Chapter 221 Julian Was Scratched

‘Okay.’ Even if Emelia didn’t say that, Viggo would still send her home, so he gently agreed. Then, he put his arm around Emelia’s shoulder and walked far away from Julian.

Staring at the two leaving, Julian gritted his teeth, but still decided to follow them.

Emelia walked as if she walked on eggshells. Although Viggo accompanied her in the front, she was still frightened when she was followed by gloomy Julian.

When she finally arrived at the door of her house, she hurriedly thanked Viggo and immediately went home.

Outside, Viggo happily said goodbye to the pale-faced Julian. ‘Good night, Mr. Hughes.’

After Viggo finished speaking, he left in a carefree manner. As a person who wanted to take care of Emelia, he had successfully completed his journey to protect the one he loved tonight.

Looking up in the direction of the bedroom on the second floor where Emelia had turned on the light, Julian’s eyes darkened, and he turned to go home.

Emelia went straight to the bathroom to take a shower after returning home. Under the warm water, she thought about what had happened today again and again.

Everything was like a dream.

In the past, she had dreamed many times.

In her dream, she had a warm and harmonious original family. Her parents who loved her, and perhaps she had a brother and sister.

In her dream, she had a warm and sweet home with her beloved man. Maybe they would have a few children.

But they were dreams after all.

However, what happened today was real.

When she woke up tomorrow, she was still Vincent's daughter.

As she thought about it, she shed tears of happiness again. Later, she simply cried out, because it seemed that only in this way could she vent her joy.

Chapter 222 Shame on You

Chapter 222 Shame on You

Emelia's movements were too fast. In addition, she was never the kind of person who was so rude that she could hit him. That was why Julian was scratched before he could react, and his neck felt a burning pain.

The next second, she slapped him on the shoulder again and said angrily, 'I'll let you climb the wall to my house in the middle of the night and let you bully me again!'

Emelia had beaten him quite a few times, causing her to be so tired that she was panting.

It took a long time for Julian to realize that he had been beaten by her when she was riding on him. The first thing he realized was that she was throwing a tantrum.

Although he was beaten, Julian didn't feel angry at all.

On the contrary, he felt that she was very cute when she was so angry.

He held back his laughter and looked up, only to see that Emelia's loose home clothes slipped down her shoulders, revealing her fair shoulder.

Julian's eyes glinted with desire, and he turned over and pressed Emelia on the bed.

Emelia let out a cry of surprise. Suddenly, the positions between her and Julian were completely switched.

Julian pressed her down and deliberately said angrily, 'How dare you hit me?'

Julian thought that if he scared her like this, she would be afraid to beg for mercy as soon as possible.

Unexpectedly, Emelia struggled to lift his leg and kick him again. She said angrily, 'Yes, I'm hitting you!'

As soon as she thought back to the scene when she had taken a shower, she couldn't help but feel furious. Emelia raised her foot and kicked at Julian again.

Obviously, Julian hurriedly blocked. As they tangled and rolled about, Julian didn't know how he ended up kissing Emelia's lips, and this kiss couldn't stop.

At this time, they were on the bed, and their clothes were disheveled. Holding Emelia in his arms, Julian wanted nothing more than to hold Emelia against himself tightly. Emelia's mind was completely blank as well, and she felt a bit lost and delirious. She felt as though she had returned to those years of marriage life. Every single time they were in bed, they would be like this.

If not for Emelia's phone ringing again, the situation tonight might have been completely out of control.

Chapter 223 It was Scratched by A Woman

Ezra's excuse of treating him to a meal made Emelia unable to bear it.

‘Mr. Cantillo, I'm really, really flattered.’

She had just been publicly recognized as the daughter of the Longerich family. Wasn't it a little too fast for her to deal with social events like this?

She was not used to it at all.

Ezra said very seriously, ‘Never try to force me. It's just the beginning. In the future, there will be countless people who will contact you and get close to you.’

What he said was true.

Although his true goal was to help Julian, in the future, there would be many people who would try to draw her over to their side.

The Longerich family in the capital was not ordinary.

This was a big family that everyone wanted to play up to. From now on, Emelia would be in a lot of trouble in this area.

What was even more ridiculous was that after Emelia was announced to be the daughter of the Longerich family, Ezra's real father also called him, hinting that he could pursue her and marry into her family.

But he directly said that he had someone in his heart, and sent him away.

