Chapter 551 – TWO SWEET

Seeing her trying to sit up, Mr. Suarez who was sitting on the chair next to the bed held her hands and helped her to sit up, while the nurse put some pillows behind her back so she could rest her back on them.

It was never Alix's intention to faint. She only wanted to announce that she was pregnant during the meeting but she didn't expect to get into a fight and faint in the process.

But this was her luck, as she can take advantage of it.

Alix did not allow him to touch. She was still very angry with how she was maltreated earlier. She created a big scene and said she was going to sue Mr. Suarez's daughter for assault.

Her face was swollen and her body ached terribly. She was in pain and she wanted to make sure she got revenge.

What was a discomfort for her, turned out to be a blessing in disguise and she made sure to make use of it.

Alix's anger was not just because she was physically assaulted but also because she would have lost the child she made an effort to have.

If she lost the child, all her plans would fail. At most, she would be given an extra property or more money to compensate for the loss she experienced. As for the shares, she wouldn't even get 0.01% of them.

Mr. Suarez who heard what the doctor said about the fetus being unstable, tried to placate her by saying he would give her an answer.

It took time for Alix to calm down. After learning of her child's situation, she couldn't move vigorously as she needed it to get some shares from Mr. Suarez.

At last, the person who hit her came to apologize to her unwillingly. Alix snorted and didn't answer her. Her situation has now made her a Boss. Whatever she wanted, she would receive.

'You don't look sincere in any way. After putting me in this condition, she dare to come to apologize to me empty-handed, who taught you such ethics?' Alix had said.

Talking to someone who can give birth to her based on their age gap in that manner, Alix sure had a lot of guts. Well, it was her luck for having an upper hand.

Although she was very angry for being insulted, she still had to obey her father's instructions. The next day, she came back with white lilies and jewelry she casually picked from the store.

Alix was angry that she brought white lilies for her. She made a scene and wanted to give the woman a hard time but she gave her a clear warning.

'Don't push your luck.'

Now that Alix was pregnant, it was obvious that Mr. Suarez has to make some adjustments to his Will. There was no way he wouldn't give some shares to Alix's child because that child belonged to him.

Two days later, he phoned his lawyer Carlos and asked him to come to the house, so they could talk about his will again.

At the end of the meeting, a 1% share was to be given to Alix. Carlos didn't know the reason for his change of mind but when he asked and got a reply, he was surprised.

Alix was pregnant, how come?

When Carlos left the place, he phoned Alix to ask about her pregnancy. Alix's voice sounded very clear with excitement.

'Are you really pregnant?' Carlos asked.

Alix could sense the doubt in his tone. She scoffed and replied, 'Do you think I will fake my pregnancy?'

'Who knows, you are capable of anything.' Carlos said.

'My getting pregnant was intentional. I wanted the shares, so I worked for it.' Alix said in excitement. She was alone in the room and that's the reason she could talk so freely.

'You are lucky to have gotten 1% of the shares.' Carlos revealed to her.

'Really but that's too small.' Alix said with a slight smile.

Carlos sniggered, 'You are greedy. Mr. Suarez is already going against the promise he made to his children to give you some shares.'

'And how is that my business if he has to fail in his promises? I don't give a damn.' Alix said.

What was her business if Mr. Suarez couldn't keep his promise to his children?

'It's not your business indeed but be sure to keep that child safe if you still want those shares. If anything happens to that child before it's born, just forget about the shares.'

'What!' Alix exclaimed in surprise. She had no idea that she would have to give birth to the child before she can lay her hands on those shares.

She was so angry that a condition was attached to the shares that were to be given to her.

'You are lucky he didn't ask you to manage the shares for a limited time before giving it to the child. And what if he didn't give you any right to the shares and only to the child?' Carlos asked.

Alix was not even thinking of the fact that her plans would have failed if not for a bit of tiny luck. She had planned to get rid of the child after giving birth to it but now, it looks like she had to make sure the child was born by all means.

It's possible that the people in the house might try to harm her child to make sure nothing gets to her, so she is now forced to keep the child.

Soon, Fu Ling, launched his new game, which was a huge success because the promotion had already begun about a month before the game was launched.

After the launch of Fu Ling's new game, birthday plans for Jasmine began. Jia Li had already decided on her birthday theme, which was tagged, 'TWO SWEET'

There was going to be lots of sweet snacks and food for the party. Ice cream, donuts, candies, cotton candies, chocolates, cookies, cakes, cupcakes,.... Who can resist a 'Two Sweet' themed birthday party?

Chapter 552 - Paco

A few days before the little bun's birthday party, she has already started receiving gifts from her family and family friends.

When her great grandfather asked her what she wanted for a birthday gift, she said she wanted a puppy.

To the little girl, Ocean, Avery and Archie were adults and she couldn't carry them about, so she wanted a little one she could carry around.

Two days before her birthday, the caucasian puppy Grandfather Fu bought for her, was presented to her. Jasmine was excited as she carried the puppy in her arms.

The chocolate-brown puppy was so hairy and cute and it was obedient like the way Jasmine was most of the time.

Jia Li helped the little bun to pick a name for her new puppy, 'Paco'.

Jia Li carefully chose that name, so the little girl can easily pronounce it.

The puppy was 2 days old and it looked so cute. Jasmine was really strong for being able to lift the puppy by herself. Because the puppy was very young, Jia Li didn't let her grab the puppy all the time, to avoid her injuring it.

Later that day, Jasmine took her new puppy to show it off in front of Ocean, Avery and Archie. Her puppy was a male, to avoid it given birth to children at the right age because Jasmine might not want them to sell or give it out.

It wouldn't be right for their house to be filled with so many dogs because Jasmine wouldn't want them to sell or give them out.

Grandfather Fu was a pro for being able to predict the little girl's future actions since she was a dog lover like her mother.

Jasmine and Jia Li were different only in one aspect, one was a child and the other was an adult, so there was a huge difference in their understanding.

