

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 641 Pretend to Be His Girlfriend

Cameron looked at Lucien thoughtfully and asked, "Have you ever thought about why Allstar Entertainment signed Melanie so easily?"

"At most, she has some talent in singing and dancing, but she's not outstanding enough in the entertainment industry. Moreover, her age does not have any advantages."

Which of the younger stars in the entertainment industry did not have many talents?

Moreover, many of them debuted at the age of eighteen or nineteen. They were either involved in movies or television projects.

At Melanie's age and with her own conditions, it was impossible for an entertainment company to sign her.

Lucien nodded and said, "I know. She must have mentioned our relationship with her. Allstar Entertainment thought that she had a good relationship with us. If they sign her, it would be equivalent to pulling a stable investment for them."

Lucien was not a muddle-headed person. He could naturally think of the reason.

Cameron had the same judgment as him. He sneered and mocked, "Are we so stupid in their eyes? We don't spend our hard-earned money on our women but on an unrelated person?"

Lucien had not felt much before, but now that he had Sylvie in his heart, so Cameron's words made him nod in agreement. "Yes." Wasn't it nice to buy delicious food for the girl he loved?

Wasn't it nice to buy clothes and jewelry for the girl he loved?

Wasn't it nice to give her a generous and rich life, raise her to be cute, and happy?

Even if he wanted to spend all his wealth, it must be for the girl he loved.

Cameron continued, "Since they love dreams so much, then let their dreams be shattered."

Melanie may appear to be an innocent little girl. But in fact, she was not a person who did not know anything. The reason she had mentioned her relationship with him and Lucien was to help her get the contract signed. From this, it could be seen that she was not simple.

Lucien nodded. "If we meet her again, I'll be a bit more ruthless and let her completely drop her expectations of us."

Cameron had always been too lazy to pay attention to Melanie. Presumably, Melanie also knew this, but he had always taken care of Melanie. He was afraid that Melanie would not be able to recognize the reality that he was now too lazy to pay attention to her and she would continue to find him to cause trouble.

When Lucien thought of this, he had an idea in his heart.

He thought that he might have a suitable excuse to get close to Sylvie, so he took out his phone to send a message to Sylvie.

He first asked, "Sylvie, are you busy?"

Sylvie's real name was actually Sylvia Steinfeld. However, Nina and the others felt that calling her Sylvie was convenient and more intimate, and it also suited her somewhat playful personality. Therefore, Sylvie now became her commonly-used name. Whether it was in private or in the workplace, everyone liked to call her Sylvie.

Sylvie replied to Lucien, "I'm fine."

At this time, Sylvie had already followed Nina to the filming site. The two of them went back to the hotel to tidy up and then rushed to the film set without stopping. Nina was very dedicated and did not waste a minute of the crew's time.

Nina went to shooting. Sylvie had some time on the side, so she replied to Lucien.

Lucien said, "I... have something I want to ask you for help with."

“What is it?” Sylvie was very puzzled. She had just added Lucien on WhatsApp last night. It could be considered that they had just met last night. What could he ask her for help with?

He saw Lucien come back again. “May I ask you to be my girlfriend for the time being?”

At first, Sylvie thought that she had seen wrongly. She widened her eyes and looked at it carefully again. After confirming the contents of Lucien’s message, she was completely stunned.

What was this person talking about?

What girlfriend?

After coming back to her senses, Sylvie refused, “It’s inappropriate, right? First of all, we are not familiar with each other. Second, even if you find someone to act as your girlfriend, you should at least find someone who is more familiar with you, right? That way, you won’t be exposed, right?”

This time, Lucien simply called her and declared, “I don’t have any familiar women around me. You are the one I am most familiar with.”

Sylvie was silent.

What he just said sound utterly preposterous!

They had just met yesterday, and he said that she was the woman he was most familiar with?

She murmured, “You, you don’t have a woman by your side? Aren’t you one of Camcien Lifetech’s bosses?” Shouldn’t rich men like to be surrounded by beauties?

How could he not have women?

Lucien naturally guessed what she was thinking and couldn’t help but laugh. “Could it be that I am the boss and I need a bunch of women around me?”

Lucien explained seriously, "Not every rich man likes beauties. I've been self-disciplined for so many years. Look at Cameron. I made friend with him. So, I am definitely not the kind of playboy who likes to mess around."

Lucien explained a lot of things in one breath, fearing that Sylvie really misunderstood that he had a group of beauties because he was rich.

In all these years, besides some female customers at work, he had no other women. In the company, even his assistant was a man.

However, although he explained a lot, Sylvie still found it hard to accept his proposal. "But I still feel that it is inappropriate."

Sylvie felt that this was too abrupt. She also did not quite understand why Lucien would find her to act as a girlfriend.

According to the way Sylvie handled things, she refused all the things that she did not understand.

Lucien quickly added, "Actually, you don't have to do anything. Just pretend on the phone when I call you." Lucien's tone was very sincere. Sylvie thought about it and said, "I'll think about it." After she finished speaking, she quickly hung up the phone and raised her hand to stroke her chest to calm down.

After calming down a little, she suddenly remembered that Lucien still had Melanie as his classmate. Wasn't it more reasonable for him to ask Melanie to pretend to be his girlfriend?

So she replied to Lucien on WhatsApp, "Isn't it appropriate for you to let Melanie pretend to be your girlfriend?"

Lucien replied helplessly, "To tell you the truth, I want you to play the role of a girlfriend because I want to draw a clear line with Melanie."

Sylvie raised her eyebrows. She thought that he had a crush on Melanie.

She did not know why, but when she heard that Lucien wanted to draw a clear line with Melanie, she actually felt a trace of pleasure in her heart. Because of this pleasure, Sylvie then agreed to Lucien, "Okay, I agree to your proposal."

“Thank you. I will treat you to dinner later.” Lucien was extremely happy on the other end of the phone. The plan to let her pretend to be his girlfriend was successful. Would it be far from her actually being his girlfriend?

Sylvie replied indifferently, “There’s no need to treat me to a meal. We are just playing along. Moreover, I am also here to take revenge on Melanie and help Nina vent her anger.”

Didn’t Melanie join Allstar Entertainment? Thus, she had become Sylvie and Nina’s enemy.

So as long as she could take revenge on Melanie, she would do it without hesitation.

What Sylvie did not know was that making her pretend to be his girlfriend was just Lucien’s excuse. She naively thought that it was just a play, but in fact, Lucien was waiting for her to be his real girlfriend.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 642 Loyalty

After shooting a scene, Nina came back and found that her little assistant was in a trance. Usually, she would come over to give her a bottle of water first, but now she was sitting in a small chair on the set, lost in thought.

Nina walked over and took a bottle of mineral water to drink. Then she leaned in front of Sylvie and said, “What are you thinking about?”

Sylvie’s senses were pulled back by her. She instinctively wanted to take the water to hand it to her, but she found that Nina had already finished drinking.

“Sorry, I was a little distracted just now.” Sylvie took the initiative to explain to Nina, “Just now, Lucien called me and said that he wanted me to temporarily act as his girlfriend...”

Nina sprayed a mouthful of water to the side, not knowing what to say for a moment. Lucien’s way of chasing girls was too old-fashioned, right? He actually let her pretend to be his girlfriend first.

“Then did you agree?” Nina asked Sylvie curiously.

Sylvie nodded with distress. "I agreed because he said that this was mainly to draw a clear line with Melanie. When I heard that it was to retaliate Melanie, I immediately agreed."

After saying that, Sylvie sighed again. "But I regret it now. I feel that my actions are too hasty. How can I agree to be his girlfriend just for the sake of retaliating Melanie?"

