

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 681 Destroy One's Mind Rather Than One's Body

Chapter 681 Destroy One's Mind Rather Than One's Body

“My dad said that my mom lost control when she heard it. She called him in tears. Then the accident happened when she drove home herself.”

Obviously, Colleen was stimulated by what had happened to Cameron in those two years. So she lost control and had a crash.

Nina was sad and angry at the same time. She even started to shiver.

Cameron explained to her last time. He could have gone back home two years earlier, but his tutor needed him to help with the research. She never knew what had happened to Cameron in those two years.

She found the truth so excruciating that she needed to hold Cameron tight, let alone Colleen.

It was her son. How could she remain calm?

Melanie was the indirect perpetrator!

Thinking of this, Nina looked up at Edwin and asked, “Edwin, Can you let your men find out where Melanie is?”

“No problem.” Edwin made a call while driving. Soon someone replied.

“Let them take her to the hospital.” Nina said coldly.

‘OK”

Nina clenched her teeth. She promised she would slap Melanie hard. No, it was not enough. It was ok if Colleen's life was not in danger. If anything happened to Colleen, they could never retaliate enough.

She was not good-tempered. Moreover, Melanie had crossed the line.

Nina hadn't meet Melanie yet because she was busy filming recently. She could tell that Melanie was a spoiled girl according to the rumors, but she didn't see that Melanie would lead them to so much trouble.

Having arrived at the hospital, Nina hurriedly said thanks to Edwin. Then Nina and Cameron hastened to get off and go to the emergency room. They were holding hands the whole time.

Cameron didn't say anything after he got on the car. Nina could feel he was nervous and restless. After all, it was his parent, his mom.

When they arrived at the door of the emergency room, the whole Dauster family was already there, including the haggard Randall Dauster, the Donovan couple and Cameron's grandparents. They were all waiting anxiously.

Randall was so worried that he collapsed into the chair. He didn't have the energy to talk to Cameron and Nina.

Joshua went up to them. "It was not too bad. Her life was not in danger. But her arms were hurt badly. It's possibly her arms were broken."

Nina and Cameron drew a relieved breath. It was lucky that her life was not threatened.

Cameron touched his forehead, gently leaned against the wall and closed his eyes. He tried to ease his anxiety accumulated on the way here.

Though he and Colleen had quarreled over Nina, he only fall out with her once till now.
Now they had made it up.

His relationship with his parents had long been intimate and harmonious. Colleen meant a lot to him. He couldn't imagine what if something happened to her.

Nina hugged Cameron gently. She looked up and saw Melanie Blanchard who was shivering in the corner. She was so irritated that she forgot to greet other Dausters. She went directly to give her a slap.

Melanie didn't expect her to be so aggressive. She was slapped down to ground without any defense.

"What are you doing?" Melanie yelled, her hand covering her face

She had never been slapped. Especially the one beat her was Nina, who was intimate with Cameron. She was furious.

"What am I doing?" Nina sneered. She went up and pulled Melanie up by holding her hair. Nina slapped her again. "You'll never be afraid unless the lesson is learned."

Nina hit hard. The slap could be heard clearly in the quiet corridor. Cameron's grandparents paused. Even Joshua and his wife looked at Nina in surprise.

But Valerie soon supported Nina. "Nice. If I was younger, I would've given that bitch a slap too." She whispered.

Though she was old, she was rather tough. Calling Melanie "bitch" could show that how much they hated her.

Cameron's grandparents almost freaked out after hearing that Colleen had a car crash and was sent to the hospital.

What they were most afraid of at this age was to see the younger generation die before them.

Fortunately, the doctor just informed them that Colleen's life was not in danger. They had recovered a bit from the shock. Otherwise, they would tear Melanie up.

After Nina's two hard slaps, Valerie finally worked off her anger.

She didn't think Nina was wrong. Instead, she liked Nina even more. She loved Nina's strong personality.

"Wait..." Joshua got it together and tried to stop Nina. But he was stopped by Cameron.

"I'm afraid that Nina might get hurt. What if Melanie fight back?" Joshua explained.

"She won't." Cameron said without hesitation.

He knew how agile she was. Melanie wouldn't gain any advantage. What's more, she had been coached by professionals when she was shooting the military drama.

Joshua didn't make any further move after he saw Cameron's attitude and that Nina had gained an upper hand.

Cameron didn't walk up either. He knew Nina could handle it. He also knew Nina needed to vent in this way.

Melanie didn't gain any advantage. With her hair pulled by Nina, she couldn't move.

Once she moved, she felt as if Nina would peel off her scalp. Melanie could do nothing but to cover her head with both hands and scream.

"He had stayed abroad for two years to save you father. He suffered so much to release you father from the terrorists.

"You almost killed his mom because of your selfish desire.

"Are you still a human, Melanie?"

“You think you are qualified to say you love him?”

Nina became more and more irritated. She pulled Melanie’s hair even more tightly.
Melanie burst into tears.

“I don’t want to hurt his mom. I just wanted her to suffer a bit. So you and Cameron will also suffer from it.”

Melanie listened to Rebecca. She intended to tell Colleen what happened to Cameron.

Rebecca said it was better to torture someone’s mind rather than body.

Since now they couldn’t revenge on Cameron and Nina, they wanted to torture their mind. They targeted at Cameron’s family to implement the plan.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 682 How to Deal with a Villain

Next

Chapter 682 How to Deal with a Villain

They weren’t able to target at Nina. Her parents and younger brother were already crazy enough. Nina had cut off relations with them. It wouldn’t work if Melanie and Rebecca did something to them.

They dared not target at Nina’s best friend, Emelia Jones, because Julian Hughes would kill them.

They finally decided to start with Colleen. But she didn’t expect Colleen would be distracted and have a car accident on her way back.

Melanie almost fainted when two burly chaps stormed in her place and took her away. She thought she had offended the criminal gang. Then Melanie knew something happened to Colleen.

Nina looked at Melanie and sneered, "You want us to suffer? Let's see who's going to live a miserable life! We will find the best lawyer and send you to jail!"

"It's not necessary. You should play foul to deal with the villain." A voice came from behind.

Nina and Cameron looked up and saw Edwin coming out of the fire escape stairs.

Edwin didn't leave directly after Nina and Cameron got off. He parked the car and wanted to follow them to the emergency room. He chose to climb the stairs because there were too many people waiting for the elevator.

He heard Nina slapping Melanie. He couldn't restrain himself from cutting in when he heard Nina talked about suing her.

