Chapter 1141

Bang!

Just then, Zander, who had been following Sean, stepped forward and punched Simon.

The punch hit Simon right in the chest, knocking him out of breath.

“So what if I touched you?”

Zander asked indifferently with a solemn expression.

“You!”

Simon clutched his chest in anger.

However, he compared his size to Zander’s and chose to stay where he was.

“Sean, what do you mean?”

“We’re having dinner with President Willer, and you’re here to disrupt us.”

Samuel looked at Sean, his tone unhappy.

“It’s okay if Simon’s being stupid.

“But you too?”

Sean asked indifferently as he slowly turned and looked at Samuel.

Not only were they sitting together for dinner, but Jenson was also polite to Sean.

The Quinn family was confused about what was going on

“No wonder Mr. Lennon said you’re stupid.”

Jenson coughed gently before muttering under his breath.

It was not loud, but everyone in the private room heard it.

It was quiet, but it was insulting.

The Quinn family blushed like they had been humiliated in public.

“So I’m the big shot you’re meeting today!”

Sean slowly turned and looked at Simon playfully.

Simon had run into Sean outside the hotel earlier. He was smug and arrogant.

He mentioned meeting a big shot and that Sean was no match for them.

As it turned out, the big shot Simon was meeting was Sean.

The Quinn family was stunned and speechless.

The remark shocked everyone present.

It was no exaggeration to say that it would kill the Quinn family.

If they gave away 90% of the shares, the Quinn family would have only 10% left.

What was the difference between that and surrendering the company to Sean unconditionally?

Jenson and the rest knew they would never have agreed if Sean had made such an offer.

60% was the limit of what they could accept.

They would rather be pushed into bankruptcy by Sean than agree to give away 90%.

Jenson and the rest had no idea what happened between Sean and the Quinn family.

Therefore, they would say nothing even if they thought Sean had high demands.

They were not going to do something stupid like standing up for the Quinn family and thus offending Sean.

“Sean, do you want to go that far?”

Old Madam Quinn slowly clenched her hand in fury.

All she could think about now was that she should never have let Willow save Sean.

This would never have happened if Sean had starved to death on the street.

However, she never thought that Sean would never have done this to them after he was on the rise if they were not so mean to Sean and Willow.

However, that was the way people were. They only remembered the bad in others.

They tended to forget the harm they had done to others.

Simon could tell that Sean was deliberately mocking him.

However, what Sean said had a point.

There were times when even Old Madam Quinn was swayed.

However, unable to resist Simon's sweet talk, she eventually changed her mind.

Everything that Simon came up with pushed the Quinn family's already bad situation further into the abyss every time.

Finally, Simon and the rest had pushed the Quinn family into a very deep hole by now.

It would be a lot of trouble to climb out of it.

“Hmph! Wait and see!”

Simon glared at Sean and turned to leave.

Jenson and the rest watched the Quinn family go. No one got up to see them off.

They adapted quickly to the change in their identity.

As Sean’s staff, it was natural for them to always be on Sean’s side.

Whoever Sean had bad blood with was their enemy.

“Mr. Lennon, you and the Quinn family...”

Jenson asked warily with a slight cough.

“How unrepentant.”

Sean shook his head slightly and did not want to say much.

“Yes! That’s what I mean.”

Both Samuel and Old Madam Quinn nodded.

It was the idea they came up with when they were desperate.

“Ms. Quinn is a member of the Quinn family after all.

“I don’t understand why you want Reach For Will Group instead of a member of the Quinn family to control your shares.”

Harry shook his head slightly. He finally realized how funny the members of the Quinn family were.

It was not easy for Sean to put up with them for so long.

“It’s a long story, Mr. Clarke.

“Anyway, Willow has nothing to do with the Quinn family anymore.

“We would rather give the shares to Reach For Will Group than her.”

Samuel looked at Harry, speaking firmly.

“How much are you willing to give?”

Harry asked indifferently after pausing for a few seconds.

“50%! I’ll transfer them right now!”

Samuel held out one hand and made his offer.

However, Harry sneered.

“60%!”

Samuel immediately changed his mind and added another 10%.

However, Harry still said nothing.

Samuel slowly turned to look at Old Madam Quinn.

Samuel waited for Old Madam Quinn to nod before looking back at Harry.

“Mr. Clarke, 70%!

