

Everyone from the company started leaving one by one after their lunch; they only came to pay their visit at Lu Chen's first and they soon left because they had other people to visit too.

Li Qingcheng left too; she never mentioned anything about the collaboration throughout the entire process.

Instead, Chen Guangxing took the opportunity to talk to Lu Chen. He suggested for Lu Chen to start a chamber of commerce in Chongqing to help unite all the scattered business developers, in turn helping Chongqing to move forward in terms of economy.

The Chen family had always been committed to pushing Chongqing's economy. This was part of the reason why they were always firmly recognized as Chongqing's greatest family.

Chen Guangxing had always hoped that he could unite every entrepreneur in Chongqing one day so that they could avoid all the unnecessary fights and arguments to focus on the development of Chongqing's economy.

Ten years ago, they had Jun Yue Group overpowering them; now, it was Yi Qi Technology.

Although Jun Yue Group did attempt to help by investing into many businesses, they were still behind by a bit in terms of capabilities.

Although it was still uncertain when Yi Qi Technology would start profiting, it was obvious that they would dominate the economy in Chongqing for decades with the launching of the YQ-01 aircraft engine and the Extinguisher-100.

For them to have achieved such a huge success in half a year, Chen Guangxing believed that Yi Qi Technology would reach even greater heights in the future.

He also believed that those in Chongqing who were smart would see this too.

Thus, Yi Qi Technology would be receiving approval and support by coming up with a plan to unite and develop Chongqing's economic status.

As long as more than half of them join, the chamber of commerce would be successful.

Regarding Chen Guangxing's suggestion, Lu Chen promised that he'd consider it.

To be honest, he really had no time to think too much about setting up a chamber of commerce; he had to consider more important factors other than profits.

With so many innovative inventions in his hands, he would like to launch all of them as soon as possible to bring humanity one step ahead into a level one civilization.

With the civilization on Earth just reaching a level of 0.7, they couldn't even travel to Mars, that was the closest planet to them; travelling beyond the solar system was simply out of the question at this stage.

Sometimes, he'd wonder whether it was possible for humans to travel beyond the solar system if they really reach the status of a level one civilization.

However, since Chen Guangxing suggested this with all seriousness, he'd really think through about this.

After everyone finally left, Lu Chen brought his entire family to Dali City for a trip.

He'd never brought Lin Yijun on a trip after their marriage. So, he took this opportunity to bring them out to have a good time.

The journey to Dali City from Chongqing wasn't far. Hence, Lu Chen opted for a road trip; they would be able to enjoy the scenery on the way too.

Of course, he'd prepare a private plane for himself that he could fly, but this time, he preferred a road trip instead.

After all, he wanted to fully use up these seven days of New Year holiday to spend more time with his wife and daughter.

It was already night time when they reached Dali City. Lu Chen booked a hotel for them to rest.

"What kind of fun places do they have in Dali City? Have you checked?" Lin Yijun asked Lu Chen in their hotel room.

Lu Chen was still checking with his phone.

Although he'd heard many talking about it, he didn't know what was fun in Dali City as it was his first time here as well.

“Let’s visit the Er Lake at Cang Mountain tomorrow. I heard that the Amorous Island is located there too! Seems like it would be fun!” Lu Chen was leaning on the bed while Qiqi fell into deep slumber in his embrace.

“Alright.” Lin Yijun nodded. It was her first time at Dali City as well.

The next day, the two of them went out and drove to Cang mountain. During the red light traffic signal, Lin Yijun suddenly went into a trance when she saw wedding photograph advertisements in front of them.

Inadvertently noticing Lin Yijun’s facial expression, Lu Chen chuckled and drove them to Best Bridal House’s building.

“What do you want to do here?” Lin Yijun asked, slightly confused.

She thought to herself that she probably knew what Lu Chen was planning.

Her marriage with Lu Chen was initially opposed by her mother. So, she took her household register and went to the Civil Affairs Bureau to get their marriage certificates done and thus, they got married just like that.

They did not hold any wedding dinner, nor did they make up for it with wedding photos.

Hence, Lin Yijun couldn't help but daydream every time she passed by bridal houses.

To be able to walk through the way in a wedding dress toward a successful marriage was every girls' dream; it was obviously the same for Lin Yijun as well.

"Let's be spontaneous and get ourselves a set of marriage photos!" Lu Chen suggested after parking his car.

"Sure!" Lin Yijun agreed without much thought.