If he went after Emelia, he would be in great trouble by Julian.

But Emelia still agreed to the meal. On the one hand, it was easy to say that they were familiar with each other. On the other hand, Ezra's tone was very sincere, so it was difficult for her to refuse.

After hanging up his phone, she received a strange phone call after a while.

Emelia picked it up in confusion. According to the voice, the other party was a young man in his thirties. He said, ‘Hello, is this Miss Jones?’

Chapter 224 Mr. Ex-husband

Chapter 224 Mr. Ex-husband

Just as Emelia was at a loss for words, Maisie sent her another message. There seemed to be a hint of sadness in her tone. ‘Emelia, is it that in a relationship, as long as we really have loved each other, we don’t need to care about the result?’

Emelia gently frowned and thought for a long time before replying seriously, ‘If possible, we should still try our best to get a good result. If we can’t get it, we can only face it calmly.’

Maisie seemed to have encountered some emotional problems.

Emelia did not know how to comfort her, so she could only share her experience.

Whether there would be a good result or not in a relationship, she had to work hard to get positive results.

She tried hard, but there was no result. Whether she would see him or not in the future, there would be no regrets.

Just like the relationship between her and Julian, they were so far away from each other, and she also tried her best to get close to him. Although she felt so disappointed in the end, she still did not regret it. She didn’t regret that she had loved him so much although she had brought destruction upon herself.

Maisie gave her a gentle smile and said, ‘Thank you.’

Emelia thought for a moment and asked tentatively, ‘Maisie, are you in love?’

She replied straightforwardly, ‘No.’

Maisie seemed to think that this reply was too straightforward, so she added, 'I'm not in love. | just sighed with emotion when | saw all kinds of love stories recently.'

Her way of feeling was not love.

But... It was just a body entanglement, which had nothing to do with love.

No, it should be said that for that person, it had nothing to do with love, only with desire.

For her, it was love.

Chapter 225 She Doesn't Like Him Now

##Emelia was also unwilling to show weakness and replied, 'What? Are you not satisfied with this title? Otherwise, what do you think I should call you?'

She didn't know what was going on, but ever since she returned and had a new relationship with Julian, the two of them didn't seem to have a good time talking with each other every time. They probably ended unhappily.

She concluded that it was because of her.

In the past, she always wanted to please Julian. She always wanted him to be happy and always wanted him to have a good impression of her, so she was basically so impatient in front of him.

She would do whatever he asked her to do.

But now it was different. When he said something that she didn't like, she would argue back. Anyway, she didn't care whether he was happy or not.

When he couldn't do it well, she could beat him back even if she scolded him. Anyway, she didn't care whether he was angry or not.

In short, she was no longer spoiling him.

With regards to Emelia's act of making him feel unhappy, Julian stared at the other end of the phone with his eyes wide open in anger. After a long while, he gritted his teeth and sent her a voice message. 'Emelia, why did you do that to me?' After hanging up his phone and putting him in the blacklist in order to block him to contact her, she even beat and scolded him last night. If this went on, wouldn't she go too far? 'No.' In the face of Julian's complaint against him, Emelia denied it lightly, and then pointed out, 'Julian, I just don't love you anymore.' After she finished speaking, she put the phone aside and no longer wanted to pay attention to him. She didn't know why she suddenly had such a bad temper today. Perhaps it was because last night, Julian had gone too far, or maybe her period was coming soon, so she had a bad temper.

Chapter 226 Punish Him as a Warning to Others

'Have you offended a big shot?' Quincy Lee murmured, 'Who did you offend?'

Mr. Lee roared angrily, 'How could I know? Think about it yourself!'

Quincy Lee grabbed his hair with his handcuffed hand and thought desperately.

If the fact that he was beaten and sent to prison was not manipulated by the rich man, then he didn't seem to have offended anyone recently.

Could it be...

Thinking of this, Quincy Lee suddenly raised his head and muttered in surprise, 'Could it be her?'

Mr. Lee asked in a hurry, 'Who?'

Quincy Lee said gloomily, 'I, I called Emelia Jones today and wanted to invite her to dinner. I still said, said...'

Mr. Lee gritted his teeth and asked, 'What did you say?'

Quincy Lee said weakly, 'I said I wanted to hook up with her and become the son-in-law of the Longerich family...'

Mr. Lee was so angry that he almost died of anger.

'Is the daughter of the Longerich family someone you can marry to?'