In his opinion, it was unnecessary to resort to law. It would humiliate the law.

Edwin stared Melanie with his sunglasses, scary scars and intimidating look.

Melanie was worldly. Actually, she knew it better than anyone that no one should mess with the gangsters. They could make people easily disappear.

As soon as Edwin showed up, Cameron took actions. He went up to pull Nina into his arms and distance her from Edwin.

It made the Dausters raise their eyebrows. They realized the man with sunglasses was Cameron's rival in love.

"I agree with you. We don't need to deal with them by proper means."

Nina let go of Melanie's hair when Cameron hugged her. She wanted to reject Edwin's favor so as not to piss Cameron off.

She didn't expect that Cameron would agree with him, so she kept silent.

She was not blindly kind. She would love to see Melanie suffer since she was so sinister.

"What do you want?" Melanie fell back to the corner and asked fearfully.

Edwin pushed the sunglasses and said coldly, "It's easy. I'm going to treat you to a dozen of men and let them take care of you."

"What?" Melanie almost fainted.

"You are afraid already?"

"I forgot to mention that then they will send you abroad on the human trafficking vessel. You will completely disappear from the world."

He said in a brisk tone, as if he was saying something normal. Melanie fell to the ground in despair. She couldn't utter a word for a while.

"Thank you then." Cameron said and planned to leave with Nina.

"Help! No! No!" Melanie cried and dragged Cameron's pants. "Please, Cameron, let me go!"

Melanie crawled on the ground and cracked up. She begged, "I'll never do it again. I'll leave you alone, please don't do this to me!"

Cameron kicked off her hands. "I've told you. You should take sole responsibility for your deeds.

He and Lucien had said everything to Melanie, she simply didn't listen to them. If she went back then, she wouldn't end up like this.

She was ruined by the old men.

He felt sick.

"Take her." Edwin said to the two who brought Melanie here. They picked her up.

Melanie struggled out of their grip and kneeled down before Nina.

"Nina, you are also woman. Please help me out. I won't do it again. I completely gave up on Cameron. I will never covet him again."

"I don't want to die." She cried.

Not to mention being trafficked abroad, just being raped with by those men would take her life.

Nina's thin and white ankle was grasped by Melanie. Before she could respond, Edwin suddenly kicked Melanie's hand off.

Edwin thought being grasped by her would stain Nina's pretty ankle.

One could easily imagine how ferociously a tough guy like Edwin would kick. Melanie screamed, clutched her wrist and fall down.

Cameron was offended by Edwin's behavior. Damn, was there something wrong with him? Nina was his girlfriend. He could protect her. It was none of his business!

But now it was the best timing to be jealous. Cameron held Nina close and looked coldly at Melanie lying on the ground. “I give you two options. First, scam back to your home as soon as possible. Don’t let me see you again. Second, you can stay, I’ll let him take you.”

Melanie kept nodding. “I’ll go back! I’ll go back to US!” Then she sprawled to the ground and started to cry.

Valerie, Joshua and others all shook their head with disdain. Why did she do so many bad things in the first place?

Cameron never gave her any hope. He declined her the minute he realized it. She adhered to her foolish ideas, so stupid and stubborn.

Melanie never thought that one day she would escape from Riverside city so embarrassedly.

Cameron pointed to Edwin. “His men will escort you all the way until you get on the plane.”

“What, what about my contract with Allstar Entertainment...” Her voice trembled.

She signed contract with Allstar before. The breach of contract damages was extremely high. She would be sued. But how could she afford it?

“You’d better discuss with you parents when you are back.” Cameron sneered.

She almost killed Colleen. She still counted on him to cover her expense?

How dared she?

Her parents had to cough up the money. It was also a lesson for his tutor. If he just spoiled and never educated her, then she would only learn the lesson in such a cruel way.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 683 Beauty and The Beast

Chapter 683 Beauty and The Beast

Melanie then was taken away by Edwin and his men. Colleen's surgery was also finished at this point.

When Colleen went out of the operating room on the stretcher, Nina saw Cameron's eyes turned red.

It was so lucky that Colleen's life was not in danger. Her right arm was broken. She also had several bruises. The doctors said she needed to stay in bed. It would take a hundred day to recover. She needed to recuperate in bed for several months.

Colleen was awake when she was sent to the ward. But she was still very weak.

She burst into tears as soon as she saw Cameron. Colleen was heartbroken when she recalled what Melanie said to her.

She was still fearful about this matter. Thank God they succeeded. If no progress had been made, would he still be in that isolated place? Would he still be treated inhumanely?

Thinking of it, Colleen cried even harder. But due to her injury, she felt painful when she cried.

Randall comforted her, "Don't get excited. Calm down. You should wait till you feel better."

'I'm so regretful.'" Colleen squeezed a few words and burst into tears again.

If she had known that Cameron would encounter such terrible things, she would not let him go abroad. If he studied at home, he would not have to break up with Nina. Maybe they would have children now.

Cameron could feel her remorse and sadness. He went up to hold her hands. "It's all over. I'm doing great now, aren't I?"

"Besides, it is not as bad as she said. You should know well about me. I would never be as miserable."

"Yes, you shouldn't be worried about it. Take good rest." Randall echoed.

Colleen stopped the tears. She saw Nina and her relatives. "I'm sorry for having you worried." She said guiltily.

"As long as you are fine." Valerie said.

Valerie's eyes turned red. Joshua said, "You should go back with Mr. Dauster. We'll take care of Colleen."

Joshua then said to Nina, "You and Cameron should also leave. Randall and I will stay."

He thought Nina and Cameron rarely had the opportunity to meet. Nina was constantly busy filming. They just made up and got married after all these years. Plus, they can take care of Colleen. Cameron should spend more time with Nina.

"Cameron should stay. I'll send grandparents back." said Nina.

Nina knew that she couldn't help, so she didn't insist on staying here. But Cameron should stay. After all, it was his mother.

She didn't need him to be with her 24/7, even at this point.

Joshua commended her thoughtfulness inwardly. Cameron thought so. He decided to stay and take care of Colleen. Nina then left with Mr. and Mrs. Dauster.

Nina and Cameron took Edwin's car here. She planned to take a taxi to send Cameron's grandparent home. Unexpectedly, she met a young man at the gate of the hospital. He came handed her a car key and said, "Miss Sanchez, boss left his car to you."

Nina glanced at Edwin's flashy SUV car nor far away. She wondered whether Edwin was careful or careless. The good news was he left a car. The bad news was it was a car like that.

