

Chapter 2381:

“Mommy, Huanhuan is hungry.”

Yan Huan tugged at Ye Rong’s sleeve. She was really hungry, but she had been holding it in. Now that her mother was back, she could have some milk powder to eat.

“Mommy will prepare some milk powder for you. Oh, right.” She patted her daughter’s little head. “Can we eat eggs later?”

“Sure.” Yan Huan loved eggs the most now, but she could only eat one a day. Most of the time, she still drank milk. No matter how an egg was, it still had some flavor, even if it was just salt, to her now, it was the best flavor.

It had been a long time since she ate anything with flavor.

Every day, there was milk powder, milk powder, and all kinds of milk powder.

Ye Rong let her daughter Sit Down, then turned on the television for her to watch. She walked into the kitchen and steamed an egg for her daughter.

Steaming an egg was relatively simple, and the time was also short. It was less than ten minutes away, and a small bowl of eggs had already been prepared. There was still a little sesame oil on top, and a few slices of finely chopped scallions.

Ye Rong fed her daughter with a spoon.

Yan Huan liked to eat this very much, so he ate it in big mouthfuls, giving his mother a lot of face. After a few big mouthfuls, the eggs were almost bottomless, and she still had to drink another pot of milk powder, after drinking this pot of milk, her small stomach was full.

Her stomach was already so small, so it was impossible for it to have much capacity. A small bowl of eggs and a pot of milk would fill her up

She rubbed her eyes. She was about to sleep.

This was one of the good things about being a child. It was easy to get sleepy. Even though she had never admitted that she was a child, she was still a child now.

Ye Rong touched her daughter’s small forehead, then picked her up and placed her back on the small bed in the bedroom. She covered her daughter with the quilt before standing up and letting out a soft sigh.

It seemed like they should leave. Now, they had to find a house first. The house they used to live in was now a dangerous house. Although it could still be lived in, she did not dare to live in it anymore, the most important thing now was to find a new place. It would be best if it was close to the express delivery company. Actually, she was a little reluctant to leave this place. After all, she had been living here for almost a year. Yan Huan was inside., she had never experienced any hardship. She had three meals a day and was well-fed. Her daughter had grown up. Even as a mother, she had also gained some weight.

However, it did not matter. This was only temporary. She already had more than 50,000 yuan in her hands. After saving for another year or so, she would be able to buy a small house for herself.

Moreover, she now had a fixed income. She had signed a contract with her boss. If she went back to work at the express delivery company, she could get 4,000 yuan a month. Moreover, it wasn't for the express delivery anymore. Instead, it was for sister Yao to retire after she had something to do, she went to take over sister Yao's job. In fact, she was just making a phone call to deal with the paperwork.

The work was very easy, but the salary was quite high.

The mother and daughter's life was quite good. At the very least, they could see the Sun in the future. Although it was not as bright as the sun, it was as warm as water.

Ye Rong opened the wardrobe and tidied up her clothes. During this year, she had a lot more clothes, but they were all given to her by the lady boss. After the lady boss became pregnant, she became fat, therefore, she did not want these clothes. Some of them were given to her, and some were given to the nanny. Although they were all old clothes, they were all washed very cleanly. Of course, the Lady Boss had not worn them many times. Some of the clothes., even the logo was on them.

She folded the clothes one by one and put them in bags. If she wanted to leave, she could just take these clothes with her. She could not take anything else with her.

There were also Yan Huan's clothes. She had already packed a few bags. Yan Huan had a lot of clothes, and they were all bought by the Lady Boss. She was going to dress her daughter after practice, so if she had the chance, she would buy one or two pieces, hence, they had stayed here for a few months. Other than those that were too small to wear, Yan Huan had only packed two bags of clothes, which was much more than what an adult like her had.

There were also a lot of toys for Yan Huan. There were a lot of dolls. However, Yan Huan didn't seem to like these. She would happily accept gifts from others. However, when she took them to the room, she placed them aside, she didn't move or look at them.

She sat there and waited. The next day, the boss and the lady came back. They were holding their children and their moods were extremely good.

The old lady was even more proud and happy, but in a moment, she wanted to cry again.

"You can't cry after giving birth," the nanny at the side quickly said. "You can't see the Wind, you can't Cry, you can't catch a cold."

Ye Rong had some experience in taking care of children. Yan Huan had not been brought up to this age by her own hands. When she saw the child with its eyes wide open and clearly wrinkled little face, she knew that this little guy was probably hungry.

She quickly went into the kitchen, took the sterilized milk bottle, brewed a pot of milk powder, and took it out for the child.

As expected, the child was hungry. He bit on the milk bottle but was unwilling to let go. His little fists were clenched tightly, and the adults' hearts were about to soften.

Yan Huan handed the milk bottle to the boss, this new nanny, and asked him to feed his daughter.

This was actually a very good parent-child activity, and the new baby daddy was naturally willing to do it. Compared to his initial ignorance, he had improved a lot. Now, he could hold the baby and also feed the baby.

The little girl that the lady boss gave birth to seemed to have turned a little white after being raised for a few days. She had also grown a little. She was an extremely beautiful child.

Of course, the lady boss was extremely satisfied with the child she gave birth to. She also felt that her daughter was much more beautiful than Yan Huan. Of course, when she grew up, she would definitely be more beautiful than Yan Huan.

Of course, this little girl had also changed from the days when she ate milk powder to the days when she could eat her mother's breast milk. Every day, her little face was flushed red as she ate milk. The lady boss fed her little stomach until it was full. In just a few days'time., she had already become like a small rubber ball. She had become white and tender. In the past, she was a steamed bun that had just been placed in the pot. Now, she had become a little bun that had just come out of the cage.

She was white and tender. Her little face was also puffing internally. Her eyes were also opened. After all, she had given birth to her own child. That meant that she was different from other people's children.

The lady boss could not leave her own child at a glance. Now, she had to hug her every day. She could not put her hands down.

The Little Bun had also inherited a good look for himself. After all, her parents were not ugly to begin with.

Chapter 2382: was about to be moved away

The little one had also grown up a little and did not need too many people anymore. In fact, she really did not need them.

The Lady Boss personally took care of her daughter. There were not many things at home right now. There were only three meals a day and the diapers of the children. Moreover, this was the child of a rich family and did not know how to use diapers, they used diapers, so there really wasn't much to do at night. When she went to sleep, everyone could rest.

Ye Rong originally thought that they would be able to leave very soon, but because the children were too young and too noisy, they stayed for another five months. At this time, Yan Huan was almost two years old, and she could walk, she could also carry out the most basic communication with adults. Of course, her small mouth could also speak very quickly now.

However, it was really time to leave. Now that they were here, it didn't matter if they weren't here.

“You’re leaving?”The boss picked Yan Huan up and pinched her little face. Why was she still fine? She was going to leave.

Yan Huan cried in her heart. She already had a child, so why did she still want to hug her? She was already so old, yet she still had to be hugged by a man. She really couldn’t take it anymore, although she only had so much now and was only a child now, she still couldn’t take it anymore.

“Yes, we’re leaving.”Ye Rong had actually wanted to say this for a long time, “Now that the child has been born, it’s fine as long as we have a nanny at home. We don’t have anything to do here, so I want to move out.”

