

The Boss Behind The Game Chapter 568

At this moment, when he saw the “Titan” display on EA’s booth, Lu Wu suddenly had the urge to try out the game.

He immediately held little Beili’s hand and walked to the front of the display stand.

When the staff in the booth saw this, they smiled at Lu Wu and said,”

“Sir, would you like to try it out?”

Lu Wu nodded, then under the instructions of the staff, he led little Bei Li to the booth and sat down.

At this time, the staff member brought over the virtual helmet and handed it to Lu Wu. Then, he looked at little Beili.

“She doesn’t need one, just one is enough!” Lu Wu smiled.

The staff member nodded and began to introduce the game.

Lu Wu listened carefully. These things were more or less useful to him because he was now also an architect of a game world.

After listening to the explanation, Lu Wu put on his virtual helmet and entered the game under the guidance of the staff.

However, after experiencing it for a while, Lu Wu logged out of the game.

It had to be said that this game was indeed excellent, and the degree of realism was far beyond all the games at this stage.

But compared to a war, the difference was still too great.

The most direct point was that leveling up in the game didn’t change one’s body, so it was far less effective than a war.

At this moment, Lu Wu suddenly sympathized with the blizzard. Why did it have to meet him?

It's fixed!

"What's wrong, Sir? Are you unhappy with the game?" Seeing Lu Wu take off his virtual helmet, the staff was a little surprised.

"No, the game is very good. Good luck!" Lu Wu smiled, then stood up and walked out of the EA booth with little Beili, leaving behind the dumbfounded staff.

Although Lu Wu used to be a Blizzard fan, but ...

[I'm challenging the number one expert in the world. I don't accept any rejections!]

After all, Zhan Zhan was his own son!

He walked slowly all the way, stopping and looking around, and finally came to the end of hall A1.

There were two choices in front, Hall A2 and Hall A3.

After thinking for a while, Lu Wu still went to Hall A3, where the war booth was located.

The moment he entered the exhibition hall, Lu Wu was stunned by the scene in front of him.

The first battle booth was packed with people. A large group of cosplayers had formed a circle around the booth, forming 16 long lines.

One of the lines was already at the entrance of Hall A1 from Hall A3.

Lu Wu also saw the few cosplayers who said that they were going to break his head. At this moment, they were also in line. Moreover, they all had a well-behaved look on their faces, completely different from the attitude of an evil force from before.

Lu Wu couldn't help but be very curious. This was completely different from what he had imagined.

Thinking of this, Lu Wu couldn't help but ask the masked man who was also in line,"

"Excuse me, didn't you say that you were going to smash the head of the official dog? why are you in line?"

When the masked man heard this, he couldn't help but be stunned.

"You're also a war Conqueror?"

Lu Wu nodded."Yeah, I'm a new player!"

"Then hurry up and line up, or you won't be able to get it when the time comes. Oh right, don't even think about cutting the line. You know the combat strength of the conscripted players. A newbie like you should be more humble!"

"What are you guys snatching?" Lu Wu was stunned and didn't understand what he was hearing.

"A figurine! I might have a chance to get the figurines of the NPCs from all the major servers if I queue up now. It'll be too late if I wait any longer. I just hope to get a wood spirit lady or a bronze figurine!" As he said that, the masked man's face revealed an expression of anticipation.

Lu Wu nodded in realization.

Only then did he remember that Wu Guoyi had indeed told him that he would make a batch of combat NPC figurines at this E3 gaming expo. He would give them out as gifts to the players during the fair.

After understanding the reason, Lu Wu looked at the group of players who were still wolves before, but were now standing in line like little sheep. Lu Wu couldn't help but laugh.

"Brother, what are you laughing at? hurry up and line up. There won't be any left in a moment!"

Seeing Lu Wu standing there and smiling foolishly, the masked man couldn't help but remind him.

Lu Wu thought about it and felt helpless, so he stood at the back of the line.

Just as the masked man had said, as more and more players passed through the security check, the number of players in Hall A3 grew crazily.

At this moment, Lu Wu noticed that all the staff members at the other A3 game booths had a bitter look on their faces.

This was because the players of war were all lining up for their booth.

At first, they were so excited that they thought there were players coming to experience the flagship game, but they were all F * cking expedition players.

Although the players said things like “sorry”, “sorry”, “excuse me”, and “please lend me your seat”, they still felt extremely resentful.

They felt that they couldn't stay in Hall A3 anymore. Why the hell would they show off all the F * ck battle players!

Of course, this was only one of the reasons.

There was also a group of booth staff, who were also players of the war.

Seeing other players lining up to get figurines while they could only stick to their posts, this torture made them feel extremely painful, and they also wanted to join the team.

Especially when they saw other players draw their favorite figurines at the battle booth, they were so jealous that their hearts were about to separate.

In less than half an hour, Hall A3 was already full, and there was no room for any more players.

At this moment, the players who wanted to come in but couldn't could only curse outside the passage. His heart was filled with resentment, and he hated himself for not being in the front.

At this time, Lu Wu and little Bei Li also lined up in front of the booth.

