

Timeless Love 26

CHAPTER 26 THE DIGNITY WAS EARNED BY YOURSELF.

Barbara looked up at the sound of Hathaway's voice and saw her slowly coming down from upstairs with no makeup, but she was still very beautiful, which made Barbara can't help but think of a poem: her beauty eclipses all beauty.

Thinking of that her daughter was forced to do plastic surgery because of the beauty of Ashley and Hathaway, and her son's fascination with Hathaway's beautiful face, Barbara was in no mood to admire the beauty and was so angry that she wanted to tear Hathaway's pretty face off.

She growled severely at Hathaway, "Do you have the right to call me Barbara? What have you done to shame our family? Do you still know I am your aunt?"

After making Paul sit on the sofa and reassuring him, Hathaway sat down on the arm of the sofa next to her father. She asked Barbara with a smile, "How come I don't know what I've done to shame your family?"

Barbara gritted her teeth, "First you stole Abby's blind date, Leon, and now I wonder why Andrew is so obsessed with you. What purpose do you have?"

Last night Andrew came home drunk and told them that he was going to fight with Hathaway for Taylor Group, so they were overjoyed. For so many years, they had used all sorts of methods to persuade Andrew to seize power, but Andrew just wouldn't budge.

Although Andrew never told them why he didn't want to seize power, she and Tom knew that Andrew was afraid that Hathaway would be hurt. Hathaway and her siblings got along well, so if Kenny lost his position as CEO, Hathaway would feel grieved.

Now that Andrew had finally decided to seize power, she and Tom were so happy that they want to set off firecrackers to celebrate. Andrew was very competitive when Kenny was in power, but Hathaway in power was simply incapable of anything but beauty, so it was very easy for Andrew to seize power and it was as if they could already see Andrew's success.

But Andrew said that if he succeeded in getting Taylor Group, they had to agree to his marriage to Hathaway as well.

This pissed her and Tom, and Tom picked up the teacup next to him and smashed it at Andrew, who didn't dodge and got hit on the forehead and he was injured with fresh blood flowing. She felt very distressed.

Thinking of this, Barbara became even more annoyed and viciously cursed Hathaway, "You started liking men at such a young age. I've never seen such a shameless vixen like you in my life!"

If it wasn't for Hathaway, how come her excellent son had refused to get married until now and how come he hadn't achieved fame and fortune?

She was so angry!

Barbara was very irritated, but Hathaway looked at her pretty delicate nails and smiled, "I heard that back then my uncle originally didn't want to marry you. You drugged him to sleep with him and got pregnant with Andrew before you got married, and then took advantage of his desire to have a son before my father to marry him successfully."

Barbara's face had turned pale by the time Hathaway said this, and Hathaway continued to irritate Barbara mercilessly, "Compared to what you did, I feel that what I did was just a piece of cake."

Barbara was angry and embarrassed, but Hathaway looked very innocent, "If I want to succeed in marrying Leon in the future, I will have to ask you for more experience about it."

"Hathaway!" Barbara was trembling with anger as she called Hathaway's name.

Hathaway's words clearly told her that she was going to grab Leon from Abby. When Hathaway said that she should teach her, it was clearly a sarcastic way of saying that she once had even more dishonorable means!

Hathaway sighed, "Dignity is something you've worked hard to earn. Don't blame me for being so straightforward."

Barbara was about to cry with anger.

After Hathaway finished sarcastically mocking her, she easily shifted the blame to her, secretly mocking her for being ashamed because of her own actions.

Barbara had been fierce for half of her life, but today she didn't know how to refute Hathaway and was so angry that she was about to have a heart attack.

While Barbara was still in a rage, Hathaway already changed the subject, "Don't let me find out that my brother's being in jail and my sister's accident had something to do with you, otherwise..."

Hathaway tilted her head and announced to Barbara, "Otherwise I would let Andrew go to jail and let Abby have a car accident."

Barbara was going crazy, "How dare you!"

Hathaway raised her pretty chin without any fear and replied to her, "You'll see if I dare!"

Barbara covered her chest and gasped, just like Paul who had difficulty breathing because of the irritation from her, while Paul grimly sitting on the sofa, not caring about this smokeless war between the two of them, which was tacit approval of Hathaway's disrespect for her.

After Hathaway finished speaking, she suddenly shook her head again and smiled coquettishly at Barbara, but Barbara felt fear. Hathaway said, "No, I won't let Andrew go to jail but I'll make Andrew even more obsessed with me and make you angry every day."

"Hathaway!"

Barbara was mad and scolded her without any elegance, "You little bitch! I'm going to kill you today!"

Barbara pounced on Hathaway after she said that and she wanted to tear Hathaway apart.

Hathaway didn't panic at all, but took out her cell phone from her pocket and showed it to Barbara. "The recording had already started since I went downstairs just now. If you want Andrew's feelings for me and your current appearance of a shrew to be made public, please continue to hit me."

Because of the phone that Hathaway held up at her, Barbara forced herself to stop moving.

Barbara didn't expect Hathaway to be so resourceful. She turned on the recording function in advance. She could care less about her own reputation, but she couldn't care less about her son Andrew's reputation.

Everyone in the entire South City knew that Andrew and Hathaway were cousins, and regardless of whether there was a true blood relationship between Andrew and Hathaway, if Andrew's feelings for Hathaway were announced, his reputation would be ruined.

"Barbara, be careful on your way." Barbara was so angry that she was half dead but couldn't do anything to her, which made Hathaway feel happy.

Barbara was so angry that she left the Taylor family and went straight to the hospital.

She was going to the hospital to have the doctor give her a diagnostic certificate to show Andrew how heartless Hathaway was for making her sick with anger. If he wanted his mother to be irritated in the future, he should just keep liking Hathaway.