Mr. Lee roared angrily. If it weren't for the glass between him and Quincy Lee, he would have rushed up and beaten Quincy Lee.

'I've told you many times. If you don't restrain yourself, something bad will happen sooner or later. Now that you have offended the Longerich family, even if I want to let you out, I can't!' Mr. Lee was so angry.

He was really desperate for his prodigal son.

Quincy Lee shouted discontentedly, 'But the Longerich family can't make me so miserable just because I said such a few words, can they? I didn't do anything to Emelia!'

Mr. Lee roared, 'If you do anything to her, I'm afraid I'm going to collect your body now!'

'Don't you have a brain? The Longerich family has just recognized her and will definitely dote on her like a treasure. Have you seen the jade necklace she wore that night? I heard that it was sold at a sky-high price at the auction!'

Chapter 227 Truth or Dare

‘Dear, wake up. Do you think he will disappear from your side?’

‘Now your two jobs have connections with him, and he lives next door to you.’

Nina was truly a very conscientious friend. In just a few words, she helped Emelia understand reality.

Emelia was incomparably exhausted. ‘Thank you for your reminder.’

Nina chuckled. ‘Actually, there’s nothing to worry about. Just ignore him and see how thick his skin is.’

Emelia was speechless.

In the evening, Emelia went to Ezra’s restaurant for dinner party. She thought it was just an ordinary meal, but she didn’t expect Ezra to suggest them play Truth or Dare.

They were still there for dinner, but Jean didn’t attend tonight. She said that there was another party.

Arthur did come, but his was obviously not in the mood.

Ezra suggested using the method of turning the bottle to play truth or dare. Where the mouth of the bottle went, the people would accept the challenged.

Emelia was unfamiliar with games. However, it was Nina who clapped her hands excitedly and cheered, ‘Mr. Cantillo is indeed someone who knows how to play. Come, come, turn the bottle around.’

Nina was also a party animal. She liked people and noise, completely different from the calm and quiet Cameron Dauster.

The rest of the people present agreed to play the game. Emelia didn't want to play, so she had to bite the bullet.

It was easy for those who lost at the beginning to be asked questions or asked to take a risk. At the beginning, Emelia lost once, Ezra asked, 'What's the happiest thing in the past week?'

Emelia answered honestly, 'To reunite with my father.'

Her answer was heart-warming and true.

In the next round, Julian lost once. Ezra asked with a wicked smile, 'Three people or three things that you're most afraid of.'

Chapter 228 Let Me Drink for You

Nina softly comforted her, 'Calm down, calm down.'

Emelia took a deep breath and tried to calm herself down.

She didn't even know about this. She thought that Nina and Cameron were simply dating...

They had been playing games for a long time, but Arthur had never been selected by the God of Fate. In other words, almost all of them had been targeted by the mouth of the bottle once, and some of them had even been targeted several times, but Arthur did not.

Therefore, he naturally did not answer the question from the bottom of his heart or choose the chance to take a big risk. Nina then played a trick. After she answered the question, it was her turn to turn the bottle. She deliberately controlled her strength so that the bottle's mouth could be aimed at Arthur.

Arthur sighed.

It was obvious that she cheated on him.

However, Nina couldn't wait to ask him, 'Doctor, truth or dare?'

Arthur said disdainfully, 'This game is so childish. I can't believe you guys are still playing!'

Everyone was speechless.

Arthur suddenly offended everyone. After all, everyone else had just chosen 'truth'.

'Are you going to choose Dare?' Nina's eyes lit up with excitement. She was sure that Arthur and Jean might get together and she was waiting for an opportunity to interrogate Arthur.

Arthur's scalp was numb by her excitement, but he had to bite the bullet and say, 'Yes.'

Nina immediately said, 'Then please call a lady and tell her affectionately: I love you.'

'Of course, except for your mother.' Nina quickly excluded the person Arthur might call.

Arthur gritted his teeth and glared at her. Nina tilted her head and blinked at him, signaling him to call quickly.

Both Ezra and Julian were unwilling to save him, especially Ezra. His expression was even more gossipy than Nina's.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 229 I Really Want to Marry You

Maisie was stunned for a moment. Before she could react, Ezra had already picked up the wine glass in front of him and raised his head to drink.

Julian saw Ezra's actions from afar and glanced at Ezra's hand that was holding Maisie's arm. His face darkened slightly.

