

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 131

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 131 The Adulterer Shows Up

“Mommy, why is there dog hair in the car?”

Dayton picked up one and looked carefully. It was a white hair.

Jane was speechless.

Yesterday, she sent Randy and Cigar to the vet and did not have time to clean the car.

She explained to her son that she saved a dog.

“But isn’t Mommy worried about being misunderstood by its owner?”

Dayton’s black eyes stared at Jane. He thought, “Mommy was so kind!”

It was said on TV that many old people fell over just to blackmail other people who helped them.

If someone helped the old man up, he would be blackmailed and extorted.

“Mommy, if I face this situation in the future, should I help them?”

Dayton expressed his doubts, hoping to hear Jane’s opinion.

It was a good question!

Jane thought for a moment and asked herself. If it were in the past, she would probably choose to watch and avoid it.

But now, she had enough resources to help others because she could afford it.

“Baby, you can help them.”

In this indifferent society, warmth and love were necessary. It was true that the phenomenon of blackmail existed in society, but it did not mean that all people were the same.

When it was within one's power, helping someone who was in trouble was a kind thing.

A trivial matter did not need to be appreciated or even be remembered.

"Dayton, you are the heir of the Duncans. You can do so."

To say the least, if the person really tried to blackmail you, you could also afford it.

However, under this standard, one first had to have the ability to judge right from wrong.

"Mommy, I understand."

They went to the supermarket, and Jane bought hot pot dishes, fruits, red wine, and some condiments, filling half the trunk.

It was already half past six. William looked at his watch again.

It was after 45 minutes since he received the last message from Jane. It was time for her to come back. He was hungry. The small biscuits made by Jane were all eaten by him. There was only an empty jar.

William sat on the sofa and loosened his tie. He got off the plane and did not visit to read the newest content, everyone! which seemed to be a wrong decision.

The doorbell rang.

William quickly stood up and opened the door.

Randy was holding a visit to read the newest content, everyone! William, he was slightly stunned.

"Mr. William."

Randy nodded and greeted William.

"Who are you looking for?"

William looked at Randy with a cold face. There was only one thought in his mind – the adulterer had come to him!

William knew that Jane liked handsome boys and used her connections to give Randy resources.

Seeing Randy carrying something, William was inexplicably angry.

This was his territory, and Jane actually dared to let the gigolo come to him!

If it wasn't that Visit to read the newest content, everyone! bump into Randy.

William narrowed his eyes and stood there coldly.

"Mr. William, it looks like Mrs. Duncan is not at home."

Randy nodded politely and placed the box at the door.

"Mrs. Duncan is beautiful and kind-hearted. She helped me a lot. I came to thank her."

After Randy finished speaking, he nodded to William and went straight to the lift.

In the elevator, Randy pressed down his hat and smiled.

He appeared just in time. A proud man like William Visit to read the newest content, everyone! proud and dignified.

Everything was similar to what he had planned.

Half an hour later, Jane and Dayton went back.

She knocked on the door a few times to remind William that she was back and then put her finger on the lock.

"The fingerprint doesn't exist."

Jane tried three times, but it was the same

There was a gift box at the door.

Jane opened it and found it was a lady perfume. Was this a gift from William?

"Mommy, is the lock broken?"

Dayton wondered if there was something wrong with his mother's fingerprint. He tiptoed and pressed his finger.

After a string of pleasant music, the door was opened.

Jane realized the problem and her face was red.

William just came back and deleted her fingerprints. Did he mean that she was not welcomed? The female lead had several properties under her name, but none of them were as good as the location of the International Mansion. More importantly, it could protect her privacy.

"Hubby, I'm back!"

Jane shouted as she placed the bag on the cabinet at the door.

William hated being late. But unfortunately, there was an accident on the way back. The road ahead was blocked, and she waited for a while.

"Dayton, go to your room and organize your homework. Daddy will check it later."

When William saw his son, his face eased a little, then his face was black again.

The atmosphere was strange, and Dayton felt it.

He looked up and glanced at Jane.

"Dayton, go and prepare. Tell your daddy that you are not lazy."

Jane lowered her head and kissed her son with a smile, pretending to be calm.

Her heart skipped a beat. She couldn't understand why William was so moody. Just an hour ago, they chatted very harmoniously.

Was he angry that she was late?

Jane was confused.

When Dayton entered the room, William lit a cigarette.

In the huge living room, only a lamp was lit, and William sat in the shadows.

"Speak."

Jane sat across from him and rubbed her sore arm with her hand.

In order to celebrate William coming home, she bought a lot of ingredients and carried them upstairs from the garage. She almost could not bear the weight.

She completely adapted to the role of a housewife waiting for her husband to return home. Unfortunately, William did not think so.

"Let's take a look. What do you want to add?"

William threw the documents on the coffee table to Jane. Then came the silence.

“Divorce agreement?”

It was a thick book that recorded Jane’s assets that she could get. It was estimated to be a few billion.

“Didn’t you say that you didn’t want a divorce?”

Jane couldn’t understand it. A man’s heart was like a needle under the sea. William went back changed too quickly.

She blinked bitterly and suddenly felt panic.

The world was so big that she could enter and leave the world freely after divorce, but she had no family.

The warmth and affection that she felt when she transmigrated here were all given by the Duncans.

“If there are any conditions that you are not satisfied with, you can raise them.”

William frowned. He thought Jane would cry for a while when she saw the divorce agreement. On the contrary, this woman was quiet.

William also did not understand.

Since she fell in love with Randy, this divorce agreement was to give her freedom.

“I’m not dissatisfied, but ... I don’t want to get a divorce.”

Jane stood up, threw the divorce agreement on William, and said angrily, “Put this thing away before I get angry.”

“Otherwise...”

Jane was furious. Did they agree not to divorce and trust each other? Was that all bullshit?

William was speechless.

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 132

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 132 Step Aside, Son!

This woman was getting more and more daring, and he was shocked speechless. It was clearly that Jane was in the wrong this time and now she was threatening him.

“What else?”

William’s body exuded a cold air, and his words sounded freaking cold.

“Otherwise, I will tear it to pieces and smash it on your face!”

“Or do you have another woman outside?” Jane asked as she sat down.

William was speechless.

Wait, this wasn’t right. He was the one who caught the adultery between Jane and Randy. Randy showed up but this woman actually dared to accuse him!

He thought Jane knew that he never found a woman.

Of course, he had his needs, but he tried his best to suppress it.

He always thought the men who were addicted to sex were the most useless.

“Randy is here for you.”

William pointed at the box at the door. Randy came for Jane and brought a gift to please her.

“You mean that bottle of ladies’ perfume at the door?”

Jane suddenly realized where William’s anger came from. He directly mentioned divorce when she entered the door. It turned out that he thought that she had cuckolded him.

“Randy came?”

Jane furrowed her brows. The good feelings she had for Randy disappeared.

A person being kind to animals might not be bad. Ever since she helped Randy send the Cigar to the hospital last night, Jane slightly changed her opinion of Randy.

But now he seemed like a scheming bitch.

Whether Randy knew that William was here or not, it was very rude of him not to take the initiative to come and greet the house owner.

Because of the female lead's adulterers, William had tried to divorce her several times. She felt wronged!

"I don't know why he came to me, and I don't like such behavior."

Jane told the truth. There was nothing to hide. It was a coincidence.

The dog fur left in the car was the best evidence.

Moreover, although she was married, she could not guarantee that she would not talk to men for the rest of her life. She still had to communicate with others daily.