Jia Li can let go of new puppies but Jasmine will not because she loves them and wouldn't want to look for them.

Another reason for getting that breed for her was that it doesn't grow much, so she can easily take it that it was still a puppy and then, she might luckily not ask for another one.

Jasmine's little house was ready and Jia Li had just finished cleaning it herself and was putting the kitchen utensils in their cupboard.

Jasmine's dining table had four dining chairs. She had a couch. All the pieces of furniture were made fitting for a toddler. It was really nice and beautiful for the pink and yellow colors to be used for the interior, along with a white background.

Finally, after arranging things in the house, Jia Li walked out of that place. There were some flowers planted in the pots and used to decorate the exterior.

Jasmine would get to see her house on the morning of her birthday.

After taking a break, Jia Li went to supervise the servants in the house for the gifts prepared for the children at the orphanage. But when she got there, she saw that they were already working on it.

Knowing that Jia Li would be too tired to handle these things after cleaning and arranging Jasmine's tiny house, Fu Hee decided to take over.

Not only were gifts prepared for the children but the chefs in the Fu family were also getting some ingredients ready to cook for the children the next day.

The cake Jasmine would cut with the children will also come tomorrow.

Among the gifts and food, there were also money and foodstuffs for the Orphanage.

Remember when Jia Li said she wanted to be donating a percentage of her money to charity, she decided to start that this way.

Jia Li's good thoughts were well recognized by the family, and so, every one of them contributed to it. Now, not only will the children benefit from all of these, their caretakers and their teachers, will also benefit from it.

Jia Li thanked Fu Hee for helping her out. Fu Hee smiled and said that there was no need for thanks.

Fu ChunHua was in the kitchen to make sure things were going on perfectly. Actually, there was no need for the family to directly supervise their servants when there were already appointed leaders amongst them but they wanted to put a lot of care and attention into this, after careful consideration.

Since Paco arrived, Jasmine has not rested and the little girl now knew how to drag people to play with her. Fu Hua managed to escape her claws today and went into the study to handle an important call.

YingPei and Ling were the unfortunate ones who got dragged into the grass lawn by the little girl. They had to listen to the little girl and do as she instructed.

Even if she tells them to lie on the grass, they would have no choice but to do it or she would tell them off or threaten to report them to 'Gregranpa'. Her pronunciation was getting better now.

Which one of them would dare to disobey the little girl after she mentioned the old man? None of them had the guts before they would be reprimanded and he would start questioning them about their said partners.

It would be good if the old man doesn't remember them for the time being, otherwise, they would get in trouble.

Ocean and her kids' reactions to Jasmine's new puppy were incredible. They studied the puppy for a short while before deciding to get close to it. There was no jealousy, instead, they took care of it.

Right now, Paco was lying beside Ocean on the grass lawn and it felt a sense of comfort.

The next day, the family of three visited the Orphanage they chose to spoil this season. There was a big truck hired to deliver everything they had prepared for them.

There was happiness in the faces of the children and their caretakers. It's been a long time since they have received that kind of care from anyone or Organization, so they were moved emotionally.

Jia Li did not choose a well-known orphanage where other people visited and gifted, she made a research to know the Orphanages that needed help, before picking one from the list.

Chapter 553 - YingPei Seeks Jia Li's Help

Jasmine who was not used to being around a lot of unfamiliar people was stuck like a glue by her parents' side.

Jia Li had fun with the children on behalf of the little girl who didn't make any attempt to go near the children. While her mother was playing with the children, she stuck in her father's arms and watched them curiously.

After a fun day at the Orphanage, the family of three clicked a few pictures with them before leaving. Jasmine was deep into sleep when they arrived at the Fu Mansion.

Fu Hua got a call regarding the upcoming Fashion show, so Jia Li had to carry the little girl inside the house.

After cleaning the little girl's, face, hands and feet, Jia Li left her in the bedroom and came out. Just as she closed the door, she saw YingPei who smiled at her and called out to her.

'Sister-in-law!'

Jia Li smiled back at him and met him halfway in the hallway.

'What can I do for you?' Jia Li asked. She guessed that YingPei must need her help in something as his bedroom was not around that side he came to.

YingPei smiled sheepishly and said to her, 'Sister-in-law, can I buy you a drink?'

Jia Li seemed surprised by his request. 'He must have something important to talk about.' She thought.

'I'm a little tired after playing with the children and I still have to check the packages that are coming today for Jasmine's birthday.' Jia Li said to him.

YingPei thought that it must be tiring and so decided not to take her out. But because what he needed was urgent, he pleaded with her to have some tea with her at home, while they talk.

Jia Li agreed to that and so, YingPei took her to the garden and personally made a pot of Chamomile tea for her.

'Thank you.' Jia Li said as she received the cup of tea from him. After blowing on it and taking a sip, she asked with interest, 'Are you usually like this when you want something from someone.'

Jia Li asked that question because she could already imagine YingPei asking Fu Hua or any member of the family for favors in that manner.

YingPei chuckled and replied, 'Sister-in-law, if you put it that way, you will make me look like an opportunist. I felt it was right for us to talk over a drink or tea because of the importance of the matter.'

'How can I help you?' Jia Li asked.

'Your friend Daiyu and I are dating and I... Sister-in-law, are you okay?' YingPei wasn't able to finish his words in one sentence and had to stop because Jia Li just choked on her tea.

He had to go to her side and pass her a napkin to cover her mouth while she coughed. He would have liked to help her calm down a lot, but the thought of his brother seeing or learning that he touched his wife, dissipated those thoughts.

‘Sister-in-law, I’m sorry for shocking you. I thought you should have known about it by now?’ YingPei said.

Seeing how shocked Jia Li was, he figured out that she was still unaware of his relationship with Daiyu.

‘Did she forget to inform her or what?’ YingPei thought.

‘Known about what?’ Fu Hua who heard YingPei’s voice when he came to find his voice, asked as he made an entrance with his hands in his pockets.