At such a critical moment, Nina could not say something wrong, so she quickly spoke on behalf of Lucien to comfort Sylvie. "Just YOLO it! Besides, it's just pretending to be his girlfriend, not a real one. Don't feel burdened."

Nina paused for a moment, then looked at Sylvie seriously and said, "But don't you think that Lucien is actually a very good man? If you're willing, it's good for you to start a serious relationship with him."

Sylvie stared at her as if she had seen a ghost. "Nina, what's wrong with you recently? Why do you always persuade me to fall in love? Last time, you said you would arrange a blind date for me, and now you advise me to fall in love with Lucien?"

Sylvie didn't know that the person Nina wanted to introduce to her on both occasions was Lucien. She only felt that Nina was so strange. Why did she insist on her falling in love?

Nina hooked Sylvie's neck and pulled her closer to her. She said mysteriously, "This is called 'keep the goodies within the family', okay? Lucien is very outstanding in all aspects. Of course, I hope that you can get such a man."

Sylvie pulled Nina's hand away with a face full of horror, "Nina, you think too highly of me, don't you? How can I have a man like Lucien?"

Sylvie felt that she and Lucien were from two completely different worlds. She was just an ordinary little assistant. Lucien was the man standing at the top of the pyramid. How could she have Lucien?

Nina was angered by Sylvie's reaction and snorted, "I finally found out. You are a person with a wicked heart but no guts."

You always say in front of me that those men are handsome and charming. You also said that if there's a chance, you really want to throw yourself at them."

"So now there really is such a charming and perfect man in front of you, but you dare not throw yourself at him?"

Sylvie covered her face in embarrassment. She had indeed said this kind of nymphomaniac words, and she had said it many times.

She followed Nina in the entertainment industry and saw all kinds of handsome men all day. Every one of them was so charming. When she was excited, she said that she wanted to throw herself at them.

But she was really just saying it. How could she dare to really throw herself at them?

Nina was right, she just had a heart but no guts.

"Fantasy is fantasy, reality is reality, Nina." Sylvie helplessly defended herself.

She did not even dare to think about a super-rich person like Lucien who existed in reality.

She was not like Nina, who was a popular actress in the entertainment industry. Her figure, appearance, and acting skills coexisted. She was dazzling, so Cameron would love her to death. That was Nina's advantage.

Sylvie held her own face and said, "Besides, love will disappear. Even if there is someone who likes me now, he will feel dull as time passes. So it is better to not love at the beginning."

Nina did not know what to say about her. She seemed to be optimistic and beautiful in all aspects, but in fact, she had no sense of security, or she was not confident enough.

Nina felt that maybe Sylvie had been by her side for a long time, and she had lost all confidence because of her, a famous star. In fact, Nina felt that Sylvie was a very good and excellent girl. Otherwise, she would not have let Sylvie be her assistant for so long.

Thinking of this, she sighed and said to Sylvie, "After all, it is because you haven't met your true love. Trust me, when you really meet that person, you won't have these worries. You will jump into it. Even if you have to die, you are not afraid."

Sylvie murmured, "Actually... I also know the feeling of sincerely loving someone." "Ah? You've been in love before?" Nina was surprised.
Why had she never heard Sylvie mention it?

Sylvie whispered, "It can't be considered a relationship. When I was in university, I had a crush on a man. He also had a good impression of me. He was very concerned about me in many things, and his words and actions were very intimate. I thought that I would have the courage to confess to him on his birthday, but then he was with another woman."

Nina was stunned.

As the renowned "bitch detector" in the entertainment industry, Nina saw through the truth at a glance. She said to Sylvie in an indignant tone, "Silly girl, he was just flirting with you. He only wanted to have an ambiguous relationship with you. In fact, he's also chasing other girls at the same time. As long as they agreed to be with him, he would kick you away."

Sylvie was surprised. "How did you know?" Nina was speechless. "So he did that?"

Sylvie nodded sadly. "Yes, I only heard about it from other students later. He had an ambiguous relationship with another girl. She agreed first, so he was with the girl."

"I heard that the girl threw herself into his arms on his birthday and the two of them had sex directly."

Sylvie was glad when she remembered that she had intended to confess. Fortunately, she had not confessed. Otherwise, how could her piteous words compare to the girl's body? Even if she confessed, it would be a joke.

Thinking of this, she could not help but say hatefully, "I was really blind. I even had a foolish crush on him for a long time. I thought that he was perfect in every way, but in fact, he was a jerk."

Nina smiled and said, "So, just listen to me this time and try it with Lucien. I am a good judge of men." Sylvie didn't know what to say to that. Her boss was not trying to persuade her to be with Lucien, but to show off her own love life indirectly, right?

However, she had to admit that her boss was a judge of men. Cameron had been obsessed with her for so many years and loved her to the bone.

He was handsome, but also loyal, and of course, smart and rich.

Sylvie couldn't help but think of Lucien's self-praise. He said that those who were close to decent people would be influenced, so would Lucien be the same kind of person as Cameron?

Would he be loyal?

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 643 I Can Be Scary When I Am Jealous

"Anyway, you should do your friend a favor since you have promised Lucien. As for how your relationship goes in the future, just let it take its course." Nina comforted Sylvie again.

Sylvie thought Nina's word was very reasonable, "Yeah, since I have promised others, even though I made this choice out of impulsion, I can't go back on it. Just let it be for now."

Anyway, she has been accompanying Nina in the filming for this period of time. She couldn't meet Lucien for now and there was no feeling of embarrassment or discomfort.

In Riverside City.

Cameron was attending a banquet with Lucien at night. The doorbell of his house rang suddenly when they were leaving the house.

He went to open the door in confusion. There was a male staff in uniform, who smiled and said to him, "Mr. Dauster. Good evening, I'm a staff of Lorlene Jewelry and I am coming by the direct order from our boss. I am here to deliver this jewel."

Although he was skeptical about this, Cameron glanced at the man and took the box over.

Lorlene Jewelry? He had heard the name of this brand before, but he had never ordered any jewelry from them.

Cameron opened the box in his hand, and it turned out to be a ring. Judging from the size of the ring, it was obviously made for a male. Cameron picked up the ring, examined it carefully, and found a few letters engraved on the ring, "N&N forever".

Cameron instantly understood who sent him this ring. It turned out to be Nina.

Seeing the expression on his face, the staff member added, "Our boss said that she specially entrusted her friend to design it for you. Please sign here."

Cameron happily took the pen and signed it. He hadn't recalled the brand of jewels. The current person in charge of Lorlene Jewelry was Jean Hilgard. Jean was Emelia's friend, so Nina certainly knew her as well.

After closing the door, Cameron immediately put the ring on. He just couldn't help smiling.

Last time, when he asked Nina for a ring, he didn't actually take it seriously. Although she made fun of him back then, she even carefully prepared it for him.

And the ring was specially designed and made by her friend with their names engraved. He could actually feel her love.

This ring was delivered at the right time. He now could put it on before he went to deal with Douglas. This had greatly boosted his confidence. Now he had every reason to tell Douglas to stay away from her wife.

After calming down his joyful mood, he made a video call to Nina. Once she appeared on the screen, he couldn't help smiling and said, "I had gotten the ring. I like it very much, thank you."

Nina said, "I heard that someone is going to attend a banquet tonight. I asked Jean to nail the ring as soon as possible so that he can wear it. Now, there will be no malicious women getting close to you."

Cameron told Nina that he was going to a dinner banquet tonight, but he didn't say that he was going to go deal with Douglas once for all. Nina was surprised that he suddenly agreed to go to the banquet since he has been the one who never show off himself. Cameron only explained that that he should get used to such social activities because he couldn't let Lucien handle all these by himself.