"You like young men."

Now that the misunderstanding had been cleared, William was still in doubt.

He reflected on himself. He had been married to Jane for six years but he was not a qualified husband.

Their marriage was forced by his grandfather and there was no feeling between them. So he had been avoiding the responsibility as Visit to read the newest content, everyone! step out of line, William was willing to tolerate her.

"Who told you that I like young men?"

Now women all took Visit to read the newest content, everyone! was not interested at all.

A mature man was more attractive, especially an elite in the business circle like William.

However, after a period of time being with William, she found out that he could be a little childish sometimes. But he didn't normally show it out.

"Then what do you like?"

William took a deep breath and could not help asking.

"I like you."

"Can I say that you feel jealousy because of Randy's visiting?" Jane felt a little funny and Visit to read the newest content, everyone! second, William suddenly sat up from the sofa and put his arm under Jane's neck. He held her head and pressed his thin lips against hers.

There was still a strong scent of peppermint between his lips and teeth. His lips were soft and cold and then became incomparably hot.

Jane seemed to be burned by the sudden rise of temperature. She wanted to retreat, her body against the back of the sofa.

"You like me, huh?"

William's voice was hoarse as Visit to read the newest content, everyone! this woman was playing tricks, but he fell into it.

Every day and night abroad when he missed the feeling of their lips and teeth alternating, William would have a strange body reaction.

He wanted her.

"Yes..."

Jane unconsciously murmured, which was the best stimulation for him.

William picked Jane up from the sofa without hesitation and went straight to the master bedroom.

In case that his son would disturb him, he locked the door.

One and a half hours later, the sky was completely dark.

Jane was wrapped in the quilt and her face was hot. She covered her face with her hands and could not help but be shy.

She slept with William.

Jane looked drunk. Thinking of the sweetness just now, William couldn't help but want to...

Some things were difficult to part with after getting addicted to.

He never knew that it could be so beautiful.

William was trapped in it, unable to extricate himself.

"How can you do this?"

Jane protested. He should at least wait for the evening. He asked for a divorce and then they slept. From the moment she entered the door, it was like riding a roller coaster.

“What?”

William lit a cigarette with a smile in his eyes, indicating for Jane to continue.

“You...”

How could she say such a thing out loud!

William was rude just now and she almost could not stand it.

Jane heaved a sigh of relief. Realizing that she couldn't win against William, she turned around and pretended not to hear.

“You are fulfilling the duty of being a wife.”

This was the most intimate thing between a husband and a wife. Jane was soft and sweet. When she called him William with love, he lost his control.

Now, he had tried his best to restrain himself.

“Let me remind you. It's already past eight. My son is still waiting outside and has not eaten yet.”

William liked to have his own space without anything disturbing him, so the apartment had been cold and cheerless.

If he hired someone to cook for Dayton, he could stay in the room with Jane all night.

“What!”

Jane quickly sat up and found that she was not wearing clothes.

There were hickeys on her chest, reminding her of what had happened in the messy room!

This was her first time!

But for the original female lead, it was the second time.

Jane's shaky reaction could not fool people. So this only arose the flames that William had buried deep in his body.

After washing up roughly, Jane changed her clothes and went out.

Dayton was sitting in the living room watching cartoons, holding a small cake in his hand.

When he saw Jane come out, he happily rushed up to ask for a hug and said in a soft voice, "Mommy!"

Dayton was eating the small cake bought from the supermarket because of hunger. Jane felt guilty about this.

Other children would cry and make a fuss when hungry, but Dayton was never like them. He was always a quiet boy.

"Dayton, you must be starving!"

Jane hugged her son and kissed him. How could there be such a good little angel in the world?

"Mommy, I am not hungry. I am waiting for you and Daddy to have dinner."

Dayton shook his head, his eyes full of innocence.

For him, being with his daddy and mommy was comfortable and happy.

"Okay, Mommy will go to make the soup."

Jane went straight to the kitchen. Five minutes later, William also came out of the room.

"Daddy, Mommy is very tired from working recently. You have to give her a massage!"

Dayton raised his small fist. These few days he was giving his mommy a massage. But he was small and he had little strength.

"Okay. From now on you don't need to give your mommy a massage. I will do it."

Jane was his wife so this was his responsibility. "Step aside, son!"

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 133

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 133 Succeed Effortlessly

William did not look cold now. Instead, he was very happy.

He washed his hands before helping Jane wash the vegetables in the kitchen.

Jane paused and looked at William. She could feel the warmth of family.

They seemed to be an ordinary family of three.

The wife cooked while the husband washed vegetables. They worked hard for life.

Jane found it unbelievable. She was afraid that it was a dream, and she could not face reality when the dream died.

"It's a right decision that grandpa had the craniotomy."

William was relaxed. However, it was now inconvenient for Colin to return for his poor physical conditions. He had to recuperate abroad temporarily.

"How about celebrating the New Year abroad? We can spend some time with grandpa."

William took the pot from Jane and took it to the dining room.

William had a good appetite. While Jane was eating, she had to take care of Dayton. There were some invisible fish bones. She had to pick them out.

They enjoyed the dinner and even got too full.

"We may have indigestion. How about going out for a walk?"

Jane looked at Dayton's swollen belly and rubbed it with her hand.

"Alright."

It was cold but windless, a perfect time to stroll in the snow.

Jane dressed Dayton in warm clothes and they went out with William.

Jane felt closer to William after they had sex. At least she was not afraid of him at all now.

William did not know what she was thinking. He was frowning at the perfume at the door.

“No! Don’t throw it away!”

Jane stopped William from wasting it.

“If you like it, I can buy you a shop.”

William frowned. It was just a bottle of perfume, or probably Jane was reluctant to throw it away because it was given by Randy.

His wife was worth something better.

As long as she wanted it, and as long as it existed in this world, he could give it to her.

Because he owned large amount of wealth.

“Well...”

How could he naturally say this? Jane was speechless.

“I will give it to my staff as a reward.”

Jane put it in her handbag, planning to give it Visit to read the newest content, everyone! reception in the company, but Jane couldn’t stand the smell of her perfume.

“The perfume smells cheap and pungent.”

As the boss, Visit to read the newest content, everyone! around in the neighborhood and met several gossip security guards.

Dayton was bouncing forward in front of them, and the couple followed behind.

Jane was tall, but just up to William’s shoulders. Their figures were attractive.

“The Duncan Group withdrew all the jewelry counters of the Cart Group, and specifically targeted at Snow. You did it, right?”

Jane was full of questions.

She could still remember Pearl’s exclamation in the afternoon.

“Yes.”

William was frank.

“Why?”

"It will lead to a bad Visit to read the newest content, everyone! company was targeted by Daisy, and her company was separated from the Duncan Group.

In business, the Cart Group did not offend the Duncan Group. It should not be suppressed so harshly.

"She troubled you."

William stopped and looked at Jane. "Then, I will be her biggest trouble."

Daisy bullied Jane, his wife, and he would teach her a lesson.

On account of the good relationship between the two families, William had already been lenient.

"OK."

Jane replied softly, her eyes lighting up. She felt being loved again.

Randy stood for a long time in the shadows.

He silently stared at Jane and William, who were holding hands tightly.

He did not destroy their marriage. Instead, he made them closer. Randy felt more excited.

His tricks had always succeeded. Jane was an exception.

"Mr. Randy, what should we do with the lame dog?"

Jovanny rubbed his hands. It was too cold.

