to Gong Jie's thigh, reluctant to let go.

He bent down and scooped her up in his arms easily. He pinched the tip of her nose and raised an eyebrow, saying, "Why, you can't bear to see Daddy go?"

"Uh huh!" Natalia shook her head like a rattle.

"Don't go! I want to be with Daddy!"

Gong Jie drew his brows together in a slight frown of resignation. "I can stay here with you for a few days, but after that, Daddy has to get busy with work. Daddy will be back when I'm done. I won't be long!"

"Really?!"

"Uh huh."

Gong Jie carried her to Hua Jin's side and coaxed her gently. "From now on, you'll be with this uncle, okay? Be obedient, although it doesn't matter even if you're not. Daddy will video call you every day. If this uncle abuses you, complain to Daddy and Daddy will beat him up!"

With a few words of coaxing, Natalia was all smiles again.

The actor was thrown off balance by this. What the hell! Why would he abuse a child for no reason! Besides, he rather liked Natalia. Even though he wasn't so happy to see the child entrusted to him this way by Gong Jie, he accepted it.

Still, he had to be sure of one thing. "Are you sure you'll compensate me for the work that I have to give up!"

Gong Jie shot him a look. "I'm sure."

Youyou said, "The fact that Uncle's house is in your name shows his sincerity."

Hua Jin composed himself. Suddenly, a most undesirable word came to him.

Kept.

Does this count as him being a kept... -_-b

You bet! Alimony, property... The actor suddenly felt like a dutiful wife and mother taking care of the kid...

Wait, that meant... Was it too late for him to back out? For some reason, an image formed in Hua Jin's mind. That was the image of him standing at the stove with Natalia on his back, wearing an apron and a headscarf, bitterly cooking porridge...

OMG.

He didn't want to become like this! If this continued, he would definitely become a house husband!

"Well..." The actor looked at the boy hesitantly.

But Youyou saw right through him. "Why, you want to back out?"

"Uh..." The actor made a veiled statement. "I'm not ready for this, am I?"

"What kind of mental preparation is required?"

"I haven't cooked in a long time. I'm a little rusty, and I'm not very good at cleaning..."

Chapter 4105: The Other Side 74

Gong Jie was playing with Natalia, but when he heard what Hua Jin said, he turned around and immediately said coldly, "I'll hire a nanny, bodyguards, and gardener for you. You just have to play with her and take care of her. Don't let her be lonely!"

In other words, these tasks were his areas of responsibility: Eat, drink, play.

Ohhhh...

The actor was surprised. What was so special about this child that Gong Jie gave her such special treatment?

Could it be... The actor cast his eyes meaningfully at Youyou, who was surprisingly tender as he looked at Natalia. The actor shuddered.

Could it be... This was the boy's "future wife"!?

Fine. Could it be that his main job was to provide for the boy's "wife"? The thought made him want to laugh.

He took Youyou's tiny hand and asked curiously, "Do you like her?"

The boy didn't react at first, but then afterwards he nodded. "Yes! Of course!" He liked Natalia very much.

The actor gave him a meaningful look upon hearing this. "What sort of like?"

"Mmm?" When the boy realized the meaning behind Hua Jin's look, he came to his senses and immediately said, "It's not that kind of like!"

"Then what sort of like is it?" The actor lowered his voice. "I thought your uncle was raising your future wife!"

That made the boy blush even more! "That's not true. Stop talking nonsense, will you?" After a pause, the boy explained, "It's probably the kind of affection you have for a little sister!"

"Liar. I've never seen you gazing at Yueyao like that!"

Although there was an element of affection in both cases, the tenderness in the boy's eyes when he gazed at Natalia was definitely not limited to that of brotherly affection.

However, the actor was only teasing him.

How old was the boy? How could such a young child understand the love of the adult world? He probably just liked her and wanted to treat her well!

The actor teased him. "Don't worry, I'll take good care of your wife!"