Nina didn't think maybe he was going for Douglas. In her opinion, Cameron was now very popular. Even if he had announced that he was married, there would inevitably be some sluts trying to develop a relationship with him. Therefore, she called Jean Hilgard immediately, hoping that Cameron could wear the ring before the banquet today.

Cameron couldn't help laughing when he heard her jealous tone, "It's rare for the big-heart Nina to worry about those women around me."

Nina protested dissatisfiedly, "I have a big heart? You don't know how scary I am when I get jealous?"

After she and Cameron were officially in a relationship, there were still girls who still wanted to entangle with him. Even if she was standing by Cameron's side, that bitch didn't retreat but even cursed her bitterly. So Nina directly grabbed her hair and dragged her away, making that girl howl like hell.

No one dared to be arrogant in front of her after that. And now Cameron even said she was so mean.

If it weren't for the fact that she couldn't get away from her filming work on the set, she would definitely go to that banquet tonight and shield Cameron from those sluts.

"Okay, I'm sorry for what I said. You have always cared about me." Cameron replied with a smile. But his words once again made Nina roll her eyes. How could a man be so arrogant and confident?

“Okay, I got to go. You should go to the party soon.” Nina urged Cameron after checking time.

Cameron didn’t want to end the call at all, “Come on, I want to talk to you more.”

Anyway, he was not the protagonist of today. It would be okay since that Lucien is supporting Camcien Lifetech. If he didn’t plan to deal with Douglas today, he didn’t want to show up at all.

“I don’t have much to talk to you. Didn’t we just meet?” She has to admit that her word was so straightforward that it hurt sometimes.

Cameron’s expression suddenly frozen, “Even if we stay together every day, I don’t think I spend enough with you, and there are countless words I want to say to you. But you think we don’t have that much thing to chat about?”

Nina felt a chill on her back. So she immediately fell on the bed and said coquettishly, “I don’t mean that I have nothing to say, I’m just a little tired and want to rest...”

Cameron knew that she worked hard every day to film this military drama. He felt sorry for her as soon as she brought out this reason. And there’s no way he could go mad with her.

Even if he knew that she was acting in pettish, he still said with a gentle voice, “Then I will hang up. Have a good sleep, good night.”

“Love you.” Nina gave him a nonchalant kiss on the phone, and Cameron didn’t know whether he should smile or go angry.

He really hoped that time could fly faster, so that she could hurry back to him after she finished shooting.

Cameron had just finished chatting with Nina when Lucien called him, asking why he hadn’t come yet.

“I have just finished talking to Nina.” This also meant that he had forgotten about the time.

Cameron didn't lie about the reason for being late at all. Lucien was so angry that he complained directly at the phone, "Why don't you two just turn into conjoined twins? Haven't you just met yet? You guys have so much to talk about that you've got to be late for the banquet?"

Cameron replied briskly, "This is the feeling of falling in love. You don't understand it yet. After all, she just promised to pretend to be your girlfriend temporarily."

Lucien was almost choked to death by his mean word. He gritted his teeth and said angrily, "I don't give a shit about your coming or not. I'll go first."

Well, there's no friendship between him and Cameron. His "bro" always touched his raw nerve!

Lucien hung up the phone. He didn't plan to wait for Cameron and entered the venue alone. He used to participate in such activities alone anyway. And he was able to deal with it with ease.

He was stepping into the banquet hall and about to go up to greet some familiar celebrities when he saw Melanie Blanchard walking towards him happily from a short distance. She was even calling him while walking, "Lucien."

At that moment Lucien wished there was a crack in the ground for him to hide. God knows he didn't want to have any connection with Melanie at all.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 644 Not Innocent At All

Of course, Lucien also knew that he couldn't get away from there. So he stood there and watched Melanie as she walked towards him with a smile on her face indifferently.

Cameron's words had been ruthless enough on the phone before, but he didn't expect her to be so shameless. She just kept tackling him as if nothing had happened. Lucien was really annoyed by Melanie like never before.

Although he didn't have any ambiguous feelings for Melanie, he used to treat her as an innocent and lovely sister. Now, he didn't even know what he had in his mind before.

How could he think that Melanie was innocent and lovely?

She was clearly not innocent at all.

She clearly took advantage of his indulgent attitude towards her and made an untimely request to come to Riverside City.

She was confident that he would continue to take care of her and fulfill her requirement. So she was desperate to get in the entertainment industry, and deliberately worked for Nina's opponent Allstar.

She knew that Cameron and Nina were married, and she knew that he had a good relationship with Cameron. But she still made such a decision. This indicated that she intentionally wanted him to turn against Cameron.

After all, if he still indulged her with money and support her development in the entertainment industry like before, he would definitely stand on the opposite side of Cameron and Nina. Isn't this the case of turning against him?

Lucien realized this and was shocked for a moment.

Melanie came over, took his arm affectionately, and said with a bright smile, "Lucien, didn't you say you have other thing to do tonight?"

She was saying this to implicate that since he had attended this banquet, how could he refuse to be her male companion.

Complaining against him in front of his business associates, this would made him seemed so cruel...

Lucien pulled his arm out of Melanie's hand, flicked his cuff, and said gently, "It was my original plan to attend this banquet, and you didn't tell me that you would come too."

Melanie was choked up by him for a moment. She could only glance at him aggrievedly.

A manager who Lucien planned to talk to looked at Melanie curiously and asked Lucien, "This is...?"

“I’m his—” Melanie opened her mouth and wanted to say that she was his mentor’s daughter, trying to take advantage of this relationship with Lucien to get closer to these upper-class people.

However, before she could say anything, Lucien interrupted her gently, “This is a friend I met abroad.” He didn’t even say Melanie’s name. Obviously, he had no intention of introducing Melanie to them.

Melanie was ready to be introduced to these socialites by him. The smile on her face was originally wide and bright. But at this moment, the smile can’t be held up anymore. Her whole person was awkwardly frozen in place and didn’t know what to do.

Lucien ignored her and turned around to chat with the socialites, leaving Melanie alone with a pale face.

Melanie came here with her agent Rebecca Young. When she called Lucien to ask him to accompany her to the party before, she was rejected and satirized by Cameron. Rebecca has been looked down upon her since then.

Rebecca had been in the entertainment industry for so many years, and she could certainly notice that Lucien and Cameron had changed their attitude towards Melanie.

Rebecca was frustrated and pissed. She worked with Melanie simply because they could make use of the wealth and power of Lucien and Cameron. But now Lucien and Cameron have made it clear that they want to get rid of Melanie, then what’s the point of agenting Melanie?

Except for the financial support, Melanie had no advantage in the entertainment industry in any way.

In other words, without Lucien’s financial support, Melanie was a bum deal for Rebecca.

Rebecca got angry at Melanie on the spot, “Didn’t you say that Lucien doted on you? Didn’t you say that he could do anything for you? Why wasn’t he even willing to accompany you to the banquet?”

Melanie was also aggrieved. She didn’t expect to be treated like this by Lucien.

So she said with red eyes, "He must have misunderstood me because of some reasons I don't know. Otherwise, he wouldn't be so indifferent to me."

"Didn't you say that he had gone to Hazelton with Cameron? It must be Nina who defile me in his face. It must be Nina and Cameron who sow discord and now he is ignoring me."

Melanie made a cross in front of chest and assured Rebecca, "Don't worry. Rebecca, I'll definitely make him invest in me."

Rebecca warned her angrily, "Melanie, you know very well the reason why I signed you. If you can't win over Lucien or whatever investor it is, then you have to use my way to draw investments for the company."