Randy had been secretly observing William and Jane for half an hour. He suspected that Randy liked peeping.

"Take it back and take care of it."

Randy raised his eyebrows. He still needed that dog. He couldn't let Jane expose his lies.

The temperature in City J dropped by several degrees the next day.

Jane got up from the bed and it was already ten in the morning.

They did it for the whole night.

Jane found herself stupid, thinking that William was incompetent.

She had proven her stupidity herself.

Dayton was sent to kindergarten by William, and she was alone at home.

There was porridge, fried eggs, and toast on the table. Judging from the shape of the fried eggs, she knew William prepared it.

She heated the porridge in the microwave and finished her breakfast.

She drove to the company and found that someone she didn't know was standing beside Carey at the reception.

"Good morning, Ms. Jane."

They bowed in greeting.

Jane was stunned. She seemingly had not hired a new staff member. Who was that?

She nodded and went into the office confused.

On the first floor, all the desks were occupied. The employees were normally working with the computers.

Same on the second floor.

In her office on the third floor, there was a fresh bouquet of lilies, filling the room with fragrance.

"Hello, Ms. Jane."

Jessica excitedly came over in high heels with a stack of documents in her hand and asked Jane to sign on them.

In Only One, after the jewelry designs were completed, the jewelry makers would be able to finish the samples before they got off work.

"Ms. Jane, you are really bold, capable, and far-sighted."

Jessica gave her a thumbs-up. The recruitment was done overnight and all the employees were on duty. The company was running normally again and became even more cohesive.

Jane was competent. It was a pity that she did not work before.

Jane did not reply.

The high praise made Jane shy.

Jane read the documents carefully and signed them.

She received a message from Frederic.

“Madam, are you surprised?”

This was arranged by William. He wanted to share her burden.

“The new HR manager, Tracy Stenberg, is my university classmate. Definitely reliable.”

Frederic bragged that in the future, the case that many employees suddenly resigned at the same time would not happen again.

“Mr. William was afraid that the recruitment would worry you, so he solved it too.”

Frederic secretly sent the message and went to work for William.

Jane stared at the phone screen in a daze for a while. She originally wanted to become a successful woman step by step. But now she succeeded effortlessly!

The subordinates were awesome, and Jane was bored again as the boss. She turned on the computer to browse the stock news. She found that the stocks of the Smit Group had hit low again.

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 134

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 134 The One Behind It

There was constant news on the Internet that the Carts would file a divorce lawsuit.

Jane gave Pearl a phone call.

She knew that Pearl had a part in shorting the Smit Group and the Cart Group, and she stood to gain tens of millions.

It was really easy for the rich to earn money.

“Janie, did you read the news?”

Pearl was drinking tea, and her tone was relaxed, which showed that she was in a good mood.

“Yes.”

The journalists were always keeping their eyes on the rich.

Julia was a high-profile figure and liked acting. So her divorce was in the spotlight.

The New Year was coming. Pearl wanted to have a meal with Jane before she went abroad to reunite with her parents.

“Alright, you name the time.”

Jane answered crisply.

Just after she hung up the phone, she received a call from an unfamiliar number.

“Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Duncan...”

It was noisy there, and he was panting heavily. But Jane felt this voice familiar.

“Who’s there?”

Jane’s phone number was not public, so not many people knew it.

Who was he?

“Mrs. Duncan, I’m sorry.”

The man said in a panic as he introduced himself. He was a helper of the one who took Jane.

“It’s you?”

Jane was stunned. She remembered that the case had been closed. The kidnapper and his group were all imprisoned. This stupid helper seemed to have been sentenced to ten years.

“Please help me. I want to tell you something important.”

The man spoke in a hurry. He said that he was in prison.

They were imprisoned in different places. He heard that his boss was dead.

He died mysteriously and all of a sudden.

How could that happen? He was scared.

Unable to sleep at night, he found that someone had sneaked into his room and injected him with an unknown liquid.

Perhaps, he would also die.

"I have a clue to tell you. Please come quickly."

The call was off before he could finish speaking.

Jane called back, but she could not get through.

She had always remembered Visit to read the newest content, everyone! who was behind this.

Jane was certain that there was someone behind it. If that person could kill the kidnapper privately, he Visit to read the newest content, everyone! her? Was it really because she was William's wife?

"Jessica, I need to go out."

Jane picked up her bag and decided to go to the prison.

The man was in a prison in the suburbs. It was about a 90- minute drive from here. It was not close.

"Ms. Jane, everything is OK in the company. Don't worry."

Jessica looked relaxed. Her new colleagues were nice. They wanted to have a dinner party.

"Alright, I'll pay for it."

Jane agreed. As Visit to read the newest content, everyone! Before leaving, she handed the perfume in her bag to Carey.

"Ms. Jane, it's sweet and nice of you!"

Carey was very happy after receiving the gift and flattered Jane.

"Alright, work hard."

Then Jane hurried to the prison.

Ninety minutes later, Jane arrived.

There was an electric net on the high wall of the prison, which was gloomy.

According to the rules, Jane should first go to the prison administration.

She did not know the name of the man, so she visited to read the newest content, everyone! time when the man was sent here.

"Lucas Smith. It's him."

The police checked the data. It was a rule that the prisoner could be visited once a month, and Lucas had been visited this month.

"This is our rule. Please come again next month."

Jane was seriously rejected.

The prison had its own rules, and they had to obey.

Jane thought of Lucas's phone call and found something strange. He must know something and wanted to make an exchange with her.

Lucas said that someone had injected him with an unknown liquid. Was it someone wanting to kill him?

"I understand, but can you make an exception?"

Jane had no choice but to plead.

"You said, Lucas?"

"He is not here. He was just sent to the hospital," said a man in a white coat.

"Hospital?"

Jane was surprised. Lucas had just called, and judging from the voice, she knew it was indeed the helper.

Lucas must know something.

Jane was kidnapped, and she had only communicated with the kidnapper and Lucas.

The former was dead, and Lucas might have seen the one behind it, the man in the black suit.

It was fogging her. She just needed something to get it clear.

“What happened?”

Jane asked anxiously.

“He just fell from the fifth floor and was sent to the hospital for rescue.”

However, it was a 60-minute drive to the nearest hospital in City J.

Although he was then alive, it was hard to say whether he could be saved after he was sent to the hospital.

“You are Mrs. Duncan?”

The doctor recognized her.

Lucas was one of the kidnappers. Why did she come to visit him? And Lucas happened to have an accident at this moment.

Jane put her finger against her mouth.

There was no one inside. Jane signaled to him to keep quiet.

She asked him to keep it a secret and forget that she had come today.

She was a public figure, so he agreed and informed her of the hospital Lucas was sent to.

Jane came out of the prison and drove straight to the hospital.

On the way, she received news that the ambulance carrying Lucas had flipped over. Lucas was thrown out of the car in this accident and passed away.

Jane braked abruptly and stopped.

She crossed her arms and felt cold.

Lucas just called her. Then he fell. It was absolutely not a suicide.

He wanted to give her a clue, but...

In the dark, there seemed to be someone who might kill her suddenly.

“Janie, where are you?”

Her phone rang. Jane pressed the speaker button but did not speak.

“Jane, are you there?”

William had finished his work. He had made a reservation at the most popular restaurant in this city. He wanted to have dinner with Jane and Dayton.

The chef was the successor of the imperial kitchen. The restaurant's dishes were unique and it only served three tables a day.