"Ptui!" Youyou threatened the man, "If you keep talking nonsense, I'll have my uncle cripple you."

"Don't ..." The actor clasped his hands together, begging for mercy. "I'm sorry. I know I was wrong. You... hey, don't be a tattletale!"

The boy pulled the actor aside and said to him in confidence, "Actually, I feel for Natalia purely because I can see myself in her!"

"Why?"

"Because..." The boy said grimly, "Prior to this, she was actually adopted by a professor who is an expert in the mental and psychological fields. She was an orphan, but the professor used her as a test subject."

"Test subject?" The actor's expression stiffened at the word.

That was inhuman. Examples of human experiments immediately came to his mind...

"That's too much!"

"She was a normal child initially, but the professor cultivated a second personality in her so that she became a subject for him to study multiple personality disorder."

Hua Jin was a smart man and quickly understood what the boy meant by "cultivating a personality".

"You mean the professor wanted to create her second personality?"

Chapter 4106: The Other Side 75

Youyou looked even more somber as he said, "More accurately, it's not that he's preparing to do it. Rather, he has already done it."

"..."

Hua Jin was stunned. "Can personalities be created just like that?"

He had always thought that split personalities were either a result of environmental influence or a genetic trait. He'd never heard that it could be cultivated by humans. Someone actually used such a young child to carry out this sort of unorthodox experiment! In the past, he looked up to scientists because he felt that scientists had contributed a lot to humanity. But now hearing this, Hua Jin felt a chill run down his spine!

It was too... terrifying!

!!

"A split personality is an extremely painful thing! How could he do that?"

"Most likely it's because an adopted child has no blood relation. Therefore, he doesn't cherish her at all. He isn't worthy of being Natalia's father..."

"That's why..." The actor looked at Gong Jie, suddenly seeing him in a new light. "So he managed to take over the custody of Natalia?"

"Yeah. Uncle's taken over custody of Natalia, but, as you know, he works and can't have Natalia around him all the time given how dangerous his job is. So, when necessary, someone needs to take care of her. You'd be perfect for that."

"Why?" He pointed at himself, surprised. "Why me? I'm busy at work, too!"

"Because Uncle Hua Jin is very gentle!" The boy's eyes narrowed as he smiled. "You're so gentle with me, you'll be just as gentle with Natalia! I'm sure you'll treat her well!"

The actor's heart warmed at that. He hadn't expected the boy to think of him that way.

"Don't worry, I'll definitely take good care of her!"

The boy raised his hand and stuck out his pinkie. "Well, that's a deal!"

"Uh huh!" The actor approached Natalia and lowered himself gently so that he was looking into her eye. "From now on, Natalia, will you call me 'Daddy'?"

"Eh? Daddy?"

Natalia blinked her pretty eyes at him and then at Gong Jie. Her long lashes fluttered like butterfly wings, so that his heart melted at the sight! He couldn't help thinking how nice it would be if this little girl before him was his very own daughter! Then again, if she were his daughter and took after him, she'd be very pretty, too.

"Daddy?"

"Uh huh!" He squeezed her tiny hand. "Stop calling me 'uncle'. How about calling me 'Daddy'?"

But Natalia laughed and said, "I have two daddies?"

The actor was equally taken aback by her remark. How could he have forgotten that Natalia already had Gong Jie as her father!

"Can I call you Mommy?" Natalia suddenly asked.

Hua Jin was instantly shocked and muttered, "Why would you do that?"

"Because..." Natalia's answer would completely stump the actor.

"Because... you're prettier than a flower! And you don't look like a man."

"Hahaha!" Youyou burst out laughing!

Even Gong Jie, who usually wore a poker face, found himself smiling when he heard this. However, he held back his laughter.

Chapter 4107: The Other Side 76

The actor's expression darkened at once!

It was generally acknowledged by Hua Jin's fans that the actor was prettier than a flower, so fans gave him the nickname "Flowery". It meant a man who was more beautiful than flowers.