YingPei ran back to his seat and sat there with his gaze on his brother. Thankfully, Jia Li had stopped coughing and was now wiping her hands and clothe with the napkin.

‘Brother you know about it. It’s about me dating Daiyu.’ YingPei replied.

‘Oh!’ Fu Hua said and went to sit next to his wife who put down the napkin on the table and glanced at him in surprise.

‘Oh? You knew about it too?’ She asked.

‘Kind of. I was the one that gave him that idea of choosing one of your friends to date but as for the other updates ahead, I have no idea about it.’ Fu Hua said.

As if Jia Li was not surprised enough, Fu Hua had to shock her again by saying that he was the one that gave his brother that idea.

Seeing that his wife looked like she had no idea about it. Fu Hua thought that none of her friends must have told her about it, so he decided to tell him all he knew before YingPei continued the story.

Jia Li was also surprised that her friend Daiyu and her brother-in-law YingPei kicked off well in their new relationship.

After getting the gist of the story, YingPei went on to talk about the reason he wanted to sit and talk with her.

He wanted to know more about Daiyu, her likes and dislikes. Jia Li could feel how long the conversation would take them, so she decided to tell him everything she knew about Daiyu.

Their conversation lasted for more than 2 hours.

When Jia Li got back to her bedroom, Jasmine was not there. The little girl was already awake and must have gone out for her puppy.

Picking up her phone, Jia Li dialed Daiyu's contact. After a few rings, she picked up.

'Hey, Jia Li, how are you doing?' Daiyu asked immediately while panting for air.

'What did you do that's making you pant for air? Did you chase someone down the alleyway?' Jia Li teased.

Daiyu snorted and said, 'I can't believe that my favorite has joined the other spoilt brats to tease me. I went for an evening run. I have to keep up with my daily exercise routine.'

'Make sure to arrive at the city on time tomorrow.' Jia Li reminded her.

The next day was Jasmine's birthday and Jia Li wished her friends, who were also the godmothers of her daughter, would be there on time.

'Sure, why not? I will remind DanDan and Chang Chang to meet me at the airport for our 7 am flight.' Daiyu said with a smile.

They wouldn't want to miss the final preparation for the little bun's birthday.

'Did you forget to tell me about the man you are dating now?' Jia Li asked out of the blue.

Chapter 554 - Loved

Daiyu totally forgot to tell Jia Li about meeting YingPei. DanDan and Chang Chang forgot as well as they all went back to their jobs when they traveled back to their various homes.

They had intended to tell her but then, she was on her honeymoon and they didn't want to distract her. Before her honeymoon phase could end, they had forgotten about it.

'Hello... Jia Li, I don't know if you can hear me but if you can, please just hold on a bit, I will call you back later.' Daiyu said and ended the call without waiting for a response.

She immediately expressed her chest while breathing in relief. She just pretended to have network issues to avoid being scolded by her.

Jia Li knew she was pretending but what could she do? Even if she calls her back at this moment, she wouldn't answer.

Although Jia Li did not understand the situation clearly, she only thought that they must have forgotten to inform her just like Fu Hua and YingPei.

Jia Li sent a short text to Daiyu which said, 'Take your time.'

She definitely had no bad intentions and just sent the text over to calm her nerves but she saw it differently. Daiyu saw it as a threat and thought that she must be in danger, so she called the others to give them updates.

After much talk, Daiyu called Jia Li back after she must have settled in, in her apartment to explain things to her.

Jia Li was surprised by the seriousness of her tone but she laughed over it before saying she wasn't angry.

Daiyu finally heaved a sigh of relief after hearing Jia Li's relaxed tone. The two friends talked for a short while before hanging up.

Jia Li had a very busy day today. She had so many things to inspect and do. Fu Hua couldn't have his wife working so hard to the point of exhaustion, so he had to drag her into the bedroom to rest.

Late in the evening, Jia Li tried playing Fu Ling's new game with Jasmine because they were going to try it out tomorrow in front of a lot of guests.

The mother and daughter had fun playing the game which they played several times till it was time for dinner.

The Fu family had fun at the dinner table, as what was being taken about was relayed to the little bun.

The little girl who had her special toddler sit between her mother and great grandfather smiled happily as she enjoyed her dinner.

Jasmine has come to understand a little of what birthdays meant and she was excited to celebrate her birthday the next day.

When Jia Li was little, her parents would never fail to celebrate her birthday each year and that's where she got the spirit to celebrate Jasmine's birthday from and also with a lot of effort in preparation.

The next morning, Jia Li was the last person to wake up. She slept in and her alarm was turned off by Fu Hua who wanted her to get extra sleep.

Do you know, what woke Jia Li up from sleep? It was the voices of the father and daughter singing to her.

'Happy Birthday to mommy, Happy Birthday, to mommy, Happy Birth...day to dear mo...my, Happy Birthday to you!'

The combination of the deep adult male voice and the excited voice of the little girl was a great one.

Jia Li felt a little excited as she watched the father and daughter push in a trolley of cake and a bouquet while singing for her.

She didn't believe Fu Hua would come up with another idea this year and for that she felt very happy.

After receiving the flowers her little one managed to pass to her, Jia Li leaned in to kiss her cheeks and wished her a happy birthday as well.

'Happy Birthday my baby.'

'Thank you, Mommy!' Jasmine replied with a big smile on her tender chubby cheeks.

Jia Li did not want to cut the cake alone, so she asked Fu Hua and the little girl to join her. Right when they were about to cut the cake, someone opened their room door violently.

‘Surprise!!!’ The Fu family members shouted as YingPei popped the champagne

Jia Li was shocked by the big surprise she had just gotten. She was still in her nighties, which also means that she wasn’t wearing a bra, so she immediately covered her upper body with the duvet.

Fu Hua and Jasmine were a little surprised because they were not expecting to receive this surprise intrusion from the entire family.

