

THE ELITE ASSASSIN BECOMES A FLAT AND UGLY NERD!

Chapter 9

Powerhouse's Confidence

At this moment, Shan Chen was so shocked that he was petrified on the spot. After he finished comparing the answer to the fifth question, he maintained a shocked state of wide eyes and slightly open mouth.

The fact that Shan Yue could complete this set of papers had already greatly affected Shan Chen's outlook on life. He was trying his best to integrate and accept the sudden huge information.

Is this Shan Yue, who had casually solved the final question of the college entrance examination and the world problem, the same Shan Yue, who had only scored a single digit in the exams, couldn't count the money properly when paying, and has a low IQ?

What had she been through? Or had he missed something? Shan Chen was confused.

Seeing that Shan Chen was staring at her in a daze and not saying a word, Shan Yue felt a little helpless. She shook his shoulder a few times and urged, "What happened? Are you stunned? Tell me the results."

Shan Chen finally recovered from the huge blow. He looked at Shan Yue and said with difficulty, "All correct, Sister. You're really impressive."

Shan Chen called her sister sincerely. He was even about to prostrate himself before Shan Yue.

For someone like Shan Chen, who only loved to study and had a lifelong pursuit of learning, a person with top-notch knowledge was his idol.

At this moment, Shan Yue had clearly conquered him. If a person could answer a question that only a team of mathematicians could answer, it was obvious that Shan Yue was more powerful!

Although Shan Yue was not the first to answer, to a high school student like Shan Chen, Shan Yue was already the most powerful existence he could come into contact with.

READ LATEST CHAPTERS AT novelB\(i\)n.NETn.NET) ONLY.

If Shan Chen was lucky enough to know that Shan Yue was the first big shot to solve this world problem, he would probably be scared silly.

“Yes, good brother.” Shan Yue felt very pleased that Shan Chen called her sister. She had been an orphan since she was young and had never experienced the warmth of a family. She had never had siblings either, so she foolishly treated that cold and ruthless organization as her home.

As for a pure, kind, and somewhat silly child like Shan Chen, Shan Yue liked him the most. Therefore, she consciously assumed the identity of Shan Chen’s sister.

Looking at the densely written test paper, Shan Chen couldn’t help but ask, “Sister, didn’t you used to not know how to answer a single question? I heard that you either hand in a blank paper or only write a few words.”

Shan Yue raised her eyebrows. She wasn’t too sure about the Host’s studies, but if she were to take the exam herself, she might also hand in a blank paper. “If I ask you to answer kindergarten papers, will you do it seriously?”

Shan Chen nodded in realization and asked, “Then why didn’t you defend yourself when they said that your IQ was low and that you scored a few points in the exam?”

“Why should I defend myself? It’s fine as long as I do my job,” Shan Yue said disdainfully.

Her style of handling matters had always been self-centered. She did not care what others thought of her. She only pursued the final outcome, such as whether the mission could be completed successfully or whether the bounty could be paid in full.

This was the confidence and attitude of a powerhouse!

“Yes, that’s right.” Shan Chen nodded in agreement. For a moment, he looked at Shan Yue with respect and admiration.

He had not expected that although his sister was ugly and eccentric, she actually had a powerful heart and strength. One really could not judge a book by its cover.

If it had been him, he might not have lasted. He would have given himself up to the condemnation and isolation of the crowd.

Thinking of this, Shan Chen couldn’t help but look at his disabled right foot. His gaze gradually darkened. “Then... then are you still going to pretend that you don’t know anything in the future?”

One had to know that today, her mother, Sun Ling, had almost been banned from continuing her studies because of her grades.

If Sun Ling knew that the good-for-nothing daughter she had always despised was actually a highly intelligent genius who was proficient in mathematics, she would probably be overjoyed, right?

Shan Yue shook her head and denied it without hesitation. “Of course not! Since I have this strength, I’ll just show it when I don’t want to pretend.”

Moreover, her mother, sister, and the group of students in school were all waiting to see her make a fool of herself.