William spent much money to cut in line.

He wanted to give Jane a surprise.

In the afternoon, William asked Frederic how to arrange a date.

Frederic said that women all liked delicious food. It was the best idea to take them to have tasty dishes.

"William, I am not in the company."

Jane sent her location over.

She calmed down a little after receiving William's call, but she had not totally come to herself.

In the previous life, Jane was stabbed in the abdomen and died. She did not want to end up again like that.

She had a son. She could not leave Dayton!

"Janie, don't be afraid."

William kicked Frederic out of the car and asked Frederic to pick up Dayton. Then he sped up and drove off.

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 135

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 135 I Am Here

"Don't hang up the phone. I'll talk to you, okay?"

The car in front of him moved very slowly. He supposed that the driver was green. William turned sharp around and drove along the other side of the road.

For him, Jane was more important than the traffic rules. Jane was afraid and still waiting for him.

"I'll be right there. Very quickly."

There was heavy traffic on the roads in City J. William drove one a path and overtook all the way.

"Can you hear me?"

"Is the battery power of your phone enough?"

William, who was not talkative, asked continuously.

"I can hear you."

Jane's hands trembled. She needed to calm down now.

She came here while she was kidnapped. She was thinking hard about it, and it covered her fear.

After so many accidents, Jane was afraid of feeling helpless.

It was dark and there were no streetlights around, not even a car passing by.

Jane wanted to drive away, but the car suddenly broke down. She hit the steering wheel and became more anxious.

"Janie, don't move. Wait for me."

William's voice sounded through the phone. It was low, but it had a sedative effect.

No matter who was behind it, he would never let his family get hurt.

This was the first and last time that Jane was hurt.

William was not good at saying words of love. He could only tell Jane over and over again that he was here.

"I'm here. I'm coming to you."

"It's dark, but don't be afraid."

“Janie.”

Jane did not speak. William suddenly realized that his mouth was dry and he was thirsty.

For the first time, William felt that the ride was so long from the city to the suburbs.

His wife was waiting for him to take her home.

“OK, I’ll wait for you.”

Jane closed her eyes to calm herself down.

She told herself that there was nothing unchangeable. Although there were many difficulties, her fate was still in her hands.

Jane was not a coward. She would accept and try bravely. Besides, she still had Visit to read the newest content, everyone! got dark within an hour.

The cold wind was howling and it sounded terrifying on a desolate mountain road.

Jane put her Visit to read the newest content, everyone! car, motionless.

In the distance, a car was coming at high speed. The high beams were on, particularly dazzling.

Jane blocked the strong light with her hand and looked forward with narrowed eyes. It was a black Maybach, one of William’s cars.

“Janie!”

William braked hard, opened the car door, and carried Jane out of the car in his arms.

“Don’t worry. I’m here.”

They embraced in the strong cold wind on the dark road.

“Thank you.”

Jane felt relieved in William’s Visit to read the newest content, everyone! But he instantly appeared, driving away all those bad feelings.

One hour ago, Lucas called and wanted to meet her.

But he was suddenly dead.

It was not an accident. It was murder!

The person behind it was afraid that Lucas would be rescued, so he created another accident to ensure that Lucas would not be alive.

A dead person could never speak. He would keep the secret.

"Don't be afraid. I'm here."

William stiffened. He was still not used to being visited to read the newest content, everyone! not refuse

"William, I'm not timid. But can you imagine that someone who was still alive hours ago was murdered twice in a short time?"

Jane tried her best to control herself, but she could not help but speak in a sharp voice.

Falling from a building and a car crash both seemed like accidents.

But she knew that they were not.

"Lucas must know the secret of the one behind, so he was killed!"

What a big game! And Jane was a pawn in the game.

"I've called the insurance company. Just leave the car here. Let's pick up Dayton and have dinner first."

William's face turned cold. That person had been hiding in the dark for a long time. William had been waiting for his next step.

However, he did nothing else but dealt with the aftermath of the previous event.

It could not be perfectly done by a single person. Perhaps there was an organization behind it.

"I've lost my appetite."

Jane looked pale. The past one hour waiting for William was the toughest time for her.

She was afraid that someone would rush out and kill her.

"Darling, I want to go home."

Jane sat in the passenger seat and looked at William pleadingly, hoping that he would agree.

For frightened people, the home was the best place to go.

“Okay, let’s go home.”

Before William started the car, he turned around and touched Jane’s hair, comforting her like playing with a kitten.

For him, Jane was now like a frightened and upset kitten.

On the way, William turned on the warm air and played soft music.

Jane gradually felt relaxed and safe, and finally fell asleep.

When they arrived at the Duncan Group, it was already past work hours.

Frederic was exhausted. William was absent and he needed to handle everything. While he was busy, he had to deal with Dayton.

“Uncle Frederic, my daddy and mommy are here to pick me up. Bye.”

Dayton waved at Frederic and left happily.

“Alright, Dayton. Bye.”

Frederic heaved a sigh of relief. It was so tiring to take care of a child! He was not so eager to have a baby now.

“Daddy!”

Dayton ran forward, grabbed William’s hand and looked for Jane.

“Your mommy is tired and sleeping in the car.”

William signaled him to be quiet and said, “Don’t wake your mommy up in the car later.”

“Daddy, I know!”

Dayton obediently got in the car and covered his mouth with his hands, afraid that he would wake up Jane by greeting her.

They went to the popular restaurant to pack dishes before going home. Jane woke up as they arrived.

She slept soundly and her fear disappeared, and she had come to herself.

“Mommy, you are awake. You have slept for a long time!”

Dayton went over and hugged Jane. He felt her face hot.

“Yes, mommy is very tired.”

She was not only tired but also hungry. Jane’s stomach rumbled.

“I intended to take you to a restaurant. But I have packed some food. It’s still warm. Let’s eat first.”

William had Jane take a rest. He put the boxes on the table and placed the tableware.

“Dayton, wash your hands before eating with mommy!”

The bad moods should not be shown home, especially in front of Dayton. Jane gave a gentle smile again and even played with Dayton as they were washing their hands.

William paused and shook his head.

He could not understand her sometimes, but he had been deeply into her.

No matter if she was the previous Jane or not, she was his wife, and now, he did not want to let her go.

He had given her a chance and filed for divorce, but Jane was reluctant. Now, he would not allow her to leave him.

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 136

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 136 A Capricious Man

As expected of the successor of the imperial kitchen, the dishes were way better than the home cuisine. It was like a work of art but at the same time extremely delicious.

“If you like, I’ll make reservations tomorrow.”

William’s tone was like he was ordering a take-out. Didn’t he remember how much money he paid for such a quota?

“You feel fresh when you eat just once. But it would be normal if we eat it often.”

Jane pursed her lips into a smile. William wasn't the emperor, nor was she the Empress. Why would she need the successor of the imperial chef to cook every day?

“Then invite him to be the head chef of our family!”

William thought this idea was brilliant. In this way, he would save the trouble of snatching someone else's quota.

Jane was speechless.

Rich man always acted at their wills?

She was only a little better off than a white-collar worker in her previous life, so she wasn't that extravagant. Even if she became Mrs. Duncan, there were still some habits that she didn't change.

“Janie, close your eyes.”

After the meal, William pulled Jane to the sofa.

“What?”

Jane was puzzled and did not understand what William meant.

“Close your eyes.”

William could only repeat again. There was some uneasiness in his words.

“Alright.”

Jane closed her eyes as required, her eyelashes trembling.

