Chapter 896 The Children Take Action

Arissa read through the post and even found a picture of her and Benjamin. Many netizens were discussing how another woman had gotten in between Benjamin and Rosetta, which led to their fallout.

They then went on to suspect that Rosetta argued with Aaron because of that matter, blaming him for not watching over Benjamin properly.

Unfortunately, there were no voice recordings on the post. All of that was merely speculation from the netizens. Arissa could not help but be impressed with their imagination.

Meanwhile, Benjamin, who was in the CEO's office on the top floor, saw the headline news as well. His face darkened, and he phoned Aaron. "Get rid of the news on the internet!" he demanded when the call was connected.

"I've already assigned someone to handle it. I'm sorry for causing you trouble, Benjamin. I didn't realize the media took photos," Aaron replied.

Upon hearing that, Benjamin narrowed his eyes. If Aaron is already dealing with it, why is it still circulating? Is there someone behind this?

“All right. Got it,” he responded. With that, he ended the call and instructed Ethen, “Deal with the situation on the internet.”

“Understood, Mr. Graham.”

Ethen had been busy working the entire time, so he was unaware of that matter. Immediately, he loaded the web page, and his jaw dropped at the sight of the post.

Before he could take action, all the contents of the web page were removed.

Arissa, who was also scrolling through the web page then, was stunned.

Did Benjamin do this?

In the school, Zachary had a tense expression, while Gavin looked somber.

“How shameless! How dare they freeload Mommy and Daddy’s fame?” Oliver snarled, knitting his brows.

“How dare they call Mommy a mistress? That woman over there’s the real vixen,” Jesse scolded.

“Thank goodness that Mommy’s face isn’t revealed.”

Tim sighed, deeply impressed with the skills of Gavin and Zachary. They’re so cool. I don’t even know how to turn on the computer, but they can already help Mommy and Daddy out.

“Hmph! Daddy’s too inefficient. This had been up for so long, but he hadn’t dealt with it yet,” Jasper complained, pouting.

Gavin glanced at the others and explained softly, “Maybe Daddy’s too busy that he didn’t notice it. Or maybe he’s already dealing with it. It’s just that we were a little faster.”

Zachary said nothing to that.

“Anyway, it’s an argument between the two siblings. What do Mommy and Daddy have to do with it? Do the siblings not know how to deal with it?” Oliver voiced his suspicions with a frown.

Suddenly, Zachary’s eyes gleamed. “This was taken at the restaurant. Let’s take a look at the surveillance footage. Who knows, we might be able to figure out what they were saying.”

“Sure, we’ll check it out,” Gavin agreed, nodding as he began tapping on the keyboard.

It did not take long for him to access the restaurant’s surveillance footage.

Immediately, the six children gathered around to watch the footage. When they heard Rosetta screaming about how she liked Benjamin, their faces twisted with fury.

“She’s so shameless!” Jasper fumed.

His face had turned red with anger.

“Mr. Adams has already said that Daddy doesn’t like her, but she still wants to snatch Daddy away. How brazen of her!” Gavin furrowed his brows, regarding Rosetta as a scorn.

“The way she kept staring at Daddy during the meal yesterday was so disgusting. A daughter of a prominent family, my foot.

She’s like the women in clubs,” Zachary mocked.

“What are women in clubs like?” Tim asked curiously. Zachary was briefly stunned, then he shook his head. “I don’t know, either. I only heard people talking about them. I think it’s just people who behave inappropriately and flaunt themselves.”

However, it did not seem that Tim understood his explanation fully.

“Basically, she’s an evil woman,” Oliver said as he knocked Tim’s head gently, causing the boy to turn to him.

At that, he retracted his hand with a sheepish smile.

“Does it hurt?”

“It’s fine.” Tim grinned.

Oliver, too, grinned at him.

“Evil woman!” Jesse scolded angrily.

Right then, Darius walked over to take them out for lunch. When he noticed the six children gathered in a spot doing something he could not see, he approached them quietly.

Upon seeing the contents on the computer screen, he frowned. “Sweethearts, what’s this?”

The children immediately turned around and chirped, “Grandpa!”
