

Chapter 2401: would be resurrected in the future

"My dear daughter, Daddy will be resurrected in the future."The man opened his mouth. His white teeth were so bright that they were piercing.

"Oh..."Yan Huan tilted his little head. That small appearance really made everyone's face bleed. There was a child on the set, and everyone was very curious about it, but why did this child leave? They really wanted the screenwriter to add some scenes for doll, but they couldn't add any more. After all, this main scene happened after doll grew up.

So doll could only leave.

But this doll was really obedient. What if she couldn't pinch her little chubby face in the future?

He looked at the director with a face full of resentment. That small gaze of his was as if the director had bullied him and taken advantage of him. No matter how the director looked at it, he still felt uncomfortable, no matter what, he still wanted to slap him.

In the end, under everyone's reluctance to part, Ye Rong carried her daughter and left. Of course, she still carried the gifts that everyone had given her. Of course, there was also the twenty thousand Yuan that the director had promised to give them. At this time, twenty thousand yuan., it was not like the twenty thousand Yuan in the future. At this time, the twenty thousand Yuan was sometimes enough to cover the salary of an ordinary worker for a year.

Even now, Ye Rong could get more than four thousand yuan a month. Then, she would lose the one thousand Yuan Mortgage. And this twenty thousand Yuan, together with the money that she had earned, by next year., perhaps she would be able to pay off the mortgage that they owed, which would also solve the big problem in her heart.

When they came, they took a plane, but when they went back, Ye Rong took her daughter on the train. She put her daughter on the seat, then went to the train to pour water for her daughter to drink.

Yan Huan hugged his little bear and sat down obediently. He would not run around randomly. Moreover, the train had already left, so it was impossible for someone to steal the children on the train. Moreover, they were sleeping berths, so it was very safe, however, Ye Rong was still worried. Her daughter was so beautiful. If the human traffickers saw her, it would be impossible for them not to have evil intentions. Therefore, she almost always ran there and back.

She tried her best not to drink water. Even if she went anywhere, she had to bring her daughter with her.

On the train, they stayed for about a day and a night. It was not too difficult to endure. Yan Huan was very well-behaved to begin with. Moreover, this was the first time in a long time that she had taken a train. She could even see the scenery from decades ago, it really wasn't easy.

After all, the world in the future would be different from the present.

However, in just a few decades, there had been some earth-shattering changes.

If she hadn't seen the world in a few decades with her own eyes, perhaps even Yan Huan herself wouldn't have believed it. It turned out that after a few decades, everything here had changed beyond recognition, of course, this included herself.

The train arrived at the station safely. Ye Rong carried her daughter on her back. There were many bags of things hanging on her body. There were too many people outside the station, so she still felt that it was safer to carry her daughter on her back, of course, when everyone saw that she was carrying the child on her back, they all gave way to her and would not bump into her. Yan Huan was still a child after all, so she did not have much energy. Just like that, she fell asleep on her mother's shoulder. She was a little drowsy from the sleep. When she woke up., she had already reached home.

"Mommy, I want to eat eggs."

She happily called out to the outside. Right now, what she wanted to eat the most was the steamed eggs made by Ye Rong. They were smooth and tender. Almost the moment they entered her mouth, they melted. and the most delicious steamed eggs she had ever eaten were made by her mother, it was really as delicious as it could be if she ate as much as she wanted.

When she came in, Ye Rong had already brought in a small bowl of steamed eggs. She guessed that her daughter had woken up around this time, so she had already prepared them.

"Thank you, Mother." Yan Huan happily picked up a small spoon and ate the steamed eggs. Ye Rong sat at the side, tidying up the things they had brought back this time, as well as the small gifts given to Yan Huan by those people, and it was twenty thousand yuan.

She held the twenty thousand Yuan and was stunned for half a day. In fact, she was still somewhat unwilling to believe that her daughter had actually earned enough milk powder money for herself. Twenty thousand Yuan was enough for her to finish university.

Actually, Ye Rong was really thinking too much. 20,000 yuan was a lot right now, but it would not be worth much in the future. What would be the most valuable in the future? It would be the house, the price of goods in Hai City. Yan Huan had already thought it through, when she earned money in the future, she would definitely have to buy a large piece of land. At this time, land could still be bought and sold. As long as there was money, it was fine. It was just that she bit the little spoon. When would she be able to have money?

Money nowadays was really hard to earn. She sighed, but it made ye Rong not know whether to laugh or cry.

Ye Rong walked over and pinched her daughter's little face again. No matter how one looked at it, she looked like a big child and not a three-year-old little girl. What did other people's children do when they were around, it seemed like she was still rolling around on the ground asking for food, but Yan Huan was not like that. She was very well-behaved, so well-behaved that it made people worry less.

Ye Rong did not rest at home. She still had to go to work. When she came back, she had already called her boss. Actually, when she made this call, she was still nervous, afraid that she would really lose her job, however, when the boss heard that she was back, he immediately told her to go to work the next day. He would also transfer the person who took her place back to another department. When she heard this, she felt a little relieved, the thing she was most afraid of was losing her job.

Although she already had some work experience now, if she lost this job, she would have to drink the wind with her daughter in the future.

Yan Huan also went to kindergarten the next day. The teacher only knew that Yan Huan had taken a month off, but she did not know that Yan Huan had gone to film. She had always been a child who did not have much of an existence, but she was also a child who could not be ignored.

Sometimes, she would sit there for a whole day and not talk to anyone. She would either do handicrafts or write. Where did such an obedient and studious child come from? Thus, the teachers were used to seeing Yan Huan's character, they all felt that the other children they brought with them were not children, but ancestors.

Therefore, the teachers especially liked Yan Huan. Of course, they also took care of her the most. They had always given her the most food, and the fruits could also be divided into bigger portions. Although Ye Rong did not give any gifts to the teachers at the moment., however, these teachers still liked Yan Huan very much.

Ye Rong also went to work at the company. The person who had replaced her had really left. Of course, he did not leave any work for her. She only needed to complete her new work according to her previous work schedule.

Chapter 2402: courage doesn't hurt

She let out a sigh of relief. Fortunately, she didn't lose her job.

As for the other people who asked where Ye Rong went, Ye Rong didn't say that she took her daughter to film. She wasn't the kind of woman who liked to show off and was also a braggart. Her personality was naturally gentle and shy.

Naturally, she would not talk about family matters to anyone.

When others asked, she only said that she had returned to her hometown once. As for the rest, she did not say much.

Time continued to slip away in her hands. Her work had always been smooth sailing. Every month, she earned more than others. Even if she had to pay off the mortgage on her house, she could still save up a lot.

Yan Huan also went to her own kindergarten. When she returned, Ye Rong would take her to practice her basic skills.

Yan Huan began to practice her skills from the age of two and a half. It was already three and a half years old. A year had passed and her basic skills were already very good. Ye Rong began to teach her daughter other things.

Actually, Ye Rong felt that her daughter could still pull up a little more.

However, in the end, it was not that she did not pull up too much, but it was still better to let the little seedlings grow up according to time. She did not know whether the little seedlings that were pulled out were healthy or not.

Her daughter still had some good childhood. Although, no matter how she looked at it, this child did not seem to need any childhood. On the contrary, she did not like what other children liked to play.

