

Timeless 381

CHAPTER 381 HE WON.

After the two men finished talking each went gingerly to his room, embracing the person in his arms as if nothing had happened.

The next morning Carl prepared breakfast for the whole family, which made several of the younger generation quite embarrassed.

As they ate breakfast, Cynthia said to Albert and Jessica, "We will finish the business at hand as soon as possible and come back to help you take care of Jessica."

Jessica quickly waved her hand, "Aunt Cynthia, you guys just go about your business, I'm in good health and don't need to be taken care of."

Firstly, she was young and only 20 years old, and it was the best time in a woman's life. Secondly, she had been forced by Albert to practice various self-defense techniques, which had strengthened her physical fitness, so she didn't need anyone to take care of her.

Last time, when Carl and Cynthia offered to help them with the baby in the future, Albert agreed very quickly because they didn't need them, and his mother-in-law would help with it. Jessica was only twenty years old, so his mother-in-law was also very young and had no problem with the child. After the two men finished talking each went gingerly to his room, embracing the person in his arms as if nothing had happened.

The next morning Carl prepared breakfast for the whole family, which made several of the younger generation quite embarrassed.

As they ate breakfast, Cynthia said to Albert and Jessica, "We will finish the business at hand as soon as possible and come back to help you take care of Jessica."

Jessica quickly waved her hand, "Aunt Cynthia, you guys just go about your business, I'm in good health and don't need to be taken care of."

Firstly, she was young and only 20 years old, and it was the best time in a woman's life. Secondly, she had been forced by Albert to practice various self-defense techniques, which had strengthened her physical fitness, so she didn't need anyone to take care of her.

Last time, when Carl and Cynthia offered to help them with the baby in the future, Albert agreed very quickly because they didn't need them, and his mother-in-law would help with it. Jessica was only twenty years old, so his mother-in-law was also very young and had no problem with the child.

Considering that there would be no one to take care of Hathaway's children, both Mrs. Taylor and Adeline had passed away. After discussing with Jessica, Albert decided to let Cynthia take care of Hathaway's children, and Jessica's mother would take care of theirs. Anyway, Jessica's mother loved the children.

Every time they invited her to come and stay with them, she would always say to her, "I'll come and stay if you have a baby."

This made Jessica speechless, as she had never thought about having a child before.

Now that she was pregnant, her mother would probably be happy to come over.

Albert and Jessica both said so, so Carl said to Cynthia, "You can take your time and get busy. When the time comes, they will naturally call us if they need us."

Cynthia nodded, and the family ate their breakfast in harmony before dispersing.

Carl and Cynthia drove to the airport, while Albert took Jessica home, and Hathaway and Leon also drove home. After they returned home and changed their clothes, Leon had to go to the company, as he had been at home for many days and had many things to deal with. He needed to sit in command now that the acquisition of the Taylor Group was in full swing.

Hathaway went to the studio. Since Jessica was pregnant, she couldn't keep her busy no matter what.

The Davis Group's acquisition of the Taylor Group was now at a feverish stage. Since Leon had suddenly announced that he was buying the Taylor Group at a high price, it was a malicious takeover, so he didn't need to avoid anything and went ahead with his plan in a bold manner.

However, Leon didn't care what others said about him and continued with this malicious takeover at a high price.

Leon's desire for revenge was very strong. He wanted to make Andrew completely destitute to avenge his calculations and harm to him and Hathaway in the matter of the branch company.

What Leon hated most was that Andrew had tried to let Shawn bully Hathaway. At the thought of this, he wanted Andrew to die a hundred times.

Of course, Leon was not a reckless person. For the Davis Group, it was just a piece of cake to take over a company like the Taylor Group which was going downhill.

In fact, in the face of Leon's malicious takeover, Andrew had many ways to fight against him. He could attract a few investment banks or other companies to help him, but because his previous aggressive and ruthless behavior had offended many people and Leon's authority in South City was even greater, no one was willing to help him, nor did anyone dare to help.

Because the Davis Group's offer was tempting, the Taylor Group's senior management slowly changed their attitude and began to compromise on being bought out by the Davis Group. For them, it didn't matter who the company belonged to, as long as it didn't affect their interests.

Andrew, who had been fighting alone, had to stay at home quietly after a rampant gossip yesterday.

Leon won the acquisition.

Hathaway drove to the car park of the studio and got out of the car. Just as she was about to take the lift, someone suddenly came out of nowhere. She took a look and found that it was Andrew who was wearing a baseball cap and covering himself.

Andrew walked towards her with a stern look, and Hathaway instinctively felt the danger and was about to run away. All of a sudden, two men got out of the car next to her. Seeing them, she laughed and turned to look at Hathaway calmly.

The two men stood in front of her, one on each side, looking at Andrew indifferently.

These two men were the two bodyguards Albert had sent around her to deal with Lori at that time, and Hathaway thought that they would withdraw after Lori was taken care of.

Andrew didn't expect Hathaway to be surrounded by bodyguards, so he stopped in his tracks as he rushed towards her. Even with all the hatred in his heart, he didn't have the urge to go up and get beaten up passively.

Andrew hadn't left the house since he got home from the hospital yesterday, and there was no way to go out. A bunch of reporters was surrounding his house, and there was an overwhelming amount of abuse and mockery, saying that he had AIDS, that he was a bad person, and that his family was vicious and strange.

He stayed up all night worrying about whether he had AIDS or not.

He managed to squint for a while and woke up again to a nightmare in which he was disgustingly driven away by people covered in thick sores until he died from it.

He woke up in a cold sweat and couldn't sleep anymore.

In the morning, he called the property owners and asked them to get rid of all the reporters in front of his door, so that he could go out and wait for Hathaway at her studio.

In fact, he didn't know what he was going to say or do after meeting Hathaway, he only knew that he needed to vent his resentment on Hathaway, and he even thought that since he might have AIDS, he might as well sleep with Hathaway and infect her with it, so that she could also taste the pain that consumed her heart.

But then he felt that he actually had no position to seek revenge on Hathaway for anything because what Leon and Hathaway were doing to him now was revenge for what he had done before.

CHAPTER 382 I ADVISE YOU TO BE KIND.

With two bodyguards in front of her to protect her, Hathaway wasn't afraid of anything from Andrew.

She stood there in a dashing manner and looked at the gloomy Andrew with a smile, "Mr. Taylor, are you trying to kidnap me or murder me?"

Before Andrew could say anything, Hathaway turned her words around and opened her mouth, "I would like to remind Mr. Taylor that if you do anything illegal, all four members of your family will be wiped out, so ah, I advise you to be kind."

Andrew choked on Hathaway's incomparably mocking and sarcastic words, and almost vomited blood.

He stood there with a gloomy look on his face, his tone was filled with discontent and anger towards Hathaway, "Hathaway, I treated you well in the Taylor's all these years, I was on your side when Hathaway was bullying you as a child, but now you're trying to bring me down together with outsiders, do you have no conscience?"

Hathaway laughed at Andrew's words, "Did you treat me well?"