Grandfather Fu was present and other elders (his parents with his uncle and his wife) as well, so Fu Hua couldn’t tell them off.

The entire family walked in while singing a birthday song for Jia Li. Not just that their hands were not empty either, as they had wrapped up birthday gifts for her.

Jia Li felt loved once again. No matter how she was only after celebrating Jasmine’s birthday, the Fu family would make an effort to celebrate her as well.

After singing for her, they cut the cake which had Jia Li’s name on it, then everyone had a bite before leaving the bedroom.

It was almost time for breakfast, so Jia Li had to hurry up to each her body and get dressed. She did that while Fu Hua helped her to put away her gifts and tidy up the bedroom.

After breakfast, Jia Li's friends arrived and they spent a short time together. The Fu Mansion was filled with different aromas, as a result of the different delicacies being cooked by the chefs in their kitchen.

Jasmine had a short break and she played with Paco until the hairstylists and photographers came to take professional photos of her.

Jasmine never let Paco out of her sight. She would even go on to carry him while her hair was being worked on.

Luckily, the little girl didn't complain of pains, maybe it's because she had Paco.

Chapter 555 - 2nd Birthday

The Fu family took pictures with the little bun in groups and one on one. Fu Juan who just arrived alone joined them for the pictures.

Jasmine took pictures with her godmothers and with her dogs. That's right, Ocean, Avery, Archie and Paco made it into the little girl's birthday photoshoot because she granted them the honor.

Soon, everything was set for the birthday party and Jasmine took two more photos next to her birthday theme and cake stand.

She really blended with her 'TWO SWEET' Birthday setup. The little girl looked so sweet in her dress, hair and the little bag that was customized for her by FJ. That was a special gift from them.

Presently, guests were arriving into the Fu residence to attend the little girl's birthday party. There were a total of 50 invitations sent out for the party but more than 60 people turned up for it because each guest could come with their family.

Today, Jasmine was free to eat all the sweet things she wanted. From her birthday cake down to cotton candies. She tasted everything but Jia Li made sure she only had a little bit of them.

There were children present on Jasmine's birthday and again this year, Jasmine gave out gifts with her mother.

There were different arrangements made for kids to have fun at the party. There were ice-cream stops, cotton candy stops and all the rest of them.

Fun activities for the children were so many. There were swings, slides and different kinds of games made for them to have loads of fun.

Jasmine took pictures with some of the guests, who were very keen to take photos with her. Being in her mother's arms as a mode of comfort, Jasmine posed for the camera.

If any unfamiliar person tried to touch her, she would dodge their hands and hold onto her mother and father.

If her parents were busy speaking with guests, she didn't have a problem with any other member of the family holding her.

FangSu and Meixu showed her off in front of their few friends from the entertainment industry who made it to the party.

Meixu turned on her Instagram live feed to record them having fun with the little girl and instantly, so many fans reacted to it.

The live video only lasted for 5 minutes which was more than enough for the fans to feed their eyes.

For this party, Zhang Junjie was absent because he was away on a business trip. Meixu had no boyfriend to invite. Fu Ling didn't invite his personal assistant since grandfather did not mention them bringing their partners.

YingPei did not need to invite a girlfriend over because Daiyu was present. As one of Jia Li's closest friends and Jasmine's godmothers, she was present.

YingPei and Daiyu talked briefly while the party was ongoing before they went their ways as things got busy.

When the party was being wrapped up, the celebrant was asked to come and dance but trust Jasmine, she refused to move an inch.

She was in her father's arms and refused to come down from there. When he had tried talking to her and trying to make her come down, she clutched his clothes tightly and threw her face away.

Thankfully, grandfather Fu came to the rescue. He got up from his seat and walked towards Fu Hua with a smile. When he came to their side, he stretched forth his hand to the little girl like a gentleman asked her to dance with him.

Jasmine glanced at him and then at his hand before finally releasing her grip on her father. Fu Hua smiled and let the little girl down before grandfather Fu took her hand and led her to the dance floor.

A popular toddler song played and Grandfather Fu started with the normal children's moves. Jasmine watched him for a short while before she began to move her body and arms in a low motion.

'Let's join them.' Fu Hua whispered to Jia Li before pulling her to the dance floor to join Jasmine and Grandfather Fu. And in no time, the entire Fu family joined them.

After the dance, it was time to play Fu Ling's master game. The huge mobile display that was placed close to the stage was turned on and the game application opened.

When the game finished loading, there were a few set-ups to be made before it can be played.

All the attention of the guests was now on the huge phone whose screen was displaying the latest game in the market.

Because of the promotion done on it, most of them present had seen and heard about it. Those who haven't played the game before watched with high interest.

In the game settings, there were options like the below listed to choose from.

'Language.'

'Male or Female.'

'What name would you like to go by?'

'Select your age range.'

'Select your job profile.'

In the last setting, there were jobs like Model, Actor, teacher, white-collar worker, Chef, etc listed. And depending on your real-life profession or interest, you can choose one option.

But the job profile still depended on the age range you choose.

Since Jia Li was helping the little bun play, she helped her to pick her age, her gender and her nickname, 'Jasmine'. Not only that, Jasmine chose her avatar.

She pointed at the skin color, hair color, eye color and hairstyle she wanted while Jia Li helped her to click the button just before the game loaded completely.

'Jasmine on your first day in Kindergarten, which outfit would you like to wear?' The automated female voice asked aloud.

The function could also be turned off or silenced, depending on your choice.

There were three different outfits displayed for her and she was to pick only one. The little girl studied the outfits before pointing at the one she wanted and Jia Li helped her to press the button.

Jasmine went on to make choices for what she would like to have for breakfast and lunch after picking her shoes and backpack.

At last, when Jasmine finished playing the first stage which was 'Her first Day in Kindergarten' she went to rest and others who were interested in playing the games, all lined up.

There was a live video going on when Jasmine was playing the game, so immediately, lots of people began to download the game and try it.