Then, she felt the shadow in front of her and the peppermint smell at the tip of her nose. Was William going to kiss her?

Jane wandered her mind, her cheeks flushing with shame.

“Alright, open your eyes.”

William put a necklace on Jane. It was a gift from him.

He realized he had never personally chosen a gift. In the poor two times, he asked Frederic for help.

He shouldn't treat his wife like this.

In the morning, he made a trip to the auction to bid for one of the most beautiful, rare pink diamond.

The diamond weighed 24 to 78 carats, worth 3.8 million dollars. It wasn't more valuable than "Incomparable", but it was the most expensive diamond in the world.

William thought Visit to read the newest content, everyone! his wife always kept a low profile.

"So beautiful!"

Jane was stunned!

As a jewelry designer, she had a fanatical love for Visit to read the newest content, everyone! it.

Because such a rare treasure was too expensive!

A few hundred million, a pink diamond, as her gift...

"It suits you very well."

William was very satisfied with this pink diamond necklace. His only regret was that it wasn't unparalleled.

His woman should have the best jewelry.

"Darling, I like it very much. This is very good!"

Jane didn't know whether to laugh or cry. Even William would compare unrealistically.

The value might not prove anything, but if a man was Visit to read the newest content, everyone! at least meant that he had her in his heart.

William just gave her tourmaline worth 300 million without any hesitation. He wouldn't care about this pink diamond necklace.

The difference was that he selected this personally.

Dayton sat on one side of the sofa, looking over from time to time.

Daddy gave Mommy a present, so Mommy was very happy.

Dayton looked at his fingers and frowned. He seemed to have pocket money too. He wanted to buy a gift for Visit to read the newest content, everyone! his mother would always like him.

"Mommy, Mommy!"

Not willing to be left out, Dayton trotted up to Jane's legs and blinked, "Mommy, what do you like?"

"Mommy likes Dayton."

Jane touched her son's face and smiled.

Seeing that his son was sitting improperly, William grabbed Dayton by the collar and drove Dayton away from Jane's legs.

"Daddy is bad!"

Dayton protested. He crawled back to Jane and puffed his cheeks at William.

"Go down."

William calmly confronted his son. He had something to say with Jane and this could not be heard by Dayton.

"I want to sleep with Mommy tonight!"

Dayton continued to protest. Because Daddy came back, Dayton felt lonely when he woke up. He didn't smell Mommy's fragrance, nor did he feel Mommy's softness.

When he opened his eyes in the morning, he found himself sleeping alone on the small bed in the guest room.

"Daddy, are you jealous?"

Dayton held the pillow in his arms, looking gloomy. Mommy would sleep with him if Daddy did not come back.

William was lost for words.

Dayton puffed out his cheeks bitterly, his resentful gaze drifting toward William.

"Daddy, are you thirty years old this year?"

William was about to take his son away when he heard the question. He was stunned and responded subconsciously.

“What?”

“You are already a mature daddy. You should learn to sleep on your own.”

Dayton pouted and was extremely dissatisfied with William.

Daddy always disliked Mommy and didn't want to talk to Mommy at all. Why was he still clinging to Mommy now?

A fickle man!

William was despised by his son. His son eyed him up and down.

He couldn't help but raise his eyebrows, his temples throbbing.

“Dayton, what are you talking about?”

Daddy still played dumb?

Dayton stood up, took off his little socks, and put them in the dirty basket. He thought William was like a child.

William trembled, feeling speechless. If Jane wasn't watching, he really wanted to give his son two slaps on the butt.

“You snatch Mommy from me. If Mommy doesn't like me, I will abandon you either!”

Dayton turned around. Daddy was already grown-up. He still fought with him for Mommy.

Dayton looked wronged. It wasn't easy for his mother to treat him well. She was willing to hug him to sleep. Dayton was afraid of losing such time.

During this period of time, Mommy was gentle and patient to him. He was afraid that Mommy would turn back into a cold Mommy.

“Dayton, come over and let Mommy hug you.”

This five-or six-year-old child was extremely insecure. The actions of the female lead had already caused harm to Dayton.

Years of disregard weren't something that could be reversed overnight, so Dayton was very afraid of losing the warmth.

“Daddy and Mommy have something to talk about, so we have to sleep later. Dayton, you sleep first and wait for Mommy to come to accompany you, okay?”

Jane patiently coaxed her son. She didn't lose her temper at Dayton.

"Alright."

Dayton was sensible. Jane put herself in a position equal to her son and asked him gently. Dayton readily agreed.

After Dayton washed up, he soon fell asleep.

"Darling, we should be more patient with our son."

Jane sat next to William and leaned against his arm, "I know you and grandfather nurtured Dayton as the successor of your family. He is destined to be different from other children."

Childhood was very short. Jane didn't want her son to grow up in a way that he found that there was nothing to miss in the future.

Dayton would grow up and become powerful. Jane hoped that her son would have a loose environment.

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 137

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 137 What Should Come Will Come

"I will arrange a skiing in the next few days."

The amusement park in winter wasn't safe enough. William ruled out the amusement park and finally chose skiing and hot spring.

The series of changes made Jane tense up. She needed to relax.

"You don't have to worry about me. I'm much better now."

Lucas's death assured Jane that her previous judgment was correct-the real mastermind was still at large.

"Don't get caught by me, or I will brain him then and there!"

Jane waved her little fists, looking more like a fluffy cat.

William twitched his lips. He suddenly felt relaxed and satisfied.

“Janie, there are some things that I haven’t told you.”

William didn’t want to increase her nervousness for no reason.

Now that they took action again, Jane shouldn’t be kept from the truth.

“Are you saying that the kidnapping is targeting you?”

Jane couldn’t believe it. She had always thought it was the female lead who offended someone, or the mastermind was a woman who coveted William.

Indeed, if it was a woman, how could things be done delicately?

“Do you still remember the sudden change of tune at the engagement party between the Floyd family and the Carts?”

William took a deep breath. It was a forbidden song. The person who played the forbidden song should be the same one who sent him a threatening email.

“A few years ago, I bought a bankrupt company. The legal person of that company was Nelson.”

His cooperator ran away, and he was betrayed by his relatives. Nelson couldn’t accept it and finally chose to jump off the building.

After Nelson passed away, his wife died for love, leaving only his son, who was nowhere to be found. William had looked for him, but there was no news about him. Nelson’s son disappeared.

“So, it was that person who came back for revenge?”

The partners who ran away and the relatives who tricked Nelson in the past all died tragically and were exterminated without a single one left. How could there be such a coincidence!

The accident, car accident, and Lucas’s death were the same.

“Can’t you find the whereabouts of Nelson’s son?”

Jane frowned, sucking in a breath of cold air.

She really regretted not reading more of the novel, or else she wouldn’t be so passive now.

But it was also good. Her life was brand new. All started from scratch.

"I can't find him. His relatives and friends don't know where he went."

No news about him. Nelson's Visit to read the newest content, everyone! very young, in his early twenties.

He might have changed his name.

It was hard to find a person among the crowd.

Visit to read the newest content, everyone! are right there in the open. The cruel thing is we don't know when he will attack again."

Jane analyzed. Business competition was inevitable. The winner ruled.

William was just expanding his territory. He didn't do anything illegal.

If Nelson's son were to blame, he should first blame the partner and his unscrupulous relatives. What did it have to do with William!

The destruction of the family must change his mentality. He lived for revenge.

"I have arranged bodyguards for you."