Others liked to roll around, she liked to act, and she could even act with those big actors. She was still not at a disadvantage. Ye Rong rubbed her daughter's little head. No matter what, she felt that this daughter of hers.., had a somewhat strange character.

Could it be that before she gave birth to her daughter, she had not made any preparations and had starved her daughter to the point that she was hungry? That was why her daughter had given birth to such a strange character.

However, it was also because of her daughter's strange character and precocity. If she was like other children, as mischievous and delicate as them, Ye Rong felt that whether she could survive with her daughter would be a problem.

Ye Rong put down her phone. She was a little lost now. In fact, in the past half a year, she had already forgotten that her daughter had filmed a movie, and sometimes, she thought that there had been no news from that side. Was it because that movie could not be broadcast? She really had no concept of acting. One month, two months.., perhaps she would still be thinking about it in her heart, but as time passed, she really forgot about it.

But just before the new year, the director from that side actually called personally. He said that their movie had already been scheduled for the first day of the New Year. He had remembered to bring his child to watch it.

Ye Rong was not only confused, she was also confused.

When she turned around, she saw Yan Huan, who was already on vacation, sitting at the side reading a book. It was an ordinary comic book.

She sighed softly. She seemed to have given birth to an incredible daughter.

The company would be on vacation tomorrow. She would bring her daughter to buy New Year's products. No matter what, she had to make herself a set of clothes to wear. Otherwise, how could she watch the movie? Although no one would be able to recognize her.., her Huanhuan was the child who was filming the movie. However, what if she recognized her? As a mother, she would be embarrassing her daughter.

The next day, she arrived at the company early in the morning. She did not bring Yan Huan with her. Yan Huan used his actions to tell her that she would be fine even if she stayed at home alone. Moreover, she was a little older now.., she could even cook noodles. Moreover, the noodles she cooked were really not bad and could be eaten. However, she was also shocked. After all, how could such a young child be angry.

Now that she thought of her precocious daughter, she felt a headache coming on.

It was the other family's children who were not obedient that gave her a headache. Her family's children who were too obedient also gave her a headache.

She settled her work properly, took her things, and prepared to go home. Her daughter was still waiting for her at home. The kindergarten holidays were very early, and it had already been released half a month ago, on the other hand, Yan Huan had stayed at home for half a month without being supervised by anyone. She was so obedient, so how could she make others worry.

After ye Rong returned, she saw her daughter obediently staying in her room and sleeping by herself. She had also covered herself with the quilt. The new house was warm. Even if there was no heating, it was very warm and would not make people feel cold, moreover, the heater was still being provided.

They had really bought the right house. They had only bought it for a little more than a year, and the house price had already doubled. If they were to calculate based on her current salary, she might really not be able to afford the down payment.

Fortunately, she had made such a decision at that time. Fortunately, this decision was very right.

She gently caressed her daughter's small face.

Perhaps there were many things in this world that were not satisfactory, and she was not the best mother either, because she could not give Huanhuan a father, nor could she give her other relatives, but she would take good care of her daughter for the rest of her life. She would do everything she could to raise her daughter.

The next day, Ye Rong brought Yan Huan to the shopping mall and bought new clothes for her daughter for the New Year. It was the new year, and the children had to wear new clothes, regardless of whether it was in the past, present, or now.., every year during the New Year, she had to buy a new set of clothes for her daughter. Even though Yan Huan was still small in the past, she still bought new clothes for her daughter. Even though she was so poor that she ate this meal and did not have any meals.., but her daughter's new clothes had never been left behind.

And this year was an exception. She also bought a new coat for herself.

And when she saw her daughter's sparkling big eyes, she really couldn't do anything about it.

She squatted down and pinched her daughter's rosy little face.

"If it wasn't for the movie you shot, Mom wouldn't have bought new clothes. We all want to buy new clothes and then go watch the movie that Huanhuan shot, okay?"

"Okay," Yan Huan agreed happily. The longer he looked, the more people liked him.

"Come, mommy will carry you."

Ye Rong couldn't carry her daughter anymore. She had no choice. Yan Huan had always been picky about food in his previous life. He couldn't keep up with the nutrition, and he didn't want to wean himself off milk powder. When he was five years old, he still drank milk from a bottle. It really worried ye Rong, of course, it was also because he was too picky with his food that he looked so small and pitiful.

He was so small and weak that he was almost like a little monkey. When he was young, he really looked no different from before Xun Xun was three years old.

But not in this life. She had eaten her fill every day. In kindergarten, she had to eat two bowls of rice a day. Anyway, she was thick-skinned and had to eat more fruits.

Brave children would not be at a disadvantage.

Yan Huan could eat anything, but she did not want to be at a disadvantage.

Chapter 2403: the Little Cook

And this kind of excellent nature naturally had to be maintained well. In any case, she wouldn't suffer any losses even if she died.

She lay on Ye Rong's back and let her mother carry her. Right now, she was still young and still had this little weight. When she grew up, perhaps her mother really wouldn't be able to carry her anymore. If she continued to carry her like this., although she would not become a little fatty, her weight would continue to increase.

She was much taller than the other children.

Yan Huan carried her daughter back with the clothes she had just bought today in her hands. She was now waiting for the first day of the new year to go to the cinema.

Ye Rong did not have any relatives, friends, or sisters. When she left the ye family, she had already ended everything that had happened in the past. She had no father, no mother, and no relatives.

She only had Yan Huan Now.

Yan Huan lay quietly on her mother's back. She wanted to be a child for a few more days. In fact, what she wanted the most was for her to not grow up and for her mother to not grow old.

Ye Rong carried her daughter back home and scratched her little face again. "Can mommy steam eggs for you to eat?"

"Okay." Yan Huan hugged her mother's leg and blinked her eyes.

"What, you want to go into the kitchen too?" Ye Rong did not know whether to laugh or cry. Such a young child actually liked to go into the kitchen and even learned how to cook from his mother.

"Why does Huanhuan want to learn how to Cook?" Ye Rong squatted down and gently adjusted her daughter's hair that had grown to her shoulders. The child's hair was soft and fragrant, and her daughter's hair was as long as hers, it was very smooth, but of course, it was also tough. It was also old and shiny.

Yan Huan tilted her little head. Her small appearance could really make people go crazy from cuteness. Even as a mother, Ye Rong could not reject her daughter's cuteness.

The daughter she gave birth to was really too beautiful, especially her pair of big eyes. They were watery, like two good black gemstones.

She could not help but laugh as she rubbed her daughter's little head.

Yan Huan used her little head to knock against her mother's forehead and giggled. She had little strength, so it did not hurt at all when she knocked against her mother. She was just playing with her mother.

Ye Rong pinched her daughter's little face again. Why? Did she still have to keep it a secret from her mother? She told her mother why our little Huanhuan was thinking about cooking.

"Huanhuan wants to cook for me. It's been hard on me."

When Ye Rong heard her daughter's words, she suddenly felt her nose ache, and her eyes began to heat up.

"Mm, mother taught Huanhuan how to cook, but instead, she cooked for mother."

Ye Rong treated her daughter like a child, so if her daughter wanted to learn, she would teach her. She did not want her daughter to be a mischievous child and act recklessly. This child had always been thoughtful since she was young. The children of other families were all stupid and stupid, however, her daughter grew smarter as she grew older. The longer she grew, the smarter she became. After giving birth to such a daughter, Ye Rong actually felt a little helpless most of the time.

