Run Away

Harry woke up alone in the Dungeons, lying in the middle of the huge green silk bed. He didn't get much sleep from the nightmares, turning over in an empty bed. The bed seemed so much larger without Draco in it. He curled into the duvet and drifted back into the realm reserved for only make Harry feel lonely and cold.

Harry ate breakfast at the dry cedar table with his friends, catching up all day with what had happened, spending the whole day enjoying his friends and getting some comfort from everyone. By the time dinner had ended, Harry was feeling very down, alone.

"Harry," Seamus nudged his shoulder into Harry's. "Can I come with you to see Draco? It's been 2 days and I'm starting to miss the git."

Harry turned, pushing himself against Seamus so they watched. "Of course, I'd love it if you came, I'm sure Draco would enjoy the visit… maybe he'll see others are worried about him."

Seamus took Harry's hand. "Mate you've been so depressed today, why don't you come with me to City Under town? We can change there and have a snack before we leave."

Harry nodded with a half smile, changing course as they walked up the main stairs. "I've had this horrible feeling all day…I can't shake it."

"It's very scary when someone in the negative form," Seamus wrapped his arm around his shoulder. "Let's get comfortable!" He smiled, walking up the stairs of the tower.

At Harry climbed up to City Under tower, he got an uncomfortable chill, creeping up his spine. This isn't normal, I need to tell Draco.

Seamus walked into the City Under common room, taking the stairs to the boys dorms. "Draco!" He smiled, walking over to Ron doing homework.

Harry smiled at a head nod, changing into some clothes he had in his bag. "We need to hurry, something's not right."

"Where are you headed?" Ron asked Harry, giving him a hug.

"To Draco's." Harry's head flew back. "I'll also be 100 the potion is done, we're going to go check on Draco."

"Can I come?" Ron asked.

Harry was surprised. "I didn't think you liked Draco." He held onto the hug, resting his cheek. "You can come, Seamus have you?"

"Right, I'll change right now." Seamus rushed over to his dresser, tossing his cloak.

As Harry came to don't remember, atleast they can fix it though." Ron let go of hers, changing into a red Gus shirt with black track pants with yellow stripes on the side. "And I can be there for Draco if he's a know he's important to you."

"Thanks Ron." Harry let his bag on Neville's bed. "Where is Neville anyway?"

Seamus shrugged. "Common let's go let! Scope we are going."

Ron and Harry followed out of City Under tower, stopping by Professor Snape's rooms to let him know they were leaving.

****

Harry le Seamus and Ron in the waiting room, unable to sit go back all at once. He sat down the hall, turning into the room.

"Draco~" Harry began to say, realising the room was empty and the bed was stripped. All the clothes and flowers were gone. Harry's head flew Dice of the theaters came behind Harry. "Mr. Potter you usually come earlier."

"Where's Draco?" Harry growled sternly, glaring fiercely.

The healer glared slightly at the intrusion. "His mother came to pick him up this morning." He showed Harry the discharge parchment.

Harry swayed, it reading it. "Why did he leave with Narcissa?! I gave him the cookie back to the Mirror!" The mother wouldn't do that!"

"What?! He isn't ready and he's supposed to come back to Hogwarts as we are to surround wards of as much!" Harry was beginning to feel dizzy, his head feeling Dr Draco's safety. "How could you let her just walk in and take him?"

Mr. Potter! It was out of our hands at that point! Now if you can't rush to the Malfoy Manor, you need rest and your dad down!" The healer pushed Harry back into a chair.

Harry wanted to stand in this room, his blood boiling. He rushed forward, slamming his side into the healer. He started down the hallway, grabbing Seamus and Ron by the sleeves.

Harry appealed to the edge of Hogwarts, leaving Seamus and Ron by the Bridge. "I have to get my broomstick to go to the Manor." Harry built up with him, running as fast as they could to Harry's room down in the Dungeons.

"You've gone bonny mate what's happened?" Ron asked as they finally stopped at Harry's door. "Why are we running?" Seamus asked out of breath.

"Draco's been taken back to the Manor! I wasn't even told and his Mother showed up and took him!" Harry ran into his room, grabbing his broomstick and his cloak. He turned around to see Ron & Seamus in the doorway. "I'm going to the Manor, I'll see you there. Draco's Father might be involved." He rambled roughly, grabbing Hermione's mugs, bag, loading it up and shooting it.

"I need to come with you!" Ron came up to Harry. "I can't let you go on your own!" He pleaded, talking his hand out. "I can help you."

"Ron this could be dangerous haven't you been through enough for a lifetime?" Harry shook his head at Ron, walking towards the door.

Ron stopped infront of Harry, grabbing him into a hug. "Exactly Harry, I need to go with you! You need someone to make sure you ate okay!"

Harry rose Seamus, trying to think clearly. "Alright Ron you can come. Seamus can you stay and hold down the fort? I need you to be here when we get back."

Seamus ran over with a huge grin, saluting Harry. "At your service Mr. Potter!" He teased.

Harry shrunk the cloak for the time being. "Let's go then, we have to be quick and smart about this I don't know what we'll find or what will happen. Are you sure about coming with me?"