In fact, Melanie had never experienced social laboring before, so she didn't understand Rebecca 's original routine at all, so she asked inexplicably, "Use your way to draw investment? What way?"

Rebecca sneered, looked her up and down with her arms crossed, and then announced ruthlessly, "My way is, you use your own body in exchange for investments. You have to sleep with every man as I demand!"

Rebecca's words were thunders striking on her head. Melanie's face turned even paler on the spot.

She had never experienced anything like this in her entire life!

She had been coddled by the family ever since she grown up. She had never been bullied at all, and no one could use anything to force her to sacrifice her virginity. This was no small deal.

Rebecca noticed her fear and unwillingness. But she continued cruelly, "Don't forget, that you have signed a contract with the company. You have to do it if you don't want to, otherwise how should the company support you?"

When Rebecca mentioned the contract, Melanie immediately came back to her senses. She grabbed Rebecca's arm and said, "Terminate the contract, I want to terminate the contract!"

Rebecca unceremoniously shook off her hand, "Terminate the contract? Well, you can do it."

Rebecca casually played with her bright red nails, "Everything is written clearly in the contract. Liquidated damages need to be paid for termination of the contract. And that's no small sum."

And at that time, she thought that since Lucien doted on Melanie so much, he might not agree with Melanie's entry into the entertainment industry. Maybe he would want to terminate the contract for Melanie. So, she deliberately wrote a much higher amount of liquidated damages, thinking that she might be able to corrupt Lucien.

Now that Melanie wanted to use her own money or her parents' money to pay the liquidated damages. This could be extremely painful for them.

Melanie's face turned pale. She staggered and took a step back. She had just wanted to get in the industry at that time.

She didn't notice anything about liquidated damages. Now...

Rebecca rolled eyes at her and said, "What are you panicking about? Don't you still have a chance to win over Lucien? As long as you can get his investments, you don't have to do such terrible things."

Melanie breathed a sigh of relief when Rebecca said this.

Yes, she still had a chance. She didn't believe that Lucien would suddenly ignore her. Even more, she didn't believe that Lucien would watch her step into hell. She rekindled her spirit.

Rebecca added, "I'll take you to tonight's banquet first, so that you can see those men you will serve in the future if you failed this time."

So just before Lucien came in, Melanie was being dragged by Rebecca to meet those fat old men. Looking at their squinting eyes, Melanie felt nauseated.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 645 No Strangers Get Close to Him

The moment she spotted Lucien, Melanie seemed to see the light of her life. She immediately planned to leave and run towards Lucien.

But when she was pulled back by Rebecca, Rebecca dragged her aside and whispered, "Melanie, getting close to Lucien is the only way you can get out of your current predicament. Otherwise, you can only get laid by those old men."

"Also, don't just think about being her sister or letting him spoil you like before. The best way is to turn him into your man, so that you can make use of him better."

Melanie froze, "Turn him into my man?" The next second Melanie said, "But the one I love is Cameron..."

Rebecca rolled her eyes and interrupted her, "Well, here is the case now. I don't care whether it's Cameron or Lucien. As long as you can have sex with either of them, your nightmare can end here. I believe that since your dad had taken care of them. If they touch you, they must take care of you."

Rebecca despised Melanie very much. Melanie couldn't even protect herself. And now she still cared about love and those vague idea.

What's the point of loving Cameron?

Not to mention that Cameron already has Nina. Judging from Cameron's attitude towards Melanie on the phone before, she knew that Cameron was much more difficult to deal with than Lucien. And it is better to start with Lucien.

Rebecca persuaded Melanie again, "First of all, Lucien has been very kind to you before, maybe he has some affection for you in his heart."

Melanie's mind has shaken. She even felt that Rebecca's words made some sense.

Rebecca added, "Secondly, Lucien doesn't have a girlfriend now. You won't be criticized by anyone if you approach him, let alone being criticized as a slut. After all, Cameron has officially announced his marriage."

Melanie was completely persuaded by Rebecca, and her heart even fell for him.

"So I think you should start with Lucien." Rebecca finally gave such a suggestion.

Melanie pursed her lips and nodded, looking up at Lucien who just walked in not far away.

To be honest, since she used to focus on Cameron before, she had never looked at Lucien carefully. But now, looking at him from a distance, she found that he was also an extremely handsome and an outstanding man.

Young and promising. These words fit him well.

Melanie suddenly heaved a sigh. How could she be blind before and didn't see Lucien's goodness?

Rebecca noticed Melanie's horny expression and continued to push her. She helped Melanie tidy the neckline of the dress.

To be precise, she pulled the neckline even lower.

Then she encouraged Melanie and said, "I believe you can nail Lucien. You two have such a deep connection for so many years. You are also beautiful and have a sexy figure. Men like it."

Melanie blushed when Rebecca said that. She looked down at her figure, then turned around to find Lucien confidently.

She was still very confident in her figure. She indeed had a curvy body.

The only problem was that Melanie, who was confident to get the man done, did not expect to be rejected by Lucien at all.

She stood there embarrassedly after being turned down. Eventually, Rebecca came over and dragged her away helplessly.

At the same time, Rebecca had clearly seen Lucien's attitude towards Melanie from not far away. She was also very angry.

She didn't expect Lucien to be so ruthless. But she couldn't even imagine that Melanie just stood there like a loser. She was so naive and powerless.

Even if Lucien rejected her, couldn't she pretend to be heartbroken and fall on Lucien? In that case, could Lucien stand still and simply let her fall down?

As long as Lucien raised his hand to support Melanie, it was a good start.

In many cases, the soft figure of a woman could easily turn on a man when they have body contact.

Nevertheless, she could even secretly take pictures from aside, and then stir up some rumors, which was her trump card. With that, she believed Lucien was gonna be entangled with Melanie.

But turned out, Melanie only stood there in a daze, spaced out. After dragging Melanie aside, Rebecca immediately scolded her, "You loser!" Melanie burst into tears, crying while saying, "How could this happen? How? How?"

Melanie really couldn't understand. Lucien had been indulgent to her in every possible way not long ago, but why was he so indifferent to her now?

Even if she chose to enter the entertainment industry to run on Nina, Nina was not his girlfriend or dates. She could understand why Cameron hated her and cut the relationship with her, but why did he do this? Why did he ignore her?

The reason why Melanie had such incomprehensible thoughts was because she had a wrong understanding of her status and relationship with those men.

In other words, she was spoiled by Lucien before, thinking that Lucien would completely bow to her and she could do whatever she wanted.

There was a saying that you can rest in peace to find a confidant. To Lucien, Cameron is that confidant.

The only confidant.

A very important confidant.

Cameron was as important as Lucien's parents and future partner, so why would he care about Melanie?

Seeing that Melanie couldn't control her sadness and couldn't even stay here anymore, Rebecca had to hold down her anger and drag her out.

It's a pathetic failure to recruited Melanie. Now the company would suffer a lot from it, and she maybe scolded to death by the boss.

Rebecca was about to put Melanie, who had spent all her makeup because of crying, into the car, when she saw Cameron getting out of a car not far away. The man was wearing a black and formal suit, making him extremely mysterious and charming in the night.

Even for someone like Rebecca, who had gotten used to seeing handsome guys in the showbiz, would still admire Cameron's excellence. But then she brought back to herself, frowned and said, "Cameron? Why did he come to the banquet? Isn't Lucien dealing with all these banquet stuff?"

Melanie also saw Cameron at a glance, but she cried even more sadly.

Lucien and Cameron, two outstanding men. She couldn't get any of them. That's so irritating.

