

Chapter 52 Strange Attitude

Liam looked at Alyssa's back and snickered.

How could this little girl possibly figure out what the previous big guys couldn't figure out!

She thought Liam was a bit strange.

He didn't seem to care much about the Harvey Group's asset reorganization.

Especially when Edith was mentioned, his attitude was still indifferent.

He didn't look like he wanted to settle Harvey's Technology matter.

Alyssa suppressed her doubts.

She called Edith directly.

Edith's secretary answered the phone and told her that Edith was too busy to see her.

No time to see her!

Busy?

She had to go to see what he was busy with.

Edith's attitude was also strange. This matter had remained unresolved for more than half a year. Why didn't he see her now that she could resolve it?

As the morning went by, Alyssa felt strange and completely unproductive.

In the afternoon, Alyssa went to Edith's company.

He was in logistics, and his logistics company was called Evergreen Global.

As soon as she went in, she was stopped by the customer service staff and told that she couldn't go up without an appointment.

So she stayed downstairs at Evergreen Global.

She didn't see Edith all afternoon.

She had seen Edith's picture in the profile before.

She had a good memory. But Edith really hadn't shown up.

It was getting dark. Alyssa looked at the time. Leon was about to leave work.

She hesitated to pick up Leon first, but she was worried that Edith would come out after she left. And she would miss him.

She sent a message to Leon.

The Hunter Group.

Leon received the message from Alyssa.

It was getting dark and she wasn't even home yet.

He was worried about Alyssa, so he called his bodyguard to find Alyssa, and soon the bodyguard replied to him. It turned out that Alyssa was waiting for Edith downstairs at his company.

It was so late, and it was such a cold day.

Leon asked his bodyguard to pick him up and take him to Edith's company.

Ten minutes later.

Leon saw Alyssa downstairs at Evergreen Global.

She wore a heavy coat and rubbed her hands hard. The air she exhaled was steaming, and her small feet wiggled back and forth on the floor.

He could tell she was cold.

What was she doing here?

He was about to get out and take her back to the car.

Then he suddenly saw her running to Evergreen Global's office building, stopping a man at the door. He looked over and saw that Alyssa had stopped Edith.

He was frozen for a moment.

He really didn't expect Alyssa to have the patience to wait for Edith.

Alyssa finally found Edith and rushed to stop him, "Mr. Jones, I finally met you. I am Alyssa from the Finance Department of A University, and I have contacted your assistant before. Do you remember me?"

Alyssa tried to make herself look as good as possible.

Edith looked at Alyssa and frowned, "I don't know who you are. I haven't messed with students before. Don't you come any closer! Don't try to blackmail me! Besides, with your face, no one would believe you if you blackmail me. I advise you to be kind."

"Mr. Jones, I don't mean to blackmail you. I came to you to solve a problem."

Edith looked at Alyssa and smiled, "I don't like the way you solve problems with your mouth. If you're really sincere about solving my problem, you just go to the nightclub across the street."

Alyssa knew that Edith was obviously insulting her, but she didn't care about his insulting attitude.

In her last life, she had not only been insulted, but also her dignity had been violated.

Verbal insults were nothing to her.

She straightened her back and looked at Edith, raised her chin, and said calmly, "Mr. Jones, my business value is definitely higher than what you think it is. If you don't believe me, you can give me ten minutes. In those ten minutes, I promise to let you hear what you want to hear."

Edith heard Alyssa's words and turned his head to look at her, "Are you sure you can impress me in ten minutes?"

Alyssa nodded, not daring to waste time, and hurriedly said, "Evergreen Global is your priority now. You are now putting all your attention on Evergreen Global, but even if you don't want to take care of Harvey's Technology, you still have to. Half a year has passed and you have not agreed to restructure Harvey's Technology's debt. But even without the debt restructuring, Harvey's Technology has been idle for those six months, and your money is still gone."

Edith glanced at Alyssa and didn't say anything.

"Mr. Jones, you're a businessman. You don't want your money wasted, do you!"

"Is that all you want to tell me?" Edith suddenly laughed, "There's no point in you telling me that. I won't agree to an asset reorganization or a debt restructuring. Once my equity is diluted, I will have nothing left in Harvey's Technology. I've spent money before, and I won't agree to my shares just being gone." Edith glanced at Alyssa, "Mr. Harvey is probably desperate! He even got a little girl like you to say this?"

Edith finished and left.

"Mr. Jones, even if you don't agree to the debt restructuring, now your money is still wasted. Do you want this to go on forever or do you want to settle this matter quickly? If you want to settle it quickly, you should talk with me."

Edith snickered as he glanced at Alyssa and turned to walk off.

Alyssa watched Edith walk away.

Instead, she stood in place.

From the conversation she had just had with Edith, it was obvious to her that Edith didn't seem to care about this.

But from what she knew, it shouldn't have turned out that way.

She felt that there was something wrong with this matter.

Was Edith really not in a hurry to get this matter settled?

Alyssa saw a coffee shop in front of her, so she walked to it and ordered a cup of coffee.

She thought about Edith's attitude just now and was once again sure that Edith did not want to solve this matter at all.

She felt that she was going in the wrong direction.

She immediately took out her phone and started to look up the information in the coffee shop.

Leon sat in the car and looked at Alyssa's figure sitting in the coffee shop, and his gaze didn't move for a long time.

She looked so pretty when she was serious.

He didn't think she could wait here for so long. He thought she just said it casually. Whenever she got into a difficult situation, she would give up.

Now it didn't seem like that at all.

She still seemed to be trying to deal with it.

He sat in the car and had a cigarette. Then he picked up the phone and called Alyssa.

He saw Alyssa answer the phone.

"When will you be back?" He pretended to be serious.

"I ..." Alyssa glanced at the time. It was surprisingly already half-past nine. She hurriedly said, "I still have some things to do. I might be back after a while. You just finish your work and rest."

"I'll wait for you to come back."

"To be honest, I don't know when I will go back yet."

"I'll rest whenever you get back."

Alyssa froze. She was about to say something more when Leon simply hung up the phone.