Hathaway felt that Andrew was also very sick, sick in the sense that he couldn't see how he was hurting others at all, only how others were hurting him.

"Fine, since you want to say that, then I'll talk to you today about how you treat me well, I just hope that after I've made it clear today, I won't hear you say disgusting things like treating me well again!" Hathaway had come to the studio to supervise the work these days, so she was dressed casually and comfortably.

Today she wore a black loose short-sleeved T-shirt and black slim-fitting jeans, all in black, she stood in the sunlight, the coldness on her face forcing Andrew not to look at her directly.

Hathaway's bright face stared at Andrew as she said word for word, "You said you always protected me when I was little, but I felt that every time Abby bullied me, I fought back hard against her on my own and didn't see you protect me one bit."

"You announced that I wasn't Paul's biological child when I had a miscarriage and incited the board of directors to kick me out of the Taylor's."

"You let Shawn sleep with me so that I could be abandoned by Leon, Andrew, every single thing you've done has amounted to stabbing knives in my chest one after another, and I think you deserve what you're doing to you now!"

Hathaway's face did not waver or soften in the slightest, she had never been the kind of person to make a big deal out of a small one, she was a vengeful person, not to mention that she did not think what Andrew had done to her was worth forgiving, she had not even accused Barbara and Abby yet.

After Hathaway finished speaking she laughed lightly, "Besides, I am not joining forces with outsiders to bring you down, I am joining forces with my husband and the people closest to me to bring you down."

After Hathaway finished her words Andrew's face instantly turned gloomy, "You got married to Leon?"

"Yes, I just got the license a few days ago, a legally protected relationship in name only." Hathaway smiled back at Andrew with a smile in her eyes, that smile turned into the sharpest knife, stabbing at Andrew fiercely.

Andrew's entire body shook for a moment, he had been preventing Hathaway from having a deeper relationship with Leon from the time he first learned that Hathaway was going to approach Leon, and as a result, he had gone through so much effort to transform himself from a person who loved his wings and reputation to such a disreputable person now, and in the end, she and Leon had still become a couple.

This was a great irony for him, wasn't it?

Hathaway didn't bother to pay any more attention to Andrew, turned around and left.

It was Andrew who spoke viciously behind her, gritting his teeth word by word, "Hathaway, don't think that everything is over by now!"

Hathaway laughed coldly and turned back to meet Andrew's declaration of war, "I don't think it's over, after all, it's just beginning."

Andrew pursed his lips as Hathaway mockingly said, "Mr. Taylor, whether you want to compete in intrigue or whatever, we'll be there to the end."

This time, she really turned around and left without looking back, not even glancing at Andrew again.

There was no need for Andrew to threaten them, Hathaway and Leon were already prepared to be wary of Andrew.

Originally, Hathaway was still hoping that Andrew would stop after this devastating blow, that there was no place for Andrew in South City anymore, that he could still live a good life after leaving South City, but after seeing him today, Hathaway felt that Andrew could not let go of those demons in his heart.

Just as Hathaway had just ridiculed Andrew, if he made a big deal out of it, Andrew would go in too.

After entering the studio, Hathaway called Leon and told him about the incident that Andrew had just stopped her in the car park, after listening, Leon only said two words in a gloomy tone, "You are looking for death!"

Then he added, "I'll talk to your brother later, and have those two bodyguards follow you all the way."

"Well." Hathaway nodded her head, she knew that none of them should take it lightly until they got rid of this time bomb, after all, Andrew was too crazy, no one knew what he would do.

After Leon hung up Hathaway's phone, he paced around the office with pursed lips and a cold face, then picked up the intercom and instructed Warren, "Tell them to speed up the acquisition, I want everything to be over within the next day or two."

Their priority now was to take over the management of the Taylor Group from Andrew, and Warren took the order and ordered them to go on.

Three days later, the Taylor Group was completely acquired by the Davis Group with ferocious speed, and the Taylor Group's current ruler, Andrew, did not show up from the beginning to the end.

This is the first time that the company has been awarded the title of "The Best of the Best".

Of course, Leon's transfer had also aroused strong curiosity from the outside world, and people were speculating why Leon would transfer the Taylor Group to Kenny.

Because the fact that Leon and Hathaway were back together and had received a license was completely unknown to outsiders, people started to pick up the relationship between the two, after all, apart from Hathaway's relationship, people could not think of any connection between Leon and Hathaway.

If Hathaway had not wanted to make it public, Leon would have been tempted to declare that it was a bride-price gift for Hathaway at the time of the transfer.

But since he chose to respect Hathaway's decision, he didn't declare it and let the people guess.

However, because of the attention they were receiving, they were now unable to go out together.

They had seriously discussed when they can make their relationship public, waiting for Hathaway to gain a foothold in the entertainment industry to minimize the impact on Hathaway.

CHAPTER 383 KENNY IS GENTLE AND MODEST.

After Leon announced the transfer of the Taylor Group to the Taylors, Kenny rushed back from the southwest mountains that evening.

Ashley picked up Kenny from the airport, but Hathaway didn't go.

Ever since Leon announced the transfer of the Taylor Group to the Taylors, the whole city had been picking up on her relationship with Leon, scaring her so much that she didn't dare to go to Leon's flat for a few days in a row and had to stay at the Taylor's.

So now she was a popular target for the media to track down and didn't dare to pick up Kenny from the airport, even though she wanted to.

There were already a bunch of reporters waiting for Kenny at the airport, and if she went again she was only afraid that the airport hall would be crowded.

The man took off the sunglasses on the bridge of his nose and faced the reporters with a gentle expression.

Kenny's skin tone had been tanned, and his wheat-colored skin and the look under his eyes were vaguely hard and resolute, and the reporters were all surprised at his transformation when he took off his sunglasses.

It is true that suffering and the years train people the most.

Although he was later proven innocent, that prison sentence was a hiccup in his life.

In that case, Kenny asked Leon and Nick to block the news and only reported that he was framed, but not the inside story that he was framed by his personal secretary Crystal.

He didn't want to ruin Crystal, and he didn't want outsiders to comment on the love-hate tangle between him and Crystal. Whether it was love or not, it was between the two of them.

So now outsiders only knew that he hadn't committed a crime, but they didn't know the exact inside story.

Kenny had been in a high position for many years, so naturally, he had already guessed that he would be besieged upon his return, which is why he responded so calmly, but of course, he was also prepared to face all questions.

The reporters surrounded Kenny, and Ashley, who had come to meet him at the airport, was quietly accompanying him. Both siblings wore impeccably polite and perfect smiles on their faces, showing off the elegance of their upbringing since childhood.

When the reporters saw Kenny's gesture, they all relaxed.

It had to be admitted that Kenny was really the one with the best face and mildest attitude towards the reporters among these young talents.

Thinking about how many times they had been cold-faced by Leon during this period of time when they were trying to pick up on his relationship with Kenny, it was still a good thing that they were given a cold face, but most of the time they were directly expelled, okay? If not, Leon would have disliked them directly, not even close to humane.

