

The Protector Chapter 266

Kenneth Wayne cast a glance at Isaiah and said, "He works for the National Military, so Sasha having an affair is considered as violating the military marriage law."

"What?! He is a military personnel? No he can't be. I've been with him for ten years, how can I not know if he is?"

Sasha was totally bewildered.

Tom and Charlie were both puzzled, "Yeah! What type of soldier is Isaiah?"

Kenneth sneered, "Comrade Isaiah is in the Defense Research And Development Centre Technical Team! He is of course, considered a soldier, isn't he?"

"What? Why didn't I know that?"

Sasha and the other two adulterers were so frightened that their hearts leapt to their throats.

Isaiah came before the three of them, took out his Identity card and waved it in front of them.

Their eyes widened in surprise as they read the information and seal on the card. Terrified, they broke out in cold sweat.

It's real...

Isaiah is really working for the Defense Research And Development Centre!

When did this happen?

How could I not know?

Sasha's eyes opened so wide in surprise that it seemed like they would pop out anytime...

Tom suddenly came to a realization and he stared at Levi in horror, "Now I know why you didn't allow the divorce to go through last time. Was this the reason?"

Levi smiled and said, "Well, it was a coincidence! No matter what, I would not let this woman dissolve the marriage so easily. Unforeseen by us, Isaiah's performance for the Centre was outstanding and he got the offer to work for them as a technical consultant. So naturally, what you are doing now is against the military's marriage law."

"You..."

Tom was so agitated that he almost fainted while Sasha and Charlie looked at each other in desperation.

They had fallen into Levi's trap!

Even though Isaiah only commenced his job at the Centre just recently, sabotaging a military marriage was a serious crime. They would face the consequences of their heinous actions.

Seeing the three of them in this state, Isaiah felt vindicated.

He laughed, "Hahaha, never did the three of you expect this day, did you? Didn't you say that there is no karma? Now you know, karma does exist. You just have to wait for it!"

A new thought occurred to Tom and he asked, "Do you have evidence to prove that I am violating the law?"

Thought that there was hope, Sasha joined, "Yeah, show us the proof of what you accused us of."

Hearing this, Levi laughed.

He took out a USB memory disk and projected a video on the wall.

It was a video taken yesterday of the three humiliating Isaiah.

Not only did they admit to adultery, but they also confessed to embezzlement of public funds and malicious wounding.

"You bast*rd! You have a camera and microphone on you?!"

After knowing the truth, Sasha and the other two went crazy.

Yesterday, they made sure to check if the crowd had taken any videos or photos but they didn't check on Isaiah.

"So what else have you got to say?" Kenneth Wayne asked.

He exchanged glances with Timothy Lourdes.

Everything that had happened earlier was mind-blowing to the three.

They would spend years in prison!

Levi waved his hand, saying, "Please leave us for now. I want to talk to them in private."

Kenneth and Timothy left them and waited outside the door.

Looking at the three, Levi laughed, "Isaiah, I told you. They are going to regret their actions one day. How do you feel now?"

"Never better! Serves you right!" Isaiah shouted.

Sasha was so anxious that she was about to cry.

Thud!

She fell on her knees, hugging his legs. The woman wept and cried, "Isaiah, forgive me this once. I swear I'll be a good wife and mother in future. I will not mess around anymore!"

"It's true. We're wrong! Master, please forgive us!"

The Protector Chapter 267

They believed that if Isaiah spoke up for them, they would have a chance. At the very least, they could spend less time in jail.

"Slut, you are not worthy of me. Get lost!" Smack!

Isaiah fiercely slapped her on the face.

Slam! Wham! Smack!

"And you beasts! You are unworthy to be my students! Scram!"

Isaiah ferociously kicked the two men a few times.

“No... please...”

Sasha and the two men regretted.

In their whole lives, they regretted this moment the most!

In the end, Sasha, the two men, and the fitness trainers were all taken away.