Isn't it enough for Emelia to make him sadder overnight? Ezra was still doing more there.

After Ezra drank up the wine, Nina applauded and said, 'Wow, Mr. Cantillo, you saved the beauty. Great.'

Ezra didn't say anything and sat down with Maisie.

'Thank you.' Maisie thanked him and withdrew her hand.

Emelia pursed her lips and glanced at Ezra, feeling a little angry.

It was not that Ezra didn't know that Maisie was a good girl. He didn't take love seriously, so why should he provoke Maisie?

The game continued for a few more rounds. Just as everyone suggested that it would be the final round, when Julian was turning the bottle around, he aimed the bottle at Emelia. Emelia chose truth, and had to face the question that he had proposed.

Julian stared at her with his dark eyes and asked calmly, 'Is Viggo really your boyfriend?'

Emelia pursed her lips and glared at him.

She finally understood the reason why Ezra asked them to play such a game tonight. It seemed that all of them were pave the way for this question.

If it were in the past, Emelia would have tried her best to deny it, but tonight she felt a little tired.

First of all, she didn't want Julian to scheme against her because of this. Didn't he feel tired?

Secondly, she had indeed removed the nominal relationship between her and Viggo, so she finally admitted frankly, 'We already broke up from the so-called relationship.'

Julian raised his eyebrows and couldn't help smiling. Obviously, he was very satisfied with her answer.

Chapter 230 Escape to a Business Journey

In a bad mood, Grandpa Hughes became even more displeased with Julian.

Although he was very weak, he still glanced sideways at Julian. 'You can leave now. I have something to say to Emelia.'

Julian had long since accustomed to his grandpa's attitude towards him. When he had been together with Emelia, his grandpa had always been on Emelia's side, and had instead treated him badly.

At that time, he always thought that Emelia deliberately pretended to be obedient in front of his grandpa, and always thought that Emelia was scheming to please his grandpa, so his grandpa treated her so well.

Now that he thought about it, in the entire Hughes Family, only grandpa had seen how good Emelia was.

It could also be said that in the entire Hughes Family, only grandpa truly cared for him.

His father, Gerhard, had never had this family in his heart. It was like he had not a wife, a son nor a daughter.

Gerhard and Heather both hated Emelia because they only wanted him to marry Yvonne so that they could maintain a friendly relationship with Randolph.

As for Caroline, she hated Emelia even more because she had a good relationship with Yvonne.

Only grandpa analyzed his character, investigated Emelia's temperament, and thought she was a good girl. He really thought for him, hoping that he could have a warm and beautiful home.

It was a pity that he had let down grandpa's painstaking efforts and also Emelia.

After leaving the ward, his grandpa motioned for Emelia to move a stool and sit down.

The housekeeper helped Grandpa Hughes sit up and then left.

Grandpa Hughes looked at Emelia and said with great emotion, 'I saw the news. I didn't expect you are the daughter of the Longerich family.'

After saying that, he laughed at himself again. 'I told you, my taste is so good that I spotted a rich young lady who was wandering outside at a glance.'

Chapter 231 Many Excuses

Chapter 231 Many Excuses

After sending David a message, Julian looked up at his grandpa on the hospital bed and said, ‘You’d better spend more effort helping me get Emelia back instead of wasting so much time on finding another woman.’”

If it weren’t for his weak body, his grandpa would have been able to jump up from the hospital bed at this moment. He shouted angrily, ‘Do you think | don’t want to get her back for you? But don’t you know who she is now?’

If it was possible, he naturally hoped that Julian and Emelia would be able to reunite.

Emelia was a good woman. In fact, his grandson was also a good man. If the two of them really loved each other, life would be very happy. Unfortunately, his grandson had been blind and had missed her.

‘Vincent and the Longerich family are so protective of her. It will be nearly impossible for you to get her back!’”

‘That’s why | advise you to give up as soon as possible.’ He glanced at his grandson grumpily. ‘To be honest, if | had a daughter and she was hurt by a man like this, | would beat him to death.’

Julian lowered his eyes and said, ‘No matter how difficult it is, | will get her back.’”

Otherwise, what was the point of such a long life?

Otherwise, what was the point of having this wealth?

In the past, he didn’t understand. He thought that the value of a man’s existence was the success of his career.

But now, in his heart, both the success of love and career were the real success. He could even abandon his career as long as he could be together with Emelia.