The man is always cold and stern in public, and with his status, they almost don't even have the courage to approach him and interview him, because no one can guarantee that he will be furious in the next moment, and it is said that if he gets angry, he will break his arm or leg, so they simply don't mess with him to save their lives.

There is another extremely low-key handsome gentleman, Nick, who hardly gives interviews and stays busy in the hospital every day, so he gives a cold face even when he is caught once, almost the same as Leon.

So, when faced with Kenny's pleasant face, the reporters felt very comfortable.

One of the reporters seized the opportunity to ask Kenny, "Mr. Taylor, may I ask if you have anything to say about Mr. Davis's transfer of Taylor's to you?"

The reporter asked this question, actually wanting to indirectly set up Kenny's words, to see if Kenny would mention Leon's relationship with Hathaway.

Kenny smiled gently, "I don't know what else I can say to him other than thank you."

Reporter, "..."

Suddenly, they realized that Kenny was playing tricks with a smile.

Another reporter simply asked bluntly, "Isn't it true that Davis Group has some other relationship with Hathaway, otherwise why would he transfer Taylor Group to your Taylor family? And not another family?"

Kenny stretched his hand with a helpless expression, "I think it's better for you to ask Mr. Davis this question, after all, this decision was made by him, I'm just the passive recipient, I'm not a roundworm in Mr. Davis's stomach, how can I know why he did this?"

The reporters were once again put on the spot, how come they didn't know before that this Taylor family's ruler was so smooth-witted.

The reporters were told to ask Leon, they didn't know how many times they had asked, but Leon simply didn't point them out, okay?

On the question of digging deeper into the relationship between Leon and Hathaway, a bunch of reporters met with a heavy defeat, so someone had to continue to ask, "Then may I ask where have you been during this time?"

Kenny did not hide anything, "I was teaching in the mountains."

The reporter asked again, "Why did you go to that kind of place? Was it because you were hit too hard by the incident of being imprisoned some time ago?"

The reporter's words were a bit harsh, deliberately mentioning Kenny's previous imprisonment.

I'm sure no one would want to have such a bad past mentioned, and in front of so many people, no matter if they had done something bad or not, it would always be humiliating to be mentioned in front of people like that.

However, Kenny had already prepared himself to face this, it was all part of his life and there was nothing he couldn't face.

So his reaction was calm and even a bit sincere, "Well, it's true that I was struck by a blow and had a bit of a decadent feeling of passivity and avoidance, so I thought of going to a place like that to teach and cleanse my mind."

Kenny's frankness left the journalist who was trying to make things difficult for him speechless and invariably cut off the other journalists' intention to continue asking questions on this topic.

So the reporters could only start asking other questions, "Do you have any plans for the future of Taylor Group? It's common knowledge that Taylor Group is going downhill after this series of changes."

Kenny smiled lightly with a modest gesture, "I'm not the kind of person who has the ability to do anything, and I can't guarantee that I'll turn around Taylor Group current situation, I can only say that I'll do my best to make Taylor Group develop in a good direction."

No matter what questions the reporters asked, normal or pointed, Kenny always managed to maintain his initial elegance, and the interview lasted for more than half an hour, with Kenny good-naturedly allowing the reporters to finish asking and answering all the questions before he took Ashley with him to say goodbye to the reporters and walk towards the car park.

CHAPTER 384 SHE WANTS TO GET STRONGER.

The reporters and the crowd of spectators looked at the backs of the two siblings as they left gracefully and had to admit that upbringing was a good thing.

Well, it made for a spring-like response, but it hadn't allowed the reporters to ask a single useful piece of information, hadn't allowed the reporters to succeed in any of their attempts.

As these interviews go out, people will find out that Kenny, who they have always thought of as the gentle and elegant head of the Taylor family, is actually quite difficult to deal with.

Many people say that this is due to Kenny's non-competitive personality, but the two Taylor siblings are well known in their circles, Kenny is gentle and Ashley is gentle, a model of behavior for men and women in South City. The saying that women wanted to marry Kenny and men wanted to marry Ashley had been circulating in South City for a long time before the sudden change in the Taylor family.

Of course, there was another member of the family, Hathaway, who was a complete polar opposite of the two siblings.

At that time, people were still wondering why Hathaway was like this, but when it was revealed that Hathaway was actually Carl's biological daughter, it dawned on everyone.

After all, when Carl was young, he was notoriously unruly and unpleasant to be around, and Hathaway is now more blue than blue.

After the two of them got into the car, Ashley didn't drive first, but turned her head to look at her brother and said softly, "Brother, I found that you've just come back like a different person."

Kenny laughed softly, "Where have you changed?"

Ashley looked at him again, then shook her head in some distress.

She couldn't tell what had changed, she was still the same gentle and elegant person who made people feel like they were in the spring, but something was different.

Kenny turned his head to look at the sunset outside the window, the red haze was filling the sky at this time, and the scenery in front of him was indescribably beautiful.

The man just looked at the gorgeous scene in front of him and said in a rather bleak manner, "I realized a truth after experiencing so many things."

Ashley looked at him curiously, Kenny's tone was all self-deprecating, "Only by making myself stronger can I hold the people I want and protect the people I want to protect."

Just like Leon, who wanted to marry Hathaway, he was strong enough to ignore his mother and grandfather's opposition, not to mention the board of directors' discontent. If not for a feud between their parents in the middle of the two, Leon and Hathaway would have been consummated some time ago.

It had only been a few months since they met, but Leon had resisted the pressure from all sides and married Hathaway.

Unlike him, who had been going round and round for five years and ended up with two people in a world of hurt, not to mention that he had even lost the girl he loved now.

If he could have brought Taylor Group to such a strong position in the first place, he could have also ignored Paul's wish to have him marry a woman of his own family, and bravely took Crystal's hand and appeared in front of Paul in an open and fair manner.

But where there was one person who objected, he could have left his stall and let them panic and compromise.

But at that time he didn't, he felt that it was good to run Taylor's business fairly well because he had always been such a non-contentious character, he didn't want to become the strongest king, but reality forced him to become stronger, this time when he came back, he didn't want to be the gentle Kenny of old, he wanted to be the defiant Kenny.

Only if he and the Taylor Group he led were strong enough could he protect all the people he had to protect.

Not just his beloved girl, but also his family.

As well, everything that Leon had spent to acquire the Taylor Group this time, he would pay back twice as much.

Ashley looked at Kenny for half a second, and without saying anything else, she started the car and left.

After Kenny's explanation, she knew what had changed in Kenny.

He had become more ambitious, more aggressive.

Ashley was pleased with her brother's change, just like her, they had lived a life that had been too condescending before, and after these trials and tribulations, they had seen life for what it was and decided to live for themselves and work for what they wanted.

When the two siblings arrived home, dinner was already prepared in the kitchen, and Hathaway stood at the door with great anticipation.

When Kenny got out of the car, Hathaway rushed up and took Kenny's arm, shouting affectionately, "Brother, you're finally back."