Luckily, she was tall. Girls of average height can't drive it.

"Boss said that you and this car were the best example of beauty and beast." The young man smiled.

Nina angrily stared at him, took the car key and gritted her teeth. "Do say thanks for me."

The young man smiled and waved his hand, "No, no. If you want to thank him, you should tell him yourself. That's what he wants."

Nina was on the last nerve. What was wrong with this young man? Didn't he see that Cameron's grandparents were with her? Why did he keep insinuating her relationship with Edwin? Was he insane?

Maybe the young man had noticed that Nina was pissed off, he quickly said goodbye and left.

Nina composed herself and turned to Cameron's grandparent. Valerie gave her a teasing look. Nina was a little embarrassed.

"Grandpa, grandma, let's go." She quickly shifted the topic and helped Valerie get on the SUV car.

After getting on the car, Nina asked Valerie the address and then started the car.

When waiting for the traffic lights, Valerie said casually, "This car is really cool. 'Beauty and the beast' is indeed the accurate metaphor."

Then she asked Nina curiously, "Is the owner of this car the handsome guy outside the emergency room?"

At the hospital, all of them could see that Edwin had feelings for Nina. They could also feel that things weren't going pretty well between Cameron and Edwin. That was the atmosphere between rivals in love.

"Yes." Nina had to answer honestly. Now she hoped that the old lady wouldn't ask more questions. It was embarrassing enough.

But Valerie continued. "Are you classmates?"

"Yes." Nina didn't say much. She hoped that Valerie could stop.

Valerie said, "oh... He was handsome and masculine. The scar on his chin made him more charming."

Though she complimented Edwin, Nina felt that Valerie was being jealous for Cameron.

"Grandma, we are just friends." Nina burst into laughter.

What was wrong with the Dausters? She had gotten married with Cameron. Why were they still suspicious?

"You treat him as a friend, but he doesn't. He kicked off Melanie's hand, left a car to you, compared you as the beauty... He was up to something else!"

Before Nina could say anything, Valerie signed. "Well, what can I do? You are beautiful, kind and straightforward. I would fall for you if I was a man."

Nina was amused by what she said. Valerie also flattered Edwin with rhetoric. She could see that Valerie was a TV fan.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 684 Go Public with Their Relationship

Chapter 684 Go Public with Their Relationship

“Ahem.” Mr. Dauster coughed and tried to remind Valerie of the boundary.

Nina looked at them through the rearview mirror. She couldn't help laughing. She really admired their relationship.

Valerie was vivacious. Mr. Dauster always spoiled her. Valerie could go after any celebrity, even actors. Cameron said it had been the case since they were young. Mr. Dauster would go to the concert and watch the show with Valerie.

She wished Cameron could be half as generous. He couldn't even bear it when she was the star, let alone she being a fan.

“Why don't you say anything.” Valerie asked.

“I wish Cameron can be half as generous as grandpa.” Nina signed.

“He is not generous. He just has to put up with me. Every couple gets along differently, as long as it's suitable for you.”

Valerie understood immediately.

Nina thought it made sense.

She didn't dislike it when Cameron was jealous. She just didn't know what to do.

Plus, it would be a fun to watch when he got jealous. She loved to see him losing his composure.

Having sent them home and stayed a while with them, Nina drove off. She also got something to do. She and Cameron planned to have a get-together with friends to celebrate the opening of the studio. But now it had to be canceled given that Colleen had a car accident. She needed to call around to cancel it.

Emelia and others showed understanding. After calling Sherlyn, Nina received the call from Sherlyn soon.

She had come back from the suburb and was in the studio.

Sherlyn said” I was informed that you and Cameron were take photos in the hospital, but someone contained it. I guess it is Cameron. Any news that is harmful to you, he would brush it under the carpet.”

“He really cherishes you. You don’t want to make it public, he doesn’t only agree, but also tries to cover it up by all means.”

Sherlyn signed

“I don’t know he was all prepared.” Nina was also stunned.

But at second thought, it was typical Cameron. Rigorous and crazy at the same time.

In order not to give haters a chance, he had bribed the press to hold back their relationship. Because he knew they would be photographed one day.

Thinking of it, Nina asked Sherlyn seriously, “What if I want to make it public?”

Sherlyn was surprised. “You want to do it now?”

“Since we were already photographed, there is no need to cover it up. I’m not that kind of person. If it will incur a loss, I will compensate.” Nina said seriously.

“I also believe that it’ll make him feel better that we go public now.” Nina felt heartbroken for him.

Cameron acted perfectly fine after Colleen had car accident. But Nina knew he was having a hard time.

She wanted to make him feel better. She couldn’t sit back and watch him do everything for her.

She knew that he wanted to be together with her under the spotlight. Why shouldn’t she make his wish come true?

He wanted to make her the happiest. She also wanted him to be happy every day.

Sherlyn remained silent for a while, then she said, “It’s ok to go public. You are an actress, not an idol. Plus, your husband is outstanding and preeminent. Why should you hide it from the public? The only reason they would attack you was that you concealed your marriage from the fans and public.”

“Whatever. There’s always criticism, right? I can handle it.”

Yes, she had concealed her marriage for a couple of days. Though it was only a couple of days, it had been a secret.

“You should discuss with Cameron. I’ll think about how to grapple with those haters. I won’t let them get their way.”

“Ok.” Nina smiled.

She knew Sherlyn well. No one could take advantage of her.

Then Nina called Cameron. "How was Colleen doing?" she asked first.

"She just fell asleep." Cameron just got out of the ward. Randall asked him and the Donovan couple to leave first, but Cameron insisted to stay.

Cameron couldn't change his mind. Besides, he knew that he couldn't leave her alone. So he decided to go home first and take night shifts.

"Sherlyn said that we were photographed in the hospital. Do you let someone to contain the news?"

"Yes. If you don't want to reveal it, then don't."

Nina didn't know whether she should laugh or get angry. She snorted, "You must have spent a lot of money."

She was top actress now. It would cost a lot to hold back her news.

"No biggie." Cameron replied briefly. Though she was angry, she burst into laughter.

He was filthy rich.

She recalled what he said before. He worked hard to protect her and spare her from worries.

Nina was touched. "Don't be silly anymore. Besides, I want to make our relationship public."

Cameron paused. "Don't you want to wait until you finish shooting the show?" he asked.

Nina could tell that he was exhausted and depressed. She felt heart broken.

