Chapter 1091

Quill watched with wide-eyed horror.

He tried to get up but was scared out of his wits.

He could only helplessly watch Sean cut with the knife.

Swoosh!

The knife went straight to Quill's shoulder.

The blade cut into the flesh so hard that it touched the bone.

The pain was so intense that Quill almost passed out.

After Sean lifted the steel knife, the spot the blade had cut was already cut open.

"Hsss! Hss! Ah... Ouch..."

The blood drained from Quill's face as he gasped and twitched on the floor.

The amputation of both hands, combined with the other wounds on the body, was excruciating.

However, Quill did not pass out. It was not because he was strong-willed.

The pain was so intense that he could not pass out even if he wanted.

He bled so much that he wanted to pass out, yet the excruciating pain forced him to stay awake.

It was a pain only he could feel and bear.

"You can only learn from pain."

Sean took the bloody steel knife and patted Quill's face.

"I was wrong. Please let me go. I know I was wrong..."

Quill dared not have the slightest bit of arrogance at this point.

He begged Sean for mercy in excruciating pain.

Sean glanced at Quill before pulling out his phone and heading outside.

The crowd moved aside and waited in silence.

Sean called Jon.

When Jon got Sean's call, Jon was somewhat surprised and had a bad feeling.

Jon was driving toward the abandoned factory.

He could not get a hold of Quill. He asked the bald and burly man, but the bald man said he had not heard from Quill either.

However, Jon thought Quill must be there.

“You can remain as Willow’s assistant. I feel at ease to have you around.

“But how do you feel about getting a vice president’s salary?”

Sean asked the girl in a soft voice.

“What?”

The girl instantly looked up at Sean in disbelief.

The vice president's salary was at least a million dollars!

Did Sean not care about money?

"That's too... too much..."

The girl shook her head like a rattle after coming to herself.

"It's not much. What you did was worth it.

"I hope you'll be more supportive of Willow when I'm not around"

Sean looked at the girl and said sternly.

"... will... I certainly will."

The girl nodded heavily, excited.

A million-dollar annual salary!

No ordinary office staff could earn that salary even after working for 10 or 20 years.

She was getting paid so generously at such a young age.

It was something she dared not think or even dream of!

After all, Willow's cosmetics company was new.

However, their company was backed by River City's Lennon Group.

River City's Lennon Group was now the top player in the River City business circle.

The assistant's job was secure as long as nothing happened to Lennon Group.

Her life would never be the same again.

Her fear of Sean dissipated with the excitement.

He had no idea whether the men had been following him or waiting outside.
Anyway, with his way out blocked, there was no way he could get out safely.
Jon gritted his teeth slightly before slowly stepping out of the car.

“You’re quick.”

Just then, Sean walked out slowly and looked at Jon with a sneer.

“You’re really f*cking here.

“Where’s Quill?”

After seeing Sean, Jon knew he had miscalculated again.

Sean had gained control of the place now.

Maybe Sean had rescued Willow.

Sure enough, Jon glanced and saw Willow being protected nearby.

Though it was dark at night, he recognized her.

It meant that Jon now had no leverage to threaten Sean.

“He’s dead. It’s your turn now.”

Sean’s eyes turned cold.

Jon was silent for a few seconds before finally nodding.

He lost to Sean again this time.

Since he lost, he would have to accept the punishment for losing.

Therefore, he chose to swap himself for Quill

Willow knew they brought it on themselves.
You would not suffer if you did not ask for trouble.
Jon and Quill brought doom to themselves.
Sean had gone easy on them for so long. He finally stopped this time.
Therefore, Willow would not find Sean cruel
To be kind to your enemy was being cruel to yourself
Old Master Levi Quinn had said that to Willow back then.
Therefore, Willow would not be afraid of Sean just because he was ruthless.
Instead, she hugged Sean tighter in the car

By the time Sean and Willow returned, Candy was already asleep.
Leah had been waiting on the couch.
It was nearly 2 a.m., but Leah was still awake.
It was not until Sean, Willow, and Willow's assistant showed up that she let out a sigh of relief.

“Willow, you’re okay. That’s great. That’s great!”

Leah’s concern was genuine, and she was not faking it.

Willow shook her head slightly, feeling upset.

She was a member of the Quinn family and had the Quinn family’s blood in her body.

However, only Sean went to save her while Leah was worried about her after Willow got into trouble.

They were not related to her by blood. No one from the Quinn family cared about her.

Even Willow’s parents did not know she had gotten in such danger.

Willow even wondered if the Quinn family would not know if something bad had happened to her when she was with Quill.

“Whew!”

Willow exhaled slowly before laughing at herself.

She should not have expected the Quinn family to care about her.

She just needed to know who she should be close to, and that was enough.