Ye Rong held her daughter's little hand and hung her apron around her little neck. In the end, she could not help but want to laugh. How could she have forgotten that her Huanhuan was still a little girl? She was too young.., her short limbs and short chubby legs. This scarf could be used as a quilt to cover her.

After a while, Ye Rong let her daughter sit properly. Then, she took her old clothes and swiftly cut and cut them. Then, she took a needle and thread and sewed them together. It took about ten minutes, she had already sewed a very cute little apron. She compared the little apron to her daughter's body. Yes, it was just right.

She brought the little apron to her daughter and then brought her daughter into the kitchen. She let the little girl step on the chair so that she could see the pot.

She taught Yan Huan Bit by bit. She taught him earnestly and carefully. Of course, the first thing she taught him was how to fire. Of course, she also taught him to be careful of the fire.

Yan Huan naturally knew how to fire. Moreover, she did it very well. Initially, Ye Rong did not want her to touch the fire even if she was beaten to death. However, Yan Huan was really too narrow-minded. If she did not let her open the fire, she would secretly open it.

Moreover, she was doing well now.

Yan Huan helped his mother stir-fry the vegetables. Although his actions were very clumsy, Ye Rong realized that her daughter seemed to be doing very well. She even knew to add salt into the vegetables.

Ye Rong really did not know what other families' children were like. However, her family's child was really too easy to raise. It was also too much of a headache.

Yan Huan's small face was calm. She really had no choice. She could not wait to grow up because her mother was really working too hard. She also wanted her mother to know that although she was not at home, she was still young., but she already knew how to take care of herself very well.

The people outside were all preparing for the New Year. If Yan Huan was learning how to cook from his mother, she would have learned how to cook noodles and also learned how to cook egg fried rice. She was still able to cook properly.

Ye Rong really knew earlier than most people what it meant to have a daughter who had just grown up.

However, her daughter was stubborn. They had eaten egg-fried rice for three days straight, and it was all made by Yan Huan. Moreover, Yan Huan seemed to particularly like making egg-fried rice because egg-fried rice was the simplest.

As Ye Rong ate the rice made by her daughter, she really felt that her daughter was too obedient. Now, she could even cook, and it was even so delicious.

Of course, Yan Huan did not deliberately show how outstanding she was. In fact, she was still a little crippled. Sometimes, she would lower the salt a little, sometimes heavier, and sometimes, she would not put any seasoning on.

No matter what, it was a gradual process. She was not a little monster, so how could she learn it in one go? Besides, she was an adult when she learned it in one go, and she was still a child.

Other people would go around visiting relatives during the New Year. They had no relatives at home, so they relied on each other.

Ye Rong gave a red packet with five yuan in it and then gave it to her daughter. Her mother gave Huanhuan the new year money.

"Thank you, Mother."

Yan Huan took her own new year money and ran to the drawer happily. There was a small drawer that belonged to her. Inside it were all her little things. She put her own new year money inside, actually, there were two of them. She was two years old and one was three years old. As for the one-year-old, she did not seem to have any.

However, she was already very happy that there were two of them.

This proved that she had been back for two years.

She was already three years old and could do many things. When she was four years old, she would be able to do even more things.

On the morning of the first day of the New Year, early in the morning, Ye Rong woke her daughter up. She then dressed her daughter in new clothes and wrapped her little face tightly.

Chapter 2404: Movie Time

"We're going to the movies today," she said as she touched her daughter's little face.

She had almost forgotten that she was going to take her daughter to the movies today. Was it because she ate too much egg fried rice, which made her silly.

She held her daughter's little hand and took her to the movie theater. In fact, she was a little excited because her daughter's movie was about to be broadcast. At that time, it didn't feel like much when they were on set, and she just found out that it was actually a movie. It could even talk to the air.

If it was filmed this way, would anyone watch the movie? Would they lose money? Would they have to return the 20,000 Yuan that they had received? And she felt really uncomfortable.

So when she received the 20,000 yuan, she didn't touch it. Could it be that she had a feeling early on that she might have to return it? When she bought the movie tickets.., when she bought a bucket of popcorn for her daughter, she was still daydreaming about these things.

There were not many people in the theater. It was scattered, and there were indeed not many people.

Yan Huan could not help but feel a little disappointed. When she saw the first movie, it seemed that it was after she was 10 years old. At that time, the movie tickets were indeed very cheap. Of course, there were also very few people, it was completely different from when she was the best actress Yan back then. Almost every day, the movie would be filled to the brim.

At that time, the daily box office earnings were 500-600 million. The first and second box office earnings had risen just like that. Of course, at that time, the movie tickets were already so hard to get.

It was not like now. It was still the first day of the New Year. The new year was such a good period. In the later stages, many producers and actors would go all out to squeeze into the New Year, however, the new year was not that easy to get into.

Yan Huan was not surprised that the movie she was in could get into the new year.

The domestic movies were already in a slump. How could the movies that Liu Liang had honed over ten years not be good? They had already steadily climbed into the new year's period. And in this year's new year's period.., there were only about three movies in total. She had also heard of the other two. They were both movies that were more artistic. To be honest, it would be strange if such movies were able to break the box office.

Moreover, the quality of the movies meant that she had been acting for two lifetimes, had won countless domestic awards, and had won two awards for Best Actress.

These two films were rather crude. Of course, they were not suitable for the current situation of the country. However, the investment was small, and the acting skills of the actors became a hard injury. Therefore, although the overall story of the film was passable.., however, because of many reasons, it became less attractive.

The three films were released at the same time. The other two films were not of much interest. Liu Liang's film had clearly occupied the right time, place, and people.

It was no wonder that it had a box office of 50 million back then. 50 million was probably equivalent to at least 500 million in the future.

One had to know that a movie ticket in the future would be several times more expensive than it was now. Even with the difference of several times, many films would not be able to reach 1 million. The investment in the future would also be much larger than it was now, some movies might even lose everything.

One had to admit that Liu Liang was also a talent of this era. His fifty million yuan was quite valuable. If it was in the future, it could be said that it was one of the first times of this era.

However, after that, Liu Liang did not make any more movies. This was the greatest glory of his life. However, it was also because of this film that Liu Liang's entire life.., ended his career as a director with a good ending.

Back then, this movie caused a nationwide craze to watch movies. Everyone who knew about it came to buy a ticket. It was also because of this that every actor in the movie became famous.

And she was also going to become famous.

Yan Huan was now waiting for her to become famous.

In this life, she would no longer have to work so hard. She had already used her little golden fingers to find a very good opportunity for herself. Of course, there was also a start that was earlier than others.

Just like Liangchen, Liangchen was also a child star. However, Liangchen was a child star who had never grown old, unlike the child star who had been replaced by her.

Although that child star's life had also been changed because of this movie, and she had been smoothly moving down, it was a pity that she did not grow back in the end. In the entertainment industry, where there were as many beautiful women as the clouds.., without a good appearance, good acting skills, and a suitable network of people, she would really be forgotten very quickly.

In fact, not long after, no one would remember your name?

There were not many people who could survive in this industry. There were not many people who could be remembered even after they died. There were even fewer people who could be remembered for their entire lives.

And in the entertainment industry, there were only a few people.

