

My Sweetheart

Chapter 14 He was still in Her Heart

Her jaw was lifted by Joseph, and his obsidian eyes were sharp. "I've given you a week."

"Not enough." Kathy pushed his hand away.

"I disagree." Joseph's face was full of coldness.

Kathy pouted and cursed, "You are autocratic."

Her voice was very low, but Joseph still heard it.

"Mrs. Joseph, I will become more and more autocratic."

Kathy's heart beat wildly. She was afraid.

"Don't go too far! Our marriage was not real! We have made a deal!" Kathy snapped, suddenly feeling like she was on a pirate ship.

Joseph rubbed his thin lips playfully. "Our marriage certificate is real. How can it be a fake marriage?"

Mrs. Joseph."

"... What do you mean?" Kathy glared at him.

Joseph snapped a long arm and Kathy was held in his arms again. "Be real, Grandpa wouldn't doubt it, you know?"

"But..."

"Don't say no, Mrs. Joseph. I will respect you, but only if you don't annoy me. I don't have time or patience." Joseph regained his usual warmth.

Kathy lost her voice and asked after a while, "What will be real?"

Joseph stared at her, and then pushed her against the wall, with his hot kisses falling.

His deep voice fell to her ear. "Just like now."

...

Back to the old house of Joseph family, Matthew and Joseph talked in the study.

"I heard that Joseph fund will be used?" Asked Matthew, who had never interfered with Joseph's affairs, but this time the movement was not small.

"Yes, we will buy the NCHV Medical Company."

"Have you considered it well? It's a mess." Matthew frowned.

Joseph's face was calm. "There is nothing impossible about the acquisition under the Joseph Family."

The Joseph family was the leading domestic enterprise. Although their reputation was not very big in past few years, in fact it developed very well, and now their strength in this city could not be underestimated.

"But never do thankless work." Matthew was unsatisfied.

Joseph curled his thin lip. "Why not? Grandpa, I have my own rules."

Kathy was sitting in the living room.

The message voice was constantly ringing. Kathy read the missing message and her face went pale. Peter really came back, and he came back with Herbert.

"Didn't he say they are going to settle in California? Why are they back now?"

She continued to read the message with her heart getting colder and colder.

They came back for wedding and planned to invite all of the classmates, but, she should be not on the list?

Kathy just put down her mobile phone, the phone rang again, reminding everyone in the class that there would be a class party tomorrow and sign up if attending.

Kathy was distracted until Alexia called.

"Kathy, are you going to the class party tomorrow?"

"No." Kathy didn't even think about it.

"Sure? I think you shouldn't let go this opportunity to rip off a man who plays with women's affections."

Alexia said indignantly.

The time when Peter chose Herbert, he was still in the relationship with Kathy. He cheated because Herbert's family could give him a good future. At that time Kathy loved him so much, but he hurt her so much.

"Alexia, I don't want to see him."

"Well, then, let me do it instead, and be sure I will make him feel guilty ."

Kathy smiled, hung up the phone, and looked up to see Joseph.

"Who don't you want to see?" Joseph asked casually.

"An old schoolmate." Kathy peeled the orange to hide her frustration.

"Peter?"

Kathy was in a panic and the oranges rolled to the floor.

"How do you know him?" Kathy asked subconsciously.

But then she realized that Joseph had screened her thoroughly. What else he didn't know?

"He was still in your heart." Joseph's tone was affirmative.
