Lux Residency

“Well then, let’s go.”

Kayden excitedly spoke like a little kid, which made Ayami wonder what he was excited about. The assistant took care of all the matters concerning the hospital bills.

As they went through the hospital corridor, Ayami felt like she was being watched again. They weren’t even hiding their killing intent, so she was able to roughly pinpoint where they were.

“Sir.” The assistant, who was introduced as Alfred by Kayden earlier, leaned closer to his boss and whispered something, which Ayami couldn’t hear. Kayden let out a small chuckle after hearing what Alfred said to him. He whispered back to him.

For a boss and assistant, they are oddly close...

But Ayami had no time to think about it as the people watching her were a distraction for her.

Swish!

“Huh?” Ayami was pulled by Kayden, making her lean onto him. From the outsider’s viewpoint, it looked like she suddenly tripped. “Woah, are you alright?”

“Ah, yes, I’m fine.” Ayami spoke, while deep inside she was thinking. What was that?

Ayami faintly saw an object that was flying to her, but suddenly it vanished into thin air. And the people watching her, they were gone.

“Excuse me, Sir, Miss, with our pace right now it would be night by the time we left this place. I suggest that Sir would carry the Miss so that we can go back home, fast.” Alfred said, as usual, with a straight face.

“You’re right.” Kayden agreed to his suggestion. Ayami stuttered as she spoke. “H-huh? No, wait. It’s embarrassing!”

She couldn't protest anymore as she covered her face and was already being carried by Kayden. As her face was covered, she didn't notice the exchange glance between the two.

Alfred nodded his head and carefully hid the throwing knife he caught earlier. Alfred went with them until they reached their car.

Alfred opened the door for them. Ayami sat down in the car, pouting like a grumpy child. While Kayden was amused by her expression.

"Then, I'll be staying here. Sir." Kayden nodded his head as he spoke with a smile on his face and a dangerous glint in his eyes. "I hope you'll take care of all of them."

"Yes, sir." After that, Alfred closed the door and watched as the car left. Then, he turned around and walked inside the hospital.

Meanwhile, Ayami was looking outside the window, the frown on her face never left, while Kayden didn't care much about it as he was thinking about some matters.

The driver in front kept glancing at the girl who was brought by the young master, wondering who she was. But of course, he was still careful when driving. He didn't want to lose head over some useless curiosity.

After a few minutes of doing nothing, Ayami started to get bored. She opened the car's window in order to get some fresh air. Then, she noticed a black car just beside them a distance away. Its window was slowly opening.

"Close the window." Kayden said hurriedly, looking behind anxiously. Seeing that Ayami was staying still, he had no choice but to pull Ayami towards him and duck, while also closing the window as fast as possible.

Tang! Ayami heard a familiar sound hit the closing window. It was a bullet.

"Step on it." Kayden ordered the driver. The car sped up, expertly avoiding the cars in front of them. Behind them, two black cars were chasing after them.

Ting!

Ayami checked the phone and a new message was sent to her. “Good luck avoiding that. Hehehe~”

After she finished reading that, she immediately apologized to Kayden. “Sorry. I dragged you into this. Actually, I’m their target.”

“It’s fine, there’s no need to be sorry. It’s more fun this way.” Kayden gently smiled at her.

Eh? You’re having fun in this situation??

Ayami was speechless. To think there was someone who enjoys situations like this.

Behind their car, the two black cars were speeding up, almost catching up to them. In a distance away, their pursuers started to bring out the guns and shoot them.

Tang!

Tang!

Tang!

It felt like it was raining bullets as Ayami continuously heard the bullets hitting the car. Thankfully, the car seems to be bulletproof.

But that didn’t they were completely safe. They could have shot their tires and they would lose control, unless the driver could do the impossible.

“Sir, Miss, please hold on tight.” The driver drove even faster than before, while Kayden tried to ease her. “Don’t worry, we’re almost near.”

A few meters away, they could see the entrance to their residence.

[Lux Residency]

They were a resident there so the guard was able to recognize their car and let them in.

Thankfully, their pursuers weren’t able to chase after them as they were stopped by the gatekeepers.

Sweet Revenge My Sweet Life With You! Chapter 52 On The Final Day

Tap, tap, tap.

In a grand and luxurious room, a person was sitting elegantly on a one-seater sofa that faced the ceiling to floor window, while swirling a glass of red wine on their hand. Their face were covered with a half-mask with a design of black skull and roses with thorny vine. They wore a robe that covered their body from head to toe, making their gender unknown.