Of course, she wasn't worried about herself at all. In any case, she wouldn't grow crooked. and her path in this life would be easier than in her previous life. Of course, her mother would also live longer than in her previous life.

She stretched out her small hand and grabbed a handful of popcorn to eat.

The popcorn was sweet. Although it wasn't as delicious as later on, to modern people who lacked snacks, it was already pretty good. Everyone's ambitions weren't high, so they didn't feel that bad.

Of course, Yan Huan didn't either.

She was looking for her past memories.

She didn't have many memories before she was three years old, so she had forgotten all of them. In fact, Lu Yi was so intelligent that he had forgotten all of them. Of course, it was impossible for her to remember too much. In the end, even her mother's appearance gradually blurred.

In her memories, her mother was always lying on the hospital bed. She was so skinny that she was like skin and bones. Her hair had already turned white, and her beautiful fingers were covered in a thick layer of calluses, her body was so thin that it had almost turned into a pile of colorless skeletons.

The mother in front of her was only in her twenties. She was young and beautiful. She could even return to the ye family as long as she was willing to give her daughter away or leave her in the orphanage, no one knew what she had done, and no one would question what had happened to her in the past?

As long as she was still ye Rong, she would be able to enjoy everything in the Ye family.

She would be like Ye Shuyun and marry into a family like the Lu family. She would also have a husband who doted on her. She would live a life of peace and prosperity. And now, everything was just a nightmare that she had.

As long as she was willing, she could totally do it.

Chapter 2405: i wore it back

But she didn't want to. She loved her daughter more than anything else, more than her own life. She had given her daughter all her life. She had given her daughter all her life, including her own life, she had given her own bones to her daughter. She had never had a good life in her life.

But she was still happy because she had a daughter, because she loved her daughter.

The staff shouted loudly. The movie they wanted to watch was about to begin, and it was announced manually.

"We're going in."

Ye Rong stood up. She held her daughter's little hand with one hand and a small bucket of popcorn with the other. When they arrived at the movie studio, there were only two or three people inside. In fact, it could be considered good, after all, when they were outside just now, there were only two or three people. Moreover, they seemed to be familiar faces because they had already sat together for at least an hour. No matter how they were.., they could still remember their faces. These people did not go to other places or watch the other two films. Instead, they had all arrived here.

After all, to literary films, mythological films were obviously more attractive. Those traditional literary films were made with some artistic conception and also some artistry, but.., nowadays, people were actually slowly becoming flashy. who was willing to think deeply about the things in those films? People who came to spend money to watch movies just wanted to have fun and be happy, who would still be willing to use their own time to think about things that would make one feel sad? Not everyone was an artist, and not everyone was like sister Lin. After all, they all lived in such a secular world, there were still a few more secular people alive. This was also the reason why the current art films did not sell well.

Yan Huan grabbed another handful of popcorn and ate it. She did not have anything to worry about because she knew that this film would be popular. However, Ye Rong did not know that ever since ye Rong entered the film industry., yan Huan heard her sigh a lot.

Indeed, she really did not have much confidence in Yan Huan's film. However, in her heart, she naturally hoped that she could see more. After all, this was the result of her Huanhuan's hard work. Also., if she could not cover the cost of the movie and had to shave her head, then she would have taken a month's leave for nothing. The 20,000 yuan might have been returned to her. Then, she would have lost a month's salary, how much milk powder would she have to buy for her daughter Huanhuan?

She rubbed her daughter's little head. Fortunately, her Huanhuan was still young and was not very sensible. Therefore, she did not know what this meant. It meant that she had failed. She did not want her daughter to fail because she did not want to disappoint her daughter.

Her daughter was so motivated and so obedient. She did not want her heart to remember this kind of failure for the rest of her life.

That was why she had a worried look on her face. She even could not sit still anymore.

Yan Huan grabbed a handful of popcorn in her little hand. To be honest, she could not do anything about ye Rong's anxiety and uneasiness. Moreover, such uneasiness might require her to come for a few more days.

Although she did not have the heart to do so, there was still a process to go through. It was impossible for the box office to reach 50 million in a short period of time. Now was not the time for the Internet to be everywhere in the future. Therefore, there was some news., that needed to be spread bit by bit. Television, newspapers, and even the radio.

Of course, Yan Huan could not tell ye Rong right now. Mother, I came from the future. I have already lived until I'm 60 years old. How much will the box office earnings of this movie of mine be.

She believed that as long as she dared to say it, Ye Rong would probably faint from fright in the next second.

As her thoughts ran wild, the movie had already started, and she didn't eat any popcorn. She just sat quietly on the chair and watched her first movie.

At this time, she was only three years old.

On a small bed, people rolled around under a blanket. First, a chubby hand reached out, then a chubby foot. After a while, a small meatball rolled out.

The little meatball looked like a pink ball. Its small arms and legs were white and tender, just like the little white bun that had just come out of the cage.

The Little Meatball yawned. There were a few drops of water on her long eyelashes. Then, she rolled her big eyes and climbed down from under the blanket. It was just that she was too small and her legs were too short, she tried a few times but could not reach the ground. In the end, she fell straight down with a bang.

Little Tuan Zi seemed to be in pain from the fall. She sat on the ground for a long time and could not get up.

When the camera zoomed in, she saw Little Tuan Zi pouting her pink little mouth. Her little feet were also swaying. From time to time, she could hear the tinkling of bells, this was the sound of the bells on Little Ball's feet and hands.

Little Ball got up from the ground and patted her clothes. Her big eyes sparkled like gems. She looked really beautiful and was very smart and cute, especially her little pink ancient costume, the two little buns on her head were really like the new year dolls from a painting. She was very likable.

The door opened with a creak.

Little Tuan Zi tilted her head and her eyes suddenly lit up. She ran towards the door as well.

"Daddy..."she ran over and hung onto the man's shoulder. "Daddy, you've Been Gone for so many days and haven't come back to look for Ah Ying. Does Daddy Not Like Ah Ying Anymore?"

As she spoke, she pouted her lips in grievance, and tears streamed down her cheeks.

"How Can Daddy Not Like Our Ying 'er?"The man picked up his daughter and let her sit on his arm. He was originally very tall, the muscles on his body could be felt from head to toe, and the child in his arms had a pair of small feet that swayed from side to side. Those small arms and legs were indeed very fat and cute, there were also a few pits on his ten little fingers. No matter what, he wanted to squeeze a few of them.

Ying 'er, look, what did Daddy bring back for you. The Man took out a white little beast from his body. It was as white as snow, with red eyes and long ears. Other than its tail growing a little longer, it really looked like a rabbit. However, it did not look like a rabbit, after all, a rabbit did not have such a long tail.

Little Tubby happily hugged the small white rabbit. The rabbit licked little Tubby's finger. Little Tubby was stunned at first, then his mouth cracked open and he smiled happily.

Chapter 2406: was nowhere to be seen

The expression on her face changed a lot in an instant. It was also very interesting. Of course, it also made her look very lovable. It made people really want to pinch her chubby little face.

Little Tuan had become very good friends with her little rabbit. She brought her little rabbit to play together. Later on, they would go to see the stars. The little rabbit was flying in the sky. Little Tuan ran happily in the forest, smiling, he also dropped his little figure.