The boss actually knew that Ye Rong and her daughter were here, so it was quite awkward. It was because Yan Huan was good-looking that he had asked them to come over, and also to take care of his wife at the same time, one more person to take care of her.

It wasn’t like he lacked money, and there wasn’t much difference between having one more nanny and having one less.

However, now that the child was born, Yan Huan was obviously being neglected. Meanwhile, his wife’s attention was now on her daughter, so there was no need for Yan Huan and his mother here.

However, the boss felt that something was strange in his heart. Why did it feel like he was burning bridges after crossing the river.

Although he had given them money, they could be considered to be even. Neither of them was at a disadvantage, and neither of them had taken advantage of the situation.

The Boss Thought for a moment before placing Yan Huan on the ground. Yan Huan ran over to Ye Rong and held her hand tightly. No matter what happened, she only wanted her mother.

“Huanhuan, do you want to stay here and play with uncle?”

The boss squatted down. He still liked Yan Huan very much. It would be great if this was his daughter.

Unfortunately, this was not his daughter. This was Ye Rong’s daughter.

Yan Huan shook his little head like a wave drum. Then, he grabbed ye Rong’s fingers tightly.

“Huanhuan and mother are together. They won’t be separated.”

“Even if we don’t have such a big house to live in in the future?”The boss asked Yan Huan again. In fact, he did not know why he asked this question. He was asking a child who was only babbling.

And when he noticed, this question had already been asked.

Ye Rong held her daughter’s small hand tightly, and there was an uncontrollable embarrassment on her face.

It was because she was useless and could not give her daughter a good life.

On the other hand, Yan Huan looked at his mother, and then shook his head hard at the boss.

“I don’t want a big house, I want my mother.”

The boss was actually different now. He just wanted to tease Yan Huan. His daughter was still a five-month-old baby, but Yan Huan was almost two years old now, so it was much easier for her to learn how to speak.

“I don’t want good food, I want a mother.”

Yan Huan wasn’t a real child. No matter how many lifetimes she lived, she would always have whatever she wanted. However, the only thing she couldn’t do was to have a mother. Therefore, in this life, she didn’t want anything else, she only wanted a mother.

How could she abandon her mother just because of those external things? A child did not mind a mother being ugly. No matter how hard she worked, she would never let her mother work hard in this life.

“But you and your mother don’t have any delicious food anymore.”The boss reached out his hand and rubbed Yan Huan’s little head.

“Huanhuan will earn money in the future to buy delicious food for her mother.”

Yan Huan raised her chin, her face full of pride. At this moment, within her tiny body, there was a threatening aura. Even if she was the one kissing, the aura that belonged to Yan Ying was still there.

The boss was stunned for a moment, then he shook his head and smiled as well.

This child was good-looking and well-raised. She really wasn’t raised to be an ingrate. He also hoped that his daughter could grow into Yan Huan’s character, sensible and obedient.

He stood up and smiled at Ye Rong again.

“Alright then. If you find a place, you can move out. When the time comes, you can go to work at the company. I have already made the arrangements. When you go over, I will directly transfer sister Yao away and let her be the department head of another company.”

“Thank you, Boss.”Ye Rong stroked her daughter’s small head. She had to say that she had actually let out a sigh of relief. She could finally leave.

This place was good, and there was no need to worry about food and drink. There was no need to spend a single cent. However, it was indeed not a place for both mother and daughter. They still needed their own home. Of course, they had been staying here for a long time, she felt more and more like she was living under someone else’s roof, especially now that the lady boss was looking at her. The way she looked at her daughter was not quite right. She could feel it, and she did not dare to stay any longer.

In fact, if it were not for the fact that she was too short of money, she really would not have come over to be a nanny for someone else.

Just like that, they could forget about the past, and they could find their own home and live their own lives.

Ye Rong also began to look for a house. She wanted to find a better one. Her current job was very stable, and she had some money in her hands, so she did not need to live in a dangerous house or that kind of apartment.

She could still afford a house that was more than five hundred yuan a month.

This five hundred Yuan and a house that was two hundred Yuan were really too different.

On the third day, there happened to be a suitable house. She carried her daughter and went out to look.

The furniture inside was all brought along. It was a two-bedroom house, and the people who lived in front were also mother and daughter. When they left, they did not bring anything back, so the furniture was all ready-made, they only needed to clean it properly before they could move in.

Ye Rong felt that this place was very good. It was even closer to where she worked. Moreover, although the rent was expensive, at the moment, 500 Yuan a month was just within her budget. When she had nothing to do., she also had to do some small crafts. After a month, she would be able to earn back the rent.

Chapter 2383: new job

She did not want to look for another job. She was afraid that if she looked for another job, she would not be able to rent this house. Moreover, it was too much now. As long as next year came, she would be able to buy a small house, at that time, she and her daughter would have their own house to live in.

She and the landlord also signed the contract and immediately paid the landlord 5,000 yuan in rent, which was almost a year's rent.

She let her daughter sit at the side, then rolled up her sleeves and began to clean.

She just didn't know if the boss would let them take away all the bedding. If they didn't, then the mother and daughter would still have to buy a new one.

The kitchen of the new house was very big. It could be roughly seen that the things in the kitchen were also new. Perhaps it was because the previous tenant didn't fire, so there was almost no oil smoke inside.

The More Ye Rong looked at this house, the more satisfied she became. This would be her and her daughter's new home in the future. Naturally, she had to clean and decorate it properly.

Originally, she had wanted to go and get her things. In the end, the boss waved his hand and directly sent them over. The clothes they packed, daily necessities, and some other things., the boss sent them all over.

There aren't any good things either. These are things that you've used before, and these kitchen supplies are from the past. We bought new ones at home. If you don't mind, you can use them.

Ye Rong looked at the pots and bowls on the ground. Her nose was a little sour. Although they were said to be old, they were actually no different from the new ones. This was the boss helping them. She knew very well in her heart.

In fact, it was for the best. They should leave. Otherwise, no one knew if there would be any conflicts. After all, people liked to compare themselves with each other, and the lady boss was the same.

Yan Huan was very obedient, very beautiful, and also very likable. Ye Rong was afraid that others would compare her child to the Lady Boss's child. When that happened, the lady boss would be unhappy everywhere. Otherwise., she might leave so persistently.

Moreover, living under someone else's roof was not what she liked after all.

Other than bringing these, the boss also brought a few new blankets for ye Rong. There were blankets, pillows, and the like inside, but the lady boss did not show any sign of it.

Ye Rong did not feel any sense of loss. In fact, to put it bluntly, they were originally an employer and an employee. They paid with one hand and paid with the other.

Ye Rong had paid with her own time and her daughter's little face. She had only lived in her boss's house for more than a year. It was not as if she had not done anything in the past year.

In fact, she had to do everything. She had to do her best to please everyone in the house, including the nanny. If Yan Huan was not really likable, perhaps ye Rong's life would not have been so easy.

And now, they had finally moved out. Although they still did not have a big house and could not eat delicacies, this was their small house in the future. Everything here would belong to them in the future, they would no longer be bullied or looked down upon by others. They could do whatever they wanted and eat whatever they wanted. It was not like when they were at the boss's house. Even when she wanted to steam an egg for her daughter., they were all very careful, afraid that they would be looked down upon by others.