She intended to make herself sound brisk. "I want to save money for you. After our relationship is made public, you don't need to spend money on PR anymore.

Nina wouldn't say that she wanted to make him happy. But Cameron had seen through her. "I never expect that Ms. Dauster is so economical and thrifty." His lips curled up.

"Of course, I am." Nina smiled as well.

"How do you want to make it public?"

"Post a picture of us in the City Hall, probably."

Cameron thought they'd better discuss it first. "I'm on my way home. Wait for me."

"I thought you were not coming back today, so I went back to my place."

Cameron remained silent for a while, then he sneered, "You never treat it as our home."

"I'm afraid I'll be missing you so badly. You aren't around, but I am surrounded by you stuff." Nina hurried to reply in a soft tone.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 685 A Live Streaming Accident

Chapter 685 A Live Streaming Accident

"Unctuous." Cameron said.

Nina protested, "How could you say that about me!"

It made her sound like a flirt.

"I'm just telling the truth."

Nina snorted. But Cameron had a point. She was the one who loved to say sweet words and tease him from time to time.

Twenty minutes later, Cameron arrived at Nina's place.

Nina was streaming together with Emelia, when Cameron rang the bell.

Emelia was streaming. It was also her first streaming. Since pregnancy, she didn't work that much. She didn't take any new jobs besides the love story based on Nina and Cameron that she was writing.

If she hadn't been pregnant with twins, she would never have put a brake on screenwriting. Carrying two babies increased stress on her body. Though she still wanted to work, she was unable to do it due to pregnancy.

Having gone through the ups and downs, Emelia gained a lot of fans on twitter with her good personality. Those fans really cared for her and supported her. They were worried since she hadn't shown up recently.

They left comments, urging her to do a streaming to make a status update. So Emelia responded to their requests.

The streaming went smoothly. Since she and Nina were besties, many fans also were also fond of their friendship. Plus, they all knew that Nina was in Riverside city. So fans wanted to see Nina join the streaming.

Nina just called Emelia. She told her she was back and Cameron was at the hospital. Emelia thought it would be fine to do a live with her.

Nina was familiar with it and she was willing to do so. She even had a happier conversation with Emelia's fans than Emelia herself. She totally forgot that Cameron was on the way here.

She also forgot that Cameron didn't have the key nor know the password. So when he rang the bell, Nina went directly to open the door without cutting off the live stream.

"You should add my fingerprint to the lock." Cameron proposed as soon as he came in.

Cameron had long since told her about the combination to his door, but he couldn't get into her place. Cameron thought Nina was being unfair. So he pressed her into his arms and kissed her.

Nina was streaming in the living room, and now the camera was facing the door. The fans who were watching the stream saw a tall man enter Nina's house. He held her in his arms and kissed her deeply.

The fans were so surprised that they even forgot to send comments. All of them were staring at the screen.

Emelia was also stunned when she saw Cameron show up. When she realized, she hastened to end the live. But she couldn't find the button to end the streaming since it was only the first time.

"Julian!" she called for his help by yelling his name.

Julian was with her when she started streaming. But he was too showy, soon the screen was riddled with comments complimenting his look. Emelia kicked him out.

Julian went to wash fruits for her. He rushed into the room after hearing Emelia call him. He immediately ended the streaming. But it was too late. The fans had seen that Nina was kissing a man.

They didn't see clearly who that man was because of the distance.

He looked tall and elegant. Though it was blurred, they could feel that he was charming.

“What should I do?” Emelia panicked. She held Julian’s arms and said vexedly, “I accidentally revealed their relationship.”

Emelia freaked out.

Nina told her that they didn’t want to make their relationship public yet. She wanted to wait until the shooting of the military drama was done.

She made it public on the live streaming.

“Don’t panic.” Julian reassured her and called Cameron.

Cameron and Nina were kissing hungrily. Cameron meant to smooch. But when he recalled that Nina wanted to make their relationship public, he was touched. As a result, he kissed her even harder.

Nina totally forgot she was still in the streaming with Emelia, until Cameron’s phone rang.

Nina was still gasping when she heard Cameron answer the phone in his arms.

“Did Nina forget she was in the streaming?” Julian asked.

Cameron was confused. Nina exclaimed and rushed to the living room. She found that the live stream had been cut off.

Cameron realized what happened. He raised his eyebrows, “they’ve seen it all?”

“Yes.” Julian answered.

Then Cameron heard Emelia’s voice, “It was all my fault. I should haven’t done this live with Nina.”

Emelia blamed herself.

She knew it had been hard for Nina in this business. She didn’t expect she fucked it up.

Cameron comforted Emelia, “It’s ok. We meant to make it public. I came to discuss with her.”

“You meant to make it public?” Emelia was shocked.

Nina realized that Emelia must be very remorseful. She said, “You shouldn’t feel guilty or blame yourself. You should remain calm.”

“I planned to make it public, but I don’t know how. Hence, I don’t need to rack my brain.”

Nina and Cameron didn’t see it coming. It’s all the will of heaven.

Emelia sighed. Then she asked, “Didn’t you say you wanted to wait till the drama is done? Why today?”

Nina took Cameron’s phone and went away. “He was not happy today, I wanted to cheer him up.” She whispered.

“Then make it public. It’s no biggie.” Emelia instantly understood and smiled.

Nina wasn’t a newbie anymore. Having pulled through ups and downs, she had become tough and rich enough to deal with all kinds of scandals. Besides, she got Cameron with her.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 686 Strong Response

Chapter 686 Strong Response

“Indeed. It’s ok if haters want to use bots to smear me. I can quit the entertainment business and go to learn fashion design.”

Nina was worried that she never got time to do the things she liked. It’s the perfect timing for her to pick up something else.

“You don’t need to.” Emelia thought Nina’s announcement of her marriage was not something heinous. What else could those haters do?

“Right. You shouldn’t worry about it.” Nina comforted Emelia. She was afraid that Emelia might feel sick because of mood swing.

Nina and Emelia were calm and poised, but those fans who watched Emelia’s streaming had freaked out.

Someone screen shot the scene of Nina and Cameron kissing and post it on twitter. After simmering, the hashtag “Nina smooches a man’ went on trend.

Soon the hashtags “Nina’s secret marriage” and “Nina pretends to be single” also went on trend. “Nina pretends to be single” even went on No.1 trend. Nina was thrown into the center of the storm.

People jeered in the comments and accused Nina of pretending to be single. They even dished the dirt and drag the dating show into it. They questioned why Nina announced that she would intend the show since she was not single then.