At this time, the scene in the movie was really too beautiful. It was so beautiful that it surprised people.

In the middle of a huge sea of flowers, there were all kinds of flowers with all kinds of colors. There were fireflies flying around, and Little Tuan did not seem to be as tall as the flowers, she was picking flowers one by one, and her little hand was already holding a lot of beautiful flowers.

The little rabbit was also quietly lying on her shoulder.

Little Tubby hugged a bunch of flowers and placed them under his nose to sniff them. He even muttered to himself in a childish voice from time to time.

“When I return this to Daddy, Daddy will definitely like it, right?”

“Little White, don’t you think so?”

Little Tubby asked the little rabbit lying on his shoulder.

Little Rabbit flew into the air and used its ears as wings. Then, it nodded at Little Tubby in the air.

“I knew Daddy would like it.” Little Tubby’s eyes lit up with laughter. He continued to pick flowers while little rabbit played with the Fireflies. He chased after the fireflies, he also chased the fireflies to some unknown place. The surrounding light was also half-bright and half-dark. Only the little girl in the Sea of flowers looked more and more like a fairy child from the immortal world.

She came back with a big stick of flowers and placed the flowers in the small vase. Just as she was about to look for her father, she heard the sound of people arguing in the room. The little rabbit flapped its ears and flew over.

The little ball reached out its little hand and grabbed the little rabbit in its palm. Then, it put its little finger to its little mouth.

“Shh, Don’t talk.”

She secretly weighed her little foot and saw that there seemed to be a lot of people inside.

Some people she knew, and some people she didn’t.

Little Tuan Zi thought for a moment, then tilted her little head. Then, her eyes suddenly curved again. She lay on the ground and quickly crawled forward. She was still thinking that no one had noticed her. After all, she was small., they couldn’t see her.,

“Can’t see, can’t see...”

Her little mouth kept saying these three words, and the little rabbit used its ears to cover its face. F * ck, where did this little master lose a string? She was so big, no., she was a big little person. How could others not see her? Only she thought that no one knew her small size.

She climbed to the front of an old man and raised her small face to look at him for a long time. Only then did she climb forward again. The old man coughed and could not help but shake his head. However, it had to be said that the originally very serious face now had a trace of a smile.

The small ball continued to lie to herself and climb forward. She stopped in front of this and that. No one knew what she was looking for?

She then walked in front of a young woman and bit her little fist.

Her eyes were bright and big, and her little mouth was wide open as if she was very surprised.

The woman sat with her eyes and nose open. Her expression did not change at all. Even the elder had not moved, so how could she jump over the elder? However, the corner of her eyes fell on Little Tuan Zi.

The Little Ball was dressed in pink, and her lips were red and her teeth were white. She was really a very beautiful ball.

Moreover, the little ball was really very small, and it was not even as tall as her legs. How Big was this ball? Therefore, the woman could not help but feel a little strange in her heart. What was going on? Everyone was gathered together, but.., why did a ball suddenly appear out of nowhere.

The little ball tilted its little head and the Little Rabbit's ears rolled up. It almost covered its entire body.

"Xiaobai, why do you think this sister is so good-looking?"The little ball squinted its eyes and looked surprised. Its small mouth was still open and its eyes were as bright as the stars in the sky.

When the woman heard this, her facial features could not help but lift up. Of course, she also straightened her body to make her figure more graceful.

This Little Tuan Zi was really a person who knew what was good for her. She was the most beautiful woman here. She had never seen a woman more beautiful and imposing than her. Of course, in her heart.., there was also a pride that rose from her heart.

This little ball was really cute and tight. The woman now liked her. Who gave birth to this? What a smart ball. Of course, this little ball also had very good taste.

The Little Ball continued to climb. Perhaps there were too many people later. After all, the little ball was too small, so it climbed until it was a little dizzy. After climbing one round, it climbed back to the direction it had come from earlier, she could only climb up again.

And now, the adults did not speak. They just looked at her, this little reptile.

Little Tuan Zi finally found her father.

She climbed even faster this time, and then she hugged her father's leg.

"Hehe, My Ying 'ER is really amazing. She can even find her father."The man carried his daughter with one hand. The little child smiled like a flower, and her eyes were clear and transparent, she was also like a pretty little steamed bun, as if she was solid.

But she was really cute and very likable.

This village was peaceful and peaceful. The people of this village, Little Tuan, grew up in this kind of village without any worries. She had the love of her parents, and in addition, she was already beautiful and cute, the villagers liked her very much.

Until one day, a heavy rain that had not rained in decades fell on the entire village. A big knife stained with snow brought the disaster to the village. The people of the village, regardless of gender, age, or age, did not escape.

Only Little Tuan Zi was hidden by her father and escaped this disaster.

Little Tuan Zi stepped on the blood of the villagers and found her father. She hugged her father's arm as the heavy rain poured down. The cold sound of the rain seemed to make people feel even more desolate..

After that, someone took Little Tuan zi away. When Little Tuan Zi turned around, the only thing that was frozen in the scene was the excessive gloominess in Little Tuan Zi's eyes. There was also the kind of loneliness that was forced by early-maturing hatred.

There was no time in the mountain. Little Tuan Zi had only known how to cry and play. However, as time passed in the mountain, he grew up day by day. However, what did not disappear was the hatred that was reflected in his eyes.

Chapter 2407: bonus

When the movie was over, Ye Rong shuddered.

She quickly carried her daughter, her eyes reddening. She did not dare to imagine what would happen if her little Huanhuan really had no father or mother, no one to take care of her, no one to love her, and was bullied by others?

She actually came to watch this movie because of her daughter, and she was really shocked because this movie could actually make her lose track of time. Moreover, she could even hear the cries of others as she sat there, and the one who cried the most was when Little Tuan Zi lost his father. Everyone clearly knew that this was a movie, but for some reason, their noses could not help but ache, and their tear ducts.., they were also stimulated by this, and those who did not want to cry could not help but cry out.

Ye Rong wrapped up her scarf for her daughter again, and only then did she pull her daughter's little hand out of the movie theater. The surroundings were all discussing the movie just now, and they all said that the movie was too good to watch, especially little Ah Ying.., she was simply too likable. Of course, her acting skills were also too good.

As Ye Rong listened to the discussions around her, she could not help but straighten her back. This was a compliment to her daughter, and she herself did not know why, but she was actually very proud.

Her Joy was indeed the best, right?

Ye Rong brought her daughter to watch the movie once. In fact, it did not seem like her life had changed much. This time, it did not seem like she would have to do a lot of publicity in the future.

Therefore, as far as ye Rong was concerned, she had never been in this industry before. She simply did not know what this movie meant to them. Of course, she also did not care about what the movie was like, in fact, sometimes she was also a little concerned about the issue of whether she would lose money or not.

It was impossible for her annual leave to last for long. After the annual leave, she would have to go to work again. However, she did not listen much at home. When she went to the company, everyone was talking about that movie and how good it was, how touching it was.

On such a topic, Ye Rong only smiled. She did not participate.

However, it should be very easy to know that it was shot by her family's Huanhuan. Other than looks, wasn't it also famous? Or was it that everyone did not care about these things and only cared about the plot.

It was not until she received a call from the director that Ye Rong could not help but sigh in her heart. She knew that she was going to lose money. She placed her hand on the top of a drawer and opened it. There was twenty thousand Yuan inside, it was the performance fee that she had gotten from the director.