Kenny raised his hand and rubbed Hathaway's short hair, "Happy wedding."

Hathaway, "..."

He then laughed in a rude manner, "Your wishes are too abrupt, I've had my license for a while now and I completely forgot that I'm still newlyweds."

After receiving the license Hathaway felt that her life with Leon was not any different from before, the only difference might be that she had moved over to live with Leon, however, these days she was living back at Taylor's house because the reporters were chasing after her, so she was even less self-conscious about being newly married.

So when Kenny suddenly said happy wedding to her, she was confused for a moment.

Kenny smiled and took out a box from the trunk and handed it to her, "A wedding present for you."

Hathaway looked at it curiously, "What kind of present?"

Hathaway returned her with a serious smile, "Chinese herbs from the mountains, for you to nourish your body, wishing you a happy baby."

Hathaway, "..."

Ashley on the side couldn't help but laugh, "Brother, your new wedding gift is really practical."

Kenny casually gave Ashley a box of identical ones, "You have one too."

Ashley was deliberately displeased, "I say your gift to me is too thoughtless, I'm not married so why do I need to condition my body to have a baby."

Kenny glanced at her, "You're the oldest, so you're the one who should hurry up and have a baby."

Ashley, "..."

She was about to cry, how could she have such a dear brother.

Hathaway laughed at the side gloating, "Sister, I think what brother said is quite right, you also take care of your body, if you have a child just in time to get married to Dr. Jackson."

Then she hugged the box of herbs again and lamented, "Hey, Jessica is pregnant, I'm all stressed out here, aren't you?"

Ashley hummed, "You're stressed because you're already married, I'm just in a relationship right now, I don't have any of the stress you're talking about."

With that said, Ashley marched home first, leaving a smiling Hathaway and Kenny to enter the house with her.

Ashley didn't want to admit that she was really stressed after hearing Hathaway say that Jessica was pregnant today.

She had to know that Jessica was only twenty years old and was pregnant with a baby, and it was impossible for her, a twenty-seven-year-old woman, not to react at all.

CHAPTER 385 ALL COME TO THE BANQUET.

After Charles' withdrawal from her marriage and her own serious injury, Ashley had since abandoned all childhood love to her mind, wanting to do what she liked to do, wanting to make herself stronger, wanting to be in charge of her own destiny.

Even after Nick's sudden confession of love and the start of a relationship between them under his strong leadership, her initial thoughts did not waver.

She treated Nick as a temporary relationship and did not think about the future, nor did she intend to let Nick affect her plans for the future.

However, during this recent period, she felt that she was thinking more and more about ... Nick's feelings.

She was not a cold-hearted and hard-hearted person, but as she spent more and more time with Nick, and recently met his parents, Nick and his parents' affection for her had increased her pressure, especially now that Hathaway, who was younger than her, had gotten married to Leon, and Jessica was pregnant and preparing to have a baby.

She thought of herself and Nick, who was the same age as Leon and Albert. Albert had gotten married and had a child on the way, while Leon and Hathaway had gotten married, although there was no wedding, and Nick had not yet gotten married and had a child on the way.

Inexplicably, Ashley felt a bit sad for Nick.

However, the next moment, she thought that what Nick was going through was all her own doing, and she couldn't help but laugh at herself.

She was becoming more and more conflicted.

On the one hand, she didn't want to ruin her own future by getting married and having children, but on the other hand, she felt sorry for Nick who had been left far behind by others on the road to marriage and children.

Last time, Nick had a falling out with her when he found out that Leon had gotten a license with Hathaway, and this time when he found out that Jessica was pregnant, he didn't know how hard it would be for him.

Half an hour after Kenny arrived home, Nick's car appeared outside the Taylor family's villa.

There were several reporters outside Taylor's villa, they were originally planning to continue squatting on Leon and Hathaway, but they didn't expect to see Nick.

They didn't understand why Nick was here, so they looked at each other and rushed up to surround him.

Nick uncharacteristically did not have a cold face, standing there looking at several people.

One of them hurriedly began his own interview, "Mr. Jackson, may I ask if you are here...?"

Several other reporters also looked at Nick with anticipation, obviously curious as to why he was here.

Nick spoke indifferently, "I'm Kenny's friend, he just came back today I came to get together with him."

Nick was telling a lie with his eyes open, he had indeed come to Taylor's house because Kenny had returned and everyone wanted to have dinner together, but not as Kenny's friend, but as Ashley's boyfriend to meet his big uncle.

A few reporters blinked, each recalling in their minds that Kenny used to have such a deep friendship with Nick? How could he get Nick to come to his home to meet him personally?

Besides, wouldn't it make more sense for such a meeting between friends to be held outside in a hotel restaurant, but coming to the house for a meal always felt like a very private and somewhat intimate affair?

Before a few people could say anything else, Nick had already turned around, "Excuse me, goodbye."

Then he went into the garden of the Taylor family villa, making light of the situation.

The reporters could barely convince themselves that Nick was really here to visit Kenny, but the future heir of the HD Hospital, apart from being busy saving lives in the hospital most of the time, the only friend he could get along with seemed to be Leon, didn't he?

While the reporters were wondering, another car arrived, and the reporters were so familiar with this car that they instantly flocked over in excitement.

The person who came was Leon, and as soon as he stepped out of the car, he was surrounded by reporters.

When Leon came to Taylor's house, the reporters were sure that he was here for Hathaway, so they finally caught a glimpse of him.

"Mr. Davis, may I ask what you came to Taylor's house for? To see Hathaway?"

"Are you and Hathaway back together?"

The questions asked by the reporters were all directed at Hathaway, Leon stood there with his long legs wrapped in western trousers and gave a few reporters a contemptuous look at his words, "I transferred Taylor Group to Kenny, he invited me to dinner, I'm here today to go to Kenny's banquet, no?"

A crowd of reporters, "..."

This was indeed a reasonable statement, but they always felt that something was not right.

However, Leon no longer gave them a chance to speak, and swept them with condensed eyebrows, "Don't let me see you again later!"

The reporters cowered for a moment, but Leon had already entered the door with long legs, just as easily as Nick.

The reporters blocked Nick and Leon, two men who are extremely difficult to interview, but they didn't catch a single bit of useful information, and several of them were downhearted.

However, they still did not want to leave and wanted to wait here, even though Leon had already warned them.

The reporters were familiar with this car, but this time no one dared to gather around to interview anything, because the person coming was Albert.

There was no need for them to cover anything because Albert was related to the Taylor family, Hathaway was his sister and there was nothing wrong with him coming to the Taylor family, so naturally, there was nothing to gossip about and they just happened to stay away from this big Buddha who was not to be messed with, no, Albert should be called Satan or the Devil.

However, just because they didn't go to the interview or mess with it doesn't mean that Albert will be merciful to them. After Albert's car was stable, Albert didn't get down, but two bodyguards got down from the car first, and came over and chased them away viciously, "Go away, go away, hurry up and go away, there better not be anything that shouldn't be out tomorrow!"