Now he could understand why some kings would rather give up his realm for a woman

“All right, you can leave now. | won’t die.” He couldn’t listen to Julian’s affectionate words. When he heard them, he immediately remembered how his grandson had gritted his teeth and fought against him.

Julian let out a sigh of relief for his grandpa.

Emelia then went into the ward and told grandpa for a long time, telling him to pay attention to his health in the future no matter what. Then the two of them left together.

Chapter 232 I Can’t Beat You

Chapter 232 | Can’t Beat You

Emelia ignored him, but she thought that he was going to go on a business trip anyway, so she didn’t want to argue with him. She quickly gave him some soup and sent him away.

New Zealand was quite far away. It was estimated that he would not be able to come back for at least a week.

That was why Emelia didn’t say anything. He turned around and went to the kitchen to fill a bowl of soup for Julian.

After drinking it up, Julian suddenly felt warm all over. The weather had suddenly become cold recently. Such a bowl of hot soup could really increase people’s happiness.

After he finished drinking, Emelia took the bowl and went to the kitchen without saying anything else.

Looking at her standing quietly in the bright kitchen washing dishes, Julian missed the warmth she had given him.

When it was cold, he was hungry and exhausted as he went home.

With a gentle light, a bowl of hot soup, a table of delicious food, all the fatigue and coldness were dispelled.

In the past few years, he didn't need to worry about anything, as long as he looked back, he would see her doing this for him.

But now...

Julian really didn't want to admit that he had fallen to the point where he had to rely on a cat to improve his relationship with her.

It turned out that no one would stay there and wait.

He sighed with emotion in his heart. He only regretted that he didn't cherish it.

Thinking of this, he stepped into the kitchen and called her name over and over again. 'Emelia...'

Emelia was really afraid of being alone with him. As soon as she saw him enter the kitchen, she immediately wiped her hands clean and ran out.

Julian smiled bitterly to himself

Chapter 233 He's At the Right Age

Chapter 233 He's At the Right Age

Sure enough, under Emelia's warning, Heather had no choice but to withdraw her hand that was trying to reach out. Heather really wanted to hit someone.

Her marriage with Gerhard was the biggest pain in her heart, and also the most important thing that made her unable to raise her head in front of others. However, it was rare for outsiders to know that her relationship with Gerhard was almost broken, because she always pretended to be happy in front of outsiders.

Gerhard had been abroad all year round. Heather told others that he had started a new career abroad, and their son, Julian, had taken charge of the Hughes Group. He had also made the Hughes Group an outstanding and prestigious enterprise in Riverside City. Their daughter, Caroline, was also a celebrity in the showbiz.

In the eyes of outsiders, she was living a happy life as a mother and a wife, with promising children and a successful husband.

What they didn't know was that her relationship with her two children, especially with her son, Julian, had been broken into pieces. Emelia had been married to Julian for three years. Even though Heather had never shown any sign of enmity between her and Gerhard in front of Emelia, Emelia had sensed it through observation. In addition, Grandpa had also mentioned some grievances between Heather and Gerhard to Emelia, which was why Emelia knew them so well.

However, Heather had never expected that one day, she would be threatened by Emelia.

Heather stood at the door of the ward, trembling all over. She glared at Emelia angrily, but she couldn't hit her.

If it were in the past, Heather would definitely have slapped her.

However, things were different now. Emelia was the daughter of the Longerich family.

But what was there to be angry about?

If it weren't for the fact that she had mocked Emelia, the latter wouldn't have roasted her so harshly.

'Goodbye.' Emelia ignored Heather and walked into the ward. She closed the door and completely isolated her from the outside.

Chapter 234 The One He Wants to See

Chapter 234 The One He Wants to See

Emelia, carrying the thermos, had just walked out of the hospital when she was blocked by several reporters. Emelia was shocked and quickly raised her hand to cover her face and took a step back.

What was going on?

While Emelia was still in a daze, she heard a reporter ask her, 'Miss Jones, we heard that a female star is pregnant and is having a checkup at the hospital. That person...'

As the reporter spoke, she sized her up and asked tentatively, 'Is that you?'

Pregnant? A checkup?

Was this reporter joking?

She didn't even have a man. How could she be pregnant?

Besides, she was not an actress.

Thinking of this, Emelia helplessly asked the reporter, 'Am I a female star?'