See, she knew that she would not be able to get this twenty thousand yuan. Fortunately, she had never thought of doing anything with this money.

Actually, whether her daughter earned money or not was secondary. It was mainly because her daughter wanted to go. After going, she felt that she had grown up a lot. Those who were sensible only made her feel helpless as a mother.

She could even hear the sound of cooking in the kitchen.

If she was here, then who was in the kitchen? Besides her family's Little Huanhuan, who else could it be?

Ye Rong still felt that it was not a loss to take her daughter out once. Not everyone could have such an experience. Although she received a month's salary less, it was still a month's worth of boxed lunch, even if she did not work, she could still eat. To Ye Rong, it was like she had taken advantage of someone else. No matter what, she felt a little guilty.

She was still waiting for the director to mention the matter of returning the money to her on the phone. She was also prepared to take the money to the bank and wire it back to him.

However, as she listened, the expression on her face became strange.

"Director, what did you say? You want to give us a share of the profits?"

Ye Rong's voice was a little stuttering. Did she really hear wrongly? Giving her a share of the profits, wasn't this asking her to return the money?

"That's right, Ye Rong. Do you know how much the box office earnings of our movie are?" As the director spoke up to this point, he could hear the excitement in his voice.

Ye Rong really wanted to say that she didn't know, because she had never cared about how much money she could earn. She thought that even her capital might not be able to cover it. After all, there were very few people watching the movie right now, and fewer people were watching it, how could she earn money?

And now, listening to the director's tone, it seemed like she had earned quite a lot of money.

"Ye Rong, we've earned more than 20 million." The director was so happy that he started to dance, "And the box office is still rising. It's already more than 20 million, and it's just pure income." In reality, there was already more than 50 million, and 20 million in income.., he was the one who had eliminated all expenses. Therefore, their production team had already earned more than 20 million. Of course, this was only one aspect. With the popularity of this film.., the few actors on it had already become popular.

Of course, this also included Little Yan Huan. There were already many people who were asking him about Little Yan Huan. Of course, he could not make these decisions. Whether or not to let the child develop in this aspect, he needed to ask Ye Rong, moreover, they were about to arrive at the domestic film festival. Their film just happened to be selected and nominated.

If they could win a few more awards this time, this would be the biggest success of the entire film.

And now, the director had called to ask for a share of the profits for Ye Rong and her daughter. This was something that they had already said when they signed the contract. This was because the pay for the main actors was extremely low. Who could not guarantee that... would this film be a big seller? Would it be making money when the time came? Therefore, when they signed the contract, they had said that if the box office earnings reached a certain amount, everyone would receive a share of the profits, at that time, Ye Rong had also signed the contract. Actually, everyone did not take this contract seriously. In fact, it was because the films of the past few years generally did not have a good income, and the number that the film studio had given them was actually impossible to reach, so most of them took their little bit of money to settle down.

In the end, they did not expect that the box office earnings of this film would be so good. Now, it could still earn over a hundred thousand Yuan a day. At this rate, they might not even need to use the money at the beginning of their dividends, just the small mosquito meat at the end was enough.

Previously, Ye Rong signed a contract with the film studio to get one percent of the net income of the film studio. Now that the film studio had earned twenty million yuan, Ye Rong would have to take two hundred thousand Yuan, plus the initial twenty thousand yuan, she could get 220,000 yuan for one Huang 200,000 yuan.

Ye Rong did not know how to calculate this amount. Her monthly salary was only 4000 yuan, and she had to pay off the mortgage of 1000 yuan. She also had to live with her daughter. She could earn around 300 yuan by doing small crafts every month, the mother and daughter's expenses came from this. Her salary could be saved up to 2000 yuan.

Chapter 2408: She wanted to earn money

And now, she had more than 200,000 yuan. She sat on the chair and was still unable to react. This meant that she had 20 years of savings all of a sudden. She did not need to tighten her belt, she could save it. No, she could pay off all the mortgage she owed in one go.

"Mom..." a voice suddenly came by her ear, pulling her out of this dizzy environment.

She lowered her head and saw Yan Huan wearing a small apron and holding a spatula in his small hands. The child was cute and beautiful, but she had a serious face. Now, she was wearing this outfit.

This was really..

Too Cute, right.

Ye Rong could not help but rub her daughter's small face as if she was kneading dough. She simply could not put it down.

Yan Huan still had a serious expression on his face. Then, he pointed at the table and said, "Mother, Huanhuan has finished cooking."

“My Huanhuan is really amazing.” Ye Rong really felt that her Huanhuan was sent by the heavens to save her. Why would she be given such a beautiful and sensible child.

She was only three years old, but she could already cook like an adult.

Although in the beginning, she would cook the dishes until they were burnt, and she would add too little salt or too much, after a period of time, her daughter could already cook a very good meal.

Of course, it was also completely edible.

Yan Huan was cooking stir-fried noodles today. She was now a Little Loli with a strange strength. This was also something she discovered recently. Her strength seemed to be much greater than in her previous life, and it was also better with time., as she grew up day by day, she became even bigger.

Of course, Ye Rong also knew that this was also the first time she saw Yan Huan easily lift her up. Even an adult like her could not lift up a stir-fry pot. She already knew that her daughter was a little Hercules.

What was wrong with her? She was clearly such a cute ball-like figure, and she was also a pink and tender child, yet she had a body full of strange strength.

Ye Rong picked up her chopsticks and ate a mouthful of her daughter’s noodles. The taste was really good, especially when the eggs were fried so tender and delicious. She could not help but pinch her daughter’s little face.

“My Huanhuan is really capable.”

As she ate the dishes made by her daughter, she experienced what it meant to have a daughter who had just grown up earlier than other mothers.

Not only could her daughter cook for her mother, but she could also earn money.

“Huanhuan, do you want to shoot an advertisement?” At night, Ye Rong waited for her daughter to finish her homework before speaking to her. She knew that Yan Huan was more mature and sensible than most children, she had been sensible since she was young, perhaps because of her family’s circumstances.

She had always brought Yan Huan to work with her since she was young. As a result, Yan Huan was much more obedient than the average child.

Yan Huan nodded and said very seriously.

“Mommy, I want to shoot.”

“Why?” Ye Rong actually still felt that her daughter was too young. Although she was a little loli with a strange strength, this little one still didn’t understand what it meant to shoot an advertisement, right?

“Do you have money to shoot an advertisement?”

Yan Huan pretended to be ignorant and asked ye Rong. Being a child was indeed hard work. She couldn’t be too mature, and she couldn’t be too retarded. It was just that when could she stop pretending so that she could grow up.

Ye Rong fixed her daughter's hair.

"Yes, I can earn a lot of money by shooting an advertisement." She actually didn't want her daughter to shoot an advertisement, but she couldn't lie to her. So whether she wanted to do it or not, it was up to Yan Huan to decide. And although her daughter was young.., she was already very sensible and could make her own decisions.

"Then..." Yan Huan bit her little finger. She pretended, she pretended, she continued to act.

"Huanhuan wants to do it." Yan Huan picked up her little toes and tugged at her mother's clothes.

"Mommy, Huanhuan wants to earn money, she wants to earn a lot of money."