What awaited them were years of imprisonment!

By afternoon, due to their social status, everyone soon heard the news about Tom and Charlie.

Ron and the others were shocked.

Could this be the end of Levi Group’s two traitors?

This showed that Morris Group was very powerful!

The four giants in the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce were still busy with the commander-in-chief at the ceremony, so they had no time to take care of them.

“Fortunately, the technologies of the Levi Group were leaked by themselves. Otherwise, we would be in trouble this time.” Ron said with relief.

“Yeah, it’s a good thing we were not involved!” Braylen Stewart added.

Wildan Saenz wondered, “We have underestimated the Morris Group. I think they are up to something really big.”

“Agree. However, the Morris Group is so secretive!” Ron said.

Not knowing what your competitors were doing could be a worrisome factor.

At this moment, Xawery Yount rushed in breathlessly.

“I know what the Morris Group is doing.”

Gulping some water, Xawery Yount continued, “They have produced a batch of medical devices, but I don’t know more details of it. Now all of it has been sent to the Quality Inspection Bureau for testing! If they pass the inspection, it will be mass-produced and listed!”

“Who gave you this information?” Wildan Saenz asked.

“A distant cousin of mine who happens to work in the Bureau told me.” Xawery Yount replied.

“It doesn’t matter what Morris Group has produced. We’ll sabotage everything they do.” Ron and the others arrived at this decision.

Xawery Yount smiled, “That’s easy! That is in my relative’s jurisdiction! Without doubt, we can undermine Morris Group’s progress!”

Ron smiled, “Good. No matter what products the Morris Group sends in for inspection, reject them will do!”

Wildan Saenz asked, “Fred, why don’t you ask that cousin of yours to join us sometime? We can’t keep asking him to run errands for us for nothing.”

“Yeah. We will be asking him for help quite often in the future.” Braylen Stewart went along.

“Well, how about dinner at Lufthansa Club tonight? My treat. Let’s invite him!”
Ron stood up and announced with a laugh.

The next day, at the Morris Group head office.

Everyone was waiting for the good news from the Quality Inspection Bureau, hoping to start expanding their production line.

Right on time, a vehicle drove up to the entrance and three officers came out of the car.

Iris personally went to receive the visitors.

The leader, a young man, looked at Iris and the others with disdain.

He threw the quality inspection report to Iris and sneered, “What is the Morris Group trying to do? Do you really plan to launch this kind of bad product into the market? What you have produced is a medical device! What if something happens to the users? Can you bear the consequences?”

“Oh? What is the matter? Did it fail the test?” Isaiah asked in a low voice.

“Yes, terribly!”

The Protector Chapter 268

His two companions said in confirmation, "That's right. We tested it three times and it failed all of it! Your product is of inferior quality!"

The young man Tony looked at Iris with disgust in his eyes, saying, "Morris Group, I'm warning you. If you continue to send in product like this, I will still reject them!"

"Hmph, you guys better think over it! The inspection result was way below acceptable!"

"The next test is in a week's time!"

Tony left quickly after that.

Morris Group was not given even a chance to appeal!

Iris and the others hurriedly read the quality inspection report.

Finished reading, everyone was furious.

The reason was exasperating.

Iris and the team suspected that the quality inspection department had failed the product without even examining it.

The issues they had highlighted on were totally irrelevant to their products.

It was ridiculous!

Immediately, they realized that someone had sabotaged them.

The inspectors must have failed their product on purpose.

They didn't want Morris Group's products to be launched.

At this point, Levi walked leisurely toward them.

"What happened?" He asked.

Someone walked him through the situation and Levi was shocked.

It was impossible for that procedure to go wrong.

Seems like they have someone in the Bureau.

"Alright. I'll bring the product to the Bureau personally this afternoon and insist for an inspection on the spot! Let's see who dares to fail it. After all, this has been approved by the Defense Research And Development Centre!" Levi said.