Seeing that Lu Wu was observing the situation in the booth, the staff member handed the lottery box to Lu Wu and said apologetically,

"Sir, can you hurry up with the lottery? there are still many players waiting!"

When Lu Wu heard this, he immediately nodded and put his hand into the lottery box.

When Lu Wu took out the piece of paper that he had grabbed, the air around him suddenly froze.

At this time, Lu Wu was holding a golden note.

A line of words was written on it,"one Collector's Edition figurine hanging on a copper wall!"

At this moment, Lu Wu once again felt the killing intent, and the killing intent came from all directions.

He could vaguely hear the whispers around him.

"Damn you, the only Collector's Edition figurine has been taken away. Damn it, be a human for me!"

"I'm going crazy. I want this figurine too. I wonder if he'll sell it to me!"

"Brother, I have a bold idea. Didn't we bring weapons? let's do it?"

"Oh my God, it's a Collector's Edition. Why didn't I get it? he's so lucky!"

"He'll be beaten up by a group of people!"

"I'll bear this pain. I'll take the group fight!"

.....

Listening to the whispers of the players around him, Lu Wu couldn't help but be stunned.

In fact, he had no interest in figurines at all.

After all, he could see the person in person whenever he wanted to. He had only queued up to observe how the battle booth was arranged up close.

However, the line was so long that it would be a little different if he didn't draw.

Hence, he casually grabbed it.

He wanted to keep a low profile, but he instantly became the focus of attention. At this moment, Lu Wu really wanted to say something.

I don't want it, alright!

However, he couldn't say that. The consequence of insulting the battle was to be beaten up, and Lu Wu was very clear about this.

Although these players often cursed in the forum, they were only allowed to curse themselves.

He was still very protective of his image outside, otherwise, there would not be the fight in Japan.

Therefore, Lu Wu felt that as long as he said "I don't want it", he would definitely be dragged into a corner by these die-hard fans and their heads would be smashed.

"Congratulations, you've won the only Collector's Edition figurine!" After a brief moment of surprise, the staff in the booth smiled and said to Lu Wu. Then, he took out a golden box from under the counter and handed it to Lu Wu.

Lu Wu thought about it and took it.

Immediately, the killing intent in the surroundings became even denser.

These conscripted players had all been through battlefields, and they already had the murderous aura of a soldier. At this moment, it was almost materializing, and their target was Lu Wu.

At this moment, Lu Wu felt extremely sad.

He wanted to keep a low profile, so why did things turn out like this?

My damn luck!

“Brother, name a price, I’ll buy it!” At this time, a player walked up to Lu Wu and looked at him with anticipation.

When Lu Wu heard this, he apologized and pulled little Bei Li away from the man.

As he brought little Beili along and squeezed his way to the other exhibition halls, Lu Wu heard many players asking for prices. This gave him a big headache.

However, he rejected all of them.

After all, it was his own game. Since he had drawn it, he couldn’t sell it. This was the most basic respect.

His actions also made the players who wanted to get the collector’s edition figurine of the bronze pendant resentful.

They were all “cursing” in their hearts, “the European king will die a terrible death!”

After finally walking out of Hall A3 with little Beili, Lu Wu finally heaved a sigh of relief.

The players’ enthusiasm for the war was beyond his imagination.

At this moment, Lu Wu was in Hall A4, but Lu Wu was not interested in continuing to stroll around. Instead, he took little Bei Li and found a place to sit down.

They began to wait for the award ceremony.

At this time, little Bei Li raised his head, looked at Lu Wu and said,

“Big cat, do you know why you won the collector’s edition figurine?”

When Lu Wu heard this, he was a little stunned.”

“Isn’t it just my luck?”

“Of course not. It’s because you’re cultivating the human Emperor’s mirror. With the fate energy of the human race on you, you have your own Emperor energy!”

“Of course, the human ruler is the leader of the human race. It’s natural for him to gather the luck of the human race!” Little Bei Li said proudly.

When Lu Wu heard this, he suddenly understood.

Before he met Xiao Bei Li, he had never won the lottery before. He had never won an SSR in the game.

His performance today was completely different from before.

“You’ll be even luckier in the future. As you cultivate the human Emperor’s mirror and the human tribe’s power grows, your luck will continue to improve!”

Lu Wu nodded and patted little Bei Li’s head. Just as he was about to say something, his phone rang.

He picked up the phone and heard Wu Guoyi’s voice,”

“Brother Lu, where are you now? the awards ceremony will start in two hours. I have a front seat for you, right next to me.”

When he heard that Wu Guoyi offered him a front-row seat, Lu Wu was about to agree, but when he heard the following sentence, he suddenly lost his mind.

What a joke, how could he sit next to Wu Guoyi? what if the players suspected that he was a member of the team behind the campaign?

By then, it would be hard for him to even leave E3!

These players who were extremely hungry for soul coins were all known as rogue forces in the netherworld, and they were not to be trifled with.

“No, I’ll just watch from a distance!” Lu Wu immediately replied.

“Why?” Wu Guoyi was stunned.

“I have good eyesight!”