William Visit to read the newest content, everyone! He wouldn't allow that thing to happen again.

"I can protect myself."

It was of great dignity to have a few vicious-looking people followed. But it was somewhat uncomfortable.

Besides, that person was hiding in the dark. He could always find a chance.

"What should come, will come."

After Jane learned the crux of the problem, she wasn't afraid at all.

Fear often stemmed from fear of the unknown. When the fog was lifted, the people hiding in the dark wouldn't be Visit to read the newest content, everyone! William sounded firm. His family was his biggest weakness.

If it was before, he would never care about Jane at all. Even if she was kidnapped, he could remain calm and composed.

But now...

Things had changed.

"You need an assistant like Frederic by your side. I'll send someone to you tomorrow."

William didn't give Jane a chance to refute at all.

"Again?"

Jane laughed. After being frightened, she was busy calming down. She almost forgot the most important thing.

William had staggering wealth and unimaginable power. He could settle her troubles in minutes.

The recruitment that troubled her for a few days was quickly solved by William.

"Then I'll have no challenge to face?"

Jane thought she could face up the difficulties and overturned bad situations. She thought she could run well a company from the beginning and developed it into big and strong one. She even thought she could become a strong woman of the new era.

The problem she was troubled with was easily solved by William.

Jane was heartbroken.

"It's a man's business to make money and support his family. You're interested in jewelry design and since you've started a company, just feel free to do what you want. That company is for you to play."

William approached Jane silently, like a wolf catching its prey.

"Your only challenge is me." He said in a dangerous tone.

With that, he pressed down. Jane was immediately enveloped by his tall body.

"Wait..."

William kissed fiercely. His kisses were like rainfalls, densely and heavily. Jane was on fire. She felt like her clothes were about to burn out.

Jane woke up late again after a night of entanglement.

The room was in a mess when she woke up. She took a deep breath when seeing this.

It was over. Last night, she promised to sleep with Dayton. William seduced her all night!

It was hard to tell that a man like William could be so impressive when having sex.

Jane almost couldn't move. She could only endure what William gave her.

He stopped at dawn. But Jane was already exhausted.

After washing up, Jane walked out tiredly. Breakfast was already prepared on the dining table.

"Mommy, are you feeling better?"

Dayton ran to the kitchen with his short legs. He picked up the bowls and chopsticks and handed them to Jane.

"What?"

Jane was about to apologize, but she didn't understand the situation. Dayton didn't seem to be angry.

"Daddy said that you were sick. You don't want to infect me, so you didn't sleep with me."

Dayton shook his head, saying that he wasn't afraid of being infected.

Jane was speechless.

William had sex with her all night! And now he even lied to his son.

Surprised, Jane thought finally she knew what William was.

Cold, restrained, and ruthless? These were not the real William. He was a wolf!

Jane looked at herself in the mirror, feeling that she was a lamb waiting to be eaten by him.

The hickeys were everywhere. She had no choice but to tie herself a scarf when eating breakfast.

"Mommy, are you very cold?"

Dayton was confused.

"Mommy ... is very cold."

Jane moved her scarf uncomfortably, complaining about William's activity secretly. He should be more careful!

He was quite good at their sex life. How poor she was! She couldn't even resist!

But she could say nothing before her son. She could only lie to him.

Jane drank a mouthful of porridge, wanting to cry.

William wasn't good at cooking. The porridge was burnt, which tasted a bit strange.

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 138

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 138 The Jewelry Design Was Stolen

Then Dayton complained that Daddy forced him to eat a large bowl of porridge on the grounds of no food waste. Dayton said, "Mommy, Daddy made the porridge!"

But cooking the porridge into this was also a kind of food waste.

Dayton thought that adults could be such perverse.

"Daddy is not good at cooking now, but he will work hard."

William, who had an influence on the economy, would only cook for Jane and Dayton. No one else would have the chance of enjoying this.

After the meal, Jane received a call that the company had a new assistant.

"Ms. Jane, will you come to the company today?"

Jessica had never heard of a newcomer before. The new assistant was like an airborne and could switch to work mode quickly in the morning.

Jessica had not yet adapted to the new situation as she realized that there had been a huge personnel change in the company recently.

"Yeah."

Jane took a deep breath. She was no longer surprised by William's productivity now.

As for the new assistant, Jane couldn't wait to meet her.

At the end of the month, red lanterns were hanging on both sides of the main road of City J. The atmosphere of the New Year was getting stronger and stronger.

It was cold and the snow on the roadside hadn't melted yet. The road conditions were not good, so a traffic jam could occur at any time.

Jane arrived at the company after a long time. Everything in the company went well as if she was dispensable.

Apart from signing her name on papers, Jane had nothing to do for everything was all done by employees. She felt confused at how William could be so busy.

But in fact, the scale of Duncan Group was so large and could be as many times bigger than her company.

"Ms. Jane, I'm your new assistant, Elyse."

Elyse was dressed in a capable lady's suit, with a pair of gold-rimmed glasses. She was stern and unsmiling while speaking.

Jane nodded as a response and thought that Elyse looked more like a boss.

Elyse didn't try to cotton up to Jane. Instead, Elyse handled everything in a proper and orderly manner, which made Jane feel better wholly reliant on Elyse.

"How is your new assistant?"

It was rare for William to call in for care during the lunch break.

He also told Jane he would be late at home for there was a video conference at ten o'clock in the evening, and reminded her to sleep first tonight.

"Where did you find the talent?"

Jane put down the Visit to read the newest content, everyone! for Elyse to be an assistant in my jewelry company."

"Let her be your side when you go out for business."

Elyse Visit to read the newest content, everyone! were adopted by Colin and lived abroad during the past years. After graduation, they stayed in the branch of Duncan Group overseas.

“Robert has also come back. He is an excellent doctor now.”

William would introduce them to Jane tonight but had to change to another day for he got busy today.

“Grandpa’s surgery was performed by Robert and his tutor.”

Jane had known the situation now. Elyse and Robert had made acquaintance with William since childhood. They shared a deep relationship, Visit to read the newest content, everyone! lead that Jane was now had never come into contact with William’s friends after they married.

Jane considered William’s introducing her to his friends as a kind of recognition of her.

This thought put Jane in a good mood.

“Ms. Jane, the launch of the new products, Only One, is ready. It will come at eight o’clock tonight.”

Green Jewelry had invested a large sum of money into the promotion of Only One. It had been advertised on the big screen of Visit to read the newest content, everyone! jewelry in the past, Only One chose a new style of jewelry design. It welcomed a more flexible style by freely matching the accessories.

“Is the press conference ready? Double-check it.”

Jane watched the promotional video by the design team and was very satisfied with it.

She said, “If the company gets on the right track and wins good turnover of the first quarter, everyone will get a bonus!”

“Thank you, Ms. Jane.”

Jessica was overjoyed. She had never doubted her decision to refuse the offer by the Cart Group with a high salary.

Though Only One was a very young brand in its beginning, it would have a bright future as seizing more opportunities and experiencing more challenges later.

“Ms. Jane, the number of our target audience is limited now, but one day it will expand to be worldwide. Only One will become a well-known global brand in the future.”

Jessica clenched her fists, high-spirited.

“You will see it coming.”

Jane stared at the big screen and supposed that the perfect promotional video would attract more buyers.

It had been dark already by dusk as it got dark early in winter.

Jane looked down at her watch. It was half-past five.

She got up to pack her things and prepared to leave.