She squatted down in front of her daughter and touched her little face.

From now on, Huanhuan would be able to eat eggs every day, alright?

Yan Huan nodded her little head forcefully and used her little arm to rest on her mother's neck.

She didn't want a luxurious house or delicacies. She only wanted her mother to be fine.

It was even better if she left her boss's house. In any case, she had never treated that place as her own home. This was her home now.

Ye Rong used a day's time to tidy up the entire house. This was their temporary residence. As long as they had a new house, they could properly decorate their new house.

Yan Huan actually wanted to pick up Yi Ling, but she still knew that Yi Ling's parents were still around. She was only sent to the orphanage when she was five or six years old, so now, she still had to wait for a few more years.

And a few years was enough for her to grow up and earn money.

And now, what she had to do was nothing else but eat well and grow up healthily.

On the second day, Ye Rong brought her daughter to the express delivery company.

It had been a long time since everyone had seen Yan Yueh. When they saw Yan Huan, they were all very fond of her. One touched her face and the other hugged her. Yan Huan also gave her face and his small mouth was steady and sweet, she was the one who had learned how to speak. With her current baby voice, she had practically conquered the entire company.

The more popular she was here, the better Ye Rong's life would be.

Moreover, the people here were all of the working class. Everyone was earning a salary and doing their own things. There wasn't much infighting.

Ye Rong took sister Yao's place and began to do accounting work. In fact, she didn't come here to be an accountant. She just gave others a job every day and took calls. Her work was much easier than before, of course, she could also put Yan Huan beside her desk so that she could take care of her daughter nearby.

Yan Huan was very obedient to begin with. In fact, she didn't know how she lived her life. In short, she would sit here for a whole day. Of course, she would go to the toilet by herself.

"Mom..." Yan Huan tugged at the corner of Ye Rong's clothes. She still looked like a group of little penguins, her short legs swaying as she walked.

"What's Wrong?" Yan Huan picked up his daughter and touched her forehead, afraid that she would feel uncomfortable or something.

"Mommy, Huanhuan needs to Pee."

Yan Huan climbed down Ye Rong's leg and wanted to go to the toilet himself.

"Mommy will bring you there." Ye Rong held her daughter's little hand and brought her to the toilet. The toilet here was a little dangerous. Yan Huan was too young, and Yan Huan had gone to the toilet himself a few times before, so she was not scared to death, she was afraid that Yan Huan would drop her and bring her up again. Then, she would become a smelly child.

After going to the washroom, Ye Rong brought her daughter to wash her hands and brought her back. Yan Huan sat on his little stool. Actually, she really wanted to say that she could actually stay at home alone, although she was still young and could not do many things right now, she could still take care of herself. After all, she was not a real child, but a fake adult.

However, Ye Rong was still worried and had to bring her back.

Actually, she could also imagine that she was only two years old now. A two-year-old child, even her walking and speaking were not very steady, although she had trained herself to be much stronger than the average child, she was still a child.

Chapter 2384: Take a few more pictures

When will these little arms and legs grow up.

She brought her little chubby hands before her eyes and patted her little short legs. Actually, she did not have much of an impression of the things that happened when she was young, this was the first time that she had experienced everything so clearly when she was young. Of course, the days in this lifetime were much better than the days in her previous lifetime. At the very least, Ye Rong had a decent job, she also had a decent salary, which could completely support her and herself.

Yan Huan had also grown up. She could eat now, and she drank much less milk powder than before. Therefore, Ye Rong did not have to worry about her daughter's milk powder anymore. Now, she also had three meals a day, she ate quite well, mainly because Yan Huan needed to eat now. Therefore, the food she cooked for her daughter was considered good, and she could eat more.

Yan Huan was really not picky about food. In any case, she ate everything. In her previous life, she was too picky about food, which was why she was so thin and small. Perhaps she could grow taller if she ate well in this life.

Yes, she didn't need to grow too tall. She just needed to grow to 165. This was the standard height of a woman. However, she really couldn't grow too tall. If she was too tall, male stars would have more pressure.

Even if she didn't grow tall, it didn't matter. She just needed to maintain her 163 height from her previous life. She was 20 centimeters shorter than Lu Yi. When that time came, they would still be the most adorable height difference.

Of course, in this life, she had never thought of marrying anyone else. She still wanted to be with Lu Yi. No matter what, they would not be separated. If Lu Yi dared to marry someone else, she would let him become a eunuch.

And for the entire day, she would sit here and disappear into thin air. Usually, what she did the most was to be in a daze. No one knew what she was thinking when she looked at the window. In any case, she was a very quiet existence.

Sometimes, the entire express delivery company completely forgot that there was a little her here. Sometimes, they would forget that she was still there. It was only when they got off work., when Ye Rong carried her daughter on her back, everyone would remember that there was actually such a little girl here.

Ye Rong carried her daughter back. When she reached the entrance of a photography studio, she finally remembered that it was almost Yan Huan's birthday.

Ye Rong put her daughter down and rubbed her little head. Then, she brought Yan Huan inside. At this time, Hai City was not as prosperous as it would be in the future. There were no large-scale wedding boutiques, photo galleries, and the like, it was just that there were the most small photo galleries.

Yan Huan's childhood photos were all taken in such small photo galleries. They would be taken once a year, but in his previous life, these photos had been hidden by Ye Rong.

Later, when they found them, although they were not broken, a few were still lost.

Yan Huan's childhood photos were even fewer, so he did not even have some memories. They were not like Yan Huan's three children. Their photos had been there since they were young, and these things could not be bought with money, this was time. This was time that they had lost and could not find back.

Therefore, after Yan Huan finished taking one photo, he even made a small pose. He believed that this was very obvious. She just wanted to take a few more photos so that she could leave more memories for herself in the future.

"Sure, take a few more photos."

Ye Rong knew that her daughter loved to be smug. She had always liked taking photos since she was young. Initially, she had thought that it would be fine if she took a photo with her daughter. However, since Yan Huan liked it so much, she would let her take more photos.

Best Actress Yan was naturally very expressive. When she was facing the camera, no matter how old she was, she did not have stage fright. She was born with it. However, it was a pity that digital photos had yet to be popularized in the future, most of them were still the most old-fashioned type of film, so it was impossible to take out the photos on the spot. It was almost three days later.

Ye Rong picked up her daughter again and brought her home.

Ever since she moved out from her boss's house, she had been working here for more than four months. She was used to this new job. Sometimes she was free, sometimes she was busy, but it was still good. Her salary was also paid very timely, she had just been paid, and now it was in her pocket.

After returning home, Ye Rong put down her bag and let her daughter sit on a small stool. She turned on the television and showed it to her. Actually, Ye Rong had never thought of watching television, however, Yan Huan was a little fellow, and she really liked it, so she bought one. It was not considered new, and it was half-old. It was also very cheap. It cost a few hundred yuan, and this television had indeed helped her a lot.

When she was busy, she would leave Yan Huan alone outside. She would watch the television and sit there motionlessly. Only then did ye Rong dare to do other things.

