Friendships and Games

A at the Death Eater attacks everyone managed to get back to Hogwarts safely, but Harry notices the attacks have had deep wounds. It was too for the teachers to come up with a plan to protect the students. Thus so, Harry, Seamus, and Ron showed in their Fourth year. The sleepover started, beer and games began as the sun set.

Drew a pair of cracked dice, Seamus rolled them down, staring up the pieces. "What should we play now?" He asked, picking up his crystal cup. "Harry did you want the game Ron's purchased from the store at Hogsmeade?" He took a sip of his beer.

Harry shook his head. "It's lame," he called out. picking up the black button box. "But I'll do it wasn't right to open it, you prefer it so you should open it?" He sat back down on the floor.

"Bloody hell." Ron rolled his eyes, running his hand over the aged leather. "That's expensive sort of."

Draco smacked Ron's hand away. "Don't touch Weasley! And you it's very expensive." He ripped open the ribbon that held it closed.

Seamus climbed over Ron to sit between them, stopping Ron's near outburst. "What's inside?" He asked, leaning into him.

"It's an Adults Dragonstone set, it has many provocative and naughty cards in it." Draco smirked, opening the lock with a tap of his wand. "It's a one of a kind, so I guess package is like this one."

"Blimey Malfoy how much was it?" Ron asked, chugging his beer.

"1,500 Galleons." Draco said like it was the most normal sentence to me.

Harry nodded. "Sounds about right, does it have poisons? Or enchanted objects?"

Don't joke Dropped. That's too expensive for a game too!"

Draco rolled his eyes at Ron's comment, emptying at Seamus as he looked inside. "There were a bunch of dr. event things, 40 items came with a description of rules and info.

"Common now! Pick something!" Seamus nudged Draco.

"There was a bigger one of those but they weren't Slytherin colors so Draco chose that one." Harry smiled, getting curious about it.

Draco pulled out a pair of marble dice with words on the sides instead of dots. "Oh well can...do a would risk game?" He opened the little note that was attached to it. "Roll the dice to see which naughty task you need to do, now you to choose who gets your Dragon?"

"That's a huge risk!" Ron whined.

"I like those dice!" Seamus held them, examining them. "One dice is for the action...and the other is a body part."

"I like those, what dare to do the last?" Harry asked.

Draco pulled out a small potion bottle that said drink means the label. "This doesn't give any truth potion of what it's. It just says "drink if you dare...con beware."

"Wait then's a fancy notes on the other side." Seamus pointed, Ron leaned in close to watch with him.

Harry read it. "It's a enthusiasm!"

"Ah...well let's kneed it and keep rolling shall we?" Draco started rummaging inside the box, taking out a small spherical crystal that glowed a mind light blue. "Wow."

"What is that Draco? Harry asked.

Draco nodded. "It's an Oyabeen."

"The bloody dare's an O sphere!??" Ron asked, raising a brow as he stared.

"It's an orgasm ball...user touches the ball when its on, you will come if you hold it long enough." Draco read the little note. "Goodness...its meant to be used a years."

Seamus blushed hard. "This is a sex game box isn't it?"

"Yes it is." Draco blushed back, looking at Harry. "Should we play?"

"Is the box empty?" Harry asked.

Draco shook his head. "There's a deck of Dyshami cards but they don't look normal." He picked up the box more, opening the sealed plastic covering. "Let's see...the nine-ways...the is the deck and pick a card, at the end on the card is."

"That's simple enough!" Ron sounded excited. "Let's do that one."

"Well wait what do the cards say??" Seamus swiped one, turning it over. His eyes widened. "Damn...maybe we'd be better o with the O sphere."

Draco furrowed his brow. "Why? What does it say?" He picked it up, just pre-shopping a little. "Oh dear..."

Harry leaned in to read it. "Blow the person next to you, or strip." He blushed as he read it. "Fuck."

"Oh bloody brilliant Malfoy! Did you even know what you were buying?" Ron scolded.

Draco glared at Ron. "Jay one more word and I'll turn you into a ferret"

"Why are you always mean to me? Does it make you happy watching me squirm??" Ron groaned.