People even accused Nina of being unscrupulous because of money. In a word, the haters came to look for trouble.

Nina had predicted it. She had been through all kinds of rumor and scandals. Nothing would hurt her now.

She also knew that there were countless actresses in this business, but opportunities were limited. If they could tear her down, then there would be one less strong rival in the future.

As things went escalated, there weren’t only haters. Those who hardly had any contact with her might also join in.

Nina was decisive and immediately tweeted:

First, I’ve got married with Mr. Dauster. He is no player. He is my husband and my loved one from the first sight.

Ever since high school, he has been the one in my heart. I only love him from the past to the future.

Second, I never pretend to be single.

When I decided to take part in the dating show, I was single, he was not in the country. Everyone can find out the time he came back from abroad. He was taken photos at the airport that day.

We hadn't met for years nor contacted before he was back.

Third, we got married after I quit the show. I didn't lie to the show or the public. I'll post the marriage certificate so you can make clear of the timeline.

Fourth, I didn't announce our relationship because he is not in this circle. I don't want him to be bothered.

Fifth, I planned to make public our relationship later today. Because he was not in a good mood today, I want to make him happy.

That's all I want to say.

Nina's response was tough and yet sincere. This was how she had confronted the haters, by being tough and straight to the point.

Sherlyn and Cameron also helped to come up with some roundabout expressions. But Nina declined. She thought it was fine to cut into chase.

As for those so-called fans who slandered her every day, let it be.

The announcement definitely sparked a discussion. It also to some extent reversed people's comments on her. Those smart people would pay heed to what he said.

However, there were also haters blindly followed suit. Nina didn't care about them.

But what she and the haters didn't expect was that people were most curious about their love story.

OMG, they were not dating! They were married!

So they were first loves who went back together after several years? Did someone say that first love would always end in tragedy?

What a love story it was? They loved each other after so many years?

They went crazy over their love.

They were also craving for a relationship like this, and a loving man like Cameron.

Look, Nina wrote that she wanted to cheer Cameron up, because he was not happy today. God, they were driven crazy!

No one would expect an independent woman like Nina would care for another person like this.

They were being blind. They thought she was too proud and cool. They even thought she might be a lesbian. They wanted to say sorry to Nina. She loved men, and she loved that man dearly.

It is said that the Emelia's teenage romance was based on their stories. Emelia was tagged. "Dear Emelia, we know that pregnancy is hard, but could you please speed up the writing? We really need to know what happened later"

Emelia received countless messages and comments on Twitter. They all wanted her to continue the story. Emelia didn't know how to react.

But Nina had made the announcement in her own way. Thanks to her candor, people gave her and Cameron many supports and blessings.

Haters were swept over by the majority who were fond of their love story. Though they wanted to manipulate the comments, it went out of their control.

Then they came up with another hashtag. Nina was not good enough for Cameron.

Under this hashtag, the haters described how Cameron's mother disliked Nina in details. They also disparaged Nina's parents and brother. They came to the conclusion that Cameron was out of Nina's league.

But they didn't see that another hashtag cropped up and gained more traffic. That is: Cameron is not good enough for Nina. This hashtag was inundated by praises for Nina.

When it comes to appearance, Nina was stunning and beautiful. It was acknowledged by all.

As for fortune, Nina now made her way onto the Forbes list. She enjoyed both fame and fortune.

As for personality, Nina was outgoing, generous, enthusiastic, kind, caring and thoughtful, while Cameron was only smart. He was good at nothing else.

All in all, Cameron was the lucky one in this marriage.

If they had to draw a conclusion, it was Nina who was out of Cameron's league.

Haters were driven crazy by this trend. They almost freaked out.

Cameron was disparaged and belittled in this hashtag. People soon understood it was Cameron who hyped up this trend himself to bring down the hater trend.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 687 Gone Public Finally

Chapter 687 Gone Public Finally

Those antis were speechless, they have never seen such a person who spares no effort to self-deprecate, Cameron was really something...

They were stunned by his actions and moved by their love. At first, they planned to claim that they were not true love, and Nina was aiming at his money as Cameron was aiming at her beauty.

But now they feel that if this is not true love, then there is no true love in this world.

Seeing the news on the Internet, Nina couldn't help but ask the man beside her with a smile, "You paid for this trend?"

At this time, Cameron was preparing dinner in the kitchen. He prepared a lot and planned to bring some to Randall and Colleen in the hospital.

He was busy with the cooking while replying to her questions, "Yes."

Nina hugged his waist from behind, and said affectionately to him, "You didn't need to denigrate yourself like that. Just ignore them.

Cameron snorted coldly, "I couldn't bear them saying you are bad."

"She was not worthy of him', this kind of remark made him furious.

In his heart, she was the most beautiful girl in the world, and he never felt that she was unworthy of him.

Nina caught the seriousness in his tone and stuck out her head to persuade him, “As the husband of a female star, you shall not have this idea. If they scold me in the future and you get angry, then you might die of anger.”

“So, ignore them, they can say whatever they want.’

“No; Cameron said categorically, “I’m going to confront them directly. They cannot say bad words about you.”

Nina was amused by him. She turned his whole body towards her and said to him facing his pretty and serious eyebrows,

“Why are you so serious?”

Being in the entertainment industry, Nina knew better than anyone that if one was serious with those antis and accounts, he would be pissed off.

She didn’t want the man she loved to get mad, so she stood up and kissed him on the lips and said, “Okay, babe, don’t be angry:

Cameron’s look turned better, and he turned around and continued to cook with his head down.

Just when the ingredients were prepared, Randall called, “You don’t have to bring food to us at night, your aunt and uncle will come to bring some later.

“Besides, we don’t need you to bring us food for a while.”

Cameron frowned, “Why?”

Colleen was injured, and he felt that at this time, as a son, all he could do were these trivial things besides arranging the best medical team for his mother.

After all, Colleen is a woman, and it is inconvenient for him to take care of her as a son, and Randall doesn't need him either.

Randall said bluntly, "Our colleagues and friends, all your uncles and aunts are calling one by one, saying that they want to bring food to us. We don't need you to bring food for now."

Cameron was speechless.

He knew that his parents had always been popular, but he didn't expect that everyone was rushing to bring food, which made him useless as a son.

Cameron, who hung up the phone, was troubled by a lot of ingredients, but then he decided to use all of them, just to celebrate the publication of his relationship with Nina today.

