Chapter 1251

His tone was calm, but it contained a sternness that scared people from defying him.

The middle-aged man's face darkened suddenly as his heart flared with anger.

However, Sean did not want to talk to him.

"Do you think I wouldn't touch you?"

Sean asked slowly, his tone getting colder.

The middle-aged man stared at Sean for several seconds and gritted his teeth in silence for a long time before finally giving in to Sean's gaze.

"I'll kneel."

The middle-aged man hurriedly knelt behind the crowd as he could not stand the pressure.

Then Sean slowly turned to look at the employees.

Walking forward slowly, he closed his distance from the crowd.

Hsss

A dozen of them slowly took two steps back.

These guys were corporate employees and not gangsters like Teddy.

They were so frightened that they clenched their teeth.

"Sorry to have startled everyone.

Everyone was stunned when Sean said this.

Sean had apologized to them when he had behaved so ruthlessly earlier.

It seemed Sean was not that tough either. He only dared to go after Teddy and the rest.

However, Sean would not hurt office workers like them, would he?

Weston was relatively familiar with Ray’s character—he had always been serious.

Therefore, Ray must not be joking.

How scary was Sean’s identity then?

Weston’s mouth moved at the thought, but he dared not say more.

Having expanded the company to this size, he was smarter than Teddy and the others.

He knew that some people should never be messed with.

“Mr. Lennon...”

Ray stepped forward and greeted Sean.

Weston tried to talk but did not have a chance.

Sean raised his hand and handed the Guardian Sword to Zander.

Zander took it with both hands before carefully wiping the blood off it and carefully putting it away.

Since Ray was here, Sean did not have to do the fighting and killing himself.

Is this your reply?”

Sean slowly pointed to the spot where Patrick’s grave used to be.

It was now flat, and the new soil was exposed to the air.

Sean gave them a chance, but they did not take it.

In that case, why should Sean give them any face?

“Instead of appreciating the chance I gave you, you got worse. In that case...

Sean pointed to Patrick’s grave and his voice was as cold as could be.

“Hsss!”

Weston and the rest turned ghastly pale when Sean said this.

Even Ray could not help but frown and look up at Sean.

It was as if there was something he wanted to say to Sean.

However, his lips only moved and said nothing as if something held him back.

With no one around, Ray finally called out the appellation.

“You don’t have to call me that. Have a seat.”

Sean waved his hand slightly and said to Ray.

“Yes!”

Ray answered and sat down.

It had been two years since they had last met. They never talked because they were both busy.

It was their first face-to-face conversation in more than two years.

Ray could never have imagined such a thing when he was in the army.

Sean had over a million soldiers. If every single one of them talked to Sean face-to-face, it would take them two years of service for a one-minute audience each.

“You’ve done well since you were discharged.”

Sean picked up the coffee and took a sip.

Was Sean preparing to buy this land?

“It’s not confirmed yet.”

Sean was confused after Ray answered.

Weston and his men were already here before it was confirmed. What was going on?

“Golden Source Real Estate had a big developer behind it. They’re well known in Joules Town’s real estate industry.

“Besides that, the site isn’t in a good location. There aren’t many other developers willing to take it.

“So, the land matter is pretty much settled. The rest is just formalities.

“Golden Source Real Estate is getting involved deeply to clear some of the obstacles.”

After listening to Ray’s explanation, Sean finally understood.

“I’ll take the land.”

Sean picked up the coffee, his tone firm.

Sean finished his coffee and sat in the cafe for a while.
After Zander sent him the hospital address, he planned to visit Jeffrey there.
Zander said Jeffrey's injuries were not serious.
Therefore, Sean was in no hurry.
Sean shook his head slightly while he hailed a taxi at the roadside.
It seemed that having only one car in Joules Town was troublesome.
Once Zander drove it away, Sean had no means to get around.

“Where are you going, bro?”

A young taxi driver asked Sean immediately.

Sean was about to give him the address when his phone rang.

When he picked it up, it was a call from Caitlyn.

“Just a minute.”

Sean waved to the driver and answered the phone.

“Brother Sean, where are you? Do you have any money now?”