"You have five minutes to evacuate yourselves or we'll clean it up ourselves!"

"I'm warning you, we have people set up within a few kilometers, and if we see you sneaking around staring at this place again, you won't need anything."

With a few words from the two men, a few journalists clutching their interview equipment just about scurried away and got into their cars and left.

They didn't just have what they had shot tonight, they had everything else they had shot in the last few days, they couldn't afford to lose the rest of their work for the sake of it, these people under Albert were really scary when they said they would be.

CHAPTER 386 WAIT A LITTLE LONGER.

After the reporters had left, the two bodyguards turned around respectfully and opened the backseat door one by one.

The two of them got out of the car separately. Albert originally wanted to get down and help Jessica first, but Jessica got out of the car even more quickly than he did, which made him feel a lot more nervous, knowing that Jessica is now pregnant and he was afraid that something would happen to her.

The relationship between the two of them is basically less known, so Albert chose to take Jessica off the bus only after driving away the reporters.

The reason why his relationship with Jessica was not as loudly publicized was different from that of the Hathaway Ashley sisters, who chose to keep a low profile simply because he wanted to better protect Jessica.

The reason why Leon didn't make such a big deal about his relationship with Jessica was the same as the reason why he chose to keep a low profile.

He hadn't seen much of Hathaway in the past few days, so he took the opportunity to visit Kenny's house when she returned, and naturally, Hathaway was the center of his attention. Because he couldn't go in and out together, Leon was very upset in his heart.

A while ago, when their relationship was not being gossiped about, they could go wherever they wanted, but now they had gone completely underground.

The worst part was that he had recently recovered from his injuries and his strength had naturally returned, but he had slept on his own for several nights in a row and felt like he was about to get sick.

Nick has seen a lot of Ashley, who has been in the limelight for a while except when she first wanted to enter the entertainment industry but has since tailed off. After all, she has only done one movie so far or a few roles, so naturally no one pays much attention to her, so she and Nick can still see each other normally.

As there were many people to be entertained in the evening, Ashley had hired a chef from a five-star hotel to take charge of the kitchen so that the family did not have to follow the busy schedule.

When Leon entered, he saw Hathaway in the living room, pestering Kenny to listen to him talk about his missionary work. The girl's smile was bright and her laughter sounded pleasant.

She had no conscience!

The bright and beautiful girl had some conscience, after he had greeted some people and looked at her deeply, she stood up and smiled at him, "The suits I designed for you some time ago, Barry brought them to me, come and try them on."

Hathaway had previously designed several suits for Leon, and had sent them all to Barry for him to give an account of his own factory to customize them.

Barry was now an artist at Jasmine's studio, and when she went to the studio today to supervise the work, Barry came over and brought her the suits as well, saying that he had asked the masters in the sample room to cut and sew them personally so that Leon could wear them with extra class.

Hathaway didn't expect Barry to take such great care of the clothes, knowing that these masters were all artisans and didn't go out to cut and make the clothes themselves, their role was mostly to guide the newcomers and supervise the craftsmanship.

Hathaway also thought that it was fortunate that these suits had been delivered in time to ease Leon's depressed and unhappy mood for a while.

Naturally, Hathaway knew that Leon was unhappy with her stay at the Taylor's, but if she continued to be with him when the media was chasing them so fiercely, then their relationship would be exposed and all sorts of investors and directors and producers would be expected to dump scripts on Ashley for the sake of Leon being her brother-in-law.

Hathaway wanted to be concerned about Leon's feelings, but she couldn't ignore Ashley's future either.

Leon followed Hathaway up to the first floor, and just as she entered Hathaway's bedroom, Hathaway was pulled into the man's arms by his strong arms, and his lips kissed her eagerly.

The man's mouth smelled of tobacco, and since they hadn't seen each other for several days, Hathaway missed him so much that she couldn't help but stretch out her arms and hook her arms around his neck and press herself close to him, the air in the small space instantly becoming thinner.

Hathaway responded to Leon in such an active and soft manner, which made Leon's heart feel tender, and even those discontent also dissipated.

The two of them are the same as the other two.

I don't know how long it took, but both of them had lost their breath.

If it weren't for the fact that the people below were still waiting for dinner to be served, they would have left it alone.

Although the two of them had made out before, because of Leon's injuries, they always felt a little unfulfilled, and now that Leon's injuries were healed, they couldn't do anything, which was a life-threatening ordeal for Leon.

The tip of the man's nose was resting against Hathaway's forehead, Hathaway could hear his rapid and unsteady heartbeat and the man's low and husky voice, "Come with me tonight?"

Hathaway's body was tingling, and she just pressed herself into his arms and whispered, "Yes..."

Because they loved each other so much, not only did Leon long for her, she also longed for him, longed to be loved and owned by this man she loved.

The actual fact is that you'll be able to get a lot more than just a few of the most popular and most popular items on the market.

Leon embraced her and sighed slightly, "It's obvious that you are a couple in name only, but you still have to shake off a few waves of media when you meet, and you are hiding like you are stealing from someone."

Hathaway leaned into his arms and deliberately teased him, "Don't you think this is very exciting?"

Leon replied dryly, "No, I think it's depressing."

"Okay, don't be depressed, just wait a little longer, I heard from my sister that Jasmine has recently got another drama for her, we can go public once she gets her footing." Hathaway put her arm around the man's waist and soothed him softly.

Hathaway heard Ashley say that Jasmine had recently helped her with a costume drama, but her role was still not one that could be counted, but Ashley was already satisfied.

It was good for her to have a role for such a zero-based actress.

Jasmine said that although the role was not important, the character itself had to be a good singer and dancer, she had so many years of dancing experience and her temperament was gentle, so the role could showcase her talent and temperament very well.

CHAPTER 387 ALBERT IS JEALOUS OF HATHAWAY MAKING CLOTHES FOR LEON. 1

Hathaway appeased Leon in front of her and added, "Hurry up and try on these clothes."

With that, she went to fetch the ironed clothes and excitedly urged Leon to try them on.

As a designer, Hathaway looked forward to Leon wearing the clothes she had designed especially for him. She looked forward to seeing how her beloved man would be dressed up by her.

Of course, Hathaway was confident of her design as well as Leon's figure and temperament. He would make her clothes look the most handsome.

Leon took a calm look at the clothes, but his eyes brimmed with laughter and satisfaction.

He didn't know if it was because these clothes were designed by Hathaway that he liked and satisfied them at a glance. It was foreseeable that he would be wearing them regularly for some time to come.

Seeing Leon reaching out to unbutton his shirt, Hathaway turned around directly, "I won't look."

Leon said glumly, "What are you doing this? It sounds like you've never seen me change clothes before."

After saying that, he stretched out his arm to pull Hathaway and turned her around to face him.

Hathaway laughed helplessly, "President Davis, please consider my feelings, okay? I have been abstinent for days, but you want me to watch you undress. You're simply torturing me!"