"Are you two looking to have a wedding photoshoot?" said the female boss who greeted them when the both of them entered the shop on the fifth floor.

The boss was a woman around thirty of age, dressed elegantly and still retaining looks of her youth.

Seeing Lu Chen carrying Qiqi, she knew that they were here to retake wedding photos.

Usually under these situations, it meant that they might not even be capable of affording their wedding dinner and only came to retake pictures after having slightly more earnings.

Hence, she assumed that they were not capable of affording any nice wedding dresses.

Her warm friendliness decreased even more when she noticed that Lu Chen's clothes weren't branded even if he was good looking.

"Yeah!" Lin Yijun nodded. One of the nicest dresses immediately caught her attention as she stared at it intently.

"Pretty girl, you have really great taste! This is our shop's best seller. Would you like to get this?" asked the boss as she walked closer to Lin Yijun.

Most of the customers who came in were immediately attracted by its beauty. However, they would all give up when they heard its price.

Hence, the boss did not expect much from Lin Yijun.

“So that’s why it’s so gorgeous!” Lin Yijun exclaimed.

“Of course! This wedding dress was handsewn and designed by one of the crafting masters in the country. This is the only dress in the entire Yunnan area and it took around one year for the master to sew it with his own hands. However, the price for this dress is very expensive. If you’re into this kind of design, I can introduce you to a few other dresses similar to this!”

The boss wasn’t discriminating on Lin Yijun on purpose. However, she’d experience her customers giving up on the dress too many times whenever she revealed the price of the dress, which made her tired of giving a long introduction to the dress anymore.

Moreover, she’d always assumed that her skills in judging people were very accurate.

“How much is it for a one-time renting?”
Lin Yijun nodded before inquiring.

“I’m so sorry, this dress is for sale only. This is mainly because the price of the dress is too expensive, so even I am unable to afford it if it gets damaged,” explained the boss while shaking her head.

“How much is it?” Lu Chen asked all of a sudden.

“4 million.” The boss eyed Lu Chen before telling them the price of the wedding dress.

“That’s too expensive!” Lin Yijun exclaimed, taken aback.

Although she was a billionaire now and had a company under her, she still couldn’t bring herself to spend a few million just for a wedding dress.

Most importantly, wedding dresses were only worn once in a lifetime. Who would even wear it during normal days?

Spending a few million for a dress was definitely a waste.

The boss only laughed along when she saw Lin Yijun’s expression—it was exactly like what she predicted.

Almost everyone’s expressions were similar to Lin Yijun when they heard the price; some of the men even took a few steps back out of shock.

However, Lu Chen took her by surprise.

“I’ll get it then.” Lu Chen nodded. He felt that this wedding dress was pretty as well. Lu Chen wanted to make up for Lin Yijun for not giving her the perfect marriage a few years back by presenting her the best wedding pictures ever.

The boss looked at Lu Chen in disbelief; she did not expect him to say something like this even though he was only dressed plainly.

The wedding dress was worth four million, and he immediately decided to purchase it on the spot?

He wasn't kidding her, was he?

"Are you sure you want to get this?" The boss squinted her eyes at Lu Chen. She believed that one could see through a person's lie through their eyes.

Right when Lu Chen was about to nod, Lin Yijun shook her head. "No. It's not worth it. I'm only going to wear it once anyway, there's no need for such an expensive dress."

Lu Chen chuckled. "It's just 4 million anyway. That's nothing to me. After all, it's what I owed you for these few years. I'd even pay 40 million for it!”

Back when Lu Chen had nothing with him, Lin Yijun had chosen to be married to him and she never left him although he failed his start up businesses. He could never forget how nice Lin Yijun was to him.

Now that he was rich, he felt that it was worth it to spend his money to make up for Lin Yijun’s sacrifice even if he had to spend up to billions.

“Who are you trying bluff, huh? Just get this dress for your wife before you talk about other dresses that costs hundreds of millions.”

At the same time, a young couple that was browsing through the wedding dresses were taken aback by what Lu Chen said as well; they scanned Lu Chen up and down before concluding that he must be lying.

If he was really that rich, why was he wearing clothes that cost only a few thousand?

Lu Chen wore a locally-made casual suit that cost around 2 thousand. In this society, there were simply too many people that could afford this.

In his workers' eyes, what he was doing was simply putting on a low profile.

However, to others, Lu Chen was just someone ordinary.