Behind them, was a man kneeling and begging for his life, stripped naked and their assistant, punishing the man.

“So you failed your task, eh?” A crisp voice came out of their mouth. Their tone was sharp enough to immediately shut the loud man up. “Dispose of him, then.”

“Report.” A single command made the assistant stand straight and report what happened. “The men we sent failed to kill Ayami Gardner. According to them, after she got treated at the hospital, she entered a car with an unknown man. They entered the Golden Hills Residence, so we couldn’t do anything.”

“Who is the man?”

“That... We are still finding out.” The assistant timidly spoke, afraid that an object might come flying to him and be subjected to his boss’ wrath. Surprisingly, no objects came flying at him. “Too slow. I want every information regarding him

The masked person looked at the wine glass as if they were deep in thought. It was unknown what they were thinking but a moment later, a smile escaped from their lips with their eyes turning like a crescent moon.

“Ayami Gardner, no matter how many people you gather, you will still fall under my hands and die.” The masked person laughed and raised their wine glass as if offering a toast to the world. They then ordered their assistant. “Cease all of the activities right now. On the final day, we will surprise her.”

“Ayami, I wonder how long you’ll last...”

***

The car stopped in front of a huge villa. They have arrived. When the car stopped, Ayami heaved a sigh of relief.

It was the most extreme car ride she experienced in this life. Thankfully, she could finally relax and calm down, although she still didn't let her guard down.

Kayden got down first and offered his hand to Ayami, who was stepping down after him. Ayami thanked him.

As she got off, she saw an old man hurriedly walking towards them in an elegant manner...

Now that she thought about it, his employees are kind of... eccentric...

"My apologies young master, I didn't know that you would arrive at this time. It seems I still lack some skills." The old man, dressed like a butler, did a ninety degree bow. Kayden just laughed it off. "Old man, how many times do I tell you? You don't need to greet me."

"It is my job, young master." The old butler stood upright and that was when he noticed the girl beside his young master. Bewildered by the girl, the old butler who had many years of experience lost composure. But that didn't last for long.

"Ahem. And this lady is?" The old butler asked. It was unusual for the young master to bring home his male friends, much more a girl.

"My friend, Ayami." Kayden happily introduced her like an excited little kid.

"Oh, I see. Then please enjoy your stay here Miss Ayami." The old butler bowed to her. Ayami couldn't say anything but thank you. "Uh, t-thank you."

"Then, I won't hold you here any longer." The old butler made way to them. Kayden and Ayami entered the villa.

After they left, the old butler, Sebastian, immediately went inside. He ran through the hallways, forgetting his elegance. Then he shouted at the top of his lungs, which surprised the other employee working here because they have not seen him once cause a ruckus.

"The young master brought home a girl!"

Hearing that news, it really was a great reason to cause a ruckus. Sebastian went to his master's study, where the madam and the master were currently staying.

“Madam, Master!”

“Seb, why are you causing a ruckus?” His master asked after seeing Sebastian looking all worn out. It was unusual as that guy was really obsessed with elegance.

“The young master... The young master brought home a girl.”

After he said that, the madam who was calm, dropped the book she was reading and looked like she faced a great crisis. While the master slammed the table and stood as he shouted.

“What?!”

His hands were pale from clenching them too tight. This is a problem!

“Where are they? Lead me there.”

Meanwhile, unaware of the ruckus they caused Kayden and Ayami were happily wandering through the hallways.. Ayami was excited to see a man's room as she had never entered one before, except for her father's.

Sweet Revenge My Sweet Life With You! Chapter 53 Let's Do Bad Things Together

“Wow, so this is your room.” Ayami said as she looked around his room. It was a pretty normal room, although it was a little bit bigger.

“I'll go get us some snacks, you stay here.” Ayami nodded her head. Kayden examined her complexion. Thankfully, she was fully relaxed. She didn't notice earlier, but she was really pale even though she looked calm. After making sure she was comfortable, Kayden left.

What a surprise. To think he lived here.

Lux Residency, it was one of the most prestigious places to live. It's residence came from a prominent and influential family. They also boasted their tight security and the crime rate was almost nonexistent.

It was on the opposite way to where she lives, which was called Golden Hills Residence. They were almost the same when it came to the residence.

Anyways, I can finally take a breather.

Ayami took out her phone. Celine was asking where she was. Ayami sent her an apology message. While she did so, she contacted her father to help Kayden, which his father readily agreed. It surprised her that he would actually agree to her request which had some risk.