Hathaway's words sounded like a joke, but they caused Leon's eyes to darken with desire instantly.

He stared at her with burning eyes and reached to unbutton his shirt one by one as if he was going to pounce on her in the next moment.

Seeing his action, Hathaway felt hot and her heart was racing uncontrollably. Then she hurriedly looked away and scurried into the nearby bathroom, "I... I go to the bathroom first..."

She couldn't stay with Leon anymore. If they continued like this, they wouldn't be able to go downstairs for dinner.

Leon looked at Hathaway's fleeting back and couldn't help but chuckle.

A few minutes later, Leon changed into his first suit and then called Hathaway out of the bathroom.

Hathaway uttered sighs of admiration unceasingly and ran over to look him up and down, "You look so handsome in this suit."

Leon not only had a proud height and long legs, but he also managed his figure well and exuded an elegant and noble temperament. Hathaway thought that he might look elegant even if he put on a piece of cloth.

Leon raised his hand and pressed Hathaway into his arms, "Are you complimenting your design or my good looks?"

"I think ... it boils down to your good temperament." Hathaway didn't hesitate to praise Leon, "If these clothes were on other men, it might be that the clothes make those men look good. But when you wear them, your temperament would give them a different flavor, elegant and charming."

Hathaway tilted her head to look up at Leon in front of her and felt unable to find the right words to describe his excellence, "In short, you're too perfect!"

In the end, she worded her conclusion this way.

"You talk sweet, huh?" Leon was satisfied with her complimentary words and asked her softly. Then he bowed his head and kissed her on the lips without waiting for her to say anything.

Hathaway was forced to bear Leon's kiss for a while. When he released her, he smiled lightly and savored the taste of her mouth, "It's really sweet."

Hathaway, "..."

Now, Leon played the rascal without blushing.

"Or you don't try on other clothes? Since this suit fits, the other ones will be the right size." Hathaway was originally worried that the clothes might not fit Leon. However, after seeing him in this suit, she was completely relieved because even poorly designed clothes would look good on Leon, not to mention that she felt her design was good.

Leon wanted to stay with her a little longer, but thinking of the people downstairs, he restrained himself. Anyway, she belonged to him the whole night today, so he agreed, "Okay, I won't try them on."

Then they went downstairs and saw that Albert and Jessica had already arrived and were having a lively chat with other family members in the living room.

As Leon held Hathaway's hand and walked downstairs, he felt very happy watching the noisy and lively scene before him.

Although he was still not talkative at such a family gathering due to his personality, he liked to watch them getting along lively because he thought that he was relieved and happy only in this way and such a lively life was the real one. Or he was too lacking in family affection in the first half of his life, so he especially liked this kind of lively family gathering.

Every time Leon saw this, he would secretly think that he and Hathaway must have more children, at least two, and lead a lively life in the future.

Leon didn't wear his original clothes downstairs, but the ones Hathaway designed for him because he couldn't bear to take them off and wanted to show off. Apart from him, no one here should have worn the clothes designed by Hathaway.

With a navy blue shirt and black trousers, Leon's temperament was more noble and cool, while Nick glanced at him and teased, "Why do I feel that you become more handsome after a trip upstairs?"

Leon pretended to calm and said, "Well, Hathaway designed it."

Although he said it calmly, he couldn't hide his smugness.

On one side, Jessica exclaimed with wide eyes, "Wow, Hathaway, is this the clothes you asked Barry to make some time ago? Is it done so quickly? It's so handsome and looks like tailor-made for President Davis!"

"Of course, President Davis has a good temperament. Especially his figure, it's more perfect than those male models." Jessica was a good talker and was stunned by Leon's handsomeness at the moment, so she praised Leon generously.

Jessica's words pleased Leon, but Albert's face darkened.

He grabbed back who was leaning forward with displeasure, "Don't teach my child such nymphomaniac ideas."

Then he frowned at Hathaway and protested, "Isn't it a bit unfair that you only designed his clothes? As your biological brother, should I also enjoy this treatment, shouldn't I?"

With that, Albert turned to look at Kenny and said, "Mr. Taylor, don't you think so? We should enjoy this as her brothers."

(To be continued)

CHAPTER 388 ALBERT IS JEALOUS OF HATHAWAY MAKING CLOTHES FOR LEON. 2

Hathaway was speechless about this and never thought that her designing clothes for Leon would lead to jealousy between these men. If she had known it earlier, she would not have let Leon go downstairs in this suit.

She looked up at Leon but saw the smugness in her eyes. It was clear that he enjoyed being envied by Albert.

Hathaway couldn't help but secretly taunt him for being so childish.

Kenny, who was named by Albert, gave a warm smile and replied lightly, "Unfortunately, the shirt I'm wearing today was designed by Hathaway a few years ago, so I don't feel unfair."

Hathaway had been designing clothes for her family since she was able to start designing, cutting, and making clothes.

Paul, Kenny, and Ashley had all worn the clothes designed by her. At first, she didn't have much confidence and only dared to design for her family, but they all supported her and gave her face to wear her designs to various occasions. Gradually, she found her confidence and dared to use her imagination.

Later, Ashley was particularly fond of the clothes she designed and even only wore only her designs. Ashley said that her designs made her feel more confident and secure.

After hearing Kenny's words, Leon immediately pulled a long face.

He stared at Hathaway unhappily, pointed at Kenny's shirt, and asked, "Did you design this?"

Leon originally thought he was the first one to wear Hathaway's designs. Even if Ashley had dressed designed by Hathaway, he didn't mind because Ashley was a woman, as long as he was the first man to wear it. As a result, he didn't expect Kenny to say this.

Before Hathaway said something, Kenny continued, "Hathaway is a designer and has set up her studio abroad. So far, she has designed many clothes, including men's clothing, so it's pointless for you to be jealous of this."

Leon was once again stimulated by Kenny and felt down in the dumps instantly.

He leaned back against the sofa and sat there in silence.

He knew that Hathaway was a designer and had designed many clothes. Mostly in the past, some people had bought her designs, made clothes, and then sold them to many other people, but he minded who Hathaway specifically designed clothes for because he thought he should be the first one.

Now he regretted that he hadn't met her earlier and didn't know her when she was a fledgling designer. In that case, he could have been her first model.

Hathaway saw Leon's displeasure, went over to sit beside him, and took the initiative to appease him, "I didn't have much confidence when I first started designing clothes, so I used my dad and my brother as models to practice."

Then she leaned close and whispered in Leon's ear, "My previous designs didn't look good, but the ones I designed for you are the most perfect."

After hearing Hathaway's words, Leon felt better and took another look at Kenny's shirt, only to find that it was extraordinarily ugly.

Hathaway had a hard time coaxing Leon, but her brother, Albert, said in a provocative tone, "Take measurements and design some clothes for me another day."

Anyway, Albert was determined to let Hathaway make some clothes for him and vied with Leon for her favor.

Leon frowned and gazed at Albert unhappily, "Do you want me to buy Hathaway's design patent?"

Once he bought Hathaway's exclusive design right, she would only design for him in the future.