Chapter 556 - Jasmine Goes To School

August came quickly. The reviews from Fu Ling's latest game were mostly positive and his company made a lot of profits just like FJ.

This month, the FJ Autumn Fashion show came and went. This year's show lasted for 3 days. At last, FangSu joined as a model in the show and she didn't stop making noise about it even after the event ended.

She was so excited to get a place and not just that, every year, she could model on the event and also help with the promotion of the newly released designs.

At the end of that month, The Huang family followed the Fu family to go back to Jia Li's hometown and pay respect to her late parents.

After the Grand visit, the Huang family was hosted by the Fu Family in the Villa they had close to Jia Li's hometown and there, they learned that Grandfather Fu's maternal home was situated in the same location.

In September, more important events took place.

Jasmine was sent to Kindergarten, Jia Li and Fu Hua celebrated their third wedding anniversary and the Fu family was greatly preparing for the 80th Grand birthday party for Grandfather Fu, which will be held in the next month.

In the last week of August, mostly the preparation for Jasmine's school was done. Jia Li kept telling the little girl about attending Kindergarten soon.

She kept singing it like a song to her.

‘Jasmine, you will be going to school soon. There, you will learn so many things and make new friends.’

‘Jasmine, I bought a backpack and a lunch box for your schooling today.’

‘Jasmine, I’m going to the big mall to shop for more of your school things, do you want to come with me?’

Jia Li kept talking about the school with the little girl, so when the time comes to send her to school, she wouldn’t fret about it.

One afternoon when Jia Li took the little girl to her tiny house to practice some chores, the little asked, ‘Mummy, can I take my house to school?’

Instead of replying her, Jia Li asked back, ‘What do you think? Do you think you can lift your house and carry it to school?’

Jasmine was silent for a few seconds before replying, ‘No, the house is big, I can’t lift it.’

‘Good girl. You can’t uproot your house and take it to school.’ Jia Li said while rubbing her hair with a smile.

‘Mummy, can I take Paco with me?’ Jasmine asked enthusiastically. She really wanted to know if she can be permitted to take her pet to school.

She still can’t get over the dog’s cuteness and furs. While coming to her house, she didn’t forget to bring him along.

‘No, you can’t take him to school but you can take Sofia to school.’ Jia Li replied.

Sofia was the name of Jasmine’s Doll.

‘Okay, thank you, mummy!’ Jasmine said obediently without making any trouble.

‘Come, let’s cook a simple dish and pick some flowers for everyone.’ Jia Li said to the little girl.

After helping the little girl to cook a small bowl of stir-fried rice, they ate and did the dishes cleanup before going out of the house to pick so flowers for everyone.

After receiving flowers from the little girl, the Fu family thanked her and planted kisses on her face.

The weekend before the Day Jasmine would finally go to school, Jia Li and Fu Hua spent a lot of time with her. They shopped with her and took her to fun places. At night, they would read her bedtime stories.

Finally, Monday came. The little girl was excited about going to school but her mother who always talked about going to school was not.

Jia Li had mixed feelings about sending her daughter off to school. She still couldn't trust leaving her daughter in the hands of anyone outside the Fu family.

'Darling, should we postpone Jasmine's schooling till she turns 3, I feel that she is too young to go out there and mix with other people.' Jia Li had said to Fu Hua who was dressing the little girl in new clothes for school.

Fu Hua knew she was feeling insecure but he found her funny to only bring the matter up, today of all the days.

'Sweetheart, I know you are feeling not quite sure about all these now that we have to watch out little Princess go to school, but you just have to see things differently now. See this as a big opportunity to help Da Xia overcome her fears of interacting with people.'

Jia Li sighed and said, 'I know but still, I wish she can stay with me. Look at her height. She is small, smart and beautiful, I just want to keep her by my side for a little while.'

‘You go to work from Mondays to Fridays and the only time you get to see her is around 4-5 pm on some occasions. If she stays at home, what difference would it make?’ Fu Hua asked.

Indeed, it wouldn’t make a difference since Jia Li would still go to work and not get to see her daughter till she returned home from work, but her staying at home, made her feel secure.

After breakfast, the Fu family who long decided to give the little a Grand entrance in her new school, all number into their cars, and got ready to take the little girl to school.

It was such a magnificent sight to see the entire Fu family line up in their cars just to send their little princess to school.

Jia Li was almost in tears when Jasmine finally left her arms and went to her new teacher. Fu Hua had to hug her from the side and part her back in comfort.

The school’s owner who was present to receive the little princess of the Fu family asked Jia Li and Fu Hua to come along, so they can see Jasmine’s classroom and her classmates.

This little considerate tour helped to set Jia Li’s heart at ease, even though she had toured the school before now.

Chapter 557 - A Mother’s Worry

One of the amazing things about Jasmine’s first day at Kindergarten was Jia Li preparing gifts for her teacher and snacks for her classmates.

The Fu family also gifted the little girl flowers and Jasmine had hugged Paco in the car, while her mother hugged her, before she reluctantly let go.

When Jasmine was taken to her classroom by her teacher, the little girl stared at her classmates curiously before she was asked to introduce herself.

‘Da Xia, wave to your classmates and tell them your name.’ Jasmine’s teacher said to her with a smile on her face.

The teacher was happy to have the little beautiful Fu family’s princess in her class.

Jasmine glanced at her new classmates before introducing herself to them. She waved at them and said, ‘Hello, I’m Da Xia, it’s nice to meet you.’

Her classmates who have been thinking about how to reply welcomed her and clapped for her. After that, Jasmine’s teacher took her doll, backpack and lunchbox from her, before showing her to her seat in the front row.

At the end of school that day, Jia Li and Fu Hua came to pick her up from school. Her classes ended by 1 pm and the parents came some minutes before that time.

In the car, Jia Li was very happy to see her little bun again. She hugged her and planted kisses all over her face.