"Sit properly. Mommy will cook for you."

Ye Rong touched her daughter's little face and placed a small toy in her daughter's arms.

"Okay." Yan Huan hugged the toy and also focused on watching the television. Only then did ye Rong walk into the kitchen. However, she could not really be at ease. When she was free, she would even glance outside, only when she knew that Yan Huan was sitting there obediently did she feel at ease and continue to be busy.

At night, they ate noodles. It was the kind of soup noodles. The noodles were all cooked very well. They were soft and very delicious.

Yan Huan held his small spoon and stuffed noodles into his small mouth. He did not know who this child had followed. Ever since she was able to eat, she insisted on eating by herself, she absolutely would not let an adult feed her.

Holding a spoon, she began to eat. At first, Ye Rong was still worried whether she would eat or not, whether she would directly eat it into her nose. In the end, after a few times, she realized that Yan Huan was eating very well for herself.

She did not sprinkle rice grains and held the little spoon steadily. Of course, she did not put it into her nose either. These rice grains were also stuffed into her little mouth bit by bit.

She did not need an adult to feed her, which saved Ye Rong a lot of trouble. Ye Rong could always eat with her daughter. Otherwise, she would have to take care of her daughter's stomach first and then go eat by herself.

If the child had a little more skin and was harder to serve, perhaps when the child finished eating, her own noodles would be mixed together.

Ye Rong washed the dishes and put them away. When she came out, Yan Huan was still watching television. Moreover, she was quite far away from the television. Sometimes, when she looked, she seemed to have gone to play something else, perhaps she did not put all her attention on the television. Otherwise, Ye Rong would still have to worry. What if the child who loved watching television had his eyes damaged?

Chapter 2385: was decided

Of course, she could rest assured on this point. Yan Huan's eyesight had been extremely good for two lifetimes. This was considered a blessing from heaven. Although she also went to school like the others, did her homework and watched TV., but her eyesight had been very good since young, even when she was courting death. As long as it was not too excessive, she did not think that she would become short-sighted.

Ye Rong originally wanted to take out those handmade things, but she suddenly thought of something. She took out a key, then opened the drawer, and then took out her passbook from the drawer, the money in the passbook., these were all the savings that she had saved up over the past few years.

And among them, when she was working as a nanny for the boss's family, she earned the most. Four Thousand Yuan a month, and every month, the boss would give her an extra five hundred yuan. Moreover, there was no expenditure, just pure income, she stayed there for a total of about a year and three months, and she earned nearly sixty thousand Yuan in total. Adding on the money she earned from the express delivery, she now had eighty thousand yuan.

This eighty thousand Yuan should be enough for a down payment on a house.

Should she buy a house?

Ye Rong had been talking to herself the whole time. In fact, she did not know whether she should buy it or not, and she could not find anyone to discuss it with. She wanted to save some more, so that she might still have some money left over, to live. But today, she heard from a colleague that if she did not buy it now, the price of the house might rise in the future. If it rose by a lot, she might not even be able to buy a bathroom with this amount of money.

Yan Huan naturally heard it too. She hurriedly threw the toy in her arms to the side. This was a big matter for her family. Whether or not they could have their own house in the future depended on now.

The houses in Hai City were really not expensive at this time. However, after a few years, it was almost the same every year. In the end, they really could not afford it, so they could only rent other people's houses to live in, the Yan family's parents had left a house for them, but that house was also owned by the government. After it became a dangerous building, it was taken back. After that, they did not have a share, so they could only live on renting a house every day, they moved every year.

This was what ye Rong regretted the most. Back then, why didn't they buy a house? After that, they lived a life of moving frequently. Today they moved here, and tomorrow they moved there with big and small bags.

If they had their own house, then they did not have to look at the landlord's face. They could decorate it however they wanted. They could stay as long as they wanted. It was much better this way.

Yan Huan ran over with her short legs and pulled on Ye Rong's clothes.

"Mommy, buy a house."

You still know how to buy a house.

Ye Rong picked up her daughter and pinched her little face. "Mommy also wants to buy a house. However, if we buy it, we will use up all our money. What if something happens in the middle? What if you get sick? Mommy won't have the money to treat your illness." She didn't care about it, but for her daughter, she had to think more for her daughter.

"Mommy, Huanhuan is very strong."

Yan Huan stretched out her small arms and made a bodybuilding gesture. She didn't know where she learned it from, but it also made ye Rong not know whether to laugh or cry. She really loved her daughter to death.

"Mommy, can you buy a house for Huanhuan to live in?"

Yan Huan hugged ye Rong's arm. No matter what, she had to let ye Rong buy a house.

If she remembered correctly, the price of the house might start to rise in the second half of the year. If they were to buy a house then, it would not be so easy. The money in Ye Rong's hands now.., she could just make a down payment. Moreover, Ye Rong's current salary was indeed not low. After all, many people's salaries were only one to two thousand. However, Ye Rong's salary was already at four thousand, it was already considered very high.

"Alright, Mommy will buy a house for Huan Huan to live in."

Ye Rong pinched her daughter's little face again. However, she was indeed tempted to buy a house.

Yes, buy it. She had a day off tomorrow, so she brought her daughter to buy a house. Once she bought it, she could live in it. With her own house, she could be considered to have roots here, and also have her own real home.

And early the next morning, Yan Huan sat up.

Why was it so early? Ye Rong washed her daughter's face and steamed eggs for her to eat. Yan Huan's mouth was stuffed with food, and he was eating happily.

"Mommy, buy a house." With great difficulty, Yan Huan swallowed a mouthful of the eggs ye rong fed her.

She had not forgotten about buying a house.

Also, her mouth was very small now. There was no need for such a big spoon. She was eating, not stuffing.

"We'll go in a while." Ye Rong finished feeding her daughter a small bowl of eggs and then casually ate some food. Only then did she carry her daughter out of the house. In fact, she had been paying attention the whole time.

Coincidentally, not far from where they lived, there was a new building that had just been built. Now, it was also very cheap. One square meter was now more than two thousand Yuan, and a hundred square meter house was only about two hundred thousand yuan, if she paid a thirty percent down payment, she would only have to pay sixty thousand yuan. In a month, she would only be able to pay back less than a thousand yuan. She still had more than two thousand yuan in savings, she would still be able to keep another 10,000 yuan. In fact, she still had a lot of money on hand. In the past, she only had a few thousand yuan on hand, but that was not the case.

Ye Rong brought Yan Huan into the sales department. The people inside were very enthusiastic. They served tea and poured water. They even took out candies for Yan Huan to eat. Yan Huan had always been very obedient and did not say anything.

This place was certainly good, and this house was also good. Otherwise, she would have let ye Rong leave long ago. She had plenty of ways to make ye Rong not buy the house here. Although she was young, ye Rong listened to her very much, who asked her to be such a smart and cute baby.

Ye Rong chose a two-story house. The houses were all multi-story. The highest was six stories, and the two stories were not high or low. It was just right.

It was exactly one hundred square meters, and it was a house with three bedrooms and two halls. The layout was good, and the bathroom was also big. In the future, she could bathe her daughter here, and of course, there was also a very big balcony, the clothes she washed in winter could be basked in the sun on the balcony. Moreover, the house here was well-heated. Although she had to pay some heating fees, at least in winter, she would not have to suffer.