Hathaway was upset about this. At this moment, she happened to see the chef serving the sumptuous dishes in the dining room, so she hurriedly said to them in a sullen tone, "All right, stop arguing so childishly. Dinner is ready!"

Then she took the lead and walked away. Albert and Leon gave each other provocative glances, which caused Kenny and Nick to shake their heads speechlessly and get up to leave.

Ashley turned to Paul's room and asked him to come out. Paul only showed up to exchange pleasantries with the youngsters when they first arrived and then went back to his room. After all, he was too old for such a lively occasion, and most importantly, he wanted to leave space for the youngsters. Otherwise, they wouldn't be able to play freely in his presence.

Albert didn't mean to provoke Leon. Because he thought that the clothes designed by Hathaway looked good, he wanted some to make himself more handsome.

Leon and Albert were the last to walk towards the table, Albert was there to support Jessica, although Jessica didn't want him to do so at all.

As the three of them got up, Leon said to Albert, "Jessica is pregnant now, why do you want Hathaway to design your clothes to dress so handsomely? Do you want to go out and attract the attention of other young women?"

After saying that, Leon straightened his back and left, leaving Albert to angrily face Jessica sizing him up.

Although Albert knew that Jessica trusted him, she was different now. Due to her pregnancy, she was emotionally unstable.

As expected, Jessica squinted at him. When Albert opened his mouth to say something, she said coldly, "I think Leon's words are quite reasonable. You are so insistent on Hathaway designing clothes for you, what are your intentions?"

Albert gritted his teeth in anger.

Leon was so petty. He only asked Hathaway to design some clothes for him, but Leon took revenge on him by stirring up his relation with Jessica.

However, he could only cautiously coax Jessica, "What intentions can I have? Isn't there a saying that a girl will doll herself up for him who loves her? It's the same with men. I want to dress up more handsome to fascinate you so that you would never leave me."

Originally, Albert intended to pacify Jessica by saying this, but true feelings flowed from his eyes in the end.

Because he wanted to keep Jessica from leaving him.

No matter what methods he used, such as coercion, softness, or male charm, his ultimate goal was to keep Jessica.

Besides, he pampered her every day so that other men couldn't stand her, and then she would only belong to him

To be honest, Jessica didn't want to question Albert. She naturally trusted him and just seized upon Leon's topic to joke with him, but she didn't expect Albert to unconsciously overflow with deep feelings when coaxing her. Looking at the affection in his eyes, Jessica couldn't help but say, "People say that pregnant women will be a fool in three years, but I think you are foolish."

After that, she turned around and walked briskly towards the dining room, while Albert came to his sense and went after her angrily.

CHAPTER 389 LEON PROPOSES TO STAY IN A HOTEL WITH HATHAWAY TONIGHT.

There were so many people coming for dinner that the dining table was full.

Fortunately, the Taylors' dining room was large and luxurious enough to accommodate these people.

The Taylors' villa was old-fashioned, but the Taylors were very wealthy at that time. Moreover, Paul had envisaged the grand picture of his three children each coming back with their life partners in the future, so the dining room was designed to be very large back then, and now there was more than enough room for their whole family to sit together.

However, unlike Paul's previous envisagement, Albert and Jessica were here.

At that time, Paul never thought that Hathaway would find her biological parents. Now that Albert was willing to get close and integrate with them as Hathaway's half-brother, Paul naturally welcomed him.

He had always liked children, so the more children he had, the happier he was. As he got older, he liked the joy and happiness brought by these young people's gatherings even more.

The dinner atmosphere was very pleasant. All of a sudden, Albert said to Kenny, "Now that we all have life partners, only you are single, so you have to pick up the pace."

It had been a while since Albert and Jessica got married. Nick was in marriage talks with Ashley, while Leon and Hathaway got their marriage license some time ago. Kenny was the only one who was single. It was said that Kenny had been away from South City during this period to look for Crystal, but he didn't seem to have found her now. Otherwise, he wouldn't have come back alone.

Hearing, Kenny lifted his glass towards Albert and nodded with a smile, "Well, I'll try."

Hathaway glanced at Albert and also thought that Kenny had changed a lot since his return. For example, now that Albert brought up his personal feelings almost directly, Kenny didn't show a hint of his previous disillusionment and sadness in his eye, not to mention his rejection. Instead, he responded calmly and freely.

In Hathaway's mind, Kenny used to be gentle but less decisive.

Because of his lack of decisiveness, he seemed to be indecisive many times, but now Kenny gave her a completely different feeling.

Hathaway felt that Kenny's heart was as hard as steel and wouldn't blink even if the sky was falling.

Hathaway knew that Kenny should be cold and hardhearted as the president of the Taylor Group and was glad that he had made such a change, but she felt a bit distressed for Kenny because his change was the result of both his career and emotional trauma.

Kenny suffered a lot of hardships that they hadn't seen to become what he was now. As Kenny's younger sister, Hathaway naturally felt distressed for him.

However, this was life.

Life was the best teacher for all of us, and we would eventually become different under its polish.

After the dinner, considering that they had a boisterous night and shouldn't disturb Paul anymore, so these young people left without staying long.

Albert and Jessica left first. Just as Albert's two bodyguards had warned the reporters when they arrived, their men had chased away any suspicious reporters nearby, so they could leave openly.

Subsequently, Nick and Ashley left. It was so easy for Nick not to have a night shift, so he didn't want to spend the long night alone. Leon and Hathaway were the last to leave. Since Kenny was now back, the two sisters weren't afraid that Paul would have no one to keep him company.

After sending a bunch of people away, Paul turned to look at Kenny who was standing with him under the porch to see off the guests, "Have you still not found Crystal?"

Kenny returned lightly, "No."

"Alas..." Paul heaved a sigh, "How are you going to find her now that you're back running the company?"

Tonight, as he watched the other three pairs of young people all loved each other and only his son was single, Paul didn't feel well.

Kenny replied calmly, "I'll figure out something."

Paul gave him another look, "If you must marry her, I will support you to continue your search."

Paul considered the following words and didn't say it, but he knew Kenny would understand what he wanted to say and added, "It's getting late. Go to bed early."

After saying this, he turned around and went back to the house, while Kenny stood under the porch without moving and looked up at the starry sky with sullen eyes.

He did understand Paul's unspoken words that he should compose his emotion and start afresh if Crystal wasn't a must to him.

He hadn't found Crystal and wanted to composed his emotion for a new start.

But his mind was on her. Even if he wanted to start afresh, he had no chance.

After a self-deprecating smile, he turned around despondently and went back to the house.

Leon had drunk some wine during the dinner, so Hathaway drove the car.

Almost every time Leon came to the Taylors for dinner, he would drink some wine, looking very happy and satisfied.

Hathaway was driving intently. When the car was about to reach the intersection ahead, Leon in the copilot's seat suddenly spoke, "Turn right ahead."

Hathaway followed his directions and drove while asking in confusion, "This isn't the way back to your home, is it?"