Ye Rong did not know whether to laugh or cry. She could not help but pinch her daughter's chubby little face. What kind of little money-grubber had she given birth to? She was only young and already knew how to earn money.

"What does Huanhuan want to earn money for?"

Ye Rong asked her daughter. One had to know what this little girl was thinking about all day long. She was such a big child and all she was thinking about was toys, delicious food, milk powder, and candy. However, these were her family's.., she was thinking about making money, and to make money for her mother to spend. She wondered if this time, this child would give the same answer.

Yan Huan pouted. "Make money to buy meat for Mommy. Let Mommy Live in a big house and let Mommy Spend."

"Be Good." Ye Rong hugged her daughter. At this moment, her heart seemed to be filled with something. It was sour, painful, happy, and sighing.

"That's good. Mother is just waiting for us to happily earn money to buy meat for mother to eat."

After her daughter fell asleep, Ye Rong took a bamboo basket from the side and started to do some handicrafts. Although the family had earned money now and she had paid off the mortgage in a short while, she was still used to doing some handicrafts, after saving for a few days, she could earn more than three hundred Yuan in a month. It was enough for her and her daughter to eat.

As for director Liu's suggestion, she had seriously considered it, and in the end, she agreed to director Liu's suggestion.

Director Liu said that her daughter could now take on advertisements. After all, she was only three and a half years old. Her child would only enter primary school when she was six years old. Moreover, the primary school curriculum was not difficult at the moment, so if Yan Huan were to develop from now on.., she still had nine years of time to take on some advertisements, movies, and the like without affecting her studies. Moreover, a child her age would not be able to be the main character, just some supporting roles, the supporting roles were not important, so she could take on them.

Director Liu knew about Ye Rong's situation. It was not easy for a woman to raise a daughter. It was not easy to be a single mother. Moreover, Yan Huan's conditions were so good, so she could not be buried. She could discover the child's talent, she could also earn some money to support her family. How good would that be?

This might be a new star in their film industry in the future. Therefore, no matter what, he had to think of ways to nurture this new star.

Therefore, he wanted to shoot a film next. The young actor wanted to look for Yan Huan.

And now, many companies had come to look for him. They wanted to look for Yan Huan to shoot an advertisement. That was why he had looked for Ye Rong.

It was good that Ye Rong had agreed. Otherwise, he might have had to personally go over and persuade Ye Rong.

Yan Huan's advertisement came down very quickly. In fact, it had only been selected after the first broadcast of the movie. It was a children's drink that had just appeared.

It would only take one day at most.

Ye Rong had brought her daughter over during the weekend. Initially, she had been worried that Yan Huan would be afraid. After all, this was Yan Huan's first advertisement.

Chapter 2409: The Little Chef is mighty

However, she had really underestimated Yan Huan. Yan Huan had even made such a big movie with just a few words, let alone other things. In the eyes of others, it might be the so-called saying that a newborn calf was not afraid of a tiger, but to Yan Huan.., making this advertisement was an extremely simple matter. However, she still made it according to her age several times. The last time was when she met the director's requirements.

It was just that the money she earned from filming these advertisements was a little low.

It was only 6,000 yuan.

Actually, it was not a small amount. which family's child could earn 6,000 yuan? She was still not satisfied. However, there was nothing she could do. The endorsement fee for the best actress Yan was terrifyingly high in the industry in her past life.

Yan Huan thought of the endorsements she would receive in the future. It was either an international celebrity or an expensive one. At that time, her endorsement fee was 60 million yuan..

Now, it was sixty thousand. She was only ten thousand short.

Yes, she consoled herself. She was only ten thousand short. Yes, it was only ten thousand short. It was nothing. She would soon earn back her ten thousand words.

"We're going home."Ye Rong bent down in front of her daughter.

"Come, let Mommy Carry You."

Yan Huan lay on her mother's back. Ye Rong was still holding the six thousand yuan that Yan Huan had earned back. Her eyes were burning. Her Huanhuan was really capable. She had earned so much in one day.., she had earned enough milk powder money for her entire life.

It had to be said that perhaps it was because there was no pressure, so ye Rong's current life did not bear too much of a burden. It could also be because she was young. After all, when Ye Rong had Yan Huan, she was only nineteen years old, yan Huan was only twenty-three years old now, and she was only a twenty-three-year-old little mother. The twenty-three-year-old ye Rong was no longer the Ye Rong she used to be.

She had learned how to earn money, how to take care of her daughter, and how to bear the burden.

However, the excessive pressure had already caused her back to bend, so much so that her hair had already turned white, and her back had already bent.

And now, she really did not have to worry about life anymore. She still had a job, she still had a house, and she still had some skills. Moreover, she was only a three-year-old daughter, and she could cook for her mother, she also knew how to earn money for her mother to spend. Only she could give birth to such a child and such an obedient child.

She raised her face. Her face was still bright and clear. The young mother felt that there was hope for the future and that her life was getting better day by day, therefore, her heart was filled with all kinds of positive energy. That kind of positive energy was also a confidence that people liked and were willing to approach.

Although she was a single mother, she had taught her daughter very well. The daughter that she had taught was not as good as her.

She brought Yan Huan to the bank. For the time being, there was no place for them to change their money, so ye Rong planned to save all of this money.

She was saving money for her daughter's school fees now. She had money for primary school, middle school, and so on. By the time she went to university, she should have saved enough money for her daughter's school fees and living expenses.

Of course, this wasn't counted as saving up for her daughter. This was her daughter saving up for her own school fees.

Ye Rong carried Yan Huan back on her back. By the time she arrived, Yan Huan was already asleep. Her little face was pink and looked very healthy. It was completely different from when she was just born.

When Yan Huan was born, because she didn't have good nutrition and didn't receive good care, she gave birth to a very thin child. It didn't even weigh five kilograms. When she was young.., her little fingers were like the claws of a chicken.

Even the neighbors had said that it was too difficult to raise such a young child, especially ye Rong, who was a single mother. At that time, she did not have much money. What she was most afraid of was Yan Huan being hospitalized, this was because she did not even have the money to buy milk powder for her child, let alone the money to be hospitalized.

It was not easy for Yan Huan to grow up. Their lives were now better, and Ye Rong could finally have a good night's sleep. She covered her daughter with a blanket and picked up the basket that was placed at the side, she placed it on her lap. She wanted to make handicrafts, and she could earn a mosquito leg every month.

She was making handicrafts, and Yan Huan was really asleep. Her small and delicate brows also furrowed slightly. In fact, it was possible that Yan Huan did not know what he dreamed of in his previous life. In his previous life, or in his previous life.., perhaps it was in this life.

The advertisement that Yan Huan had shot was broadcasted very quickly. Ye Rong liked this advertisement that her daughter had shot the most. Her expression was very natural, and it did not seem like she had shot it on purpose at all.

Her daughter's small face was good-looking. Even if there was a cabbage on her head, she was still an excessively beautiful little girl.

This was Yan Huan's first advertisement. It was very successful, and of course, its influence was even better. Many people had gone back to review the movie again because they had seen Yan Huan's small appearance.

Of course, to Yan Huan, she only knew that she had earned six thousand Yuan and her family was rich again. She still needed to earn more money. In this way, she could do whatever she wanted, she no longer had to listen to others' words and look at others' expressions.

