

Technician's Manual - Chapter 6

Chapter 6 - Sonia Servi

Kalas, the capital of the starry kingdom, outside the University of Sword and Rosemitter.

As summer approaches, the number of stars in the sky has increased from two in the spring to two and a half stars. When you look up and look closely, you can see a small star. Therefore, the temperature of Calox rises and the glare is just right. You can get out by just two steps. A layer of fine sweat.

Sonia took a small step and came out to see her mother Martha standing under Yaoxing, sweating her head, and distressedly pulled her to the shade of the tree next to her: "Mom, why are you stupidly standing outside, you don't know how to come to school." Lin Dao here hide from the sun..."

Martha smirked: "I'm afraid Linda, you can't see me..."

"How many times have you said it, call me Sonia, not Linda!"

Sonia suddenly got a temper, Martha nodded repeatedly: "I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I forgot again. By the way, I also brought your favorite souffle..."

Seeing Martha's flattering look, Sonia became self-blaming again, and took her hand and walked out: "I don't want to eat. I want to lose weight recently. I can't eat such sweet things."

“You are so thin, so what weight loss, I was afraid of wind blowing you down when I looked at you. Do you remember Uncle Elmer? His son has a serious illness and has not been cured, and his body is as light as a field. Scarecrow, you are thinner than him...”

Martha saw Sonia’s figure which was not much thicker than a branch from a distance, and felt terribly distressed. She has been a peasant woman in the agricultural town of the starry country since she was a child. She can’t appreciate the slim beauty in the big city. She hopes her daughter will also be stronger.

Sonia didn’t interrupt her mother’s chattering, she waited for her mother to stop and said, “It’s rare for you to come to Galles. I’ll take you to the capital...”

“No need, no need!” Martha waved her hand and shook her head quickly: “Don’t waste money. When I walked over, I saw a park over there...”

“Come here!?” Sonia’s voice raised an octave, “Didn’t I tell you that I came by tram after getting off the train? The train station is so far away from the school—”

“It’s okay, it’s okay, I came early, so much time, even if I walk for exercise, I’m not old yet, it’s okay to walk around...”

Sonia discovered that both of Martha’s sleeves were dyed dark. The sun is very good today and the temperature is not low. The students on campus are all dressed up in summer clothes, but her mother came to Galos by train last night. It was a cool breeze in autumn, and I naturally wore several pieces. Just after walking for a while, sweat oozes from her forehead, and she subconsciously wiped her sleeves, so her sleeves faded.

wanted to tell her not to save this money, but when it came to his lips, it became: “I’ll take you to buy some clothes.”

Martha shook her head subconsciously: “There are so many clothes at home...”

“Listen to me today!”

Sonia Servi, was born in a poor village in the starry country where no name can be found on the map. She would have to walk a day on the mountain road to the nearest town where the train would stop if she took the train to the capital Galos.

Among the children in villages and towns, only Sonia has completed the basic education courses provided by the country’s free miracle bracelet in the past two decades, and participated in the unified online admissions examination of Fanxing Colleges and Universities before reaching the age limit. Successfully admitted to the Sword and Rosary Masters University of Galles, referred to as Jianhua University.

Her father drank to death when she was very young. In her memory, he was just a trash who would lose his temper when drunk. It was her mother Martha who brought her up.

It is precisely because of this that she can temporarily leave work and concentrate on studying, instead of going to the factory during the day to work in the factory during the day, watching the only meteor channel in the village at night, and spending her life in that small town in a daze.

When she came to Galos on the first day, her pupils reflected clean streets, towering buildings, rushing luxury cars, polite and civilized people, and giant light screens that played promotional shorts day and night. She knew that she would die. , And have to die in this city.

The hometown where she has lived for more than ten years does not even qualify as her cemetery.

So she changed her name to Sonia, instead of Linda, whom any waiter would call;

She learned how to match makeup and clothes in a short time, and corrected her accent within one month of enrollment;

She has won many part-time jobs due to her excellent appearance, and she has not fallen behind in her studies. She used scholarships and part-time wages to expand her circle of friends to participate in various activities... In addition, she was responsible for the host of on-campus activities several times last year. Faint is considered by many to be the sword flower of the 67th.

There are so many people in this world who can achieve happiness, why can't I?

Throughout the afternoon, Sonia has been taking Martha to the Gales. At Sonia's insistence, Martha reluctantly followed her to try on clothes in a seemingly expensive clothing store.

If there is no daughter, just the female clerk with a secret smile and contempt is enough to make Martha cringe and leave.

But as a price for buying clothes, Sonia spent the next afternoon without spending any money, and Martha even filled her water bottle in advance.

"This is the clean water provided by the train station. I just drink this. Don't buy those red, green and green drinks. I'm not used to it." Martha said.

Even for dinner, Martha said that the bread she brought has not been eaten yet, so it was wasted if she did not eat it. Sonia knew that taking her mother into those high-end restaurants was just for her to suffer, so she sat with her mother in the park to eat bread.

Before 6 o'clock, Sonia sent Martha to the train station.

The return ticket has been bought a long time ago, and it has been bound to Martha's bracelet. Just check the bracelet when crossing the border.

When the pass was about to be reached, Sonia suddenly said: "Why don't you stay for one night? I won't have classes tomorrow, so I can stay with you for another day."

Martha looked at Sonia in a daze, her lips moved, but in the end she shook her head, her eyes narrowed into a slit: "No, UU reading www.uukanshu.com is a waste of money, and I'm not used to living here. , I can't understand other people's words, I have to rush back to feed the chickens at home... By the way, looking at my memory, I almost forgot..."

She took out a tightly hidden small bag from her arms, did not open it, and put it directly into Sonia's hand: "There are three silver coins in it..."

"Mom, I—"

"I know you have no shortage, but I can't spend this money at home."

Martha clasped Sonya's hand tightly, "Mom is useless, nothing can help you. But don't worry, Linda, mom won't be a burden to you, you can rest assured to live here in the capital, I live well in my hometown, Neighbors will help me whatever happens. Just remember to write back, but don't send money. You keep the flowers for yourself, and maybe the post office will be greedy for your money..."

Sonia did not correct this time, Martha called her nickname 'Linda' again. After quietly listening to her nagging, she suddenly understood why her mother didn't enter the school to wait for her. After Martha finished speaking, she said calmly: "I will take you to Gales in the future and live the life of a rich man."

Martha smiled and nodded: "Mom believes in you. But you also have to remember that no matter what happens, mom will prepare food and wait for you in your hometown. The big cities are too complicated, so it's good to go home and live a peaceful life. ..."

Sonia watched her mother's slightly rickety back go further and further, and finally disappeared into the crowd.

Suddenly, she slid to the right side, avoiding the man who was about to hit her. With surprise in his eyes, the man murmured something, then turned and hurried away.

"Indeed, big cities are too complicated." Sonia murmured softly, "But I am just such a complicated person."

She turned and left the train station, strutting back to the dazzling and drunken city of Kalas.