Ting!

“Do you think you could hide there like a rat?”

Ayami ignored their message. Oh well, I think I should take this chance to relax and have some fun.

Ayami started to look around his room. It was really ordinary and nothing stood out. His room was painted with boring black and white colors, surprisingly. She expected that his room would be flashy considering his goofy personality. He had a big king sized bed, with a nightstand on either side. Ayami looked through the drawers of the nightstand, even though she knew it was rude. But all it had was... chocolates...

There were another two doors in his room, probably one of them leading to a bathroom and the other to his studies, as her room was also like that.

Speaking of, wouldn't this look like he was bringing his girlfriend home to introduce to his parents?

At that thought, Ayami immediately slapped herself. What the heck are you thinking? Ayami scolded herself inside.

“Hey, I'm back.” Kayden said with a woman dressed in maid's clothing following behind him, while pushing a trolley cart with tea and a variety of snacks on it. The maid bowed and quietly left the room.

They both sat on the edge of the bed with the trolley cart in front of them. Kayden picked up a cookie and offered it to Ayami while also leaning closer to her ear.

Ayami could feel his hot breath near her ear, making her feel tingly and weird. For some reason, her chest was tightening like she couldn't breathe.

Then he whispered to her ear, making it feel like she received an electric bolt. His voice was gentle, yet at the same time charming and playful, enough to make thousands of women get charmed just by his voice alone.

“You have to eat lots and rest well, because later we will do lots of bad things together.”

We will do lots of bad things together.

Lots of bad things together.

Bad...

The word bad things echoed in her mind like a broken record. Ayami felt like her brain started malfunctioning. Why... does that sound suggestive...?

“Fuuu...” As if that wasn't enough, Kayden blew through her ears, making her yelp and touch her ears.

Then, as if nothing happened, Kayden smiled and put the cookies in her wide open mouth. Then he turned to the trolley cart to get more cookies to eat.

Ayami could only eat the cookies in a daze. She couldn't even taste it. She took a peek at Kayden, who was stuffing the snacks into his mouth like a glutton.

For some reason, she felt like something shattered as dark lines appeared on her forehead.

“Why aren't you eating? Here. We will need energy later.”

Hey, I'm a patient and still need to recover, have you forgotten?

Ayami could only eat the cookies while grumbling inside.. She was already tired.

Sweet Revenge My Sweet Life With You! Chapter 54
Smiling Devil

“Haa... No more... Haa...” Ayami looked tired as she heavily breathed, while touching her belly.

“No more... I won't eat cookies anymore...” Ayami said, laying on Kayden's bed.

After gobbling all the cookies, their stomachs were full. Ayami felt like she couldn't eat anymore and she felt like she could see cookies dancing in front of her, making her nauseous while Kayden was doing fine and was still energetic.

Knock, knock.

“Young master, I'm coming in.” They both heard Sebastian's voice coming through the other side of the door. “The master and madam are here.”

Behind Sebastian was a man and a woman in his forties. They both looked sharp and serious, in contrast to Kayden, who was indifferent.

The master and madam? That means they are his parents.

Kayden's father looked at Ayami with a scrutinizing gaze. He shook his head and sternly looked at Kayden.

“I see you brought home some random girl you picked off the streets. Are you that desperate?”

Ayami's expression darkened, offended by the words that came out of his mouth. Kayden didn't speak a word, as if it was a waste talking to them.

“Haah... I expect nothing less from a freeloader. Tsk.” The madam said, sighing disappointedly.

“To think you would actually bring a dirty thing home.”

Kayden yawned, not really interested in hearing their so-called 'scolding'. But noticing the dark expression of the person beside him, he went closer to her and covered her ears. Ayami was surprised while Kayden signalled her with his eyes to not worry.

Then he turned his head to look at his 'father'. The next moment, his aura changed.

Kayden was still smiling yet, they could feel the suppressing aura coming from him. In an instant, the room's temperature dropped down.

Cold sweat dripped down the master's forehead, it was like he was looking at a smiling devil, ready to eat its prey. He bit his lips, but still he didn't falter. He couldn't let this continue, he couldn't let him be the one who holds authority.

"I..." The 'master' couldn't continue speaking as Kayden calmly spoke to him in a relaxed manner, but the weight of his voice was too heavy, as if he had the authority of a king.

"Are you gonna talk back now? Have you already forgotten who's the master of this house?"