Instead, it was getting farther and farther away, okay?

Leon's voice rang out in the silent car, "First of all, that's our home and not just mine."

His tone sounded a bit insistent as if he had to correct her words.

They had already gotten a marriage certificate and were a real legal couple, so the flat was no longer his home alone, but their home.

Leon felt that the word "his home" coming from Hathaway's mouth was extremely strange and didn't like to hear it.

Leon suddenly thought that he should show Hathaway all his properties in a few days and let her pick a new villa as their house to live in later because he considered that their life would be lively. If they were to call Ashley, Kenny, Albert, and Jessica to gather at their home from time to time, the flat they lived in now would not be very convenient.

The single-family villa was better because it was not too noisy for their neighbors upstairs and downstairs.

And if they had children in the future, there would be more space for them.

He lived in the current flat for him to go to work. At that time, he was single, so he didn't think too much about it.

Now it was different. As a man with a family, he should focus on his family first in every aspect and consider her, her social circle, and their children.

Hathaway laughed softly at Leon's correcting words and turned to dart a glance at the disgruntled man, "Alright, it's our home."

Only then was Leon satisfied and continued, "The reporters are watching closely these days, and some of them must be guarding the flat downstairs, so let's go to a hotel tonight."

(To be continued)

CHAPTER 390 THE GOSSIP ABOUT LEON

Because of the wine and the late-night, the man's voice was tainted with huskiness and sounded more bewitching.

Hathaway's grip on the steering wheel was unstable for a moment, and her heart jumped up and down.

Were they going to staying in a hotel tonight?

She always felt like ... it was ambiguous for a man and a woman to spend the night in a hotel. Although they were a legal couple, Hathaway felt breathless at the thought of that image. Especially they hadn't had the most intimate physical contact since Leon's wounds had recovered, so she felt like she wouldn't be able to get out of bed tomorrow morning.

Leon leaned back in his chair, opened his eyes to look at her tangled face, and lazily asked her on purpose, "What's wrong?"

Hathaway tried her best to hide the emotion on her face, "It's nothing. Let's go."

"Well," Leon replied in a low pleasant voice.

Hathaway took a deep breath, steadied her grip on the steering wheel, and then drove straight to the hotel ahead.

Leon chose the best hotel in South City and booked a luxury suite facing the sea. When they stepped into the room, they could hear the sound of the waves lapping against the rocks outside, but neither of them was in the mood to appreciate the night or sea view. As soon as they entered the room, they kissed each other passionately, and then the first half of the night was almost a bone-deep intimate entanglement.

More than half a month had passed since Leon was injured. Moreover, he was at the age of desire and had been abstinent for so long, so he longed to blend in with her.

At first, Hathaway cooperated with him enthusiastically out of her miss for him, but later she could only plead with him for mercy.

In the end, Hathaway pinched Leon's lean waist and protested in an intermittent voice, "Leon, you'll be alone from now on!"

Bastard! She shouldn't have been soft-hearted to come here with him tonight!

Later, she was so tired that she fell asleep on Leon's arm and listening to the sound of the waves outside. When she woke up again, she had no idea what the time was now because the heavy curtains of the hotel blocked everything outside.

Leon was asleep like her and opened his eyes as soon as she woke up.

Before Hathaway came back to her senses, Leon leaned over to kiss her deeply, and his sexy voice rang in her ear, "Good morning..."

Hathaway could only whisper back, "Good morning."

Then she asked him, "What time is it?"

Leon gazed at her with a satisfying and delightful smile in his dark and hot eyes, "I don't know what time it is either. I turned off our phones last night."

It was rare for them to spend a night together like this. Leon didn't want any phone call to disrupt their excitement, as he could foresee that they wouldn't be able to see each other easily once she returned unless the reporters' enthusiasm for their gossip was extinguished.

Hathaway was a little speechless and tried to get up to find her phone to check the time, but the soreness of her body made her frown.

Then she turned to glare at the culprit, while Leon met her irritated gaze with a smile, acting as if she could beat or scold him at will.

Before Hathaway could accuse him of anything, Leon reached out to wrap her in his arms again and said intimately, "Let's lie down for a while longer."

After that, he took his phone from the bedside table and turned it on to check the time. As soon as the phone was turned on, a series of message beeps came in, all of which were missed calls from Warren.

Leon put his arm around Hathaway, called Warren back, and asked, "What's going on?"

Warren asked hesitantly on the other end, "President Davis, who were you with last night?"

Leon glanced at the delicate girl in his arms and asked Warren again, "What happened?"

Warren was not of a hesitant disposition, but Leon didn't know what was wrong with him today and felt that he was a little bit hesitant to talk.

"You'd better read the news headlines first." After saying this, Warren hung up the phone first, while Leon let go of Hathaway in his arms and sat up to read the news on his phone in a relaxed manner.

Hathaway also sat up to press herself against Leon's bare sturdy back and asked in confusion, "What's happened?"

Then their eyes fell on the news headlines, and they were speechless at the same time.

Leon secretly met a gorgeous woman in the hotel and had no hope of getting back together with Hathaway.

Below was a picture of them walking intimately into the hotel and the text of what time they arrived at the hotel and then stayed out all night.

When they arrived at the hotel last night, Hathaway was afraid of being recognized, so she rummaged through the baseball cap and mask she had left in Leon's car before and put herself in full disguise, which led to this scene on the news.

No one saw her face and knew that the woman who spent the night with Leon was her, so Leon was described as meeting a gorgeous woman in a hotel.

Previously, Leon had always been a cool and ascetic Prince Charming in South City. Although he and Hathaway had a sensational engagement, the gossip about them completely disappeared after Hathaway announced the cancellation of their engagement and left for Hong Kong. Then Leon recovered his image as a cool nobleman.

However, now he was directly exposed that he had spent the night with a woman in a hotel.

A bunch of people was commenting on this matter below. Some people said that Leon's cool image was pretentious, and he had a chaotic private life just like those dudes who flirted with women.

Some people said they didn't expect Leon to do something like spending the night with a woman in a hotel, which was a big shock to them.

What was more, because of Leon's private meeting, the Davis Group's stock had some small fluctuations.

Hathaway let out a giggle and gloatingly poked Leon's arm, "It's all because you insisted on taking me out to stay in a hotel."

Leon tossed his phone aside, rolled over to press the warm and soft girl onto the big bed, and pretended to sigh bitterly, "A dangerous beauty."

Hathaway reached out to grab Leon's shoulder and chuckled, "What are you going to do now?"

Leon lowered his head and kissed her, "I won't do anything."

Hathaway avoided his hot lips and asked with some concern, "What about your image?"

Now he was suddenly recognized as a womanizer because of last night. Didn't he want to save his image?

Leon said carelessly, "What can I do with my image? As long as you know what kind of person I am. If I have to save my image, I can only take you out of the hotel later."

Hathaway, "..."

Well, it was better not to save his image for now.

He didn't care about it anyway, did he?

Anyway, he was the most self-disciplined man in her eyes.