After that, he no longer had to visit her in disguise, and no longer had to worry about anything in public.

It was such a good feeling to go public.

While Cameron was cooking, Nina was answering Sherlyn's call. Nina asked her calmly, "So, which brands want to terminate the contract? Or what do they want me to do as compensation?"

Nina has already considered everything she would go through after making it public. She knew that some brands would be afraid of the gossip and would terminate the contract immediately or other actors' teams would take the opportunity to public relations and replace her.

This was a very practical problem and Nina can understand it.

People die for fortune and birds die for food. Not to mention that the endorsements she held in her hands were top-notch.

Sherlyn said angrily, "Are you that unconfident in yourself? Or Cameron?"

Nina puzzled, "What do you mean?"

Sherlyn said, "I mean, there is no one who has terminated the contract, and the crew has also spoken. Your role will not be affected in any way. They will also issue a statement to support you.

"You and Cameron are one now. Think about his identity. How many people dare to offend him?"

After a while, Nina suddenly realized, that's right, Cameron and Camcien Lifetech behind him are hot now, and they are married, who would be that dumb to offend her and Cameron with the capital behind him?

She immediately laughed, "In the end, he was protecting me in this matter.'

"Uh-huh; Sherlyn nodded, then she said with emotion, "This must be what drives him to make the company bigger and stronger for so many years. Only in this way can he protect you, isn't it?"

Her words reminded Nina of what Cameron once said to her, how he established Tymers Entertainment in partnership with Viggo, and how he used the money he earned to run Camcien Lifetech. His thoughts were seen through by Sherlyn. It seemed that his love for her was real.

Sherlyn added, "Of course, you didn't rely on him to protect you. You can have his deep love today due to yourself. First of all, you are good enough to make him keep missing you all these years.'

"You're the best." Sherlyn praised her without hesitation.

Her praise made Nina feel warm.

Sherlyn is also the best agent. Since the day she took her, she has never suffered any blow and she has always been encouraged.

Thinking of this, Nina happily confessed to Sherlyn, "I love you, Sherlyn."

Sherlyn got goosebumps from her words, and couldn't help but complain, "Ewww... Ugh..." Sherlyn didn't finish her words and Nina suddenly heard the sound of retching on the phone.

Sherlyn hurriedly explained to Nina with difficulty, "Sorry, I didn't do it on purpose. I felt a sudden nausea."

"The morning sickness?" Nina analyzed with a little bit of superficial knowledge from Emelia.

"Maybe, I'll go; Sherlyn said and hung up the phone.

Nina was a little worried about her, and she didn't know how her relationship with Viggo was now. There were too many things all day, and she forget to ask her.

Nina hesitated about whether to call Viggo and ask him to visit her.

She had seen Emelia go through morning sickness before, and she knew it felt so bad. She didn't know if Sherlyn, who lived alone, could stand it.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 688 He Is Irreplaceable

Chapter 688 He Is Irreplaceable

Nina was hesitating when she received a message from Sherlyn on her phone, "Don't tell Viggo!"

Then Nina knew instantly that they were not reconciled.

Sherlyn has always been strong, and Nina knew very well that at this time, she must not want Viggo to compromise and come to her because she was suffering from morning sickness while pregnant with his child.

So, she replied to her, "I see, if you need someone, call me or Sylvie."

Sherlyn didn't send her any message back. Nina could imagine what Sherlyn was thinking at this time. She must be thinking that she has survived so many ups and downs, how could she be defeated by morning sickness?

Sometimes being too tough is not a good thing. It would make you suffer a lot more.

After seeing Cameron prepare a table of dishes and opened a bottle of red wine, Nina asked in surprise, "What is this for?"

"Celebration." Cameron said, and then came over and put his arms around her waist, "From today, we can kiss and hold hands in the public. We must celebrate"

"Sure; Nina leaned against him and felt extremely comfortable.

Fortunately, she never gave up.

Neither did he.

The two of them sat down and were about to eat when Nina's cell phone rang. It was Edwin Hodge.

Nina thought that he was calling about the car. She was busy all day dealing with the “aftermath” of her marriage announcement and she hadn’t had time to return the car to him.

When she picked up the phone, she heard Edwin said painfully, “Do you love him that much? No matter if it was in the past, present, or future, you only love him?”

Obviously, he also saw her statement and knew her affection for Cameron. He was severely stimulated, which is why he made this phone call.

“Edwin, you are drunk.” Nina caught the drunkenness in his tone.

“I’m not drunk!” He shouted, “Not at all!”

“I just don’t understand, what’s so good about him that made you keep thinking about him for so many years?”

“While I was the first to know you and I was the first to fall in love with you!”

Edwin was really drunk, and he vented the pain in his heart.

“You guys broke up and you haven’t been in touch for so many years. I’ve been by your side for the past two years, why can’t you love me?”

Edwin got drunk and made trouble. Cameron, who was sitting opposite Nina, couldn’t bear it. He got up to take her phone and confront him.

While Nina motioned him to calm down first, then she held the phone and said to Edwin lightly, “He is irreplaceable in my heart.”

After Nina said this, she simply hung up the phone, too lazy to listen to his crazy words.

She originally thought that Edwin could handle himself, but she didn't expect him to go crazy after drinking a little wine.

The reason why she didn't let Cameron talk to him was that she didn't want to ruin the atmosphere tonight.

"Just ignore him." She turned off the phone directly and put it aside, then said to Cameron.

Cameron's brows condensed, "I don't think he wants to give up on you."

"He can do whatever he likes." Nina was a bit annoyed.

In her eyes, Edwin was an upright person and he shouldn't be acting like this. Tonight, he really disappointed her.

She never gave him any hints. Since they were in school, she had made it clear that she only regarded him as a friend.

She didn't know why he always thought he was a good fit for her.

Cameron picked up the wine glass, clinked her glass lightly, and said, "Then ignore him."

This is a matter between Edwin and him, so let him settle it, so as not to spoil her mood and the atmosphere of their celebration tonight.

Cameron did not expect that when he finally got rid of Melanie Blanchard, there appeared Edwin Hodge.

It seemed that although they had gotten married, they still couldn't live a quiet life, but it didn't matter. Those men eyeing covetously at his wife could just try.

Sherlyn wanted to pour herself a glass of water after vomiting in the bathroom.

Unexpectedly, as soon as she went out of the bathroom, her stomach was tumbling again, so she had to rush back.