But... What was that about him not looking like a man?! Even a child was bullying him!

"Don't laugh!" Hua Jin roared in fury. He saw that Youyou couldn't stop laughing and nudged him gently in the side of the head. "I'm talking about you. Don't laugh! I have to explain so I don't develop gender cognitive impairment at such a young age!"

The boy stopped laughing at that, but began to criticize the actor solemnly. "I think, Uncle Hua Jin... that you were born with a slight cognitive disability. You can't blame her for that! Look, at least, she knows that Uncle and I are male. But with you... she made a mistake. You really can't blame anyone!"

The actor held up his hands in surrender. He had learned a thing or two about the boy's poisonous tongue. Nevertheless, he had to give a proper explanation.

The actor turned to Natalia and said solemnly, "I'm a man, not a woman. You may call me daddy, uncle, or big brother, but not mommy, auntie, big sister... do you understand?"

"Looks like a man who's been hurt before." Youyou made another insightful remark.

Indeed. Like an auntie or a sister or something... Back in the old days, before he became a huge celebrity, the actor had often heard people calling him by these bizarre nicknames as he walked down the street. Until he became famous, this kind of trouble was endless.

Many anti-fans and straight men were jealous of him. He was a man, obviously, but he looked like a woman. The anti-fans would say that his movies always had two female leads. Apart from the official female lead, the other female lead would be Hua Jin.

When the actor first saw the comment, he was furious. He did not understand where these anti-fans were coming from and how many of these were remarks made by trolls. However, later on, he gradually became numb to it. Eventually, he seemed to have become impervious to these things so that he was not as easily hurt.

But...

The actor grabbed the boy and shook him as he said, "You must not say I look like a woman! I'd be so upset! So upset! So upset..."

Youyou got so giddy that he immediately put his arms on the actor's shoulders to steady himself. He said weakly, "All right, all right. I got it, I got it... From now on, I won't make such jokes about you again. Stop shaking me, or I'll break."

Gong Jie ignored how his nephew was being ravaged and shaken like a rag doll by Hua Jin. Instead, he pulled Natalia towards him and said gently to the girl, "Daddy has work to do. Just stay with Uncle and be good, okay? If he bullies or abuses you, you can tell Daddy."

Over the past few days, the relationship between Gong Jie and Natalia had grown very quickly. In fact, Gong Jie had not been at all willing to adopt Natalia initially. To him, another child was just another burden. Besides, she wasn't his biological daughter. He already had a little princess like Yueyao, so no matter how beautiful and cute Natalia was, he was indifferent.

However, after the adoption procedure was settled, Gong Jie finally met Natalia more formally under Alice's arrangements. Amazingly, the moment Natalia met Gong Jie, she felt particularly close to him.

Chapter 4108: The Other Side 7

He already had a little princess like Yueyao, so no matter how beautiful and cute Natalia was, he was indifferent.

However, after the adoption procedure was settled, Gong Jie finally met Natalia more formally under Alice's arrangements.

Amazingly, the moment Natalia met Gong Jie, she felt particularly close to him. Firstly, because Gong Jie was tall and dashing. Secondly, the man somehow gave her a warm sense of security and belonging.

What orphans like Natalia lacked the most was a sense of security and belonging. She had never known what home or family was. Besides, from the welfare home to Michel Hospital, Natalia had never felt a real sense of belonging.

She had no idea what home felt like, but Gong Jie somehow provided this sort of warmth. She wanted to rely on this man. At the time, Youyou and Alice were there, and they were surprised to see Natalia throwing herself into Gong Jie's arms. It had never occurred to anyone that Natalia could be that close to somebody.

Gong Jie was equally surprised. He'd only met the child once. Besides, that time in the office, she'd been so focused on the boy that she hardly noticed him. To be precise, this was probably the first time they had met. He was also surprised that Natalia, who was as aloof as a cat towards Youyou, had taken the initiative to throw herself into Gong Jie's arms.