On the phone, Caitlyn’s voice was anxious and ashamed.

‘Besides that, he gave an extra one hundred thousand dollars.’

“Gosh. Three hundred thousand dollars. How did Sean get so rich?”

“Are soldiers so well-paid nowadays?”

Several people nearby looked surprised.

Caitlyn was even more excited. Then she went with May to the payment counter to pay the fee.

The hospital immediately scheduled the surgery once they made the payment.

Soon little Lydia, who was five or six, was wheeled out of the ward.

Her face was pale and her lips were purple. She looked haggard.

However, even though she was haggard, it could not hide her cuteness and beauty.

“Grandma, Catie...”

Lydia looked at May and Caitlyn and cried weakly.

“Lydia, be good. Don’t be scared!”

“The surgery will be over very soon. You’ll be fine.”

Caitlyn took Lydia’s tiny hands and forced a smile to console her.

Chapter 1258

His name was Joseph Schwimmer, and he was a specialist at the children's hospital.
He specialized in cardiology.
Although he was only in his 40s, he had practiced cardiology for more than 10 years.
He had a lot of clinical experience.
He had never been wrong about his diagnosis and was confident in his skill.
He was slightly upset that a young man showed up and commented on his diagnosis.
"Then what should we do about the congenital heart disease if we don't operate on her?"

Joseph looked at Sean and asked with a frown.

“You can operate on her, but not now.”

Sean shook his head and took out the silver needles he brought everywhere.

“What a joke!

“We should operate on her immediately. If not now, when?

“Do you want to do the surgery or not?

“If you don’t do it and something happens, don’t blame me for not warning you.”

Joseph looked at Sean with a frown, his tone slightly impatient.

Sean glanced at Joseph and only shook his head without replying.

“Ha, huff, huff!”

Suddenly, little Lydia on the stretcher turned pale instantly while she breathed faster.

She even showed an expression full of pain.

“Quick! Push her in quickly!”

Joseph’s eyes widened instantly when he saw this.

However, several nurses could not push the stretcher with Sean’s hand on it.

Looking at the numbers on the monitor, several people were stupefied.

As hospital nurses, they had seen numerous amazing surgeons.

However, they had never seen anyone like Sean heal a medical condition with just a few silver needles

“Hiss! Is he that good?”

“I’m impressed. Who is he?”

“Gosh. How eye-opening. It’s better than surgery.”

Can I ask him to put a needle in my father?”

Dozens of people around were also shocked.

The people who scolded Sean before were red in the face.

Caitlyn looked at Sean with admiration.

It was just like how Caitlyn would worship Sean from the bottom of her heart whenever he did something during their childhood.

“Let me see.”

Joseph stepped forward and grabbed Lydia’s wrist for a moment.

Then he took out his stethoscope, placed it on Lydia’s heart, and listened silently.

Everyone else lowered their voices and waited for Joseph’s result.

After half a minute, Joseph slowly put away his stethoscope.

However, the crowd noticed Joseph was frowning deeply.

Was Lydia not getting better?

The crowd was a little anxious to know Joseph’s judgment.

Sean nodded gently as he and Caitlyn pushed Lydia back into the ward.

With Lydia's condition, it was best to keep her in the hospital for observation.

After all, this was a hospital with advanced medical equipment.

They also had many ways to deal with emergencies.

Sean's medical skills were from Dragon Kingdom, many of which rely on the patient's physiology.

Sean could handle some conditions better than a medical instrument.

However, medical equipment was more accurate than Sean sometimes.

Besides that, even with Sean's help, advanced medical equipment could be useful.

Without assistance, the chance of recovery would be greatly reduced.

Therefore, Sean decided to keep Lydia in the hospital.

Not daring to disturb them, Joseph and the rest left the corridor with the onlooking crowd.

Hospital ward.

Sean checked Lydia's pulse again.

After making sure her condition was stable, he was finally relieved.

Children were unlike adults. They had difficulty expressing what was wrong with their body.

Therefore, Sean dared not take this case lightly.

May, Caitlyn, and the girls who came with them stared intently at Sean.

There was surprise, emotion, and some embarrassment.

After all, those girls just called Sean out.