Of course, what made her most satisfied was that the houses here were all renovated by others. In other words, after they bought the houses, the owners could immediately move in.

This was what made Ye Rong the happiest. They could soon have a new house to live in, and it would soon be winter. The new house would still have heating.

Chapter 2386: she could do it alone

She didn't think about it for long. Anyway, she came out today to buy a house, so she even took her passbook with her and decided to buy the house on the spot.

Just as she calculated, the down payment was only 60,000 yuan, which was less than 1,000 yuan in a month, and her monthly salary was more than 4,000 yuan, which was enough to pay the mortgage.

When she finished buying the house, it was still a little foggy.

"Huanhuan, we have a new house." She kissed her daughter's little face. "We can move to a new house soon."

Yan Huan's eyes curved, and she kept giggling at ye Huan. Of course, she knew that this was a good place. This was the future new city center of Hai City. When the time came, all the houses here would have to be demolished, a house would have to pay for several houses, and the person who bought the house here was the same as the one who made the decision in the first place. He had been wealthy for several generations.

Yan Huan believed that the mother and daughter would definitely have a better life in the future. She would also not let her mother leave early. Right now, before she had the ability, before she had the ability, this house in the family.., would become ye Rong's biggest psychological guarantee. And Ye Rong would not become depressed and die because she had always been saving money for her daughter.

Ye Rong had a house. As expected, psychologically, she had a great sense of security. Of course, it was not that she did not have any spare money in her hands now. Moreover, it was not the time for her to be paid next month.

From time to time, she would bring Yan Huan to her new house and clean it again and again. She would also clean the windows again and again, so that the entire house would be spotless.

She had also bought a lot of cheap and good furniture from the furniture market. Just like that, two months later, the weather was getting colder and colder. Their new house had been tidied up, and they could now live in it.

She had also returned the house she was renting now. Then, she carried her daughter and her little luggage and arrived at the new home.

After arriving at the new home, as expected, even her mood was different from before. Moreover, the new home was obviously much warmer and much bigger than the place she had rented. It was unknown whether it was because it was a newly built building, or perhaps it was because everyone was already living there.

Yan Huan happily ran to the window and lifted her little feet to look outside

Ah, this place was really not bad. It was because there wasn't a building behind her home. Instead, there was a large lawn and all sorts of large trees. This was simply a natural oxygen bar.

Not only was she in a good mood, but her body was also good. She really liked this house too much. From time to time, she would jump up and down to look outside. It was just that she was too small and too short.

At this moment, a hand reached out and also carried her up.

"Mommy, it's beautiful."

Yan Huan stretched out his little finger and pointed outside the window. It was indeed beautiful. There was also a kind of fresh grass air coming towards them. This feeling could not be better. This house was really bought well, and the thing that Ye Rong did not regret the most in her life was to buy such a house. Of course, if she did not regret it now, then she would not regret it in the future.

Ye Rong used their new kitchen to cook dinner. As expected, it was much better than the rented house. The kitchen was very big. She put the refrigerator and other things inside and locked the kitchen door, so that Yan Huan would not grow up in the future, she liked to go to the refrigerator and rummage through things.

Actually, she had underestimated Yan Huan. Yan Huan would absolutely not do such a thing now.

At night, Ye Rong and her daughter slept on their new beds. They could also smell the grass-covered air. Moreover, because this was a newly built residential area, there were not many people staying here, in addition, there was a large natural lawn behind their house, so this place was really very quiet. When they slept at night, not even a sound could be heard, so they slept very soundly, this was probably the most comfortable and least burdensome sleep ye Rong had in a long time.

Finally, she did not have to worry about being chased out by the landlord. She also did not have to worry about the rent rising every year. She also did not have to worry about how she was going to spend this winter.

"Mom, I can stay at home by myself."

Yan Huan pouted. Why did she feel that she was becoming more and more childish? Perhaps it was because she was wearing this child's skin that her personality had slowly changed.

Ye Rong looked outside. When they had moved in, there was still some greenery outside. However, now that the leaves had withered and fallen, there was only desolation outside. Of course, it was accompanied by that kind of cold air.

It was fine at home. It was very warm, but it was not the same outside. It was already extremely cold outside. The winter in Hai City was not easy to live with. Even adults would tremble from the cold, let alone Yan Huan, who spent the winter the next year, the first year of winter, Yan Huan's luck was good. It was at the boss'house. Therefore, she did not know how the winter passed. She also ate and slept. It had already been a winter. Clearly, this winter.., she should not be having a bad time.

The more troublesome thing now was that Yan Huan had to follow Ye Rong to work. It was too cold outside. Not only did ye Rong have to worry about herself, but she also had to worry about Yan Huan. It was fine now, but what if it snowed.., there had always been a lot of snow in hai city. Could it be that she still had to step on the snow and carry her daughter in her arms? So this was not possible, absolutely not possible.

From now on, Yan Huan had to get used to being alone at home. She was young now, but her soul was big. She was not an ordinary child. She had her own thoughts and was also capable.

“Mom, I won’t touch anything.”Yan Huan held ye Rong’s hand and shook it from time to time.

“I won’t go into the kitchen, move the water, or run around. I promise.”

Ye Rong was naturally worried about leaving her two-year-old daughter alone at home. After all, Yan Huan was really too young, but it seemed that this daughter of hers was a little different from other families.

She had been too obedient since she was young.

It seemed that even if she did not care, she could still stay at the place where the ground was a prison by herself for an entire day. She could even stay there without moving her little buttocks.

Everyone else might be worried about other children, but she was not worried at all. At first, she had to pay attention to her from time to time, but after a long time, she could sometimes forget about her daughter, when she thought about it, the little fellow was still sitting at that small place. He still did not move much.

Perhaps her little Huanhuan could really stay at home alone.

But she was still worried.

In the end, she gritted her teeth and put Yan Huan alone at home to try it out. At most, she would run home a few more times today to see how Yan Huan lived on his own.

Chapter 2387: this winter

However, after she left Yan Huan’s body at home, she was still worried. Even when she went to work, she was a little absent-minded. Hence, she could only use the result of a day’s pay deduction to return home, however, she did not go back. Instead, she stood outside the window and watched how her little Huanhuan lived.

Yan Huan had actually noticed ye Rong, but she was unmoved. She arranged her daily life well.

She could turn on and off the television, change the channel, go to the toilet, flush the toilet, get snacks from the cupboard, and of course, sleep in her room, of course, she did not forget to tuck herself in. She arranged her life well like a big child. In any case, as long as Ye Rong wanted to see her, she would let ye Rong see her. She would even pour herself some water, moreover, she did not spill any water.

Ye Rong knew that her daughter matured very early, but she did not expect that she could actually mature so early. She was only two years old, but she already knew how to take care of herself, just like how she brought her into the company, she absolutely would not run around. Moreover, the house was indeed much better than the company. The house was big, and there was even television watching. Moreover, it was also safer than the company. There were so many people in the company, especially in their department, the people who came and went were all people. They were also boxes of various sizes that would make it easy for Yan Huan to fall. Of course, these things did not happen at home. As long as Yan Huan was obedient, there would basically not be any big problems, moreover, she would come back after work in the afternoon. Because her home was close to the company, she could exchange all the meal supplements given by the company for money. This one month would be enough for the mother and daughter to live on.