Rebecca gave her a push, "Stop crying. Put yourself together and get Cameron done for me."

Melanie was confused, "But didn't you just suggest that I pursue Lucien?"

Rebecca gave her an eye, "If you can get Cameron laid, it can also work. Both are your targets!"

Rebecca was about to be pissed off by Melanie. How could she be so goddamn stupid?

It was very easy for her to promote Jillian Harrison when cooperating with her back then. With her words and glances, Jillian knew what to do next. She could be as easy to work with as she could expect. Now this Melanie could really piss her off.

After Rebecca finished speaking, she simply pushed Melanie out. Melanie staggered and rushed towards Cameron.

She was wearing high heels and was pushed by Rebecca. She couldn't even maintain balance at all. Seeing that she was about to rush into Cameron's arms, Melanie called out Cameron for help, "Cameron, help. Please help me."

Unexpectedly, Cameron dodged as if he didn't hear or notice her. Melanie fell and thumped on the ground as she lost her balance.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 646 Couldn't Forgive This

Melanie was so hurt that she felt as if she had been to hell. Her arm rubbed on the rough ground, and instantly burst into a burning pain. Melanie immediately burst into tears.

Cameron took another step back with disgust expression, staring coldly at Rebecca who hurried over to help Melanie.

The expression on Rebecca's face was very distressed, "Oh my dear, why are you walking so carelessly? Does it hurt?"

Rebecca pretended to care a lot about Melanie, while Melanie was looking at Cameron with tears in her eyes. Cameron hated her behavior. But for the sake of his mentor, he kindly reminded Melanie.

He glanced at Rebecca next to him, and then asked Melanie, "Do you know what nickname this person next to you has in the circle?"

Rebecca's expression changed, and a trace of embarrassment flashed on her face. Melanie asked with a puzzled look, "What nickname?" "The Bawd of Allstar." Cameron spit out a few words indifferently.

Melanie's face turned pale immediately, and her whole body was trembling. Especially when she thought of what Rebecca had said to her before... Ask her to use her body to exchange investments. Her despicability has been well known to the industry...

Melanie's tears flushed out all of a sudden. She tried to reach out and grab Cameron, "Cameron, please help me. Please help me terminate the contract."

Cameron avoids Melanie's hand and announces mockingly, "I remain the same attitude. You have to bear the consequences of what you choose."

Cameron relentlessly turned around and left.

Lucien had tried to persuade Melanie that she had better leave the Riverside City and go back to her parents earlier. But not only did she not listen, she still insisted on entering the turbulent entertainment industry. Isn't this courting her own tragedy?

Spoiled people like Melanie deserves some unfortune in their lives.

Cameron left without even looking back. Melanie burst into tears of despair.

Rebecca was so annoyed that she simply stepped forward and dragged her into the car.

They were leaving the party now.

With Melanie's behavior now, they couldn't stay at the banquet.

After Melanie stopped crying in the car, she started to reason with Rebecca. She was also quite domineering, and she yelled at Rebecca, "Rebecca, you damn liar! You didn't actually want to make me a star when you signed me. You've planned to sell my body from the very beginning!"

Rebecca pushed her back and said, "Who is the liar here? Didn't you lie to me?"

"You know clearly that Cameron doesn't love you and that Lucien's attitude to you has also changed, but you still say that you have a good relationship with them deliberately. Those crap that you are their junior sister and they dote on you? These are all lies so that I can recruit and promote you!"

“You claimed that I’ve set you up? Since you were recruited by the company, you have to make money for the company, no matter what method you use!”

“I want to terminate the contract! I want to terminate it!” Melanie cried.

Rebecca snorted coldly, “Same result. You can terminate the contract and walk away freely if you pay enough liquidated damages!”

Melanie completely collapsed.

Cameron entered the venue with an indifferent expression. Lucien saw him at a glance. He immediately pulled him over and start the annoying formalities of greetings and introductions. Cameron was very tired.

Ever since Camcien had revealed Cameron’s identity, this was the first time he attended the banquet in public. It was conceivable that the celebrities will try their best to talk to him.

These young talents will be the mainstay of the business community from Riverside City in the future, or even the mainstay of the entire society. They must set up a good relationship with them.

After finally escaping from the siege of these people, Cameron declared to Lucien immediately, “I don’t want to participate in such occasions anymore in the future.”

Lucien laughed very schadenfreude, but what he said was still very reliable, “Okay, fine, I know you don’t like such occasions. But aren’t you have your business to do tonight?”

Speaking of his own business, Cameron glanced at Douglas Cleveland not far away. His eyes meet Douglas’s gaze just in time.

The eyes of the two men collided across the crowd. Lucien could even feel the sparks flying.

Cameron sneered, took the initiative to walk towards Douglas, stood still and asked coldly, “Have a word?”

Douglas had noticed Cameron for a long time and felt Cameron’s hostility towards him. This might be the psychological feeling between men.

“Okay.” Douglas certainly didn’t want to be outdone.
Wasn’t he just Nina’s boyfriend of her schooldays? It had been the past. What should he be afraid of?

The two then walked to the corner with their wine glasses. Cameron said straight to the point with an aggressive tone, “Mr.
Cleveland, you’d better not continue to covet someone who doesn’t belong to you.”

Douglas snorted at his words, “Someone who doesn’t belong to me? Does she belong to you?” Douglas thought to himself, this man has been an ex-boyfriend for many years.
And he had no right to talk to me here.

Cameron sneered, raised his left hand holding the wine glass deliberately, and motioned Douglas to look at the ring on his left ring finger, “See? The ring here. She just had it delivered this afternoon. She wants me to wear it tonight.” Douglas glanced at the ring on his ring finger, and said with disgust, “So naive. A ring doesn’t mean anything.”

Cameron continued calmly, “Have you noticed which finger I’m wearing? You didn’t know that I have announced my marriage a few days ago?”

Now Douglas can’t keep his temper anymore. The information of Cameron had married was now known to everyone, and he certainly knows it.

Squeezing the glass in his hand, Douglas stared at Cameron and asked, “What do you mean?”

“What I mean is quite obvious.” Cameron didn’t even bother to waste his time on Douglas. How dare he pursue a beautiful woman like Nina with such intelligence?

Douglas didn’t know that he was being laughed at for his intelligence. He certainly knew what Cameron meant by his word.

He indicated he was married, and Nina was actually his wife.

He was just too shocked to admit this cruel fact temporarily.

Cameron took a sip of wine, then suddenly asked Douglas, “Do you remember when you were suddenly sent abroad a few years ago?”

Douglas came back to himself and scolded fiercely, "Damn, it's you?"

Douglas was furious when he recalled this. At that time, he was in deep love for Nina. He even wanted to kidnap Nina to the church and marry her. At that time, he couldn't eat or sleep well.

However, his father suddenly insisted on letting him go abroad. He resisted in every way. But his father threatened him that he would be kicked out of the family business and deprived of his inheritance right. He had to compromise.

God knows how tormented and painful he was when he first went abroad. Although Nina never paid much attention to him, it was also a tragic lovelorn for him.

Cameron admitted it generously, "Yes." Douglas gritted his teeth, "Insidious! Despicable!" As he spoke, he put the wine glass aside, rolled up his sleeves, and wanted to vent his anger.

If he didn't beat Cameron up, he wouldn't be able to have his hatred slaked! II

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 647 Knowing That He'll Cherish Her

Facing Douglas's provocation, Cameron was still calm and relaxed. He raised his eyebrows and gave Douglas an eye, "You want to do it hard way since if you can't defeat me in debate?"

Douglas growled, "Who the fuck can't I defeat you?"