When she finally felt better, she washed her face and rinsed her mouth. Looking at her haggard face in the mirror, she complained, "I didn't expect that me, a strong woman, was tortured by morning sickness.

She had always maintained an image of exquisite makeup before, when she looked at her face at this time, she couldn't help sighing. She even wondered why she wanted to keep this child at first.

What was she thinking?

Just as she was complaining, the doorbell suddenly rang. She took a deep breath to cheer herself up, and then went out and opened the door.

Sherlyn didn't expect that the person outside the door was actually Viggo. At first, she didn't want to let him in, but later she thought that since he was here, they should have a talk.

Unexpectedly, when she opened the door, she found Viggo was carrying a small suitcase. So, she asked, "Are you going on a business trip?"

No wonder she would ask such a question, he is also a person who travels frequently, and after she escaped from marriage today, she instinctively felt that she had no future with him, so she thought he must come here for business.

Viggo was amused by her words. He glanced at her coldly and carried his suitcase into her home without saying a word.

After standing in the living room, he directly announced, "Since you refuse to get a certificate, let's slowly develop our relationship first, and the first step is to live together."

"I thought about it. You must have tons of excuses for refusing to move, so I'll just move to your place."

“From now on, I’ll live here.”

Sherlyn was speechless.

She wanted to Say, is there any difference between this and getting married? They would just live together anyway, right?

While Viggo had turned around and carried his suitcase into her guest bedroom, and started to take his things out.

Sherlyn, who had regained her senses, stomped her feet in anger, thinking that as a famous agent, she was always resourceful and thoughtful.

But she had no way to stop him because he seemed to be compromising with her by doing so. If she doesn’t let him move in, it will look like she is very unreasonable.

Before she could come up with any good countermeasures, she covered her mouth and rushed to the bathroom.

She didn’t know what happened to her today. The sudden morning sickness was so frequent. She suspected that it was because she drove back and forth from the suburbs.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 689 Being Protective

Chapter 689 Being Protective

While Sherlyn rushed to the bathroom, Viggo followed her with a slight frown.

“What’s wrong?” There was a bit of concern in his expression.

“A bit nauseous,” Sherlyn said feebly, Viggo glanced at her, said nothing, and went to pour a glass of warm water.

After coming out of the bathroom, Sherlyn threw herself into the sofa, holding the warm water he gave her to drink.

Viggo said quietly from the side, "Didn't you say you can eat, drink and sleep? Why can't you even pour a glass of water now?"

When he went to pour the water just now, he found that the water glass was placed beside the kettle. Obviously, she couldn't pour it by herself just now, while she insisted that she didn't need anyone to take care of her and rejected him staying for the night.

Sherlyn opened her mouth, but when she met his cold gaze, she swallowed all the words.

Forget it, he has already entered the room, so it's useless for her to argue with him.

Seeing that she didn't speak anymore, Viggo finally felt that the depression in his chest was dissipating.

When he looked up at the person on the sofa again, Viggo's expression froze.

It was not until now that he realized that Sherlyn was wearing no makeup today, and the fair and beautiful face of the woman made him a little dazed as if he had returned to the time when he first met her many years ago.

It was only after he looked back that night that he realized that he had known Sherlyn for so many years.

At first, she was a rookie, just an inconspicuous assistant in an actress team. He worked with that actress in a drama. She followed the actress, and they got along in the same crew for a few months.

At that time, she had just entered the society. Her face was delicate and tender. She was rather timid and she would blush every time she spoke to him.

Later, after the filming of the drama, they didn't see each other anymore. He basically wouldn't work again with the same actresses he had worked with, but he and Sherlyn always met from time to time on other occasions, especially at the major awards ceremonies at the end of the year or a party.

He didn't know when, the young girl who didn't wear makeup in his memory began to wear very delicate makeup and walk in high heels, and when she saw him, she was no longer nervous and shy but smiled lightly and calmly.

Later, she became Nina's manager and joined his newly established Tymers Entertainment along with Nina.

Seeing Viggo suddenly didn't speak and kept staring at her, she grabbed the thin blanket next to her and covered her face. She wasn't wearing any makeup.

Facing a handsome man like Viggo, she had no confidence in her appearance. Although she has great skin and she is quite beautiful, Viggo is so handsome and he is an actor. Every female artist he had worked with was a beauty. Sherlyn couldn't help but feel inferior.

Besides, for so many years, she has been facing him with delicate makeup. This sudden eye contact made her feel that her entire armor had been removed, and she felt too insecure.

Makeup is really a very good weapon for a woman to face the world in many cases.

Viggo noticed her discomfort, so he withdrew his gaze and said, "Is it serious? Do you need to see a doctor?"

Only then did she put down the blanket, shook her head, and said, "It's okay. It might be because I drove too long today."

Sherlyn felt that there was no need to see a doctor and that she should rest for a while.

After she finished speaking, Viggo looked at her and snorted, as if to remind her of her running away from the marriage and escaping to the suburbs.

Sherlyn gritted her teeth and simply got up and went back to her bedroom. Then she closed the door, completely isolating him.

After dinner, Nina and Cameron went to the hospital to visit Colleen. Maybe because she had enough rest, she looked much better.

As soon as she saw Nina, Colleen looked apologetically and said, "I saw the comments on the Internet. They are all talking about my previous attitude towards you. I'm really sorry."

Although she was in hospital, it did not prevent her from knowing the talk on the Internet.

Nina smiled and said, "I know, it's okay. Just ignore them"

Nina has been in the entertainment industry for so many years, and she was very strong, but Colleen couldn't stand it.

She looked at Nina and suggested, "No, I still feel bad about it. I want to find a media or some way to clarify. You are the best daughter-in-law in my eyes."

Nina was a little surprised. She didn't expect this. Colleen was just a common person after all, and it takes lots of courage and responsibility to make a public statement.

She said hurriedly, "No, no, there is nothing to clarify. What matters is that we know we're good"

"No, I have to say something." Colleen insisted, "Since we have become a family, then I can't watch others slander us and watch them say that you are not good."

Cameron gently held Nina's hand, signaling her to stop rejecting her decision.

Cameron said, "Leave it to me. When you are better, I will record a video for you, and then publish it through the account of Camcien Lifetech. If someone spreads rumors that your relationship is not good in the future, they will face legal suits."

Unexpectedly, Colleen insisted, "I want to do it now."

Cameron frowned slightly, "Your condition..."

Colleen interrupted him, "Just record a video and say a few words. It's no big deal."