'Although you don't put on an act, you are a screenwriter, and your attention is now high. You can be regarded as half a female star, right?'" The reporter naturally felt that his words were a little far-fetched, so he lowered his voice in the end.

They didn't want to do this either, but at this time, she happened to appear in their sight.

They had been waiting for more than half a day, but they didn't see any female star. They happened to see her, so they made a guess.

Her bearing was too eye-catching. Standing at the gate of the hospital, which was crowded with people, she was so graceful and charming that they noticed her right away.

Emelia didn't even know what to say. In the past, when she went to the supermarket in the neighborhood after spending hours writing scripts at home, she didn't care much about what she was wearing. Fortunately, when she went out today, she simply tidied herself up. Her makeup was clean and her outfits looked smart. Otherwise, her image would have been completely ruined by these cameras so close to her face. The image of the Longerich family would also be affected because of her.

Thinking of this, Emelia quickly said, 'I just came to the hospital to visit the sick elder.'

Chapter 235 A Good Marriage VS A Good Family

Randolph had a hard time recently. First of all, the burn on his feet was agonizing, especially when the new tender flesh was growing, but he couldn't scratch it.

Secondly, as expected, he was severely lectured by the higher-ups. It was the first time that he had been so depressed in all these years. Randolph was so angry that he went crazy.

He only hated that he could not reach a higher position. Without greater power, he could not even fight for his daughter.

But he completely forgot that the grudge between Yvonne and Emelia was caused by Yvonne's despicable plagiarism of Emelia's script. He only saw his daughter being forced to apologize to her.

In the study of the Sullivan family.

Rosalind frowned and asked Randolph, 'Then what should we do now? | think Yvonne has been in a bad mood recently.'

That day, after Randolph was scalded, he shouted at Yvonne. Yvonne did not come back for several days and had been angry with Randolph. Rosalind called her several times, but she ignored her.

Randolph's face darkened as he said, 'In my opinion... we must get Julian over and stand on the same side as us. Only in this way can we take revenge on Vincent and his so-called daughter.'

For example, he would let Julian kick off the two dramas that he had invested in, and let him terminate the contract with Vincent.

Even though Vincent was not short of money and Emelia was not short of these two jobs, this would still make him and Emelia feel uncomfortable.

In this way, there would be no chance for them to be together. No matter how deeply he loved Emelia, how could she still consider him since he was against Vincent?

Wasn't it good to kill two birds with one stone?

Chapter 236 Let's See How much He Loves Emelia

Yvonne hated Emelia so much. If it weren't for the fact that Emelia had intruded between her and Julian, her relationship with him wouldn't have ended up in such a stalemate. Now that Emelia's identity had been exposed and Yvonne's glory had been snatched away in Riverside City, it was hardly possible for Yvonne to be happy. At this time, Rosalind's call came. Yvonne picked it up impatiently. "Mom, what's the matter?"

Rosalind was afraid that she would lose her temper and hang up the phone again, so she quickly told her about Randolph's plan. After hearing this,

Yvonne frowned and said doubtfully, "Do you think he can let you do whatever you want?"

Rosalind's tone was firm, "That's for sure. Could it be that he doesn't care about the Hughes Family's reputation and future?"

Rosalind had always disdained Emelia. She had never thought that Julian was serious about Emelia. She had been with Randolph for so many years, and with her age and experience, she believed that she had a thorough understanding of men.

She said confidently to Yvonne, "Since ancient times, most men loved power and not beauty. Emelia is nothing. In the face of interests, you can see that he still doesn't care about her!

'Julian has been too smooth along the way and has not experienced any hardships, so he only cares about love. When he has to make a choice, he'll know how worthless love is.'

Rosalind's words made Yvonne instantly relax. That's right, Julian always said that he loved Emelia, and she wanted to see how much he loved her!

If Julian knew that in the eyes of Yvonne and her daughter, he was a person who only valued love but not career, he would probably be angry bitterly.

For so many years, ever since he had the concept of becoming the Hughes Group's successor, he had been working hard every day for this identity.

Before he realized how important Emelia was to him, he only cared about his career.

In the three years he had married Emelia, he had devoted himself to his career. One year after his divorce with her, he had also devoted himself to his career.

However, she and her mother didn't know how much he had paid so much to the Hughes Group.

'Then I'll arrange it immediately.' Seeing that Yvonne had agreed, Polaris immediately made a call.

Yvonne said disdainfully, 'Nina is so bad at singing, how dare she participate in the party all these years?'

