

The Protector Chapter 936

Chapter 936 The Tragedy Of A Wrong Match

Emma began to regret leaving Margo City.

Not only have I upset the Garrisons, but I've also affected Zoey's life and business. Possibly even her relationship with Levi!

Zoey's family was right in keeping their distance from me.

That way, the Garrisons won't go after them.

Looking around, Emma only felt increasingly self-conscious and afraid.

I'll probably be doing everyone a favor if I'd just killed myself.

"Mom!"

Just when Emma was considering suicide, she heard her son's voice.

"Levi, your wife... "

"I know, Mom. Don't blame yourself. No one despises my mother!"

Afterward, Levi gave his mother a makeover, which caused her to look much younger than before.

Although traces of her age and the hardship that she went through could not be removed, Levi believed that things would only get better for his mother from thereon forth.

The son promised to never allow his mother to suffer again.

“Mom, do you want to go to South Hampton?” asked Levi. Surprisingly, Emma shook her head.

“No.

Bad things have happened to people around me. The Jones family was almost ruined because of me.”

“Then, we’ll stay in South City for now. After Zoey and I get married again, we’ll move to North Hampton.”

Levi did not want his mother to be in danger, so he brought her back to the Warzone compound.

Emma was relieved to see the compound again.

She would have been uncomfortable if she were to stay in a big manor.

Looking at the compound, Emma was smart enough to figure out why Zoey’s grandparents had wanted nothing to do with her or her son. Zoey had a net worth of tens of billions, while Levi was evidently worth much less.

Zoey would make a wonderful daughter-in-law, but she’s out of our league. This kind of mismatched marriage can only end in tragedy.

Emma harbored such thoughts to herself.

Isn’t that what happened to my own marriage?

The Joneses were not worthy of the Garrisons, and hence, my tragedy.

I should dissuade Levi from marrying Zoey because I know that it’s not going to end well.

At the compound, the Azure Dragon and his gang knelt before Emma when they found out who she was.

“Oh, there’s no need for such courtesy! Please get up.” Emma chuckled.

“They are family to me, Mom. You’ll be safe here with them. Nobody’s going to bully you when they’re around,” assured Levi.

As comforting as that sounded, Emma was not convinced that any of them could stop the Garrisons.

If only it were that easy.

Little did Emma know that kneeling before her was the Five Great Wars Regiment.

Other than the God of War himself, no one else could match them.

In fact, the Cavalry Regiment was also hiding in the dark and ready to pounce.

With those warriors around, nobody would dare to attack the compound.

On the other side, Meredith had Zoey kneel on the ground back at home as punishment.

“You’ll only get up when you admit to your mistake!”

Rage flowed through Meredith like lava.

“What’s going on, Mom? What did Zoey do?” asked Aaron and Caitlyn as they hurried over.

“You’ll never guess who she’d gone out with today. It was Levi’s filthy mother!” shouted Meredith as she glared at the two.

“Isn’t Levi an orphan? How would he have a mother?”

The couple looked at each other in bafflement.

“You two really don’t know, do you? Levi’s no orphan because his mother is alive. It’s a shame that she turned out to be a beggar, though. The woman looked older than me! The wrinkles on her were horrifying! She was dirty and smelly like someone who had just crawled out of the sewer,” complained Meredith.

“I think that she is a sanitation worker. I noticed the uniform that she was wearing,” added Robert.

“Zoey was walking around with that beggar on a bustling street. If the paparazzi took a photo of that, Zoey would be in big trouble. Besides, she’s already divorced from Levi, so who is she to go shopping with the man’s mother?” continued Meredith furiously.

Aaron and Caitlyn were upset as well when they heard that. “You’re in the wrong here, Zoey. Why did you go out with Levi’s mother? Didn’t we tell you to stay away?”

“Levi was never a capable man. You’re way out of that kept man’s league! And now, he’s even brought his beggar of a mother along. The two of them are trying to live off of you!”

“Levi’s filthy mother must have heard about you. That’s why she’s deliberately trying to take advantage of you.”

The couple exchanged looks before Zoey finally voiced out, “Mom! Dad! It’s not what you think it is! She’s not that kind of person.”

Zoey wanted to tell them the truth about Emma so badly, but it did not seem like a good idea.

“I don’t care what kind of person she is, and I have no interest in finding out either.”

“We have only one thing to tell you. From now on, you and Levi are over. You’ll have nothing to do with that man anymore. Even if our family has to exhaust every resource and call in all favors, we’ll make sure that the two of you are separated!”

“Or, we’ll simply drive Levi and his mother out of Quebec,” threatened Robert and Meredith in unison.

The Blacks were hellbent on separating Zoey and Levi, no matter the cost.

Zoey was stunned, for she never expected her parents and the entire Black family to oppose her marriage.

“You will kneel until you learn your mistake!”

Meredith glared daggers at Zoey.

“Hurry up and admit that you’re wrong, Zoey. Apologize to your Grandma,” ordered Caitlyn and Aaron.

“I’ve done nothing wrong,” insisted Zoey.

“Then, you shall continue to kneel. Let’s see how long you can keep this up,” responded Meredith angrily.

She never had any problems in regard to controlling the other young ones in the family.

Zoey was the only one who was always rebelling against her grandmother, and that was why Meredith felt that her authority was challenged.

Meanwhile, in Margo City, Amos and his men were being carried away by family members because nobody could move.

It did not take long before the one handling Amos heard of what happened.

Amos only knew that the man's name was Caleb and that he was a servant to the Garrisons.

Caleb was the servant who had rampaged through the entire South Hampton, silencing the city overnight.

Amos was unable to imagine just how powerful the Garrisons were, seeing that their servant could do that much to a city.