But even so, Ye Rong still lived a very uneasy few days. She was afraid that something would happen to Yan Huan, that he would fall ill, and that she would fall down. It was not easy for her to live like this for about ten days, only then did ye Rong believe that her daughter was absolutely fine, and only then did she heave a sigh of relief. As long as she got off work, she would immediately go home. Of course, she would not participate in company gatherings or anything like that. And every time she returned home..., she would see her little Huanhuan standing at the door to welcome her. Her body was always very clean. She was neither hungry nor thirsty.

The winter passed just like that. And this year, what no one would have expected was that hai city actually had the biggest and longest snowfall in the past few years. It had been snowing for more than two months, the snow fell on the ground, almost turning into bones and also turning into ice. It was very difficult to walk on it. Although there were people sweeping the snow every day, the car was still moving very slowly, of course, there were also frequent car accidents. There was no need to mention pedestrians. They would grab onto the wall when they went to and from work. If they often walked in the snow, how could they not fall.

And people would fall even harder. It was very normal for them to fall three times in one step while walking. Ye Rong had also fallen before. Sometimes, she would fall several times when she went back and forth, especially in the morning when she braved the wind and snow to go to work, it really made people want to die. Fortunately, she did not bring her daughter to work. Fortunately, her little Huanhuan was still at home, enjoying the warmth of winter.

Otherwise, she would really have to accompany her mother to suffer.

When she returned home, her body was covered in snow. When the snow touched the warm air in the house, it immediately melted.

“Mommy...”

Yan Huan ran out and imitated the little rabbit’s compromise. She looked very cute and obedient.

Ye Rong reached out and pinched her daughter’s chubby face. “Are you hungry? Mommy will cook for you.”

“Okay.”Yan Huan nodded her head vigorously. She looked outside. The snow this year was really heavy. Fortunately, she had convinced Ye Rong to let her stay at home alone. Otherwise..., she still did not know what she would look like if she was thrown. She would even drag her mother down with her.

Ye Rong put her scarf aside, rolled up her sleeves, and went to the kitchen to prepare breakfast for her daughter.

Yan Huan was still mainly drinking milk, but she had also eaten. Whether it was food or milk, she was very obedient. Therefore, compared to other children of the same age, she was growing faster, she was also taller, and of course, she was smarter.

After all, she had memorized the memories of two lifetimes. How could she not be smart.

Of course, smart people also knew what they needed to do to be better for themselves and their families.

Ye Rong prepared the meal and gave it to her and her daughter. Then, she took out some snacks for her daughter to eat. She had to go to work, so she had to go to work. Otherwise, she would not be able to pay off her mortgage, if there was a chance for her to earn money, she had to pay off all the remaining mortgage. That way, she would not have any worries in her heart.

Oh right, there were also times when she would think about it, and her palms would break out in cold sweat. This was because the price of her family's house had already risen to a terrifying level.

However, it had only been half a year. Back then, she had only bought it for around 2,000 yuan, but it had already risen to 5,000 yuan. Of course, she still had lingering fear in her heart. In fact, when she bought it, it was really the cheapest time, even when the market first opened, the price of the house was not as low as it was at that time. Therefore, it could be said that she had picked up a big bargain.

The real estate industry in Hai City had almost quadrupled in less than half a year, and from the looks of it, it seemed that it would continue to rise. Therefore, her purchase of this house was too good and timely. Otherwise, if it was now, she would have to spend more than twice as much money, and it seemed that she would not be able to buy it.

Moreover, she heard from others that the price would become higher and higher in the future, and it would also become more and more unaffordable.

At the very least, with her living conditions, if the price of the house was higher, she really would not buy it again.

She only had this little salary in a month, and she still had to support herself and her daughter.

Of course, it was also because of the house that her thoughts were not as heavy as before. The pressure on her courage was also much lighter. She only thought about how to raise her daughter, and she did not have to worry about anything else.

Ye Rong settled her daughter down, then took the scarf that she had put aside, tied it around her neck, and went out again.

The snowstorm outside was still very strong. She tightened the scarf around her neck again, then walked forward step by step. The sound of a car horn could be heard in her ears. She did not know if it was because of the traffic jam in front, or because of some other reason.

And now, the most suitable means of transportation seemed to be her two legs.

Chapter 2388: went to kindergarten

She walked into the company and sat in her own seat before starting to get busy. She had always been a very careful and, of course, extremely strong woman.

Otherwise, she would not have left her home and raised her daughter alone. She had also decided that she would never return to the Ye family. She did not even want others to know where her huanhuan came from, what kind of father did she have, her Joy was just joy. It was really simpler and much safer.

And how could she bear to let her daughter go to such a place and bear such heavy pressure? Because no one expected her to be born, and no one liked her growth, she opened the drawer and tidied up the reports. It had to be said that she did very well in this line of work. Her hand speed was still the same as when she packed the packages. Her fingers were very fast, it was also possible that it was because she had played the piano before that her fingers were more flexible than the average person's. It was also a little coincidental.

She had obtained this job with great difficulty, so naturally, she would not make any mistakes. Therefore, in the past six months or so, she really did not make a single mistake. It also allowed her to receive the boss's praise.

And because the boss had a daughter, the time he spent here was much less. Ye Rong had also heard that the boss's favorite thing to do now was not anything else, but to show off his daughter.

He said that his daughter was very beautiful and that she could be a star in the future.

But everyone was also talking in hushed whispers. No matter how beautiful she was, how could she be as beautiful as Yan Huan? Of course, these words were usually said in private, but no one dared to take the initiative to make a fuss in front of the boss, of course, it was even more impossible to compare Yan Huan with the boss's daughter.

This was birth.

This was luck.

This was fate.

One was a little princess who was doted on by thousands of people, while the other was a single mother. They came from different backgrounds, so their future achievements would be even more different. No matter how hard they worked, they would still be at the bottom of the world, when Ye Rong found out about this, her heart was really very sad.

Her Huanhuan was clearly a young lady from a rich family, but she had to suffer together with her mother.

When she thought about this, and then she thought about her boss's family, she was also glad that she moved out early. She was not greedy for an extra 500 yuan per month's salary and free three meals a day. Otherwise.., now, she might not even be able to keep her job.

Of course, it was even more impossible to buy such a nice house.

She and her daughter already had a house. She believed that her daughter would definitely have a better life in the future. She would raise her daughter well, and she would let her daughter be raised like a well-bred lady, whatever she knew in the past, she had to teach her daughter. If she did not enjoy it, she would definitely let her daughter enjoy it. Of course, she would not give her daughter any of the mistakes that she had made.

Her daughter could be ordinary and simple, she could be unknown, but she could not be schemed against by others.

However, she did not know that if Yan Huan had not lived a new life, perhaps the thing that she did not want to see the most would happen to her daughter.

Ye Rong took a deep breath and continued to work. She tried her best not to work overtime. After all, she still had a two-year-old daughter at home. A two-year-old child was still too young and could not leave her mother.