After that, Yan Huan took on a lot of commercials and ye Rong became her daughter's manager. Although she did not know how to be an agent, she knew one thing.

She would not let her daughter take on all these advertisements. Her Huanhuan was still so young. Although she was a strange little girl, she was still more than three years old.

She would definitely not let her daughter touch these weird advertisements. The advertisements she took on for her were usually children's advertisements, such as snacks, school supplies, and milk powder, there was also children's clothing. She would never allow her daughter to be too grown up. Of course, she did not treat her daughter as a money tree.

She accepted all kinds of advertisements and used the money she earned to do other things.

Ye Rong saved all the money Yan Huan earned. The most they did was shoot advertisements on Saturdays and weekends. Even though the boss had said that Yan Huan did free advertising for their company.., it had also increased the company's popularity recently. Therefore, Ye Rong's working hours were very relaxed. She could take leave at any time. However, Ye Rong was not such a pretentious person. She would do whatever others said, she still went to work as usual. Her daughter also had to go to school.

Advertising endorsements were not the most important thing. She still hoped that her daughter would live like an ordinary child. It would be simple and happy.

"Mom, it's time to eat."

Chapter 2410: an opportunity was hard to come by

Yan Huan placed a portion of egg fried rice in front of Ye Rong. She was holding a large bowl in her small hands. No matter how one looked at it, it made one feel that this soft little girl was excessively beautiful and cute.

“Thank you, Huanhuan.” Ye Rong took the rice that her daughter had prepared and placed it on the table. She then took the small bowl and gave some to her daughter. This bowl of rice was enough for both mother and daughter to fill their stomachs.

She ate more than half a bowl while Yan Huan ate less than half a bowl. Yan Huan was not big, so she could not eat much.

Ye Rong ate a mouthful of the rice prepared by her daughter. HMM, the taste was really good. It was very delicious. She did not know whether it was because of her psychological effect or something else, but she really felt that the food prepared by her daughter was better than the food prepared by other restaurants, compared to the food prepared by other restaurants, the food prepared by her daughter was even better.

“The food cooked by my Huanhuan is getting better and better.”

Ye Rong scratched her daughter’s little face. Wasn’t this little girl a little too capable.

“The food cooked by Huanhuan will be even better in the future.” Yan Huan raised his little chin. That little appearance really made ye Rong unable to help but laugh.

Of course, she thought that this was just Yan Huan’s childish words. In the end, when Yan Huan watched television in the future, he actually did not watch cartoons. Instead, as long as he sat in front of the television, he would watch a gourmet program, moreover, he was a little obsessed.

This also scared ye Rong so much that she had to stay at home to watch her every day, so that she would not get angry and hurt herself.

Fortunately, Yan Huan was a very obedient child. When she was not around, Yan Huan would not get angry, nor would he use a knife. Even though she was really a strange little loli.

Yan Huan was still watching the food program, laying the foundation for her future cooking. Of course, her advertisements would continue one after another. Sometimes, she would receive two or three advertisements in a month, she was also shooting children’s clothing advertisements for a company. She would shoot some on Saturdays and Sundays, which could be considered as the endorsement and small model for this company.

The clothes that she had bought in the past year started from spring clothes, and she really didn’t need to buy them in the middle of winter.

Every time she went to shoot, the children’s clothing company would give her a lot of sets, and she would have an endless supply of clothes. Yan Huan could vaguely remember that in her past life, she was also in kindergarten at that time, however, she was a child who had a very low self-esteem because her clothes were old. Of course, she wasn’t like other children who insisted on getting things for adults.

Her mother had said that she had been obedient since she was young and obedient since she was young. However, it was because of this that she had a low self-esteem in her subconscious, especially in kindergarten, in fact, she was a very isolated child and not many people liked her.

In this life, she was still isolated. There might still be many children who did not like her, but that did not matter. She did not need everyone to like her. The difference was that she was different from her previous life.

It was not that she felt inferior, but that she was too proud in this lifetime.

Their days were still like this. On weekends, they would go to the children's clothing store to take photos. Sometimes, they even had to take advertisements.

And when it was time for the winter break in kindergarten, director Liu had a television series that he wanted Yan Huan to shoot.

It was about the two children looking for their parents. Actually, it could be seen that the little tadpole was looking for his mother.

Yan Huan was actually a little surprised when he heard this. This television drama was practically a masterpiece in their era. It was also very popular throughout the country, from beginning to end, it practically earned everyone's tears. At that time, it was also the era where good films were most lacking. Director Xu's films were all big-budget productions. However, when Yan Huan grew up., many of them were no longer in their positions and had retired. However, the films that they had left behind could not be surpassed.

Those that could not be surpassed would be regarded as classics.

Of course, there was also this television series. At that time, it was said to be one of the most successful television series in the history of film and television.

There were only about 30 episodes. However, everyone from that era had seen and been touched by it. Furthermore, it was a modern drama. The investment was not huge, but it was made to show one's true nature.

Until later, everyone's evaluation of this movie was always very high. Of course, it was also a very successful conscience drama.

Who was the one who made this movie? Oh, right, it seemed to be Liangchen. Liangchen had become famous from this movie. That was why she said that she had grown up watching Liangchen's movie, and it was also under Liangchen's influence, in the end, she embarked on this path.

However, Liangchen should only be around twelve or thirteen years old now, and she was almost four years old this year.

All of Liangchen's success in the past also started from this movie, so her popularity in the entire industry also started from this movie. Of course, her acting skills were also recognized by everyone, as a result, her popularity in the industry also remained for a long time.

And Liangchen was the legend of this era.

Oh right, who was the person who shot this film with Liangchen? Oh right, it seemed to be the little actress who had lost Ah Ying's role to her. It was just that she had acted with Liangchen back then, so Liangchen had lost all her scenes, so her sense of existence was not as high as Liangchen's. But even so, at that time., after filming Ah Ying, she had acted in this television drama called Xiang Mei. That was why she could continue to be popular.

However, she did not expect that this time, all the opportunities would fall on Yan Huan.

As for this movie, Yan Huan definitely had to film it. It was such a good opportunity. If he missed it, he would be a fool. No one understood more than her what it meant to be an actress in such a movie?

If she wanted to start higher than others, she had to see if there was an opportunity, if she could grasp it, if there was a good opportunity.

However, the filming time of this movie was not too short. After all, it was mainly about finding a family. Although it could be considered as the protagonist's youth, this youth accounted for a large portion of the episodes, of the 35 episodes of the TV series, 25 of them were acted by them. It could be imagined that this would really take a lot of time.

However, with such a long time, Ye Rong was a little hesitant. This movie would take more than a month to shoot, and it would take half a year to a year to shoot the TV series. It was indeed not very good for the children, moreover, she did not know how to bring up the matter of taking a leave of absence with the boss.

She was working for the boss, not the lady boss, and not the boss.

It was impossible for her to have the final say in the company.

Therefore, she was still very hesitant. Should she accept it or not?

She was hesitating here, but she did not know that Yan Huan was really about to die of anxiety. Recently, he had not been able to eat or sleep well. His originally tender little face was about to wither, and she was still thinking about how to persuade Ye Rong to let her go.

Really, this was a rare opportunity. Why was her mother not like other people's mothers? When other people's mothers heard that they could film on television, they would be eager to stuff their children inside.