The man trembled all over when his phone rang.

"Do you know what you've done, Amos?" asked a cold voice.

"I... I do."

Amos was so frightened that he could almost cry.

"You'd better have a good explanation for Emma's absence in Margo City. Even her courtyard was laid to waste!"

"To tell you the truth, Emma's bastard son came for her, and he was insanely powerful. My men were crippled and so was I. Mr. Garrison, you have to avenge us. He had even said that he was not afraid of your family and that he'll be seeing you soon."

Amos exaggerated the incident, in hopes of getting the Garrisons to avenge him, but Caleb merely laughed in response.

"That bastard thinks that he can challenge the most powerful ancient family in Erudia? He's not even worthy of being my opponent, let alone the entire Garrison family. Heck, he's not even worth mentioning to the Garrisons."

Levi thought that the Garrisons would hear about him when he instructed Amos to send the message, but little did he know that he had not earned a mention yet.

The man's appearance was not even worth mentioning to the Garrisons. Such news had merely reached the family's servant.

“Since Emma has broken the rules, the Garrisons no longer have to abide by the agreement.

Levi and his mother are nothing but a nuisance to the family, so the only way to deal with them is to kill them!” exclaimed Caleb as a murderous intent flashed across his eyes.

“Excellent.”

Amos almost cheered out loud.

“Even the servant despises Levi, let alone the Garrison family. What makes him think that he has a chance against the Garrisons?” Erwin gritted his teeth in anger.

The man was not exaggerating because the Garrisons were indeed unbelievably powerful.

In the Brauses’ opinion, no matter how powerful Levi was, he would not be able to do a thing about the Garrisons.

Going against the most powerful ancient family would only get the man killed.

The Brauses were about to celebrate when they heard Caleb’s voice. “This will be the last mistake that you’ll ever make.”

Boom!

Suddenly, the Brauses’ heads exploded.

A prominent family like the Garrisons would never have allowed the Brauses to live. They had always been decisive in tying up loose ends, and they would never tolerate mistakes.

Seeing what happened with Emma, they had to contain the situation.

“But... “

There was a deathly silence in Amos’ eyes.

Even with his bones broken, Amos thought that he could at least live, but things did not turn out as he expected.

That night, anyone who knew about Emma disappeared along with the Brauses.

On the other side, Zoey had knelt for a full day but still believed that she did nothing wrong, so Meredith decided to stop the corporal punishment. After all, Zoey was the hope and future of their family.

Meredith and her husband then had a discussion with Zoey’s parents. “Let’s find Levi and his mother.

Then, we’ll drive them out of Quebec so that Zoey will never see them again.”

“I believe that this will work. We should also buy them off.”

Aaron and Caitlyn immediately agreed with the suggestion before heading off to the Warzone compound with Meredith and Robert.

Levi was surprised to see them there. “What brings you here?”

“Where’s your mother, Levi? Call her out,” ordered Meredith.

“What’s going on, Levi?”

Emma stepped out when she heard the commotion.

Both Aaron and Caitlyn grimaced when they caught sight of how weak and old Emma was. They soon realized that Meredith was not exaggerating at all.

What a disgrace!

Having her with us would be an insult to the family!

This ugly-looking thing shall never be our in-law!

Levi was bad enough, but his mother is even worse!

We were right to insist on the divorce.

Mother really does know best!

This time, we'll make sure that Zoey doesn't end up with Levi again.

"So, this is your mother, Levi?" asked Aaron.

"That's right. What about it?"

"Hahaha!"

Suddenly, Aaron burst out laughing.

Levi was puzzled, but the sensitive Emma could tell that Aaron was mocking her.

The mother felt terrible for bringing shame upon her son.

"Aren't you an orphan? Seeing as such, why would you have a filthy... I mean, is this a joke?" inquired Aaron.

Levi shook his head. "I'm not joking. This is my mother."

“So, you’ll live with your mother?” chimed in Caitlyn.

“She’s my mother. Of course, she has to stay with me.”

“You’re a good son, but have you thought about your future?” asked Aaron seriously.

“What does that mean?”

“Didn’t you say that you’d wanted to marry Zoey and have a grand wedding? Now that you’ve found your mother, are you planning to have her stay with you and Zoey?”

Aaron was trying to control his anger.

“Of course! Zoey’s already met my mother, and they had no problem getting along. I don’t see why we can’t live together.”

“I don’t think so!” roared Aaron suddenly.

“Do you know what people say about you?”

Almost everyone at Morris knows that you’re a deadbeat. Are you and your mother planning to live off of Zoey for the rest of your miserable lives?”

Caitlyn then chimed in, “Are you going to bring your father home with you too? Do you seriously think that Zoey owes your family that much?”

Supporting you wasn’t enough? Now, she has to support your parents too?”

“We wouldn’t complain if they’d at least looked decent, but just look at your mother! She’s nothing but a disease-carrying old hag!”

“You’ve brought shame to Zoey. What has she done to deserve this?”

Under the couple’s barrage of insults, Emma broke down in tears.

I’m nothing but a liability to my son!

"Besides, Zoey's the star entrepreneur of Quebec. Her net worth will reach fifty billion, if not hundreds of billions, in the future. She'll be one of the elites in the upper class while your mother will remain a lowly sanitation worker. You and your family are not worthy of Zoey!" voiced Meredith.

"People will make fun of us for having in-laws like you!" added Robert.

Emma trembled all over when her worries actually came true.

She knew that her son could never be with Zoey because their relationship could only end in a tragedy.

"So what? What exactly are you guys here for?" asked Levi with a smile.

Aaron and Caitlyn were acquainted with Levi, so it was hard for them to be straightforward with the man.

"We want you and your mother to leave Quebec!" Meredith sneered.