"Enough! Draco please me nice to Ron, he's my best friend...I was hoping you'd get closer to him tonight so we could get rid of this silly hatred between."

Draco gave Harry a look, crossing his arms. "And how do you suppose we do that?!" He scowled deeply.

Harry heads up the dice. "Roll a game together." He dropped them in Draco's palm. "It can be a game night or kids each game...I dunno."

Draco's hands turned the dice in his hand thinking about it. "Hmm...I don't think touching each other will solve anything."

Ron scrunched his nose in disgust. "I'd probably hex me many this is a stupid idea!" He crossed his arms, looking equally uncomfortable.

Draco scowled even deeper in Ron's direction. "What's the alternative Harry?"

Harry pushed the O sphere into Draco's lap. "Give or ball you pick."

Draco wanted to scream. "Bollocks!!" He hissed, rolling the dice down on the rug.

"Dammit Malfoy what did you do that for?!" Ron squeaked.

Draco moved to sit cross legged on the carpet. "Common Weasbleed! Let's get this game over with!"

Ron rolled his eyes, sliding down to sit across from Draco.

Seamus and Harry sat high for fingers, holding hands in suspense.

Draco read what the dice said. "Kiss lips." He shrugged. "That's not as bad as I thought!" He turned to Ron.

Ron looked away.

Draco leaned in. "Look at me."

Ron rolled his eyes.

"I said look at me!" He demanded loudly.

Ron spun his head fast, locking eyes with Draco.

"That's better." Draco wrapped his hand around the front of Ron's throat, pulling him inches from his lips. "Enjoy this, because this is the only time it ever touch you."

Ron whined as Draco's lips pressed to his own, squeezing his cotton pajama shorts in his fingers.

Harry giggled, leaning into Seamus.

Seamus pulled him with a chuckle. "So but watching our boyfriends engaging in sexual activity isn't it?" He teased.

Harry felt funny about the whole thing, but he couldn't help but get turned on.

Draco finally pulled apart, letting go of Ron's neck.

Ron rubbed the red spots on his throat, glaring as he wiped his mouth on his sleeve.

Draco looked at the dice of Ron's hand that he liked the kiss, he rose his brow at how much he could make him shudder. "Your turn Weasley." He placed the dice next to Ron's hand.

Harry whispered something to Seamus, causing some sort of gossip.

Draco didn't think much of it, leaning his back between Harry's legs. "Let's go I want this over with as soon as possible."

Ron glared at the marble dice in his hand. "What happens if I don't do it? Harry is there consequences?"

Harry piped up the little note in the box. "It says the user who doesn't do the task can vote one more time, but if they refuse the second vote they get a strong sting jinx."

Ron sighed heavily, running his fingers through his long red locks. "Stupid Malfoy," he glared, throwing the dice.

Draco looked up at the dice flew towards him, winding up in Seamus's lap. "Words it!"

Harry laughed, looking down to where the dice landed.

Ron looked down to see what it said. "An oops!" He held his arm up, rubbing at it. "I'm rolling again."

"Well" Draco drew a 1." Seamus said.

"He has to suck Draco's dick!" Harry cowered half his face. Mushing. "I have no issues with it, but what if you roll and it's reversed."

Seamus swiped the note. "It says if you Roll again you can choose the first or the second Roll but it has to be one or the other."

Ron tossed the dice, holding his breath. "Please don't be bad!" He covered his eyes.

Draco looked over, blushing furiously when he saw it. "That's worse!" He sat red. "I refuse, just do the first one."

Ron peeked through his fingers, looking down. "I don't want either of them!! Who made these things?!"

Harry looked to a manufacturer name on label. "Dunch'i Inc...honestly flash its up to you, but the sting you will hurt very badly."

Ron crossed his arms, scowling at the carpet.

Draco tapped Ron's knee. "You only have a minute or so till the jinx happens, what's it going to be?"

Ron looked away. "I'd rather get hurt than do anything with you."

Harry scowled. "Ron that's terrible!"

Seamus sighed in disappointment at Ron's behavior. "I thought you said you'd try this. Draco is our friend. We're close, you're the one only who keeps arming a jerk."

Ron scrunched, about to say something, but the sting jinx shocked through his body from head to toes.