Could it be fate? Furthermore, Natalia's "throwing herself" at Gong Jie didn't make the man feel in the least bit appalled. On the contrary... he enjoyed this sort of closeness. Gong Jie was very fond of little girls. Even if he had never thought about marriage, he did wonder what his daughter in the future might look like. If she were to look like him, then surely she must also bear a slight resemblance to Yun Shishi.

Yun Shishi had a pair of beautiful and charming peach blossom eyes. Her pupils sparkled as if they were hiding a vast galaxy. She had a small but perky nose and pink lips... Her fair skin was tender and unblemished. Everything about her was as beautiful as crystal.

He had not imagined what his future other half would look like, but he had already thought about what his daughter would probably look like. Of course, she would be as beautiful as Yueyao. But it was unexpected of him to adopt a daughter like Natalia.

When they returned to the country, Natalia had been afraid of strangers but not him. She would not get close to Youyou or Alice, but she liked clinging to him. Especially at night, Natalia liked to cuddle up to him when she slept.

At first, this left Gong Jie at a loss. For some reason, where he initially felt that it was a little awkward for such a young girl to be clinging to him, it didn't take more than three days for him to get used to his new role as a father.

Was there any reason for the awkwardness? Natalia was his daughter. Although they did not have blood relations, they treated each other as their own. In fact, to Gong Jie, a sense of belonging and security were a luxury in itself.

Even though he came from a family like the Gong family, the huge family did not give the child much sense of security. He was raised by his father, military-style, since he was a child. He had been indoctrinated with a philosophy that was cold and impersonal. The warmth of home could only be found in his memories of his mother and sister...

This was also why he was so dependent on Yun Shishi.

Chapter 4109: The Other Side 78

This was also why he was so dependent on Yun Shishi. No one could replace Yun Shishi in giving him the warmth that she gave him.

Natalia was strangely close to him. In the beginning, it was because she was in awe of the man's dazzling appearance. He was handsome, dashing, tall, and had strong arms. He could pick her up effortlessly.

Later on, the usually cold and aloof Gong Jie gave her a rare smile and then the girl was completely smitten. He was too handsome. She imagined how much better it would be if this man were her father, her family.

And then her dream came true.

When Alice had told her this man was now her daddy, her family from then on, Natalia found herself increasingly fond of him.

!!

Such a bond was probably destined to happen between the two of them. Even Hua Jin was surprised that Gong Jie had such patience with children.

When Natalia heard that he had to go, she was immediately reluctant. Frowning, she hugged his arm and said softly, "Please don't go..."

Those were simple words but enough to move Gong Jie. It was as if his feet had taken root and trapped him. He really could not bear to leave. The girl in his arms was like cotton candy. Her pitiful look of grievance and longing melted his heart. He actually started to develop inexplicable emotions towards this child.

Could it be the so-called fatherly love? Gong Jie had always thought of himself as the sort of man who lacked paternal instincts. It was hard for a man like him to imagine what kind of husband and father he would be if he had his own family in the future.

Unexpectedly... He actually had the self-awareness of a father.

The actor tried to persuade the man, "Why don't you... stay for a few days and spend more time with her!? I don't know her that well. If you leave, I'll really be helpless!"

Youyou chimed in as well, "Why don't you stay a few more days, Uncle? There's no rush on Hurricane's business."

Gong Jie nodded and agreed to stay.

"Okay."

He squeezed Natalia's tender little hand and said soothingly, "Then... Daddy will stay for a few days, eh?"

Natalia immediately smiled in relief. "Uh huh!"

...

On the first day of Gong Jie's stay, the actor realized a problem. That was, if one had money, one could do anything one wished to!