Polaris followed her words and said, 'There is very few real singing on the scene at these galas. You must know that the performer has recorded the song many times in the recording studio to get the best version that can be played on stage.’

After she finished speaking, Yvonne stopped talking.

This was because it was the same for Yvonne herself. Not to mention the actors and actresses, even many professional singers were pretending to sing.

Polaris realized that what she said was not appropriate, then she pursed her lips and pretended to be busy with her work, not saying a word to smooth things over for herself.

She was telling the truth. Yvonne had no choice but to accept.

After Polaris contacted the paid posters, Yvonne happened to be sent home by the car. Polaris didn’t stay at Yvonne’s house and left after saying goodbye.

When she got home, she began to look forward to the brewing of this incident. As long as she could find a way to break through to slander Nina, she would be able to go further to slander Emelia.

Polaris knew very well that she could no longer compete with Emelia in status, so she did not want to compete with her anymore. She just needed her to live a worse life than her.

Just as Polaris and Yvonne had hoped, after Nina’s video of ‘Nina was singing out of tune’ was released, it instantly became the top of the trending search. Because she was so popular now, any trace of her would be the trending topic.

However, what drove Polaris and Yvonne crazy was that even though Nina’s performance in that video was really terrible, and even though Polaris’s paid posters had been mocking Nina, there was still a bunch of comments praising her.

It had to be admitted that Nina's forceful online verification had turned the previous video of her being slandered into a joke.

In an instant, all the marketing IDs disappeared without a trace. In the history of their slandering, they had never met a celebrity like Nina who had sent three posts in a row to refute them.

Looking at the trend of public opinion on the Internet, Yvonne was so angry that she called Polaris and scolded her bitterly. She told her not to always make trouble for her and blame all the mistakes on her.

Yvonne was too angry. The reason why she proposed such a move was that she wanted to suppress the drama "Princess Leilania".

Wasn't it for the costume drama behind Yvonne and YS Culture?

Moreover, Yvonne had also approved this proposal. Now, she was the one to blame before she succeeded. Polaris was so angry that she gritted her teeth, but she could only endure Yvonne's accusation. After all, Yvonne was her boss now.

After hanging up the phone, Polaris couldn't help but think of all the things she had done in Tymers Entertainment.

No matter how bad the situation was, Viggo would never scold his employees with harsh words like Yvonne. Even if it was criticism, it would be very pleasant from his mouth.

Under his gentle tone, how could anyone not quickly reflect on his mistakes? If he didn't reflect on his mistakes in time, how could he live up to Viggo's kindness?

Humans had different EQ level. Yvonne had no EQ at all, while Viggo had a very high EQ. This was the main reason why Viggo could get along well with people in the complicated entertainment industry for so many years.

Polaris was obsessed with him. In addition to his appearance and temperament, she also liked his gentle attitude.

Chapter 239 Danger

Chapter 239 Danger

Although Julian was far abroad, it did not affect his knowledge of the domestic affairs. Moreover, he could tell at a glance that Yvonne must have been behind this.

Even though the target of this incident was Nina and not Emelia, Yvonne's main goal was to destroy Emelia. After all, if the reputation of 'Princess Leilania' was affected, it would not be a good thing for her future.

Ezra carefully complained in their group, 'Julian, how did you fall in love with Yvonne back then? Didn't you notice her thoughts when you were together?'

Julian really didn't notice that because when he was with Yvonne, she was very generous and sensible, and they were not very close at that time.

If they lived together day and night, he might slowly realize that Yvonne had been pretending all the time. But at that time, he and she only met and had dinner together, they were occasionally attending parties, playing golf, and riding horses.

At that time, he only felt that he got along well with Yvonne, because she could accompany him in all the projects he liked. He didn't think too much about other things.

Phil Henderson said faintly in the group, 'I think it's necessary for you to check how Yvonne got close with you. According to her scheming, | always feel that she approached you on purpose.'

'You can even investigate her past when she was studying abroad. She had been abroad all the time, but why did she suddenly come back? And she happened to be sitting next to you at the dinner party. What a coincidence!'

Under the reminder of Ezra and Phil Henderson, Julian frowned and said, 'It's indeed time to check.'

Chapter 240 A Real Noble Lady

Chapter 240 A Real Noble Lady

Ezra didn't need to be so careful to remind Julian, and he could still sense the crisis.