Cameron looked at Randall, who was beside him, and he said helplessly, "Then it's up to your mother, she is an impatient person."

Colleen was in a good mood at first, but since she learned about the gossip on the Internet, she was a little anxious.

It's better to let her clarify now, so she can calm down.

Since Randall said so, Cameron had no choice but to say, "Then I'll record it for you"

Nina couldn't say anything else, but she stepped forward to help Colleen with her messy hair, and then said to her, "Thank you."

To be honest, Nina didn't expect her to be so sincere that she insisted on clarifying, even ignoring the fact that she was injured.

Colleen smiled and said, "I am very protective of my family. I can't bear others speaking ill of my families."

Nina laughed. Cameron was like her in this aspect. They both couldn't tolerate others saying she was not good at all.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 690 So Sweet

Chapter 690 So Sweet

Colleen leaned on the hospital bed and said something to the camera with a serious look.

"Hello everyone, I'm Cameron's mother and the so-called Nina's evil mother-in-law.

"I admit that I have really tried to break them up before, because they were still young at that time, and they should focus on their studies. Now they are successful in their careers, both mature and powerful, what I can do is to wish them happy.

"Nina is the most perfect daughter-in-law in my heart. I like her very much. Our whole family likes her very much. I hope everyone will stop spreading rumors about the non-existent conflicts between us."

At the end of the video, Nina also appeared and sat beside Colleen and they made a hand heart gesture together in front of the camera.

This video was released and it caused many discussions among everyone.

No wonder Nina said that Cameron was in a bad mood, it turned out that his mother was injured.

The news which said that Nina was not liked by her mother-in-law was proven fake.

“Cameron’s mother’s words sounded very sincere as if she really liked Nina”

“People, let’s not talk about what his parents said. They can stand up and support Nina at this time, which is enough to prove that they value and care for Nina very much. Or why did they issue this clarification?”

“What she said was so right, my goddess really did not marry into a bad family.”

“Cameron’s mother was really beautiful, no wonder she can give birth to a child as handsome as Cameron.”

“Lam looking forward to the children of them. With such high-looking parents, their babies must be very good-looking.”

Nina and Cameron didn’t have time to watch the lively comments on the Internet. After they returned from the hospital, Nina was trapped in bed by him, because she was going back to the crew the next day for filming, and they would not see each other for a while in the future.

Thinking of this, Cameron could not wait to hug the person in his arms tightly.

But what makes him happy was that now that their relationship was public, he could go to see her at any time without avoiding reporters and the media.

Nina held his shoulder and whispered in his ear, “I love you.”

Her sudden confession made the man more and more excited and they had a great night.

When Nina and Sylvie met at the airport the next day, Sylvie came with two black eyes.

Nina couldn’t help laughing at her, “What’s wrong with you? After two days of rest, you seem to be more tired than usual.”

Sylvie nodded, "Sherlyn and you have made such a big fuss in the past two days, which made me so shocked and concerned."

Nina suddenly made her relationship with Cameron public, while Sherlyn was pregnant with Viggo's child. Sylvie had just learned that they were going to get married but then Sherlyn ran away from the marriage. She even couldn't catch her breath."

This morning, when she was about to leave, she was concerned about Sherlyn and called her. It turned out that Sherlyn was fine on the phone. When she came to the airport and saw Nina, Nina was also full of energy.

She was the only one who couldn't eat and sleep well these days.

Nina was amused by Sylvie's appearance, and couldn't help teasing her, "When did your psychological quality become so bad?"

Sylvie retorted, "What? It was because you two were too capable of causing trouble." "Especially Sherlyn!" Sylvie said angrily, "It's outrageous. I couldn't think of her hooking up with Viggo."

Nina reminded her with a smile, "Watch it girl. 'Hook up' is a derogatory expression. You're sure you want to describe our people this way?"

Sylvie spread her hands, "I've known her for so many years. I thought she will be single forever and I planned to learn to be a successful single like her in the future. Who would have thought that she would have a one-night stand and become pregnant before marriage?”

“And running away with the baby!” Sylvie used all the words she learned from reading romance novels on Sherlyn and unexpectedly, it turned out to be very suitable.

Yesterday, Sherlyn was about to get a certificate when she ran away, but she didn't run with the ball for several years.

Nina felt that her assistant was very adorable. Every time she listened to what she said, she would talk vividly and Nina would be amused. Girls like her were really attractive.

“Don't learn to be a successful single from her.” The two of them walked towards the waiting room while Nina said to Sylvie,

“You should learn those other tricks from her.”

Sylvie was so shocked that her eyeballs almost popped out, “Nina, you are teaching me all the bad things!”

She couldn't learn those tricks.

If she got pregnant before marriage, her parents might break her legs. Nina stopped and glanced at her assistant helplessly, then shook her head and sighed, and left.

If Sylvie could really have a one-night stand with Lucien, then she would hook on him tightly, but she had never been a girl with those bad thoughts, and it was because of this that she was attractive to Lucien. Sylvie followed Nina and Nina suddenly asked her, “Have you been dating Lucien these two days?”

“Huh?” Sylvie was almost scared to death by her words.

When she came to her senses, she lowered her voice and reminded Nina, “You said that I used the wrong word, and you are also wrong. Lucien and I just had a meal together, how can it be called a date?”

After Sylvie finished speaking, she quickly explained, “Last time in Jamelaton, he lent a blanket to me when I was spilled with juice. I invited him to have a meal to express my gratitude and returned the blanket to him by the way.”

Sylvie believed that the relationship between them was very clean, and it was not a date.

Nina nodded and then threw her a series of questions, “Then you didn’t go to the movies after dinner? He didn’t take you home?”

Sylvie stammered, “Yes, we went to see a movie. He said that there is nothing to do after dinner, why don’t we go to a movie to pass the time. And that movie is the one I want to watch as well, so we went together. While driving me home, isn’t that what a gentleman should do?”

It’s almost midnight after watching the movie. He couldn’t let a girl take a taxi back by herself, right?

Nina held back her laughter, that movie was surely the one Sylvie wanted to see, which was what she told Lucien.

The two of them have been filming with the crew recently and there was no time to watch a new movie when it was released. Sylvie has talked about it many times, but there have been a lot of night scenes lately. Every time when they went back to the hotel, they were so tired that they fell asleep instantly. How could they still have the energy to watch movies?

Nina thought that they would definitely go to the movies, so she sent a message telling Lucien which movie Sylvie wanted to watch, hoping to promote their relationship.