"Ms. Jane!"

Jessica was in a panic and broke in without knocking. She was wearing high heels and accidentally fell to the ground.

With a bang, she fell to the ground on her knees.

Jane quickly stood up to help Jessica up. That fell looked so painful.

"I haven't gotten off work yet. Why are you in such a hurry?"

Jane also reminded Jessica to change the impatient personality, like rushing in without knocking.

Jane helped Jessica to the sofa and saw Jessica's red eyes and anxious looking.

"Ms. Jane, things got worse!"

Jessica wiped her tears with her hand, but she could not help but cry out.

"What exactly happened?"

Jane looked serious and stared at Jessica. Jane had a bad feeling that she would hear bad news.

"Our jewelry designs have been stolen by the Cart Group. Its Snow even got ahead of us to debut the new products!"

Jessica showed the picture of Snow's new products to Jane. They were like twins of Only One, without any slightest difference.

"It's scheduled to launch our new products at eight tonight. And we have agreed on the interview report for the market magazine."

Jessica held much confidence in this series of new products and took a lot of effort to get the interview of the fashion magazine.

The jewelry would be a hit after unveiling by the promotion of fashion magazines.

“Ms. Jane, what should we do now?”

Having not considered the situation that the design would be stolen, the company did not prepare an alternative measure.

If the company couldn't debut the new product tonight and stood the fashion magazines up, they would pull the company to the blacklist no matter what had happened.

Once entering the blacklist, the company would never hope for a new opportunity to cooperate later, and much negative criticism would come. Both would put the company at a disadvantage.

“It's all my fault. If I didn't ask an interview for a fashion magazine, we wouldn't have so much trouble.”

Jessica was so anxious that she cried. The situation occurred out of the blue that knocked her for a loop.

Snow of the Cart Group had already been released. It was exactly the Only One. The Cart Group hadn't even changed the design and directly used it.

“Didn't the Cart Group cross the line too much?”

Jessica had just finished speaking when the entire design team knocked to enter the office. What the Cart Group had done put all of them at a loss.

“Ms. Jane, even if we file a lawsuit with the Cart Group, it will take at least a year and a half.”

Karlie was quite experienced in this field. The Cart Group encroached on her team's design and would have little punishment of paying the economic losses even if her team won the lawsuit at last.

But what Only One had lost could not be measured by money.

“Then what should we do now? Follow the original plan to debut the new product?”

It was obvious that Snow of the Cart Group had plagiarized the designs of Only One, its Zodiac.

“No, if we debut Only One now, the Cart Group would blame us for plagiarism in turn.”

Karlie analyzed that the Cart Group took an advantage of debuting earlier. The unknown consumers would slide sides with the Cart Group that put Only One at stake.

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 139

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 139 Ms. Jane, You Are Awesome!

Everyone was silent and looked at Jane.

“Ms. Jane, if we can’t make new designs in the shortest time, we can only postpone the release.”

Elyse adjusted her glasses and analyzed the situation.

It was reasonable to postpone the release and minimize the loss.

Although the Cart Group behaved awfully, at present, they had no evidence. They did not know how their designs were leaked.

“What if I don’t intend to postpone the release?”

Jane said and sneered. Daisy never left any leeway when doing things. She hadn’t made a move to deal with her but Daisy had already made trouble for her.

After all, her marriage was snatched away by an illegitimate daughter and she had become a laughing stock of the celebrity circle.

“We can only change the design. Otherwise, it is irrational.”

The Green Jewelry had just left the Duncan Group, so it was best not to go against the wind. The Duncan Group had withdrawn the special cabinet of the Cart Group. So they were taking revenge.

“Then change the design. What’s there to be afraid of?”

Jane took a calm tone, and there was no surprise or anger on her face.

Elyse adjusted her glasses with a rigid face but sharp eyes. She knew that William had married a woman he did not love, but now she understood that William and Jane were the same.

They did not panic and shared the same expression when they met some cases.

'Yeah, what's there to be afraid of, just change the design.'

Jessica opened her mouth wide and pointed to her ear, "Did I just hear right?"

"I also suspect that I got it wrong."

Karlie shrugged.

It was almost six o'clock now. The new model would be released at eight o'clock and there were only two hours left.

"How long will it take you to make a new-product promotional video?"

Jane had a plan and asked the publicity department.

"Ms. Jane, we need at least an hour."

Finishing it in one hour was the fastest speed. The templates were all ready-made and they just need to integrate materials into templates.

In other words, there was only an hour left for the design department.

Karlie covered her face. What could she do in an hour? When she was designing, she always got into a trance and she needed at least several days.

"Ms. Jane, do you want to..."

Jessica stood up and suddenly came to a realization.

Jane once Visit to read the newest content, everyone! products in the shortest time.

They were the new products in the last season and were immediately purchased after going on sale.

Visit to read the newest content, everyone! Ms. Jane!"

Jessica stood up, Karlie also expressed her opinion, and then everyone quickly went out, leaving the space for Jane.

"..."

It was difficult for employees to complete new designs, so she had to take on them personally.

"Give me a glass of lemonade."

Jane dialed the intercom and asked Elyse to send the lemonade.

The next hour was the time that she worked against the clock.

She had plenty of time to avenge on Daisy, so she had to finish Visit to read the newest content, everyone! series had been plagiarized, but it wasn't a big deal for Only One. In her eyes, the competition between the jewelry businessmen was even fiercer and the market had been flooded with the twelve zodiac series.

Compared to the zodiac, the young man believed more in constellations.

Jane searched online for the research on constellations and found that the short-budget women preferred to study constellations.

There were a lot of drawings of the twelve constellations on the internet, and there was no Visit to read the newest content, everyone! Jane had completed the design after several modifications for over half an hour.

"This is?"

When Jessica saw the design, she exclaimed. "Constellations! Ms. Jane, you changed them into constellations!"

"Yes, let the design department make some slight changes and hand it to the publicity department."

Jane nodded. She didn't want to change their ideas of random combinations. It was more flexible. There was no need to feel the front a dead end just because of being plagiarized.

"The Cart Group plagiarized our designs. We must investigate and find out how our designs were stolen."

Jane gave the order.

If they hadn't caught up with the announcement at eight o'clock, the company's losses would have been immeasurable.

Fortunately, they caught up.

As for losing the Twelve Zodiac series, it doesn't matter. They could choose other cartoon characters and go on sale again. It was enough to undercut the Cart Group.

"Patent our new designs of constellations. Avoid being plagiarized again."

It was already eight o'clock at night. The staff of Green Jewelry worked overtime. At the last moment, their new promotional video went online.

At eight o'clock.

No one left but gathered in the hall on the first floor.

It was the first time that they had worked together to overcome the difficulties. It was a war with no smoke, even without the smell of gunpowder.

Despite urgency and excitement, they won!

"It's my treat. Let's celebrate together and relax."

Jane smiled. Although she was the one who took the lead in the new jewelry design, she knew that without the staff's efforts and cohesion, she couldn't make it.

They were all new employees. She believed that this incident strengthened the bond between the employees and the company.

This kind of bond was the key to their progress.

"Thank you, Ms. Jane. It's not hard for us!"

The employees waved together, ordered takeout, and ate in the company.

There was no expected explosive popularity, but they felt relieved and grounded. With Jane's solid backing, they could remain calm.

"Ms. Jane, you are awesome!"

Jane left the company with her son. When they went downstairs, Elyse couldn't help but say it.