Cameron sneered, "We can fight if you want to, but find a place no one was around. If we fight here, have you considered the reputation of your family?"

Douglas was actually speechless by his scold. There were obvious contemptuous in Cameron's eyes, and he continued, "She doesn't like you at all. But she and I are in love with each other, deeply. If you continue to bother us, you will be the one pay the price."

Douglas clenched his fists and wanted to punch him again.

Cameron glanced at him and said lightly, "Douglas, I was able to control your dad and let him get you abroad a few years ago. Do you think I don't have the ability to deal with you and the Cleveland Family behind you now?"

Douglas said coldly, "Are you threatening me?"

"So what?" Cameron swayed the wine in his glass casually, "The world is so cruel. Jungle justice remains true. It's so easy for Camcien and I to stomp you or even the Cleveland Family under our feet. If you are not stupid, just quit in time."

"If you don't want to quit, I will fight you down to the end."

Douglas wanted to say something else, but Cameron had turned and left. He had already said what he had to say. If Douglas really lacked some self-knowledge, then he didn't need to be merciful.

Just like Melanie.

Douglas stomped his feet in anger. He strode after a few steps to stop Cameron, "How dare you threaten me? Aren't you afraid that I will spread the news of your marriage to Nina?"

"At that time, rumors about Nina will take off, and you will be internet bullied to death. Nina's fans are not easy to deal with." Cameron said calmly, "Since I dare to tell you, I'm not afraid of you telling out."

"Besides, I'm not a promiscuous man. I don't like someone who has been falling in love with and breaking up with girlfriends at an amazing speed. I think even if the marriage between the two of us is exposed, the public will bless us instead of criticize us."

Douglas stared at him speechlessly, feeling like he was criticized by his connotated word.

But he had to admit that Cameron's words made sense.

Cameron revealed that he was married a few days ago. The announcement was very affectionate, which had established a good image for him as a good man.

In addition, he had uncovered his identity as the other founder of Camcien. His status was not inferior to Nina. If Nina was married to him, Nina's fans would probably bless them.

Cameron raised his hand and patted Douglas on the shoulder, and persuaded earnestly, "If you are always staring at the wives of someone else, you might as well get to know other women. Maybe you can get married soon."

Cameron strode out of the banquet hall after he finished speaking. Douglas raised his hand and rubbed his forehead, feeling that it was very difficult to breathe.

All thanks to Cameron!

After calming down, his heart was quickly filled with sadness and loss. Nina, she... he would never have the chance to marry her. Others just think that he had been a playboy, but that's because he couldn't fall in love with any of them.

Nina was the only woman he had been obsessed with for so many years.

He loved her from the bottom of his heart. He had wanted to be a loving and dedicated person for her. He had wanted to get better, no longer being a jerk or a playboy, but now...

Douglas raised his hand to cover his eyes, feeling tears in the corners of his eyes.

After a while, he took his phone and sent a text message to Nina: "Nina, Congratulations on your marriage! Wish you a happy life in the future."

After he pasted it, he deleted her phone number. Although he had been in contact with Cameron for a short while, it was enough for him to think of Cameron as a lunatic.

If he continued to pester Nina, Cameron would definitely deal with him and the Cleveland Family as he said. He had already lost the beloved woman, and he couldn't lose the family and business.

So, he chose to compromise.

Another end of the phone, Nina had a night show at night. She received the message from Douglas when she was waiting. She was confused, but then she was a little worried. How could Douglas know about her marrying?

Thinking of this, she hurriedly sent a message to Douglas. But the message showed that she had been blocked. She called Douglas again, but no one answered. Obviously, she got blacklisted by him.

Nina paced around with her phone in hand, then called Cameron. The call was quickly picked up, and Nina asked him directly, "Did you talk to Douglas Cleveland?" Cameron asked her, "Did he harass you again?"

As soon as Nina heard his tone, she knew that he had talked to Douglas, so she said, "He just sent me a few words saying congratulations on my marriage and something, and then blacklisted me. I don't even know what he was doing."

Cameron snorted. "He's not completely stupid." Cameron then told Nina how he threatened and warned Douglas to quit. Nina complained to him, "Did you pull rank on him?"

Cameron said earnestly, word by word, "I have worked diligently and conscientiously for so many years to develop Camcien to its current scale and status. All I ever want is I can use this power and wealth in certain matters to protect my legitimate interests one day."

"You're really arrogant." Nina felt like she was going to burst into helpless laughter by him.

Cameron laughed quietly on the phone, then sighed again and said, "I miss you."

Nina also sighed heavily, and then said helplessly, "Come on, Mr. Dauster, we have only been separated for a day." Why was this person so in love now?

Wasn't him some kind of aloof abstinence man?

Since Cameron had been on the trend some time ago, Nina has often seen people on the Internet use such words to describe him. Aloof, abstinent, calm, reserved and all those words.

Now look at him behaving like this. How could they say he was reserved? "It has nothing to do with how long we've been apart. I just miss you." Cameron said again.

And after saying this, Cameron suddenly had a crazy idea. He was going to find Nina. He would buy a plane ticket right now. And he may arrive in the middle of the night.

But he didn't dare to tell Nina this crazy idea, for fear that she would go mad at him.

Someone called Nina to film, so she had to say to the man on the phone, "I gotta go. I have work to do."

"You're shooting tonight?" Cameron asked her, frowning.

Nina replied weakly, "Yes, it's will a long night. It is estimated that it will keep filming until three or four in the morning."

In fact, Nina has experienced countless times of staying up late for filming. Her has always been relatively tough and healthy. She never complained or felt tired before, but this time she involuntarily softened her tone and behaved coquettishly.

This may be a reflection to that old sayings. Someone who is cared by others is qualified to be arrogant.

Cameron had never been by her side in the previous years, and she could only put on a solid armor to protect herself.

But it was different now. He was staying by her side, as her partner. She was willing to show him more of her softness and fragility, because she knew that he would cherish her.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 648 Already Have a Girlfriend

When Cameron heard Nina said that the filming would last until four in the morning, he felt a heartache for her, and at the same time, he was more determined to see her.

When she came back from work and saw him, at least she would be mentally happy although her physical exhaustion could not be relieved.

So, he immediately booked a plane ticket and planned to go back to the airport after packing up.

Having left the banquet with Lucien, Cameron told Lucien about this. Lucien was speechless and stared at him for a while.

After a long while, Lucien said helplessly, "Are you crazy? Don't you have a seminar tomorrow afternoon?"

The reason why Lucien reminded him was that Cameron could not be absent from that seminar.

Cameron said firmly, "I'll rush back. It won't affect the seminar."

Lucien wasn't convinced, "What? Aren't you tired? Going back and forth like this for what?"

His friend did love that girl so deeply.

Lucien was just together with the girl he liked, so he didn't know what profound love was like, so he couldn't understand Cameron's action.

Cameron didn't explain anything. He just said goodbye to Lucien and got in the car and left.

Lucien also went home, but when he drove back to his apartment, he saw Melanie standing downstairs, wearing the same dress from the previous banquet with an extremely low collar.

At this moment, Melanie looked a little embarrassed. Not to mention the makeup, there seemed to be a large abrasion on her arm and she was very depressed.

Lucien only felt extremely disgusted but he had to face her because she was blocking his way.

Melanie had fallen out with Rebecca in the car. She had no choice but to come to Lucien. This was her scheming. She came to him in the middle of the night, hoping that he could take her in for her miserable and pitiful sake.

As long as she entered his house, she would definitely try her best to stay there. One thing leads to another, she would make it to his bed.

“Lucien!” As soon as Melanie saw Lucien, she immediately ran towards him crying.