When Jasmine had seen her parents, she called out to them joyfully before running to them, while her teacher followed behind her with her lunch box and doll.

Jia Li had hugged the little girl first before Fu Hua took her from her arms.

In the car, Jia Li engaged in a conversation with the little girl. She asked her so many questions about her experience on her first day at school.

Fu Hua was at the back seat of the car with them while the driver and the bodyguard were in the front seats.

Jasmine answered her mother's questions, and from her tone, she looked satisfied.

'Do you like your school?' Jia Li asked with a smile.

'Yes!' Jasmine replied excitedly.

Jia Li went on to ask if she liked her teacher and her classmates, and the little girl responded positively.

When the family of three got back home, Jasmine had her bath and changed into another pair of clothes before joining the rest of the family at the dinner table.

YingPei, Ling, FangSu and Meixu were absent. They were not back home yet.

After lunch, Grandfather Fu had asked the little girl posts of questions. After filling her little stomach with the special lunch her grandmother had prepared for her, Jasmine was in a good mood to answer al their questions.

Jasmine would have gone straight to find Paco if her mother had not stopped her. She told her she needed to rest first before going out to play.

Taking the little girl back to their bedroom, Jia Li sat with her on the bed and asked her what she learned in school that day, while Fu Hua checked her school bag and lunch box.

According to Jasmine, they had learned about the Alphabet and Good habits.

Good habits for a subject for little kids to learn about the simplest manners and the right way of living.

After answering a few questions for by curious mother, her father faced her. After going through her backpack and lunch box, he discovered that she finished her food, but her snacks were untouched.

‘Princess, you didn’t eat your snacks?’ Fu Hua asked as he took out the snacks Jia Li had put in her backpack.

‘I did.’ Jasmine replied as she took a bar of chocolate from him and played with it.

Jia Li used her eyes to count the snacks before nodding in approval. ‘She did eat only one snack. I packed more than enough snacks for her, so she wouldn’t get hungry.’

Seriously, Jia Li was too much for worrying about her daughter getting hungry that she packed food for her and a lot of snacks, which even in one day, she wouldn’t be able to finish her snacks.

Fu Hua didn’t want to laugh. He just gazed at his wife who still had their little girl in his arms. He didn’t know what to say to her.

She was being too worried or concerned about their daughter that she got up very early in the morning to make lunch for her and also try to talk him out proceeding to send their daughter to school.

Jia Li wanted Jasmine to get some rest, so she took her in her arms and pat her back gently until she fell asleep, and only then did she relax.

Later in the evening, when Jasmine was playing with Paco, Jia Li asked her if she would like to go back to school the next day, and the little girl nodded eagerly.

‘I’m glad you like school.’ Jia Li said after sighing in relief.

The next day, Jia Li and Fu Hua got off work to pick their little girl in school. Jia Li asked the little girl if she made any friends that day and the little girl responded positively.

When asked of their names, she was able to recall only two names, which was a good progress.

Jia Li and Fu Hua followed this routine for almost two weeks before they stopped. Other days, any member of the Fu family could go to her school to get her, after they gave the school their consent.

For FangSu and Meixu who liked to take the little girl out, Fu Hua had told them not to do that anymore without his permission, and they couldn’t post any pictures next to Jasmine’s Kindergarten, to avoid people with evil intentions from knowing the school she attended.

After Jasmine fully settled into Kindergarten, Jia Li and Fu Hua celebrated their wedding anniversary in a simple manner.

They had gone on a romantic date without Jasmine. Having dinner in a place where they could see the beautiful night sky and enjoy the view.

After their anniversary, the Fu family released news of Grandfather Fu’s 80th birthday party, which would be celebrated in a Grand Style.

Chapter 558 - Grand Birthday Party

Fu Ling who didn't need to be told about inviting his partner for the grand party did so. He invited Xiulan over for the party. He didn't let her spend her money on her outfit, instead, he hired a stylist to get her ready for the day.

It was a way of rewarding her for her efforts.

Xiulan was beginning to feel uncomfortable with her role as Fu Ling's 'girlfriend' because she was starting to have real feelings for him and it hurt that she couldn't tell him and it didn't look like he cared.

Being reminded of the party she had to attend the next day, Xiulan who was given a day off used it to sort her feelings and emotions in order to remain sane throughout the whole celebration the next day.

Back at the Fu residence which was bustling with activities, Jasmine who had not let her mother take a break for the entire day came to pull her away from the kitchen.

'Mummy, I want to pee!' Jasmine shouted as she ran into the very busy kitchen.

Jia Li whose hands were stained with flour glanced at her adorable little daughter who seemed very annoying to her at this point.

'Jasmine, go and find your daddy or your aunties, I'm very busy.'

Just as Jia Li finished speaking to her, Mei walked into the kitchen in a hurry. It looked like Jasmine had slipped away under her watch.

Mei apologized to Jia Li who didn't blame her for a little moment of carelessness. As Mei tried to take the little girl's hand and lead her out of the kitchen, the little bun hid her arms behind her and ran to hug her mother's legs.

‘Mummy take me.’ She requested.

There was no problem with Mei helping her out with the bathroom break but this little bun wanted to steal some of her mother’s time, so she insisted that she followed her.

Jia Li had no choice but to wash her hands and leave the kitchen with the little girl who seemed very happy.

‘Tomorrow is great grandpa’s birthday and a few of his friends from the military are coming over tonight. I have to help out in the kitchen.’ Jia Li said as she took her up the stairs and straight to their bedroom.

‘Just like grandpa?’ Jasmine asked in her cute voice.

Her grandfather, Fu Wei was in the military and has seen him in his uniform on some occasions, so whenever the word ‘Military or army’ was mentioned, she would associate it with her grandfather.

‘Yes, like grandfather.’ Jia Li replied.

Jia Li did not return to the kitchen again as she was held up by the little girl who refused to let her go. She also didn’t want to sleep. At last, Jia Li had to ask her to help out with some chores.