Having been transferred back to New York from the overseas company of the Duncan Group, she had no objections, but she was somewhat curious.

She thought that she would return to the Duncan Group, but William appointed her to aid Jane.

Her brother Robert had a good relationship with William and had never heard anything about his wife.

Now, it seemed that they got it wrong.

"Elyse, you did a good job too."

Jane stared at Elyse and suddenly said seriously, "Maybe you don't understand why you were sent here by William. Don't worry. I promise that either your salary or promotion will be nothing less than what you will get in the Duncan Group."

These words sounded ridiculous now because the jewelry company was insignificant to the Duncan Group.

Only Jane dared to boast.

"I believe you."

Elyse's eyes flashed, and she believed her.

They did not say much and just said goodbye to each other tacitly.

It was about nine in the evening, and the cold wind blew. In the winter, few cars were passing by.

Jane bowed and kissed her son.

She was busy with work but she was worried about leaving Dayton alone in the mansion. Therefore, she brought him to the company but she could not spare time to accompany her son.

Just like due to today's overtime, Dayton could only eat lunch boxes.

"Mommy, will you also run around in circles in the future?"

Dayton felt sorry for Mommy. Daddy was busy and Mommy was busy too. He was the only one who was idle. He hoped that he could grow up quickly to help Mommy.

Dayton's face was in a chubby sort of way. He was such a sensible boy that he made Jane melted at heart.

"No, Mommy will have several days off soon. Your daddy and I will take you to go skiing."

There was a ski resort and a natural hot spring around the suburbs. These were good places to go on holiday.

William promised her that he would make arrangements for the next two days and he would never go back on his words.

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 140

/ Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart

Chapter 140 Strange

"Good!"

Dayton clapped, his face full of expectation.

Suddenly, his stomach rumbled twice untimely.

Dayton was very embarrassed. He hid behind Jane and rubbed his little face against the hem of her clothes.

“Baby, are you hungry?”

Dayton would be shy. Jane squatted down and held her son in her arms. She asked with a smile.

The food box at night was too greasy and not tasty. She just took a few bites.

The company ordered pizza and red wine to celebrate. She should also take her son to have something delicious.

“Yes.”

Dayton covered his face with his hands and peeked at his mother through the gaps of his fingers.

He was afraid of disturbing his mother’s work and did not say it when he was hungry. The assistant brought him a cake, but it was too sweet.

“What do you want to eat? Mommy will take you.”

Jane wanted to let her son decide.

It was bad to be strict with children all the time. They needed time to relax.

“Really?”

Dayton’s face flashed with lights. He wanted to have pizza, sweet potato horns, and calamari.

Colin forbade him from eating unhealthy fast food.

At the kindergarten, Ramiro ate a lot of fast food and was very satisfied when coming back. Dayton hadn’t had once.

“If that’s the case, I will fulfill your wish.”

Jane kissed her son. Fast food restaurants were open 24 hours a day. She checked the map and found one near the Duncan Group.

They went to eat pizza and waited for William to go home with them. On the Internet, people went crazy for the release of Only One's new product.

Daisy was sitting on the sofa drinking fruit juice and enjoying the massage of the servants. She suddenly saw a piece of news popped out and could not believe her eyes.

"This is impossible!"

Daisy sat up and opened the webpage.

She took away all the employees in Jane's company, but only left the craftsman who made the Visit to read the newest content, everyone! to use him to give Jane a fatal blow.

The jewelry design must be handed over to the jewelry craftsman. At that Visit to read the newest content, everyone! press conference!

"What the hell did you do?"

Julia saw the news and went downstairs to question her daughter.

Who made the decision to make an exclusive interview with Only One?

The founder of fashion magazines had always maintained a good cooperative relationship with the Cart family. If the Cart family did not nod, it was impossible for them to report about Only One.

And now, not only was it on, there was also a special report.

Julia felt that Daisy had Visit to read the newest content, everyone! know what happened!"

Daisy smashed the teacup, not understanding what was going on.

In her calculations, Jane was sure to lose. Without the design draft, she would not be able to launch the new product and sort of cheating the public. Even if her subsequent design was perfect, the best opportunity had gone.

Therefore, Daisy designed to let her draw attention for now.

"How stupid Jessica is! How could she, a nobody, contact a fashion magazine herself?"

It was Daisy who gave Visit to read the newest content, everyone! to interview Only One and give it a commercial page. She even paid for the headline.

“You waited for Jane to fall and then you can step on her, but things didn’t go as you wish?”

Julia understood her intention and didn’t know what to say.

Jane was a good-for-nothing among the rich and powerful ladies. How could Daisy keep losing to her?

She couldn’t believe that Daisy even bought Jane some advantages. Only One was a strong opponent of Snow. This was ridiculous!

“How would I know that they still have the design!”

Daisy regretted. She had obtained the drafts long ago but she waited to use it today because she was certain that Jane would not be able to take out the new design.

If she chose to sue the Cart Group, Daisy had a team of lawyers prepared. She even asked people to write many passages to smear Jane and her company.

Once Jane dared to accuse the Cart Group of plagiarism, she would definitely have to face a serious counterattack from the Cart Group.

But things didn’t go as what Daisy planned.

Jane changed the design and released it two hours later.

“How could this be? Impossible!”

She thought of the best design and made the advertising video in just two hours. Was it even possible?

“I don’t believe it!”

Julia was exasperated at Daisy’s failure. The family was in trouble but Daisy made the situation worse.

“She must know your plan!”

Jane knew Daisy’s plan in advance, so she had been prepared.

She kept waiting until tonight.

The Carts paid money for the headline. Jane spent nothing to promote her brand. She really taught them a good lesson.

Daisy was acting dumb to fool Daisy.

Julia pitied Daisy. She was too stupid to see through this. She even thought her plan was perfect. She paid the money and did everything for the other's success.

Daisy instantly sobered up after Julia said that.

Jane, who knew nothing about this, would tell them this must be a beautiful misunderstanding. She was the victim of this event. But the mother and the daughter thought badly of her because of her timely response.

"What should we do next?"

Daisy was at a loss. She couldn't see Only One rise. If its product this season became a hit again, it would gain more fashion resources and surpass Snow in the future.

"What else can we do? Nothing!"

Julia was so angry that her heart was beating fast. It was too late to tell the magazines to withdraw the report.

They could do nothing but suffer from the losses caused by the media coverage.

"You took away so many of Jane's employees with a high salary. But this is what you got."

Jane still could hire new employees. She heard that the new staffs were better. In the end, it was the Cart Group who had to pay for that group of trash.

People who had no loyalty to the company they worked for and left for money had no responsibility at all. These people couldn't achieve anything.

"Mommy, what should we do now?"

Daisy realized that she was wrong when she brought those people to Snow.

Daisy hoped to make Jane isolated and without help. Now that Jane made it, Daisy began to realize that the only thing she brought to her company was just a bunch of good-for-nothing.

What Daisy did actually helped Jane. She took away all the black sheep and revived Only One.

Daisy couldn't figure out why her plan turned out a failure. She had been winning all the way except the last one.

"This is too strange!"

Daisy shook her head, wondering if Jane was a witch or something.

“Daisy, why can’t you let go of Jane?”

Julia came to her senses. They were in trouble now and should take care of themselves first.

Jane could wait when they recovered from this failure.

“I just can’t accept it. How could such a useless person make a comeback? Even William...”

Daisy couldn’t continue. Clearly, William was very cold to Jane. But thanks to her, he changed a lot.