Moreover, even without Vincent's arrangement in the Capital, he always had a sense of crisis, because he really didn't have any advantage.

Just the fact that he had hurt Emelia was enough to sentence him to death. What's more, there was Vincent now, which made him dislike him.

After booking the tickets, Julian still felt uneasy, so he called Emelia. Since he went on a business trip, they had not talked on the phone. He had made a few video calls, but Emelia didn't answer. Later, he changed into voice or text messages, but in the end, she didn't reply after a long time, or replied simply.

After this business trip, he had gained a deep understanding of what was going on. That was, before he could get her back, he would never go on a business trip again, or perhaps he would never be able to say such a long distance away.

It was too painful.

After the call was connected, Julian directly asked Emelia, “Did you go to the Capital?”

Emelia replied lightly. ‘Yes.’

But in the blink of an eye, Julian’s heart was filled with grief and disappointment. As for him, Emelia had agreed so readily, as though he would accept another man.

He muttered bitterly, ‘Emelia, are you really going to start over again?’

On the other end, Emelia was completely confused. ‘What do you mean?’

Chapter 241 Desperate Pain

The banquet was extremely grand, so almost all the young talents in the Capital were gathered here.

Emelia could naturally tell that her father wanted to introduce men to her, but she didn’t say anything.

She didn’t want to have blind dates for the time being and didn’t want to fall in love, but she didn’t want to refuse his good intentions and make him unhappy.

For this biological father, not only was he unconditionally spoiling her, but she also wanted to unconditionally spoil him.

She thought, ‘Anyway, I don’t stay in the Capital all the time. I’ll let him arrange everything. No matter which young man, I’ll go back to Riverside City in a few days, and I won’t have any contact with him anymore.’

On the morning of the next day, Winston Hopkins asked her out for coffee. Under the expectant eyes of Vincent and Naomi, Emelia went out.

Vincent had introduced Winston Hopkins to Emelia and said that he liked literature very much in the cultural research department. They shared a common language. Emelia went out because of this.

Otherwise, she would not have agreed rashly. If the two of them sat face to face and had nothing to talk about, it would be too embarrassing.

At the banquet the night before yesterday, Emelia and Winston had danced together, so they were quite familiar with each other.

Winston was a gentleman. He was 28 years old, about the same age as Emelia.

Winston did not take Emelia to those famous coffee shops. Instead, he took her to a quiet place in the alley. Emelia fell in love with this place at a glance.

She had never felt so much romance and gentleness from Julian. In the three-year marriage, she was the only one who relentlessly offered her tenderness, and he had never given her anything in return.

If Julian had taken her out for a trip, or had some interactions with her, she wouldn’t have given up so decisively.

Winston looked at the joy in Emelia's eyes and could not help but smile.

She was really easily satisfied and happy.

Chapter 242 Do You Still Love Me?

Emelia came back so late because Winston proposed to watch a movie after dinner. Emelia had always wanted to watch this movie, but she didn't have time to. Just as Winston invited her, she agreed.

The main reason for this was an indie movie. Emelia felt that, she might not be able to find a suitable person to watch it except Winston. Although Nina was an actress, she did not like watching such movies at all. Sometimes, Emelia watched it with her, and she had simply fall asleep.

It was rare to see someone like him who could chat with her in such a short time. Emelia happily went.

When she came with Winston just now, they walked very fast for fear that it was going to rain. The road was a bit slippery. Emelia staggered a few steps and Winston helped support her.

Emelia wanted to ask Winston let go of her, but Winston added, 'The road ahead is still slippery. It's going to rain soon. Let's hurry back.'

As he spoke, he continued to pull her forward. His hand had been holding onto her wrist, but as they walked, he had grabbed her hand. At first, Emelia hadn't noticed it, but now that she had been stared at by Julian's red eyes, she finally realized what was going on.

Julian didn't answer the question why he was here. His brain had been messed by jealousy. It wasn't until Emelia withdrew her hand that he regained some of his senses.

Winston spoke first and greeted Julian politely, 'Mr. Hughes.'

Emelia asked in surprise, 'Do you know each other?'

Winston smiled and said, 'We had known each other a few years ago.'

Only then did Julian look at Winston, 'Mr. Hopkins, long time no see.'

'Mr. Hughes, this is...?' Winston asked Julian with a puzzled face.

'Mr. Hopkins, since you're pursuing Emelia, how come you don't know who I am and why I'm here?'