Lucien turned to the side in annoyance, avoiding her touch.

Cameron told him just now that Melanie was trying to throw herself at him, but he dodged it.

At this moment, Lucien avoided her without hesitation, but the anger in his heart was ignited in an instant. He didn't expect Melanie to be so cheeky.

“What are you doing?” Lucien has always been gentle, but at this moment, he really couldn't hold back his anger, so he shouted at her.

Melanie was frightened by him. She shrank back and said, “Lucien, please help me, I want to terminate the contract...”

Lucien laughed angrily at her words. He looked at her coldly and said, “Melanie, I can't help you with the termination of the contract, and if you need help, the people you should turn to are your parents. After all, they are the ones who acquiesced in your decision to stay here and enter the entertainment industry.”

Did she take him as a sucker for her?

She asked him to help terminate the contract, just because she wanted him to pay the money for the termination.

He knew that Rebecca Young must have stipulated a huge number of liquidated damages in the contract.

But why did he pay for her

It's not that he asked her to sign a contract with Allstar, nor did he ask her to enter the entertainment industry, and morally speaking, he has nothing to do with her, neither relatives nor friends, he has no reason to pay this huge sum of money for her.

She was seen through by him, and there was a momentary embarrassment on her face.

But then she went on to say, "If you don't help me, that's fine. I'll go to my parents, but I'm here to see you today because I want to tell you something."

Lucien didn't even respond and made it clear that he had no interest in what she was going to say.

Melanie said, "Lucien, I want to say that I like you..."

Lucien was stunned. After the shock, he was filled with disgust and contempt. Melanie had been in love with Cameron for so many years, and he knew it best.

But now she said she liked him. Did she take him as a fool? Melanie added, "I know you must be very puzzled. After all, I have always liked Cameron before."

"After so many things happened, I've reflected on myself, and then I realized I've fallen in love with you unknowingly. You were so good to me, and I was moved."

Melanie wanted to continue but Lucien raised his hand to interrupt her, "Stop, stop."

Hearing it further, Lucien felt like he was going to vomit.

He raised his eyes to look at her and he sneered, "If I remember it correctly, you once told your father that you would never like a poor man like me in your life."

The expression on her face was astonishment at first, followed by endless embarrassment because she did say that, but she did not expect to be overheard by him.

At that time, she had been pestering Cameron but he didn't accept her. Her father persuaded her, saying that Lucien was also a very good person, and although Lucien grew up in an ordinary family, his future was promising, so she could take him into consideration. But Melanie immediately rejected and said those words on the spot. At that time, she couldn't have imagined that Lucien would become someone so accomplished.

Lucien explained, "I went to see your father for something and happened to hear it outside the study." Melanie embarrassedly pursed her lips and Lucien said, "So, do you think I would believe that you like me now?" Melanie defended herself, "I didn't know you were so good before, but now I do."

"You think I'm good now because you think my money is good." Lucien said to her mercilessly, "Besides, you think after I heard you look down on me like that, I can like you?"

"You think I have such low self-esteem that I'll accept someone who looks down on me?"

Melanie was extremely embarrassed, but she continued to say, "Don't you like me at all? If you don't like me, why are you always so kind to me?"

Lucien spread his hands, "I take care of you only because of your father. Without your father, you are nothing to me!" Lucien believed that he had said these words very clearly, but he did not expect that Melanie was still unconvinced.

"I don't believe it. You like me, you must be, right?"

Lucien was so angry that he took out his phone to find Sylvie's number and said, "I already have a girlfriend and I can call her now."

Melanie staggered back several steps and said incredulously, "What? You have a girlfriend?" "How is this possible? There are never any women around you!"

"You're lying to me!"

He must have said this on purpose to make her give up.

"Call her right away or I won't believe you!" Melanie growled hysterically. Lucien sneered and called Sylvie.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 649 Strike back

Chapter 649 Strike back

When Nina was filming at night, Sylvie was dozing off on the set.

When the phone rang, she glanced at it and saw it was Lucien, she suddenly remembered that she had promised him to pretend to be his girlfriend, and she woke up in an instant.

Staring at the caller ID, Sylvie was quite vexed, because she didn't know what tone to use when she picked up the call. Although she was pretending to be his girlfriend, her tone must not be too strong and she should be tender and sweet. But she really couldn't talk to Lucien in that tone.

In the end, she still answered the phone and said only one word, "Hello..."

The less you say, the less you give away, right?

However, although she only said one word, the man on the other side of the phone still sense the tiredness in her tone and he whispered, "So sleepy?"

The man's voice was low and gentle, and in the noisy night, Sylvie's heart suddenly pounded crazily.

She rubbed her eyes with trembling hands, and then explained a little embarrassedly, "Sorry. I almost fell asleep just now."

"I heard that you have to shoot for a whole night tonight?" For some reason, after the call was connected, Lucien completely forgot that he made the call to prove that he had a girlfriend.

As soon as he heard Sylvie's voice, his attention was completely attracted to her, so he started chatting with her.

Her voice was hoarse and her tone was also very weak. She must be sleepy. He remembered that Cameron talked about Nina tonight's shooting and knew that she must be staying with Nina on the set right now. He couldn't help feeling sorry for her.

Sylvie replied, "Well, there have been a lot of night scenes recently."

As soon as Sylvie's words fell, Melanie couldn't stand it any longer. She had known Lucien for so long and she had never heard him speak in such a tone. Although he was very pampered and indulgent to her before, he would never speak to her in such a tone.

He sounded so very gentle.

She had always thought that he was good to her before, but after hearing the words he said just now, she understood the difference between the two tones.

She stepped forward and snatched his cell phone, and yelled at the person on the phone, "Who are you? When did you two hook up with each other?"

When Sylvie heard Melanie's scream, she immediately realized that she needed to take action.

So she immediately put on the stance of a real girlfriend, and unceremoniously said to Melanie, "What does it matter with you?"

"Who are you? Why are you by my boyfriend's side in the middle of the night? Isn't it because you want to get on my boyfriend with bad intentions?"

"Lucien, give me an explanation!"

All-day long with Nina on the set, Sylvie had also picked up a thing or two about acting.

She managed to play the role of a girlfriend easily.

Melanie was speechless by her response.

She not only claimed to be his girlfriend, but also directly exposed her attempt, and even rudely called Lucien to explain it to her. She was so arrogant and natural, which meant she must be his girlfriend.

Melanie really believed that Sylvie on the other end of the phone was his boyfriend and immediately burst into tears.

She bellowed, "You shameless bitch!"

Lucien saw that she was speaking so nasty. so he immediately took back the phone and pulled her aside, and warned her coldly.

"Watch your tongue! You don't get to talk to her like that!"

Lucien was really angry. The girl on the other end of the phone was someone he cherished, but Melanie had cursed her like that. He wanted to tear Melanie's mouth apart.

Lucien was very worried that Sylvie would be sad if she was scolded innocently. He was about to apologize when he heard her shouting on the phone, "Give her the phone! I'm gonna roast her!"

Lucien was surprised.

He didn't expect that this seemingly soft and cute little lady was actually quite belligerent. Before he could respond, she urged him again, "Hurry up or put me on speaker."

Lucien wanted to laugh inexplicably, but he still turned on the speaker. He would not allow Melanie to take his phone again.

"Speaker is on." He informed Sylvie.

Sylvie scolded her in a high-spirited manner, 'You called me shameless? You are the one who pestered other's boyfriends in the middle of the night, not me.

"I wonder if you could even spell the word 'shame' right!"

Lucien couldn't help bursting into laughter.

She could lash at others without a single dirty word. Melanie's face and neck turned red.