There were a big bunch of vegetables to pick outside, so Jia Li took Jasmine with her and showed her how to pluck the vegetables. At first, Jasmine was being a little wasteful since it was her first time but as she continued, she got better with it.

Each time she plucked the vegetable and it came out whole, she would show off her success to her mother. She did that a few times until she got accustomed to her success, then she stopped making reports to her mother.

After the little bun's hard work, she was rewarded with a delicious smoothie, which she tried sharing with Paco but her mother intervened in time.

The evening of the same day, Grandfather Fu's friends from the military arrived and were hosted by the Fu family, before they were driven back to their hotel rooms.

The Fu family equally had a sumptuous dinner. Jia Li didn't want the little bun to overfeed herself so she lied to her in a funny way.

She put a moderate quantity of food on her plate and passed it to her. Seeing the frown on her face while staring at her food, Jia Li quickly said to her, 'I left some food for Paco, wouldn't you have loved to share your food with him?'

Since Paco was mentioned, the little girl was successfully deceived. She would always love to share her food with her favorite pet.

Jia Li sighed in relief as her trick worked, by the rest of the family members chuckled softly.

'Jia Li, when is her next appointment with her doctor?' Fu Hee asked in concern. The little girl's diet and health were of great importance.

'In 2 weeks.' Jia Li replied.

'That's great! Our family doctor will come to check on all of us next month. It's good to keep track of our health.' Fu Hee said with a smile before continuing with her dinner.

Before the next day, the news of grandfather's Grand birthday party was the subject of attention. Literally, everyone in Country C was talking about it.

Those who knew a lot about him and the Fu family had a lot to say as most of them wished him a happy birthday in advance.

The next day, grandfather Fu's birthday party kicked off by 4 in the evening. The venue was of course the Fu Mansion, as there was more than enough space for their guests.

There was no dignitary you couldn't think of, that wasn't around, as long as he or she has had a relationship with Grandfather Fu.

Truly, Grandfather was not only a symbol of authority in his home but also across the country and beyond. He was truly a man of great value.

The guests that were given invites were people that have contributed in one way or the other to society.

Grandfather Fu's birthday was Grand with a lot of guests. And it was surely not your regular kind of party.

Dressed in his traditional outfit, Grandfather gave a speech and after which a gun salute was made.

Men and women of power, importance and great value clapped and cheered in their numbers.

From politicians, military, professionals, World leaders to Businessmen and women, were in attendance.

This was truly a birthday of a rare kind.. Grandfather Fu surely deserved all these merits because this was his first time after so many years of his wife's passing, that he was celebrating his birthday.

Chapter 559 - Not Her Type

A room full of connection would be the right way to describe Grandfather Fu's 80th birthday celebration.

Out of Jia Li's friends, Daiyu was the only one in attendance as she had to play the role of YingPei's girlfriend.

She had fun at the party and thanks to being by Jia Li's side, she didn't feel bored. She and some of the guests would have loved to take some pictures, but unfortunately, that was not allowed.

Although Grandfather Fu's birthday was loud, he didn't want it to be loud on the internet with the pictures taken from the day.

Instead, a professional photographer who the Fu family always used, was the only media person present to take photos of the day.

Jasmine was not at a place today. She was mostly seen with her great-grandfather. Either sitting beside him, standing beside him or in his arms as he walked to the tables to greet his friends who had come from different places to honor him that day.

I guess it must really be an advantage to serve in the military because at Grandfather Fu's age, he could still hold the chubby little girl in his arms for 20 minutes.

The old man must adore his family's little princess a lot.

‘When are going back?’ Jia Li asked Daiyu who was filling her plate with food.

‘Maybe in 3 days.’ Daiyu replied.

‘I suppose you have a date.’ Jia Li teased with a bright smile.

Daiyu was silent for a while before replying with a smile, ‘If going rock climbing and engaging in some sports competition can be tagged as ‘a date’ then sure it’s a date.’

‘You two are going to compete in sports?’ Jia Li asked.

‘That’s right and I think this will be fun. Why don’t you come and watch us, I promise you would watch a good show.’ Daiyu said as she tried to entice her with some of the fun activities she could watch them doing.

‘No way, you two can have fun alone. I’m fine staying at home to keep warm. Winter is approaching and spending time with my daunted is what I will be doing on that day.’ Jia Li said to her.

Both ladies found a place to sit and continued chatting.

‘Is my brother-in-law the kind of man you would like to have in your life?’ Jia Li asked. This was an important question she was curious to know about.

Having known Daiyu for so many years, Jia Li kind of doubted if she would love a man like YingPei, besides she had the personality to dominate and YingPei didn’t look like her kind of spec.

‘To tell you the truth, he is not. First of all, his identity as a member of the Fu family makes me want to stay away from him but I learned to ignore that side of his. His handsomeness has some youth to it and he definitely looks like the normal Capable CEOs that we know about.'

'Maybe it's because he is not a CEO. If one day he emerges as a leader in the company, his personality and appearance will change but he will remain the same person he was, to you, if he loves you.' Jia Li said to her.

Daiyu sipped her juice and replied, 'I know. Since we are friends now, I just want to take things gradually. We are not forcing anything. He is not my type but he is interesting and I would like to try him out.'

'Yeah, he is interesting and it would be fun to be with him.' Jia Li added.

'Was your husband the type of man you would have loved to get married to?' Daiyu asked.

She kind of knew the answer to that question but she didn't want to conclude on it.

Jia Li smiled and replied, 'Definitely not.'

Jia Li remembered her first impression of Fu Hua. If fate didn't bring them together and they fell in love, she wouldn't want to be with a man like him.

He was cold, quiet and unapproachable and seeing him always scared the hell out of her and she learned to tread carefully when she was at a close range to him.

Li Huan was her choice in a life partner because he was gentle and kind. But as fate would have it, she became entangled with Fu Hua through his grandfather.