"Will this work?" Iris asked.

"Do you have other alternative?"

Iris was silenced by Levi's question.

Everyone in the Morris Group was anxious.

On the contrary, Levi was calm, sipping his tea and smoking.

In the office, he sat leaning against the back of his chair.

Then he dialed Jesse Nielsen's number, "Jesse, I'll go straight to the point. Who is in charge of Quality Inspection Bureau?"

"Cameron."

"Good. Please tell him that I'm inviting him over to Morris Group for some tea!" Levi smiled and said.

After that, he called the Logistics Minister and asked him to invite Samson, the person-in-charge for DRDC's Quality Inspection Department over to Morris Group as well.

Shortly, Samson arrived.

To him, this was definitely the highlight of his life.

Him having tea with the God of War? Man he could brag this forever!

Even the deputy commander-in-chief would envy him.

However, there's a reason why Samson was invited.

He was asked to bring the quality inspection report of the medical instrument.

Not long afterwards, Cameron arrived in a state of panic.

He left his meeting in a hurry as soon as he heard about Levi's invitation.

"Captain Cameron, don't be nervous. Take a seat!"

Levi smiled as he spoke.

The trembling man obediently sat down on Levi's sofa.

The host waved his hand and Azure Dragon poured Cameron a cup of tea.

Holding the cup in his hands, Cameron dared not take a sip.

This important man wouldn't summon me here for nothing.

"Captain Cameron, do you know why I'm looking for you? Levi asked.

Cameron stood up immediately, shook his head and replied, "Chief, please enlighten me!"

"Recently, Morris Group has produced a batch of medical devices and sent them to your department for quality inspection. Are you aware of this?" Levi asked.

Cameron shook his head, "I am not. My subordinates didn't inform me anything about it."

The Protector Chapter 269

"Oh, okay! Then let me do it. Not long ago, someone from your department delivered this, and told me that those medical devices are way below the passing grades. Not only that, but he also threatened to reject whatever products we send in for inspection!" Levi said.

"Huh? Did this really happen?"

Anxious, Cameron broke out in cold sweat.

"Shh... Let me finish. Before these devices reached the Bureau, I sent it to the Defense Research And Development Centre for quality inspection. After all, they will be used in the medical industry, and I don't want any issues. Guess what? Not only were they qualified, but the results were also perfect in every aspect!"

Levi glanced at Samson and smiled, saying, "Let me introduce you to Samson, the head of the Quality Inspection Department from DRDC."

Samson handed the report to Cameron, "Captain Cameron, we tested this product five times, and not once did it fail the test. In fact, it is way better than all of the models available in the market."

With trembling knees, Cameron started flipping through the report.

At the same time, Levi handed another stack of document to him and said, "Captain Cameron, now this is from your department."

Finished reading everything, Cameron nearly fainted from fright.

The second report's content was obviously nonsense.

They clearly did not know what product they were analyzing, and simply rejected it.

Cameron was furious.

This was done on purpose by somebody.

How can this somebody be in my department?

Worst of all, it involves the God of War!

Isn't he courting for death?

Levi smiled, "Luckily I was careful about the inspection and sent this to Samson first. Otherwise, I'll be doomed!"

“Chief, it’s my fault! I did not discipline my staff enough!” Cameron bowed and said.

“Alright then. Now that we know where the problem lies, let’s solve it. Conduct the second inspection now and I’ll come along. I am sure it will pass, won’t it?” Said Levi while he started moving toward the door.

That tone sent chill down Cameron’s spine.

He knew that this was serious.

Immediately, he went along.

So did Samson.

Azure Dragon drove them to the Bureau.

There were several cars parked at the entrance as well.

Those senior managers from Ron’s side were spotted coming down from the vehicles.

Tony came out personally to greet them with a big smile on his face.

Levi got down from the car, but he instructed Cameron to remain inside.