Initially, he thought, even though the villa came furnished and the furnishing was done some time ago, and the furniture and appliances had been moved in, there had been no particularly strong smell after special treatment. However, that did not mean that there was no smell at all. Despite the ventilation all afternoon, there was still a slight smell of paint.

Although by night time there was no longer any obvious smells, Hua Jin nevertheless advocated that they should not move in for the time being.

Gong Jie wouldn't hear of it and complained that the actor's current home was too cramped, and it was impossible to live in a place the size of a fish tank.

Hua Jin was furious and felt humiliated. Fish tank? It was a house that was more than a hundred square meters. In what ways was it a fish tank?

That hurt too much.

As for Gong Jie, he immediately called for housekeeping and cleaning services. Within moments, the last of the smell in the house had dissipated.

Youyou said as well, that no matter how airy the new house was, it would never smell like home if it wasn't occupied.

Therefore, Hua Jin had no choice but to bitterly call in the moving company.

Chapter 4110: The Other Side 79

Hence, Hua Jin had no choice but to bitterly call in the movers. For a few hours, things were in full swing as they moved all their belongings from the apartment into the villa.

That night, they started life in the villa. The actor felt that all this was terribly unreal. No one would have thought that they'd move in the same day that they bought the villa! This was break-neck pace!

In the evening, the sales staff came to complete the final procedures for handing over the house. She wanted to see if the owner of the villa had any problems with the quality. In the end, she realized that everyone had already moved in.

This... Was this a hotel!?! Would one just check in with his suitcase?!

Even though the salesperson was a veteran, she was shocked nevertheless. She had never seen such a heroic buyer. Although there were many generous big bosses in the capital, it would take anyone at least a few days to work his sums when buying a house. It was not a frivolous deal. But, look at this man...

!!

He casually swiped his card for a house of a cool few hundred million. The house was delivered before noon and already fully furnished by the same evening! Could it get any scarier! Besides, this homeowner was so young and dashing... Therefore, the salesperson tried to find out from Youyou who Gong Jie was.

Eventually, the boy casually replied, "Gong Jie is my uncle. He's got an auntie already in mind though!"

Just as the sales staff was wondering whom the partner of this handsome and rich young man could be...

Hua Jin emerged in a bathrobe. The sales staff widened her eyes. She stared at the actor, dumbfounded.

Initially, at the sales office, she had been curious. It wasn't as if she hadn't suspected the relationship between the two men. Because Gong Jie had paid for the house with his card, while the property was registered under Hua Jin's name.

Of course, she knew who Hua Jin was. Celebrities and superstars came here to buy houses, and it wasn't the first time she'd seen one up close. There were even many big bosses who bought villas as gifts for the celebrity mistresses they kept...

But...

The relationship between Hua Jin and Gong Jie was rather mind-boggling. However, as soon as she saw Hua Jin in his bathrobe... For a moment, her imagination ran wild.

Could it be that the two of them... Had that sort of relationship? Was this man's partner the rumored gay young hunk, Hua Jin? Could it be that he was also a kept man?

The salesperson felt sick!

Why were all handsome men attached to each other?! In the end, after the transaction was completed, the sales staff left dejectedly!

Gong Jie walked over with Natalia in his arms. When he saw the actor in his bathrobe, he cleared his throat and said sternly, "Please don't bare your breasts in front of Natalia!"

"..."

The actor was dumbstruck. He caught himself and immediately retorted, "What do you mean by bearing my breasts?! I'm decently covered up!"

"Your chest is showing!" Gong Jie pointed out righteously, "Inelegant!"

The actor fell silent. He ground his teeth in anger, but at the same time told himself not to lower himself to the level of such men. Scowling, he returned to his room. It wasn't until he had changed back into his nightshirt before Gong Jie's expression returned to normal.

Youyou stood by the side snickering with his hands over his mouth. The actor was aggrieved and close to tears now. Had he lost all his basic freedom as a human being now that he was helping Gong Jie babysit!

What's wrong with wearing a bathrobe!