

TIMELESS LOVE

CHAPTER 23 LEON'S MOTHER'S RAID

Hathaway didn't know how long she had been pressed against the door by Leon, but all she knew was that when she was released, her lips were hurt severely and her wrists were about to be broken.

She looked down at her hand and angrily pushed the man in front of her away. She rushed into a bathroom after a scurry in the house of two hundred and twenty square meters, and then began to wash her hands.

She cursed angrily as she cleaned her hands, "Shame on you! Shame on you!"

As soon as she thought of what Leon had just done to her, Hathaway felt that her face was burning.

And it was only at this time that she regretted not listening to Nick's advice. It was a case of not listening to good advice and suffering a loss. So it wasn't that Nick wasn't chaste, but she was completely ignorant of men and their inferior nature!

After cleaning her hands, Hathaway decided to go out and criticize Leon. Hathaway felt that this house of 220 square meters was like a maze. Why did Leon live in such a big house? Wouldn't he feel lonely?

Before Taylor Group's accident, Hathaway had her own house, and actually, all three of their siblings had their own houses, and Hathaway's was the smallest, which was an ordinary apartment of 70 to 80 square meters. She was naturally a person loving crowds and couldn't stand such a deserted environment.

She finally found him in the bathroom attached to the huge bedroom, and there was the sound of clattering water coming from the bathroom. Leon was bathing in there.

Hathaway rubbed her sore wrist and cursed angrily at the bathroom door, "Leon, you stinking pervert! Shame on you!"

"Abominable creature who thinks only with your lower body!"

After a few curses, the sound of water in the bathroom stopped abruptly, and then the bathroom sliding door was pulled open. Leon's hair was damp and he squinted and warned her, "Do you want to do it again?"

Hathaway was silent.

He satisfactorily retreated into the bathroom and continued his shower.

Hathaway recognized that Leon had just pulled the door open with nothing on him...

Hathaway admitted that Leon's body was very arresting. He was tall and his legs were long with broad shoulders and narrow waist and he was strong and lean without a trace of fat. Last time she had felt his abs, they were great.

But he just came out like that without any warning, which was quite unbelievable, wasn't it?

It was too dreadful.

Hathaway who was warned was bored and rolled over several times on the big bed in Leon's bedroom until he came out of the shower. She jumped down from the bed and ran in front of Leon to stop him with anticipation in her beautiful eyes, "Do you forgive me? Can I not get kicked out of the game?"

Leon blankly looked down at her, uncontrollably remembering her soft palm just now, causing that hotness in his body to gush again.

He's not a sex addict. What happened?

Hathaway didn't get Leon's answer, but then they heard the doorbell of his house suddenly ring, and then Hathaway was left by Leon. He stepped forward in his black pajamas with his long legs to open the door.

But Leon took a glance from the peephole and then came back. Hathaway somehow had a bad premonition and asked him in fear, "Who?"

Leon calmly replied to her, "My mother."

Hathaway, "..."

After coming to her senses she turned around and ran around like a headless fly.

Leon held her angrily, "What are you doing?"

When Hathaway was nervous, she threw herself to Leon and explained hastily, "I'm finding a place to hide! I'm afraid that your mother will kill me when she saw me in your house, right?"

Hathaway knew clearly that no mother could accept her son being with a notorious woman like her, especially Leon was excellent in every aspect such as his family background and ability.

But fortunately, she approached Leon to go through the hardship via his help and she never thought of being with him for a long time.

Leon's mother was still ringing the doorbell outside, but he held her in his arms and asked her, "You know yourself well, don't you? So why did you make yourself notorious?"

Hathaway pouted, "No one cares about me, so I had to make my reputation a little worse, otherwise the debt collectors would have treated me very badly."

She'd made herself infamous, and those men would think about whatever they wanted to do to her. If she was an innocent little girl, those men would have already done whatever they could to her.

Leon gazed at her for a long time and coolly said a word, "Stupid."

Hathaway was about to protest when he added, "Stay inside and be silent."

Then he left the bedroom, and Hathaway breathed a sigh of relief.

For some reason, with Leon's words, Hathaway felt that his mother wouldn't do anything to her tonight.

It was ridiculous. Why would she feel safe when it was obvious that he had been sarcastic?

At the entrance, Leon opened the door to let his mother in, explaining to her, "I was just taking a bath. What are you doing here?"

Adeline Smith, Leon's mother showed him the food box in her hand, "Warren said you didn't have dinner tonight, so I specially made some food and brought it over for you. ."

Warren Thomas was Leon's special assistant, and she was familiar with him.

"I know," Leon responded like this before turning around and leading his mother towards the dining table.

Adeline said as she walked, "I heard today that you are having an affair with Taylor Group's youngest daughter Hathaway. Leon, you don't know how many men she has relationships with so she is simply not worthy of you, and our Davis family can't accept a woman like her!"

Leon stood by the table and looked at her silently. It was the real reason why she came to bring him dinner today: to ask him about his relationship with Hathaway and let him know directly that they won't accept Hathaway.

The news of Hathaway's involvement in Davis Group Old Town redevelopment project and her decision to leave at the meeting was heard by his parents immediately. Leon wasn't surprised that his mother would come over to question him.

He nodded at her, "Don't worry about me."

Adeline was still unsure, "They say the youngest daughter of Taylor Family is a little vixen who has charmed so many men by her beauty. You must keep away from her."

"Well, Abby, the girl I introduced to you last time is Hathaway's cousin. I think Abby is much more reliable than Hathaway."

Leon replied to her directly, "I don't like plastic face."

"What?" Adeline was very puzzled.

Leon calmly explained, "I said, Abby has had many plastic surgeries and her face looks fake. I don't know why you think she is reliable."

Adeline was at a loss for words for a moment as she was refuted by her son, and Leon continued, "If you continue to help me arrange blind dates in the future, I'll make a few requirements."

"This woman should have fair skin and long legs; she should be still beautiful with her makeup off, and her net height must not be less than one meter six-five."

Leon nodded his head again at this point, "Well, let me make these requirements for now, and I'll make others later."

Adeline, "..."