It was just like how she was back then. In fact, she could not leave her mother at that time. However, she still left in the end. It was not because of anything else but because she was also a mother now.

She was forced to grow up. Her daughter, Yan Huan, was also forced to grow up with her mother. Compared to other children, she was more obedient and sensible. A two-year-old child could do many things, of course, the most important thing was that she was already like a five or six-year-old child. She had long stopped causing trouble for her mother.

Winter passed and spring came. Following the snow-covered marriage, it was also the New Year. The weather also gradually warmed up. The people also took off their heavy winter clothes. Instead, their bodies became much lighter, some new greenery also appeared on the dry branches. The footsteps of spring were already very close to them.

Yan Huan had also grown from two and a half years old to almost three years old. A three-year-old child could go to kindergarten. Moreover, she could stay in the kindergarten for a day, which made ye Rong feel even more at ease.

No matter how kindergarten was, it was still much safer than her little Huanhuan staying at home alone. She was also not worried about Yan Huan. Yan Huan was obedient and sensible. Of course, he also had his own opinions, she was not afraid that her daughter would be bullied. As long as her daughter did not bully others, it would be fine.

Speaking of which, this house was indeed bought very well. With this house, it really saved them a lot of trouble. There was a kindergarten in the neighborhood, and in the future, primary school was also very close, just not far from the neighborhood, moreover, they did not need to cross the road. They arrived not long after leaving the house.

Ye Rong sometimes thought about what she would have done if she had not bought a house here back then. Other than moving frequently, they would also have to deal with all sorts of troublesome matters.

Perhaps Yan Huan's future schooling would also be a huge problem.

Of course, what she was thinking about now had really happened.

In Yan Huan's previous life, it could be said that going to school was like going to jail. She would wake up early every day and would have to walk for more than an hour to reach school. Moreover, she would have to rely on her own two legs to walk there, when she entered junior high school, it was even further away. She could not even go home every day and could only live in school. It was also because her family's conditions were not good, so she felt sorry for her mother, who had a hard time earning money, and did not dare to eat too much, she could only be like Ye Rong, who could buy a few steamed buns for a day with just one yuan. Because of this, she was not spared from being looked down upon by others. She had gone through hard times, and it was the same for her two lifetimes.

And this time, she returned to the time not long after she was born. Putting aside whether or not she had any golden fingers, she was now so young. Even if she had any golden fingers, it would not change anything?

The only thing that changed was that she and her mother had a real home. And this home followed. Other than the room for appreciation, there was also the convenience of going to school.

Ye Rong held her daughter's small hand and brought her to the kindergarten. When the teachers saw Yan Huan's small face, they were all quite surprised because Yan Huan was really too beautiful. Otherwise.., where did the fifth most beautiful girl in Asia come from.

Moreover, she was a polite and clean little girl. Everyone liked her.

Originally, the kindergarten was a little full and no more students were accepted. However, Yan Huan relied on his good face to make the teachers like her so much that they thought of such a beautiful child.., wasn't it a live advertisement for the Kindergarten?

Chapter 2389: who did she follow?

Of course, they took the child into the kindergarten without saying a word.

Yan Huan had also become a kindergarten student from today. Yan Huan was in her sixties, and her granddaughter was almost at the age of kindergarten, but who knew that she would be able to visit the kindergarten now.

There was actually nothing fun in kindergarten. It was just the teachers accompanying the children to play games and play house.

Yan Huan was an adult after all. Even if she was pretending to be young, she was only pretending in front of Ye Rong. Therefore, she really could not stand this childish version of herself.

Therefore, most of the time, she was quiet and did not like to participate in the activities in kindergarten. In the eyes of the teachers, a child like her was obedient and easy to take care of. She was also the child that the teachers liked the most.

Every Time Ye Rong came to pick up the child, she would receive the teacher's praise, saying how well-behaved Yan Huan was today, what words he had written, and what awards he had won.

What little red flower, what little blue flower, he had won a whole bunch of them.

Actually, Yan Huan really did not do anything. She just did not think that he was so childish, even though she was already very childish.

After half a year of kindergarten, she was still a child in a small class. However, when she was three and a half years old, Ye Rong started to teach Yan Huan the basics, such as splits and waist bending, yan Huan didn't go to a formal dance school, and everything she learned was taught by Ye Rong.

At that time, she was still unwilling to learn. In any case, she didn't have too many memories, and she only cried as she learned. She started learning this basic skill when she was three years old, and she had learned it all the way until she grew up. Otherwise., where did her soft body come from? The reason why she had such good skills later on had a lot to do with her mother. If it were not for ye Rong's training at that time, she might not have been able to walk the path of an actress, and it was also impossible for her to have such great achievements.

The reason why she had worked so hard at filming at that time was not because of anything else, but because she had a very solid foundation. If it were not for this foundation, she would not have dared to act recklessly.

Of course, it was also because of this foundation that she had learned a lot of skills. Otherwise, who knew how much suffering she would have to endure.

Therefore, when Ye Rong asked her to learn these things, she already knew that she had to start making plans for the future. Therefore, she was very cooperative with Ye Rong's teaching. It was also because she had two lifetimes of experience, so it was relatively easy for her to learn these things, in addition, she was already young, and her bones were soft. Therefore, it was simply too easy for her to practice martial arts.

And these were all things that ye Rong had practiced since she was young. However, children naturally had children's temperaments. They were unwilling to learn more, and very few children would take the initiative to learn these things.

After all, learning dance was actually very tiring.

Ye Rong had walked that path, and she knew it.

Yan Huan had also walked this path, and she also knew it.

Therefore, she was very obedient in this life. She had to do all of her basic skills to the best of her ability. She had to be even more outstanding than in her previous life. She had to be able to start early and become famous quickly.

As for opportunities, she was not afraid. Opportunities were all found for herself. As long as she was given a chance, she would soar to the clouds, and that would be the future that others could not envy.

Ye Rong was also amazed by her daughter's learning ability, so she also began to give her additional lessons. However, she discovered that her family's Little Huanhuan's ability to accept things seemed to be a little too strong.

No matter how many lessons she added, Yan Huan would be able to complete them very well. This caused ye Rong to have a little mental breakdown. She felt that this daughter of hers was a little genius.

Her IQ was obviously average, but her hands were a little skillful. If one were to talk about IQ, it was actually the Lu family's IQ that was better.

"Huanhuan, do you think that you have followed your aunt's people?"

Ye Rong touched her daughter's small head.

"The people on your aunt's side are all very smart. It's just that your little cousin is a little stupid. I don't know how he looks now. When I left, he was already four years old. He was five years older than you. Now, he's already eight years old. He's also in primary school."

Yan Huan's eyes flashed. She knew that Ye Rong was talking about Lu Yi. Was Lu Yi Stupid? No, he was very smart. They were all talented people with high IQ. It took a hundred years for Hai City to produce such an outstanding prosecutor, and there was no other person besides him.

However, she remembered that ye Shuyun had told her about Lu Yi.