“Brother, if you really want to buy wedding dresses that are more expensive than this, I can recommend another place where you can get them,” the boss mocked.

She figured that Lu Chen was probably talking big.

“Oh? Of course I know about those. There’s a set of diamond embroidered wedding dresses sold in a foreign country for around 12 million too,” Lu Chen said lightly.

He obviously got what the boss really meant.

12 million was nothing to him. If that set was available here, he would have gotten it for Lin Yijun too.

“No, not overseas. There will be an auction at ten in the morning later just right here in Dali City. Apparently, the world’s third most expensive wedding dress, the Peacock Wedding Dress will be auctioned there. I would estimate that dress to be auctioned off at a price of thirty to forty million. Anything less than that would be improbable,” the boss continued taunting.

To be honest, other than the richest of the richest, no one would be able to afford spending thirty to forty million for a wedding dress, what’s more to mention of this young man dressed in simple clothing in front of her.

“Right, many have known about this auction anyway. If you really have the capabilities, go get that dress for your wife!”

“Since you guys are here to retake your wedding pictures, there must have been lots of regret, right? You should use this chance to make up to your wife!”

A few of the people around them started mocking them openly.

Lin Yijun frowned; she was irritated by those people.

Thus, she asked the boss, “Do you know where the auction will be held?”

She was planning to get that dress for their photoshoot.

People live to feed their pride; just a few moments ago, she did not feel the need to spend up to millions just for a wedding dress, but now, she was displeased with how the boss and the others treated Lu Chen.

After all, a few million was nothing compared to Lu Chen's net worth of hundreds of billions.

“Pretty girl, are you serious?” The boss stared at Lin Yijun in shock; she thought Lin Yijun had gone mad.

Although Lin Yijun was 26 years old, her skin complexion was well cared for, making her look as if she just reached 21. In the boss's eyes, she'd look like a pretty young lady.

“Of course! I've noticed that your shop's style is really nice, so I figured that your photographer must be good too. Alright then. I'll get that dress and hire your photographer to shoot for me,” said Lin Yijun as she nodded.

“The auction will be held at Yuanzhou Group’s company. You can take a cab to get there,” one of the pretty women who was picking her wedding dress suggested.

This pretty woman, Zheng Qiu, was the daughter of one of the local entrepreneurs here. Even though she had a rich tycoon for a boyfriend, they’d only planned to get a wedding dress that was worth around a few hundred thousand. She was immediately displeased when Lu Chen and Lin Yijun, who just wanted to reshoot their wedding photographs, bragged about auctioning the peacock wedding dress that cost dozens of millions.

All these while, they were the ones bragging in front of others. She really hated people like Lin Yijun who still bragged around even when she didn’t have the ability to do so.

“Alright, thank you.” Lin Yijun nodded before turning and headed out.

Right at that moment, she was emanating the charisma of a successful woman.

Lu Chen chuckled before following behind her, with Qiqi in his hands.

“Do you guys think that they will really go get the wedding dress from the auction?” a young man asked curiously.

“Nah, they were probably just looking for an excuse to leave,” the boss mocked and smirked.

She could see that the couple just now had no money with them; the guy was probably just lying when he said that he’d get his wife the dress that was worth four million.

Then, the wife said something about getting the auctioned wedding dress that cost tens of millions; it was obvious that she was just finding a way for her husband to get out of this.

“Yeah, Miss Zhang’s analysis is right. They must not be able to afford the wedding dress. However, the wife would have to provide her husband an out so that they won’t be humiliated even further,” Zheng Qiu speculated.

The boss nodded as well; she felt that the man was just messing with her.

“What are you guys talking so intently about?”

Right at that moment, a young photographer came over with his equipment and asked curiously.

“Well, a couple came just now asking for a retake for their wedding pictures and bragged that they could afford our shop’s treasured wedding dress. Then, they found some excuses to get themselves out of the sticky situation.”

“What? The good looking man with a buzzcut carrying a little girl around three years old and that very pretty looking lady? Was it them?” the photographer asked.

“Yeah! That’s them right there! How dare they come mess around in front of me!” the boss fumed.

“If it was really them though, I think that they’re actually capable of getting the dress. I ran into them when I was coming over and I heard the man laughing at his wife and teasing her that she complained that four million was expensive but wanted to get the forty million dress instead. Guess what she replied?” The photographer paused and stared at them, making all of them curious.