The 'master' couldn't talk back to him and could only submit to him. Kayden stared at him coldly, it was a contrast to his usual nonchalant attitude. He was staring at him viciously, if he did one wrong move then he's a goner. The 'master' gulped down the lump on his throat.

"Get lost."

As if they were pardoned by the king, they all heaved a sigh of relief and immediately scurried out of the room.

Kayden sighed as they left the room, his aura dissipated in a single second. It seems like he was too lax.

While Ayami, she was wondering what just happened. She couldn't hear anything they were saying as Kayden was covering her ears. And he covered her ears really well, as she couldn't really hear anything at all.

Kayden removed his hands from her ears. Then he apologized to her. "Sorry, you had to see that."

"Eh, it's fine. But if you don't mind me asking, does it happen often?"

"No." It was probably because he brought home a girl. Kayden thought, while Ayami thought so too, making her feel bad. Seeing that the mood has been splashed by mud, Kayden thought of something to do.

"Ahhh! This mood is too depressing. Let's go play games!" He stood up and dragged her to a room connected to his room. It had a lot of game consoles placed neatly together. There were also movies, games, and other stuff to have fun.

Kayden immediately sat down on a cushion and set up the game. Like an excited kid, he patted the cushion next to him.

“Let’s play! Let’s play!”

At this moment, Ayami didn’t know whether or not he was a man or a child.

Sweet Revenge My Sweet Life With You! Chapter 55

Bad End

Ayami laid on the floor, tired from playing games too much. She screamed frustratedly after losing for the 999th round of the game. It has been three days since they started and Ayami had to stay here to beat the game. She was finally regretting coming here.

“This is too much!!!”

Bad, this is the bad you are talking about? This is just childish bad!

All they did all day was slacking, playing games, and eating junk foods. They also pranked some of the employees. And now, it was already past midnight.

Ayami felt like she was disappointed, she was expecting something else. Wait, why was she disappointed?

Ayami blushed and covered her face.

“Come on, why don’t we try one more time?” Kayden urged her and handed her the console, “Maybe this time we’ll win?”

They were playing an RPG game and were set on extreme mode. Everything was ridiculously hard and they were on it from the time they started playing.

Before they could even face the final boss, they would have to defeat the mini bosses. Every time they lose, they restart from the very beginning. Which was very annoying as they would have to face the mini bosses again.

“Fine, this is the last one.”

And so, they went on a conquest to defeat the game. It was already dawn by the time they defeated the final boss.

Staring at the screen with bloodshot eyes, Ayami and Kayden celebrated.

Congratulations!

You have defeated the final boss on your 1000th round...

After that, the credits rolled. But there was still something called the after credits and it was shown right after the credits.

And so the hero lived a peaceful life. But...

Was it really the end?

An unknown creature has arrived!

Warning!!!

Please defeat it or else your saved data will be permanently erased.

“What!?” Ayami felt devastated. It wasn’t the end yet? Who the hell made this game!? I’ll find them and kill them!!!

The screen shook and the world inside the game started to crumble. Their characters were slowly vanishing, as if they were being deleted.

Then, the screen turned black. Words in red color started to appear.

B A D E N D . . .

It is unfortunate. You may only defeat the real boss when you defeat every enemy on your first try.

Ayami almost threw the console on the screen, but Kayden managed to stop her. All the time they spent on it was wasted!

This can’t be!

Then why the hell did we even play this game if we couldn’t even defeat the real boss? Why the hell was this game invented when we couldn’t even have some fun?

This game... is an embodiment of frustration and rage...

After playing the game three whole days without sleep, Ayami felt like she just wanted to crawl on a bed and sleep.

“The game you chose is the worst.” Ayami commented.

“Sorry, I didn’t know that this would happen.” Kayden was also tired and disappointed at the ending. Oh well, they can’t change anything now and they can’t return the time they wasted. There’s nothing they could do about it.

And so, they were just about to sleep when Ayami received a text message from Marie.

“We have finished interrogating the man.”

“Sorry, I need to make a call.” Kayden nodded his head and went back to his room. This room was soundproof so she didn’t have to worry about being heard.

“Tell me the details.”

Marie started telling her what they found out from the man. There was only a little bit they could find out as the man only knew a little. Of course, he was only in the lowest part of the organization.

“Come pick me up tonight.” Ayami told Marie her location. “Understood.”

Ayami hung up and then looked at the other phone. There were no activities for the past three days, they didn’t even send her a message. Ayami thought they must have given up, but the timer was still bothering her. It felt like it was calm before the storm.
