Chapter 276 - Tough Step (Part-2)

Mo Jiang's eyes narrowed seeing the three men. Zhou Xuiye walked towards him and asked while crossing her arms in front of her c.h.e.s.t. "What do you think? Do they look similar?"

However, instead of answering her question, he asked "Do you really think it will work?"

"Let's see. At least, we can try it." Zhou Xuiye gave an honest reply and in return, she got his deadly stare.

"What? I am a doctor, not God." Zhou Xuiye shuddered.

"We will also see whether God will come to take you away or save you." Mo Jiang coldly said and walked away to sit on the couch and wait to see the result of Zhou Xuiye's plan.

Zhou Xuiye ignored him as he wasn't the first person who had threatened her.

She turned to look at the men and asked, "You all know what to do, right?"

"Don't worry, Miss. Zhou. We are professional actors. We won't disappoint you."

"Good. Mary, please take them to Liu Juan's room." Zhou Xuiye said to the nurse.

Now on the top floor of the hospital in a VIP room, bright lights were on. A petite figure was standing near the window and staring outside the window at nothing in particular.

No particular thought was roaming in her mind. Liu Juan's mind was blank, so was the look in her eyes- hollow!

She had been standing there, not knowing for how long. Perhaps, since the time when the nurse left after taking her unfinished dinner away.

She hadn't eaten anything today as well and no one knew how long her body would be able to take it without proper food.

Abruptly, the light of the room switched off but Liu Juan didn't pay attention to it and continued to stand there.

Seconds turned into minutes but nothing happened. The silence had engulfed the room with the faint sound of crickets being heard but Liu Juan didn't pay attention to it as well.

Slowly, the door of the room opened and the bright lights from the corridor enlightened the inside of the room.

The sound of footsteps was heard and multiple shadows were seen on the floor as they walked into the room.

Then the door closed behind them.

Liu Juan continued to stand on her place, unbeknownst to the movement happening in her room.

Until, she heard someone call out, "Little Beauty."

A shiver swarmed over her back as she heard a similar voice. Her heart skipped a beat.

'No, this is not true.' She must be hallucinating. Thinking that she calmed down but only for a fraction of seconds as...

"Little beauty. Look, we are here."

Immediately Liu Juan turned around and her eyes widened in horror seeing the three men in front of her.

Although she couldn't see their faces, their physique was similar to those she knew.

She immediately took a few steps backward and her back hit the wall. But the men continued to walk forward as the first man spoke up, "Where are you running to, little beauty? Have you forgotten that you can't run away from us? Not before, and certainly not now."

"You...you... You can't be alive. I had killed all of you." Liu Juan said with a stutter.

Hearing her words, the men started laughing at her. "If you had killed us then why are you still so scared of us?"

"You can't kill us from your life, from your mind." The third man said.

"No this is not true." She shook her head vigorously and yelled. "I have killed you all. You can't be alive."

"Really?" The second man sneered and continued. "Then why don't you come and touch us?"

"You know which part of our bodies like your touch, don't you?" The third man said as an evil laugh escaped from his lips.

Liu Juan shivered hearing his words and instantly, all the deep hidden brutal memories in her mind started to surface above.

"No....Help....Somebody help..." Liu Juan's eyes welled up and she shouted at the top of her lungs.

However, no one came around to her rescue; just like no one had come to save her many years ago.

"Shout as much as you can, but do you really think that anyone would be bothered about you?" The first man asked as he took a step forward towards her with the other two men.

"No...Do-Don't come here. I-- I have my husband, Mo- Mo Jiang....He won't l-leave you..." Liu Juan warned them as she managed to stutter her words out and moved back, trying to go far away from them.

"Really? Where is he then?" The second man asked.

In the darkroom, there was no one except them.

"He is not here and he doesn't know about us." The first man answered on behalf of Liu Juan.

"And he won't be able to find out about us." The third man continued with a smile.

"Why?" The second man asked.

"Because she didn't tell him about us and she doesn't even have any plans of doing so, right little beauty?" The third man said and took one more step towards her.

"Don't come near me. I will tell him everything...everything...he won't leave you..." Liu Juan continued to warn them but it didn't affect them.

They continued to walk towards her, step by step, and she moved back but not fast enough. Because soon she was captured in their grasp.

"NO!!!!.... Please..." Liu Juan shouted and begged but the men dragged her towards the bed.

The faint moonlight was enough to enlighten the surroundings of the room.

Liu Juan felt her heart jump to her throat as the men threw her on the bed.

"No!" She struggled badly but two of the three men held her hands and legs and the third man moved her body back.

"No... Don't....Mo Jiang....Jiang...Help..." Liu Juan continued to shout with tears streaming down her face.

Terror was inserted in every cell of her body.

However, the door of the room opened suddenly.