Today, she and Li Huan do not talk much. In several months, they haven't spoken and on the days to her wedding day, he didn't call. Now, this was getting her worried.

She has been caught up with her love and family that she has forgotten how to check up on people. Jia Li didn't have many sentiments towards Li Huang but as her senior in high school who took care of her and they were from the same hometown, it was only right to check up on him.

Maybe because of her personality, Daiyu was far more comfortable with being in the same room with so many big shots unlike Xiulan who was uncomfortable and had to sit alone in one corner.

Thankfully, it looked like Fu Ling had a little humanity in him for he thought about her being left all alone in a room of unfamiliar people, before approaching her.

At first, he didn't want to formally introduce her to Jia Li since she was only a fake girlfriend. But leaving her alone seemed to make him look heartless which was not a part of his trait, so he was forced to take her to Jia Li, so she could find some comfort.

'Come, I will take you to my Cousin-in-law.' Fu Ling said as he pulled her along with him.

Jia Li recognized Xiulan and she learned that she was not just Fu Ling's personal assistant but also his girlfriend.

Jia Li welcomed her with a warm smile and asked her to sit and then went on to introduce Daiyu to her.

Jia Li was truly not a chatty person and so was Xiulan, so Daiyu did most of the talking.

Chapter 560 - Take You Down

Xiulan had felt better with Fu Ling's actions. She just confirmed that he was not heartless, nothing else.

Jia Li felt the relationship between Fu Ling and Xiulan was awkward. But then, she withdrew her thoughts as she thought that must be how her relationship with Fu Hua was at the beginning.

FangSu was one of the happiest members of the Fu family today because Zhang Junjie was present at her side. She was all smiles and she showed him off to a few of her friends she invited to the party.

Her relationship with Zhang Junjie was so good that she was already thinking of getting married to him. Zhang Junjie already had that thought and was already thinking of proposing to her but he didn't want to rush or frighten her and her career is very important.

Overall, he just needed to bring up the topic of marriage and see what she has to say about it. If she has positive thoughts then he can plan to propose to her.

Right now, Fu Meixu was better off alone. Since meeting Shi Qiao again, she doesn't have any interest in a relationship with the opposite gender.

Grandfather Fu's birthday party ended in bliss. The guests were as happy as the Fu family and their extended family members.

The Fu Family had a good time this year. Their current year was filled with bliss, unlike the next year which would be filled with thorns.

The next day after Grandfather Fu's birthday party, YingPei and Daiyu went to their sports competition, which was very fun.

There was a coach to guide them and to record their results while turning into a referee at the same time.

YingPei believed he was the man and shouldn't lose out to Daiyu who was a girl but he had forgotten that she was a sports girl right from preschool, while he only started to take his workouts seriously.

At the end of the match, judgment descended. YingPei lost to Daiyu by 30 points.

At the end of the game, they were supposed to have a total of 100 points each. But Daiyu got 90 points, while YingPei got 60 points.

YingPei was so bitter that he gave Daiyu money for lunch and started walking away.

'Yah! Is that how you plan to treat any woman that comes into your life? Shouldn't you know how to shoulder your losses?'

No matter how Daiyu talked to him, he didn't turn around.

'Did I hit his pride? What a petty man!' Daiyu said before packing her sports bag and leaving. She thought YingPei had left so she left the place only to see YingPei standing outside.

'I thought you had left, what are you still doing here?' Daiyu asked in surprise.

YingPei flashed a smile at her and said, 'I'm a gentleman, how could I leave you here?'

Daiyu glanced at him from his head to his feet before fixing her gaze on his face to say, 'I thought you were petty.'

‘I’m not that petty. Come, let’s go and have lunch.’ YingPei said as he pulled her towards his car.

Daiyu finally smiled when she sat in his car. ‘At least you know how to treat a woman better.’

‘Why not?’ YingPei replied before igniting the car and driving off.

YingPei took her to a high-end restaurant he had booked when he had left her. After they had sat at their reserved table, a waiter came over to take their order.

‘Are you not scared that people will recognize you and take pictures?’ Daiyu asked as she looked around.

YingPei looked at his surroundings before replying with a smile, ‘This is a reputable place but in case that happens, then I will sue them, just like my brother.’

Remember that nobody dares to take pictures of Fu Hua without his consent or they would end up getting sued for privacy invasion. YingPei was talking about that but he was joking.

Actually, knowing the kind of power the Fu family commanded, no one would dare to publish trash about them, unless they can bear the consequences.

As that one was over, Daiyu changed the topic. ‘How does it feel to lose to a woman?’

‘Are you trying to make fun of me?’ YingPei asked as their food and drink orders were served.

‘How dare I make fun of you? I just wanted to know your opinion after the match.’ Daiyu replied as she sipped on her orange juice.

After she put down the cup, there was a big smile on her face. YingPei understood that she was taking this chance to make fun of him after her victory.

‘Since you want to know my answer, then here it is. I feel energized and determined to take you down on our next match.’ YingPei said with a face full of confidence.

‘You want us to have another match?’ Daiyu asked with interest, and he nodded in response.

So later in the future, Daiyu and YingPei had two more matches before he defeated her.

Before Daiyu left the city, YingPei took her to some places to have fun and on the day she was to leave, he drove her to the airport and helped her to carry her luggage.

There were no hugs, no kisses that was too early. The two only waved at each other before going on their way.

Soon, it was time for Jasmine to see her doctor and for every Fu family member to do their regular checkup.

Jasmine’s doctor was invited to the house and after checking on her, he said her health was perfect but her diet shouldn’t contain too many fatty foods.

He noted to Jia Li and Fu Hua the number of calories she shouldn’t consume past a day, so she can have a healthy diet.

The chubby little girl didn't understand what the doctor was saying. Her eyes were only on his stethoscope and she kept touching it, no matter how many times her mother told her not to touch it.

Jia Li and Fu Hua took note of everything the doctor said before bidding her a farewell.