When Lu Yi was young, he did not like to talk much. Whether it was learning how to talk, walk, or study, he was a little later than the other children. Therefore, people thought that there was something wrong with her IQ, in fact, it was not like that. On the contrary, Lu Yi was quite smart and his IQ was extremely high. However, because it was too high, he did not like to talk much. She could not understand why, regardless of whether it was Lu Yi., or it was because Xiao Qi and not only didn't like to play with other children.

It wasn't until she became a kindergarten student that she finally understood.

Why was that?

Because they weren't even on the same level, okay?

The other children were still wearing open pants, or they only knew how to eat and play, or they liked to look for their mothers when they had nothing to do. But they weren't thinking about that anymore. They had already known long ago. They were thinking about the future and the future.

If they were not on the same level, it would be like they were not on the same planet. How could they still get along?

Yan Huan was also deeply moved. Every time these children had snot running down their noses and cried out for their mother, she really wanted to sigh. Of course, she also did not want to beat those children up. She only wanted to grow up as soon as possible, she wanted to earn money to support her family and find Lu Yi as soon as possible. She missed him, but she also knew that she still had a long way to go. She still had more than ten years to go.

There was still a long way to go for her to continue walking on her own. No, there was still her mother.

Of course, it was impossible for her to perform so well that she could instantly kill others at the starting line. In fact, based on her current situation, not to mention killing others at the starting line, it wasn't just at the starting line, she was clearly in her mother's womb, and she already had no idea how badly she had killed them. If she counted the time, she had already lived two more lifetimes than others.

In two lifetimes, no matter how stupid she was, she would still have to become smart.

Of course, it was only because of the time and life experience that she had. In terms of IQ, her IQ was really quite average. At the very least, she was the same as her previous life, and she did not have a photographic memory, she also did not have a high comprehension ability.

She was an ordinary child. This was the same no matter how many lifetimes she had been reborn.

Chapter 2390: she was not full

In fact, sometimes she felt that her life was so strange. She was clearly already dead. Although it could not be said that she had died, it could still be considered a normal death for humans.

She thought that her life had ended there. However, she did not expect that it would be like a dream. Those two lives were the scenes of reincarnation in her dream. She thought that this was her last life.

If her life was truly perfect and there were no more regrets, then this time, it would be enough.

She would make her mother's life perfect as well.

"Yanhuan, it's time to eat." The teacher held her little hand. She could be considered the youngest here. She was only three and a half years old, and she was still just a little bit. Of course, she wasn't that outstanding, but.., she was still the most eye-catching little girl in this kindergarten.

She was very beautiful, obedient, and obedient. Of course, in the eyes of the teacher, she still did not like to talk, because she really did not know how to communicate with her little friends.

She still could not let herself become a real child, so in the end, she shut her mouth and did not speak. In any case, most people thought that she was an introverted child.

Of course, teachers liked children who were obedient, obedient, and clean. They could go to the toilet and eat their meals obediently. Yan Huan happened to be one of them, all the teachers liked her very much.

Yan Huan held a spoon and ate the food in his small bowl. After eating one bowl, he still felt a little guilty. The food prepared for the children in the kindergarten was not much to begin with, actually, she couldn't eat much with such a big stomach, but now that she had only eaten so little, she really wasn't full.

She picked up her small bowl and said, "Teacher, I'm not full."

She was the most daring child in the entire kindergarten.

Perhaps in the hearts of many children, she was the most daring. There were so many children in the entire kindergarten, big and small, from three to six years old. There weren't many who dared to beg for food for their teacher, but Yan Huan would.

She would state her requirements.

More, less, or even more.

Of course, children who could talk would have food to eat.

The teacher then asked for a small bowl of rice for her, and then placed it in front of her.

“Thank you, teacher.”

She said very politely, and then let the teacher’s blood ooze out.

How could this child be so cute? How did her mother teach her?

Yan Huan took out his little spoon and ate it one bite at a time. When he was full, he would no longer be hungry when he returned home. He could even save some food for his mother. The conditions at home were a little better, and he had his own house now, however, Ye Rong’s personality was still a little stubborn. When she did not have a house, she was worried that she would not have a place to live in the future and would be chased out by the landlord. When she had a house, she was still worried that she would not be able to repay the mortgage, although she had signed a long-term contract with the company, there was nothing absolute in this world.

If the company collapsed and the boss ran away with his sister-in-law, where would a bomb come from and blow up the company? Where would she go to work? If she did not go to work, what would the mother and daughter do in the future, they would still have to repay the mortgage in a month.

That was why, after she had such a good job, she continued to rely on the handicrafts and thought of ways to earn money. Of course, she would save as much as she could. Even the food she ate couldn’t be any simpler, sometimes, when she was in the company, she would still eat steamed buns and boiled water. She would just pass the day away. It didn’t matter if she suffered a little, but she couldn’t let her daughter suffer.

That was why Yan Huan ate her fill in the kindergarten. She helped her mother save so much food, so she had to save it.

In the afternoon, Ye Rong came to pick up her daughter. She got off work at a good time, and the end of the school day was later than the end of the school day, so she could come to pick up her daughter.

Ye Rong touched her daughter’s little head and saw that ever since she went to kindergarten, she seemed to grow faster and whiter, just like a beautiful snowball.

Her little face was chubby, and her eyes were round and bright. The longer she grew, the more beautiful she became.

“Your child eats so well,”the teacher said to Ye Rong with a smile. “She ate two small bowls of rice this afternoon. Some of our children can’t even eat half a bowl at once.”

Ye Rong was happy when she heard that Yan Huan could eat so much in a day. She always knew that her daughter ate very well. When she was more than two years old, she didn’t let anyone feed her anymore and could eat by herself.

So when she wanted to send her to kindergarten, she wasn’t too worried.

Yan Huan didn’t need to worry about eating. As expected, there was no need to worry. She ate until she was so fat.

Ye Rong held her daughter's little hand and prepared to take her home. Their house was very close to each other. It was only a ten-minute walk away.

Back at home.

Ye Rong wanted to cook something for herself to eat, while Yan Huan took out her homework book and began to do her homework. Although she was only three years old, this kindergarten was still quite responsible.

Every day, she could learn new things, and then new things. To the current Yan Huan, it was still very childish.

From one to ten, and then from ten to one.

She wrote every stroke. Of course, she could write, but because she was young and did not have much strength, the words also floated on the paper, but they also had arms and legs. The handwriting was very clean.

Ye Rong only cooked a bowl of porridge for herself and then ate it with a steamed bun.

She did not feel bitter eating such things every day. As long as she could see her daughter growing up healthily, she could eat these things every day.

And her favorite thing was her daughter's handwriting. Although she was only learning to write now, it could be seen that Yan Huan's handwriting was very neat and elegant.

After she finished eating, Yan Huan also finished his homework. Actually, she finished this kind of homework in a few minutes, but it was still done according to the children's time. Just like that, she grinded for more than half an hour.

She put the books and notebooks back into her schoolbag. She still had to practice. She did not like watching television. She liked to be with her mother.

Ye Rong taught Yan Huan everything she had learned in the past bit by bit. However, she was a little surprised. Perhaps Yan Huan was really very talented, so in the eyes of others, it was a very difficult move, on Yan Huan's body, there was no technical content at all. She could easily complete those moves. Her small arms and legs were unbelievably soft.

Ye Rong was more and more proud of her daughter.