“Sean, I’m sorry I didn’t take good care of Willow...”

After all that, they had to live in Blaze’s shadow for a while.

“I’m telling you this only to tell you that I haven’t forgotten.

“But now is not the time. If I take you to Blaze and ask for an explanation now, do you think he’ll give me back my position?”

Sean asked Zander, half-jokingly.

“No way.”

Zander shook his head without hesitation.

In Sean’s current state, he was probably not even qualified to see Blaze

Of course, many of Sean’s soldiers were loyal.

Therefore, if Sean returned, many warriors would choose to return to him.

However, what did it matter even so?

Blaze had replaced Sean. Though he was not yet nine-star, he was an eight-star commander.

He led millions of the Northwest’s troops.

Disobeying him would be disobeying Dragon Kingdom.

Blaze had every right to kill Sean and those soldiers as rebels.

Sean smiled as Willow pulled him along.

He naturally thought such a thing was childish, but he was willing to do it if Willow liked it.

Fion made several calls, but Willow had turned off her phone.

“Old Madam, I can’t get through...”

Fion shook her head and looked at Old Madam Quinn.

They were in a conference room at Quinn Corporation's headquarters.

Old Madam Quinn, Samuel, Simon, Faye, and a few other members of the Quinn family were there.

"Forget it then.

"Let's start the meeting."

Old Madam Quinn nodded before looking at the crowd.

"I've given you two days to think about it. How was it?

Old Madam Quinn asked quietly, looking at the crowd.

Chapter 1098

"What?"

Hearing this, the crowd froze first before getting excited.

They took a gamble to get along with Jon!

Whatever cash Quinn Corporation had available was transferred to Zimmer Corporation.

The Quinn family only thought of how they would make a huge profit once Zimmer Corporation's land downtown started developing.

However, Zimmer Corporation collapsed and went bankrupt, and their investment failed.

The capital chain had ruptured badly, and they could not hold on any longer.

It was also why Old Madam Quinn was thinking of accepting Sean's offer.

Because even if they refused, Quinn Corporation could not hold on for long.

She could only accept Sean's offer to keep the Quinn family's fortune.

However, Samuel said they had recovered the money!

It was such good news!

This way, the Quinn family's capital chain could be recovered, and the company crisis could be resolved.

"Okay! Good! How did you do it, Sam?"

Old Madam Quinn was delighted as she clapped her hands.

"As soon as we recover the money, Quinn Corporation's capital chain will be up and running again.

"We could give Sean a hard time even if he wants to go after us.

"He can't threaten us anymore."

The more Old Madam Quinn thought about it, the happier she felt.

However, Samuel's next words disappointed Old Madam Quinn from head to toe.

“Sean paid us.”

Samuel said calmly, looking at Old Madam Quinn.

“Huh?”

As soon as he said that, everyone in the Quinn family stopped smiling.

Then they turned and looked at Samuel in shock.

‘Sean paid us?

“Why did he pay the Quinn family?

“Otherwise, how can we explain these three hundred million dollars?”

Samuel took a sip of water and spoke after glancing at the crowd.

“No, Uncle Sam.

“As Gordon said, Sean stole the three hundred million dollars from Zimmer Corporation.

“Isn’t it natural that he pays the debts now?”

“I’m afraid he’ll be in serious trouble if he doesn’t pay.”

Simon was silent for a few seconds before saying to Samuel with a frown.

Samuel frowned slightly at this. Simon seemed to have a point.

If Sean took the money, it was only natural to pay it back now.

"Some non-locals were found at the scene. They're identified as wanted fugitives.

"We'll continue to follow up."

The TV reporter continued reporting.

The Quinn family's head buzzed.

"Mr... Mr. Zimmer?"

Samuel said slowly as his eyes widened.

Others were silent and afraid to speak.

There were few well-known businessmen surnamed Zimmer in River City's business circle.

The Quinn family only knew Jon's Zimmer Corporation

Therefore, they automatically thought it was Jon when they heard the news.

If the body was Jon's, Sean must have done it!

The Quinn family's heart pounded at the thought of it

Simon even said Sean was only bluffing and scaring them. He dared not do anything.

Now that Jon's body had been found, could they still say Sean was only bluffing?

"I don't think so. Aren't Young Master Zimmer and his father locked up?"

Faye came to herself and said darkly.

“Yeah! It’s not Mr. Zimmer.

“Mr. Zimmer is still locked up. You’re overthinking it.

“Yes, yes, yes. We must have misunderstood. It’s not Mr. Zimmer.”

The crowd slowly recomposed themselves as they spoke.

The government had already arrested Jon and Quill on business fraud charges.

They were still locked up, so why were they in an abandoned factory on the outskirts of town?