Maybachs and Panameras worth millions of dollars drove in a convoy.

There was a long line of roughly ten luxury cars.

The motorcade was a few hundred meters away from Quinn Corporation's headquarters, and pedestrians and vehicles on the street avoided them.

After all, they did not seem simple, so no one would casually mess with them.

These cars alone were worth tens of millions of dollars.

They were no match for top luxury cars like Bentley or Rolls Royce.

However, the fact that Reach For Will Group could cause such a big scene showed how much they valued. their appointed chairman.

"Stand well and get ready to receive them."

Samuel coughed and fixed his collar.

Swoosh!

Nearly 100 employees stood straight.

Simon, Faye, and the rest also stepped forward.

The employees stood in two straight rows.

They were dressed up and ready for the arrival of their new chairman.

"Uncle Sam, why are you so happy with the new chairman's arrival?"

Simon glanced at the approaching motorcade in the distance. Then he went to Samuel and whispered.

'Qamar said the position was above him.

'Does that mean the new chairman of Quinn Corporation is at least Harry's level if even he doesn't deserve it?'

Samuel and the rest were more excited by this thought.

The higher the position of the chairman of Quinn Corporation in Reach For Will Group, the higher their status would rise.

Samuel planned to take away the chairman's power, but for the time being, the higher the status, the better.

"They're not here yet.

"Please wait, Mr. Quinn."

Qamar looked at Samuel and said quietly.

"It's alright. It's alright. It's only natural that we wait!"

Not daring to say anything, Samuel laughed, waved his hand, and stood waiting with Qamar.

Many onlookers, including Simon and the employees, were surprised.

'Is the new chairman that important?

'Even Mr. Qamar Zachery of Reach For Will Group has to wait for them.

Everyone was surprised and expectant.

Everyone stood there, waiting for the arrival of the new chairman.

In other words, Willow was now the largest shareholder in Quinn Corporation. 1

She was the well-deserved chairman of Quinn Corporation!

Willow was stunned.

Her heart was full of mixed feelings.

She said she did not want to be at the mercy of members of the Quinn family.

However, she did not expect Sean to take over Quinn Corporation.

"I wanted them to change their attitude toward you.

"But then I realized there were some people I couldn't change.

"So I'll bring them down if I can't change them."

Sean slowly leaned back in his seat, his tone calm.

It was as if it were a trivial matter.

"But... but this is the Quinn family's company Grandma.."

Willow was silent for a few seconds before accepting the reality, but she was still worried.

"I know what you want to say.

"But Quinn Corporation is better with you than with them.

"What do you think?"

Willow was speechless when Sean said that.

After all, Samuel, Simon, and the rest did an awful job managing Quinn Corporation.

Willow cared about the Quinn family.

"Whew! But I'm afraid I'll do a bad job..."

Willow looked at the document again, unsure.

"Haha! That's not up to other people to comment.

"So what if you put Quinn Corporation out of business?"

"I can always start another company for you just for fun.

Silence. Deathly silence.

All eyes were on Sean.

Everyone felt like they were dreaming.

“You... He... He... He...”

Samuel subconsciously pointed at Sean.

He thought Harry had gotten rid of Sean.

Lennon Group had changed their legal representative, and they would take back everything Sean owned.

Sean should be back to being penniless!

However, Sean had not fallen from grace.

Instead, he got out of the car of the new chairman of Quinn Corporation, dressed neatly.

Besides that, he might be the new chairman of Quinn Corporation.

‘How... How can it be?’

Samuel and the rest looked dumbfounded.

“Mr. Lennon.”

Qamar looked at Sean and greeted him.

“Yes.”

Sean nodded, ready to open the car door and help Willow out of the car.

Samuel suddenly turned his head and glared at Qamar with deep resentment.

He had given 80% shares to Reach For Will Group and Harry

All he wanted was to kick Sean out of Lennon Group

However, Reach For Will Group had now appointed Willow as the new chairman of Quinn Corporation.

Was it not clear that Harry played Samuel?

“Mr. Quinn, choose your words

Qamar frowned slightly and spoke calmly.

However, Qamar’s calm remarks only made Samuel angrier

“You played me! You just played me!”

Samuel’s words made Qamar impatient

He would not waste his breath since he did not appreciate his kindness

“So what if we played you?”

Qamar asked in reply, causing Samuel to fall silent instantly

'We played you. What are you gonna do?