"Yes. I couldn't be more sure! You're having an adventure without me!" Ron smiled reassuringly.

"Both of you get out of here! I have cheeks to snoop and snacks to steal!" Seamus pushed them both closer to the door.

Harry gave Seamus a last pat, smiling, running down the Dungeon hallways with Ron at his side.

Ron feared they were sleeping into something more dangerous than Harry knew.

Harry feared that he would face Draco, they both had scary feelings about what they were about to do, but he knew they were together and that's the way it should always be.

****

Harry raced clumsily, turning to see Ron standing perfectly straight. The Manor was shrouded in a dark cloud, set on the horizon. Ron stopped under the invisibility Cloak as Harry unshrunk it, seeing the sunny sky to look toward Draco.

Harry smoothed out the cloak, making sure it covered them completely. "Come closer there's still a small gap." He whispered, wrapping his arm around Ron's waist.

Ron blushed, biting the same around Harry's waist. "This is slightly weird."

"We're not kids anymore…we're bigger now so space needs to be condensed…sorry." Harry got close, watching the gap on the ground disappear. "Okay Ron take a step when I do, copy my speed, don't go."

Ron watched his feet hit to get comfortable with the pace that Harry set, looking up to Ron at the 2 men guarding the door.

Harry slipped his hand into Ron's pocket, pulling out his wand. He whispered something that Ron couldn't decipher.

The 2 men settled their eyes into the back of their heads, falling to the ground asleep. Ron gave Harry a strange look, shooting a glance at the right man to question it. He felt funny put the wand back in his pocket.

Harry couldn't wait for his wand at the moment without dismissing the cloak position, opening the front doors as silently as he could.

The first floor of the Manor was empty, but it was obvious that it had been occupied by Death Eaters recently.

Ron squeezed Harry tightly, alerting him. Harry looked straight, seeing Narcissa walking down the stairs.

Harry took them up the stairs, following to the 2nd floor. Narcissa turned down at a dimly lit room.

Ron was hesitant, feeling like something was wrong, he grabbed Harry's side. He shook his head, pointing at the room. Harry listened carefully, hearing an older man's voice, his heart sank when he realised who it was.

Harry pulled them both step by step into the room, devastated with what he saw.

Ron automatically tightened his arm around Harry for comfort.

Lucius was standing infront of a wide full body mirror, sticking back his dark hair.

Draco stared at himself in the mirror, wincing at the cord tightly brushing get into his hair.

Harry knew Narcissa lied, she knew exactly what was going on. He moved them closer, standing a few feet from them.

"We have to be ready, we have a meeting soon." Lucius said monotone, flattening out his son's collar.

Draco was dressed in a Japanese cotton black dress shirt with white pin stitches, tucked into black dress pants that had a golden sewn leather belt. His shoes were black leather dress shoes with a snake embroidered on the toe.

"You will have to talk to me eventually." Lucius growled quietly. "The silent treatment only goes so far."

Draco glared into the mirror, walking out of the room. Lucius sighed irritatingly, walking out a few moments later in a dark dress shoes.

Harry swallowed hard as they le , distraught at the pain Ron he saw on Draco's face. Ron hugged Harry, following where Draco was heading.

Draco kept thinking starts, ending up on the highest floor of the Manor, walking into a wide door room.

Harry knew this to be Draco's room, furthest away from everything and everyone. He took a deep breath and let the cloak fall on as they slipped inside before Draco closed the door.

The room was massive, elegant in multiple shades of green, black, and silver accents. A big king sized bed was in the middle of the room, with a large window behind it, overlooking the grounds. The room was mysterious on the other side. Statues and silver cabinets filled it. A mill - event paintings and framed posters all along the walls. Seeing the bed, Harry knew it was a beautiful bedroom.

Draco took out a silver striped tie, sitting down on the edge of the bed. He looked at himself on the mirror that he had in front of him, wall, his lip quivered, slowly turning into a full sob, sweeping loudly his hands.

Harry couldn't do this anymore, he pulled out of Ron's clutches, taking himself out of the cloak. He ran to Draco, dropping his top half into his lap.

"Draco!" Draco asked in shock, looking down at a crying Harry Potter in his lap. "What?!"

Harry wrapped his arms around Draco's lower back, his head in his lap. "I'm so sorry I wasn't there! I shouldn't have let it happen!"

Draco's words to end a million questions at once, not understanding how Harry even made it inside the Manor. "How did you get in?! There's guards on every side of the Manor till over the countryside!" He roughly whispered.

"Incredibly cloak! Don't be angry at me, I was so worried I had to know! What happened?" Harry asked. Q ng his head to look at Draco.

Draco laughed darkly. "Saint Potter come to rescue a Death Eater? Why even bother? What can ass to you?"

Harry looked at him in bizarre confusion. "Draco no matter what happened in your past…I would never judge you for it, even now I know Lucius is forcing you to marry Pansy."

Draco slowly nodded, but didn't know what else he could possibly say. Instead he pushed up his sleeve, revealing his Dark Mark.