When Tony saw the group, he snorted, “Hey Morris Group, what brings you here again?”

Hearing the name ‘Morris Group’, smirks were evident on Ron and his subordinates’ faces.

Morris Group wants a recheck?

Dream it!

Levi smiled, "Obviously, we are here for a second inspection."

Tony immediately replied, "Are you all deaf? Didn't I say come back in a week?"

"A week? Since when there is such regulation?"

Not losing his gentlemanly smile, Levi said again, "Besides, there is no issue with our product. Can't we appeal?"

Ron and his men laughed, "I guess you're here to cause trouble. Didn't you hear Tony? Come back after one week. As business organizations, we have to abide by regulations!"

"That's right. Guys, learn from the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce!" Tony said in agreement.

"Please enlighten me. Who made the rule for that one week timeframe?" Levi asked coldly.

Tony replied angrily, "I did. So what?"

"So your word is law in the Bureau?"

"That's right!"

The Protector Chapter 270

Tony was really arrogant, acting almighty.

“That’s true. Captain Tony is in charge of the report section. If he says you pass, you pass!”

“Exactly. If he wishes to fail any product, there you go. In the Bureau, Captain Tony’s word is law!”

In reply, Xawery Yount and Ron laughed.

Tony looked at Levi with disdain, “Today, the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce has also sent their products in for quality inspection. I don’t even need to run through any analysis, and I’ll give them a pass!”

As he spoke, his assistant who was on standby, handed Ron the quality inspection report.

Everyone present watched in disbelief...

Ridiculous!

Taking over the report, Ron looked at Levi and laughed, “Now you know who is the man in charge of the Bureau.”

Tony glared at Levi and barked angrily, “Now get lost! I’m telling you. Within these six months, I will not pass any products you send in!”

“So powerful, aren’t you? Do the Bureau Chief has to obey your word as well?”
Levi sneered in reply.

Tony was taken aback at first but he quickly recovered and laughed, “Of course! Captain Cameron is my mentor who personally brought me into this department! He listens to all my words!”

“So loser, if you have any wild wishes that I’ll pass your product, drop it!”

Levi listened to Tony’s rhetoric.

With a meaningful smile, he shouted toward his car, “Captain Cameron, did you hear that? In the Bureau, Tony’s word is law. Have you been vacated from your position?”

“Hmm? Captain Cameron?”

Tony and his group were stunned. They looked around but saw no one.

“Who are you trying to bluff? Too bad it won’t work! Even if he were here, he would obey me!”

Tony was masquerading ridiculously!

“Tony, you scoundrel! When did the Bureau come under your control?”

Suddenly, an angry voice was heard coming from the car and someone got down in a rage.

“Chief... Chief Cam... I... Yo-you...”

Looking at the person storming toward him, Tony was stupefied and his mouth trembled, unable to speak coherently.

“No, no, no, you are the Chief! I’m your subordinate! Your word is the law here!” Cameron was so furious that he felt like giving Tony a few slaps across his face.

“Chief Cameron, I-I’m sorry... I did not mean what I said!”

Tony almost knelt in front of Cameron.

“What about your arrogant attitude barely a moment ago? Aren’t you the boss here?” Cameron snorted.

“No, Chief Cameron. Master, I was wrong... I didn’t mean to overstep you! I just wanted to share your worries!” Tony spoke hurriedly.

Cameron pointed his finger at Tony’s nose, “You are fired! Never ever step into the Bureau again!”

Boom!

This was a real blow to Tony, Ron and his men.

How could Tony be fired!

Tony asked incredulously, “Master... why? What did I do wrong?”

“You deliberately abused your position to sabotage the Morris Group! Was that not enough?” Cameron shouted furiously.

“No no no. Master, their products are indeed not up to par!”

Even at this point, Tony tried to argue.

Upon hearing that, Cameron’s face became black as thunder and he spoke angrily, “Then tell me. What products did Morris Group send in?”