Lucien's smile made Melanie even more embarrassed. She gritted her teeth and shouted, "Who are you? I'm not done with you!"

She must dig out who Lucien's girlfriend is, and she must let this woman pay!

Sylvie sneered and said, "Why should I tell you who I am?"

"You think that everyone is like your mom and they have to spoil you?"

"I won't tell you who I am. I'll make you so frustrated as you can't find me."

This time, Melanie was so angry that she couldn't get up in one breath. How could this woman be so irritating?

Sylvie's infuriating ability was obtained from Nina and she never lost.

Of course, Sylvie scolded happily and Lucien also enjoyed listening.

Not to mention, his previous impression of her was that of a mild little girl. Tonight's fight with Melanie allowed him learn a bit more about her.

After getting to know her, his affection for her increased.

He liked her style of "If you leave me alone, I'll leave you alone. If you offend me, I'll respond in kind."

Without looking at Melanie, who was so angry that was about to faint, he held the phone and asked Sylvie in a low voice, "Are you happy now?"

Sylvie said, "Not yet, I have to send her the last words."

Lucien continued to use the speakerphone to provide her with convenience. Sylvie mocked and said, "Girl, get yourself educated, okay? I don't see a brain in your little head."

Melanie cried even louder because Sylvie was scolding her for being stupid.

But she was dumb at the time and she couldn't stop crying.

Sylvie's words fell behind, Lucien followed her words and said to Melanie indifferently, "You saw that I already have a girlfriend, and we have a very good relationship. We are dating for marriage."

"Don't come to me in the future or my girlfriend will be angry."

After Lucien said these words, he turned around and entered the building, no matter what Melanie said behind him

"Sorry for causing you to be scolded." Lucien apologized guiltily as soon as he entered the elevator.

Sylvie didn't respond to him immediately. so he hurriedly asked again. "Sylvie? What's wrong with you? Why don't you speak?"

He didn't know that Sylvie was a little lost by what he said just now.

Although she knew it was fake, what he said about dating for marriage had deeply touched her.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 650 True Love

Sylvie recovered from his words, and said hurriedly, "It's okay. I don't mind. Besides, didn't I scold her back? And even harder."

Sylvie didn't care that Melanie had just scolded her. Her ability to withstand pressure was way above average, or otherwise she wouldn't have been the assistant of a popular star like Nina for so many years.

When Nina was cursed and scolded, other people related to Nina, like Sherlyn and her, would be scolded badly. She was used to it.

Lucien couldn't help but also laughed, "You have such a good attitude."

"You don't have to feel sorry." Sylvie then asked him, "Will she pester you again after this time?"

Lucien raised his eyebrows and said, "I don't think she will stop. I didn't expect her to become so shameless now. I attended a banquet with Cameron tonight, and she harassed us again and again."

"Huh?" Sylvie was pissed and confounded, "How can there be such a shameless person? You all have such an attitude towards her, and she still keeps harassing you? This kind of love is too cheap."

Lucien patiently corrected her words, "That doesn't deserve to be called love at all, that is just selfishness."

Sylvie nodded and replied, "Yes, if you really love someone, you only want him to be happy. How can you keep causing trouble for the other party?"

The most outrageous thing is that Melanie clearly liked Cameron at first, but now she starts to harass Lucien again. She is a person without any principles.

Lucien got out of the elevator and went back to his home. After changing his shoes and sitting down on the sofa, he said in a low voice, "Your attitude towards relationship is matured and straightforward, and your views of life and values are very positive."

"That's for sure. It is said that liking is presumptuous, and love is restraint. I think real love should be restraint, restraint based on the consideration of each other."

"Just like Nina and Cameron, in the past few years, they clearly loved each other deeply, but for the sake of each other's future, they gave each other space and worked hard in their own field."

"It's also because of their forbearance and restraint in the past that they got their happiness today."

Because of the accumulation of the past few years, Nina has become good enough and Cameron has become strong enough, so no one can stop them from being together anymore.

Sylvie didn't know why she told Lucien so much all of a sudden, especially about her emotional views.

Maybe it was the long and torturous night's work that made her really bored, or maybe Lucien's voice was very gentle and pleasant at the moment, and she became a chatterbox in no time.

But what she didn't know was that her remarks refreshed Lucien's understanding of her again.

Lucien thought she was a little heartless before, but he didn't expect her to be so delicate and sensitive. Her remarks just now about the relationship between Nina and Cameron were extremely accurate and it could be seen that she was being observant.

Lucien felt that he had found a treasure, such a wonderful girl. He should seize the chance and get her!

Thinking of this, he first recognized her analysis, "It is true, your analysis is very accurate."

Then he changed the topic, "You helped me so much tonight. I will definitely invite you to dinner someday."

He said before that he would invite her to dinner, but this time he added the word "definitely" to show that he was bound to win.

Sylvie didn't notice his hidden thoughts and she just said quickly, "No need to bother, that's okay."

In fact, she was enjoying herself just now, after all, she had trolled on Melanie completely.

She didn't know since when she loves to quarrel with others like Nina.

Lucien didn't force her to do anything. Anyway, he insisted on inviting her. When Cameron returned, he would leave the day after tomorrow and go to Jamelaton to invite her to dinner.

"Let's not talk about it now. Nina finished; I'll go take a look." Sylvie hung up after saying this while Lucien was reluctant to hang up.

He had a hunch that he would lose sleep tonight. Before, he laughed at Cameron's crazy behavior, but now it seemed that he also had signs of growing into a lunatic.

After Nina finished the scene, Sylvie hurried forward to help her with some water and told Nina what had just happened by the way.

Nina was very happy, "Okay, Sylvie, good for you!"

Before Sylvie could say anything, Nina said thoughtfully, "I can rest assured that you can be so strong, so that you and Lucien will be bullied by those women who covet him in the future."

Sylvie was choked at her words.

Her being together with Lucien in the future? Utterly impossible.

She was too lazy to discuss this issue with Nina, so she shut up. Nina knew what she was thinking when she saw her expression.

But Nina didn't say. The key to the success of this matter was not what she said, but what Lucien would do.

When Nina went to film again, Sylvie suddenly received a call from Cameron.

It was already past three o'clock in the night, Sylvie thought that something had happened to him which made him call Nina in the middle of the night and she quickly picked up.

But she heard Cameron ask her, "When will you finish?"

Sylvie glanced at the clock and replied, "About half an hour, if the shooting goes well."

Then she seemed to hear the radio from the airport over there. She asked in shock, "You're not coming here, are you?" "Well, I just got off the plane." Cameron replied, "I took a taxi to the hotel, it should be about the same time as you guys." Cameron added, "Don't tell her first, I'll give her a surprise."

"Oh, okay..." Sylvie was stunned and she didn't know what to say.

What kind of love is this?

They have met each other not long ago

Coming here on a flight in the middle of the night, is this the so-called true love?

Hanging up the phone, Sylvie sat there and sighed. Just another day of crying for other people's love.

It was already four o'clock when Nina finished work. They got into the car exhaustingly and went back to the hotel.

She had just returned to the room and changed her clothes. When she was preparing to take a shower, there was a knock on the door. She thought that Sylvie had come back due to an emergency, but when she opened the door, Cameron was standing outside the door.

Nina was completely stunned. She didn't expect him to appear, especially in the middle of the night.

She thought she was hallucinating because she was tired and sleepy, so she involuntarily raised her hand to touch the man's face, and murmured, "Are you... real?"

Cameron directly responded to her suspicion with action, stepped forward and stepped into her room, hugged her, kicked the door close, and leaned to kiss her.