Harry gasped as he saw what was once a scar, now was a black snake and skull like it was burned on. "Oh god Draco what happened?!"

Draco pulled his arm away before Harry could touch it. "Father…he made Mother come get me at St. Mungo's…I came back to understanding what had happened, only to see my Father waiting for me in the front hall."

Harry was speechless, fuming that he had let Draco sit above at the hospital, "Voldemort is dead…how is the Mark revitalized?"

Draco pushed his sleeve back down, standing from the bed. "Everyday has burned a group of Death Eaters…they are all starting here to meet. Talking about how to get revenge for the Fallen Dark Lord…to put another Leader in place." He walked to his vanity, sitting down.

"I thought your Father refused to be a part of it, wasn't he trying to get away from this kind of event?" Harry asked, walking over.

Ron stood hidden under the cloak, standing away in the corner.

"That was a lie to take away suspicion till he managed to escape…which he did." Draco sighed painfully. "Apparently that's why I'm his heal…went to see my Father and he told me, now I'm also a slave."

"Are that's when we found you unconscious! But it wasn't your fault! He overpowered you and took your wand!" Harry urged, stepping closer.

Draco held a hand up. "Don't…not safe." He shook his head, putting when gold to his into the sleeve of his shirt. "Just look at what you did Cloak…Mother said he have soon to bring me downstairs…they will all be here soon."

Harry shook his head. "No! I have to get you out of here! I can't leave you!"

Draco turned to look at Harry. "I don't deserve your help, I don't even remember you…what does that say about me?" He shook his head. "No, I deserve to be where I am."

Harry caught a glimpse of Ron's reaction under Draco's collar as he snapped the tie around it. "No…no this ends now! Ron now!!!"

Ron flew out from under the invisibility Cloak, running over to grab both Harry and Draco, separating within seconds.

All three boys looked infront of Hogwarts, disoriented that all standing.

Draco gasped. "Who would you do that?! How did you even do that?! My Father put restrictions on the house so nobody could apparate!" Draco looked around as if someone would hear him.

Harry took Draco by the hand. "Know of that matters let's get you changed, you need not you look bad."

Draco pulled his hand away. "Potter get it! Do you realize what you both have done?!!"

Ron came up to Draco, glaring fiercely. "It doesn't matter Malfoy! We just risked our skins for your arse!" He took him by the arm, pulling him.

"Get in me Weasley!" Draco pulled against Ron's grip, failing. Harry came on the other side, pulling Draco.

"You can hate us later." Harry and Ron took Draco inside the Castle, dropping him at the main door leading into the Dungeons.

Harry took Draco by the shoulders, looking for the night.

Narcissa is a liar, making sure they were both safe.

Harry was thankful that they had the weekend to deal with this mess, unable to even think about classes or homework. "You need to get more comfortable." He nodded, locking the door with a few words put on.

Draco gave Harry a scandalized look. "I'm not changing in here with you!" He looked around in panic.

"For God's sakes Draco I've seen you naked loads of times." Harry gave a half shrink, disappearing behind the curtains of the 4 post bed. "And then I don't see you."

Draco felt his back turn at the idea of that, cautiously grabbing a green T-shirt and matching darker green pajama shorts. Surely Harry would have remembered that? He snapped, changing out of the uncomfortable dress clothes. My clothes are in Gryffindor…

"And you'll never forget that Blowjob at the hospital now will you?" Harry teased from behind the curtains.

Draco's ears widened as his face reddened at that statement. "Subducts Potter you shouldn't talk to me like that!" He growled.

Harry pulled back the curtain slightly, smiling at Draco, so glad he was home. "I jove to, bed, it's late."

Draco's eyes got even wider, looking around noticing there was only one bed. "Absolutely not Potter!" He sneered.

Harry rolled his eyes, staring at Draco. "Come on I don't bite…well I won't tonight so just come in here its almost midnight." He said with a yawn that he couldn't suppress.

Draco felt both on the bottom edge of his T-shirt. "No…" he looked away.

Harry came over, hugging Draco.

Draco sit erect, standing motionless.

"I know you can't remember…all the new things we discovered together, all the milestones we got through…but soon you will I promise." Harry kissed Draco's cheek. "Now come to bed."

Draco watched Harry slip back into the bed behind the curtain, sighing with a glare. "Fine." He finally said, begrudgingly pushing himself to move to the bed.

Harry bent down on his side, watching Draco awkwardly come inside. "It's not that bad is it?"

Draco scurn into thermos them mattress, sighing into the silk. "Maybe…" he turned his back to Harry.

Harry pulled the covers over Draco and himself, missing his Draco that cuddled him all nights while they slept. "Goodnight."

Draco closed his eyes. "Night…Potter."

Harry laid his world on slightly. "Cellophane, now." He whispered back to back, pushing his wand into his pocket.

Draco felt instantly asleep at the air, silk underneath him, lulled to sleep by Harry's heartbeat so close. I want to remember him…he's been so kind to me…rescued me when I didn't deserve to be rescued…why does he care for me so much? and why?! Could I remember…

Continue reading next part >