

Chapter 55 Help Ella

Alyssa shook her head, "No, Mr. Wood, you're so busy, I won't bother you."

Although she didn't know if Mr. Wood was really busy, she and Mr. Wood just met each other today, so she should be clear about their relationship and not give him any trouble.

In her last life, she was so confused about who she was that no one wanted to be her friend in the end.

Alyssa turned around and left.

Hassan looked at Alyssa's back. It had been a long time since a woman had been so attractive to him.

Alyssa came out of the asset management company.

Then, she went to Harvey's Technology directly.

When Liam saw Alyssa again, he didn't have the cold attitude he had before. He personally invited Alyssa into his office and even poured Alyssa a cup of tea himself.

"Alyssa, thank you for your help. If it weren't for you, we wouldn't know how long we'd be at a standstill."

"I can't take credit for what happened today. It's just because all three parties want to make it happen. I'm a lucky girl today. And I'm even more grateful to Mr. Harvey for trusting me."

Alyssa said as she took out the school's letter of authorization, "Mr. Harvey, I'd also like you to sign or stamp it for me. If you feel uncomfortable, you can put a note on it that the signature is limited to the competition only."

Liam smiled and quickly signed his name.

"Alyssa, you're studying finance, huh?" He said as he put away the pen.

Alyssa looked at the signed letter of authorization and nodded with a smile, "Yes."

"You're in your junior year of college and will graduate soon. Do you have any plans for the future, I mean in terms of work?"

"I don't have any yet."

"That's okay. It's not too late for you to think about it now. What do you think of my company? My company needs people like you if it intends to come back from the dead. Do you want to work for my company after graduation? Although I can't offer you a very high position now, I can promise you the highest salary for the corresponding position. You can come to me at any time."

"Mr. Harvey, thank you for your appreciation. However, I'm still a student and I haven't thought about what will happen after I graduate."

"Okay, that's fine. Once you want to work, you are always welcome to come to me."

This little girl was so good.

She was resilient and courageous.

Few young people nowadays had this kind of trait.

"Thank you, then I still have something to do and I have to go back to school first. I wish your company prosperous business and better development in the future."

Alyssa wished sincerely and saw the smile on Mr. Harvey's face.

Alyssa left.

She went to the bank again.

She met with the bank manager to make sure the procedure was already underway before she was relieved to leave.

The manager, however, stopped Alyssa, "Alyssa, do you want to work at the bank after you graduate? We have a lot of job opportunities in the bank, and all of them are suitable for your major. Think about it and I can write you a letter of recommendation."

Alyssa appreciated the manager's generous invitation, but she refused, "Thank you, manager, I still have a lot of lack of ability and need more experience, so I won't consider working for now. However, if I really want to work at the bank, I will really need your letter of recommendation. Manager, when the time comes, please don't be stingy."

"I've been in the bank for more than ten years, and I've never seen a young girl like you. Although you are a novice, you are sharp and careful and very capable."

He was also happy to have such an employee.

Although Alyssa was complimented, she was still humble.

She was clear that this time she was just lucky and could roughly see what they had in mind.

But she was still not good enough and needed to improve a lot.

After politely declining the bank manager, Alyssa went to school to start preparing for her business English exam.

There were not many people studying today. Most people were probably busy with the school's competition.

She was reading a book when she heard the taunts of two girls next to her.

"I heard that Alyssa drew the most difficult project. Tomorrow, the project will be over. She must have given up, so she came here at this time."

"I think so too. The project I drew was easy, but it still took two days. Alyssa definitely didn't finish the task."

"Alyssa's previous performance may really be fake, and she's not that good. Now, her past is all exposed. She just relies on her family's money."

Alyssa had long been used to such conversations.

She didn't have to bother herself.

She pretended not to hear them and continued reading. At that moment, she heard footsteps, and when she looked up, she saw Ella walking in with her head down.

"What's wrong?" Alyssa saw that Ella looked bad, "Are you in trouble?"

Ella nodded and looked at Alyssa, "Mr. Mathieson of the Mathieson Group won't give me his signature."

"Why?" Alyssa looked at Ella, "Is the Mathieson Group the one that competed with your family for business some time ago and didn't win over your family in the end?"

"Yes."

Ella nodded.

She could already see that Mr. Mathieson was holding a personal grudge against her.

"Have you finished your assignment?"

Ella nodded, "Well, my assignment is to find the Mathieson Group's failed projects within three years and give my opinions. If I have the right analysis, they will give me a signature. I found the Mathieson Group's failed projects, and my analysis was correct, but Mr. Mathieson just wouldn't give me his signature. I couldn't get the job done no matter what I did."

Ella was in a bad mood when she thought of the difficulty she faced.

She hadn't suffered this kind of aggravation since she was a child.

Alyssa patted Ella's shoulder, "Come on, let's handle this together."

"Alyssa, you don't have to worry about me. It's okay. Your task is harder than mine, so you'd better handle yours."

"I've already finished my assignment. Let's go, trust me, I can handle it for you."

"No, I can't use my family's connections. Otherwise, I'd break the rules. The teacher asked us to handle the problem by ourselves."

"Then I'll help you, is that okay? We're the best friends in the world, huh?"

Ella smiled at Alyssa's words. She was grateful that Alyssa could say such warm words at this time, but she still lowered her head, "How can you help me when you haven't even taken care of your business? You might as well deal with yours."

Alyssa smiled and pulled Ella out.

They went to the library. Alyssa took out her iPad and started looking up the Mathieson Group.

The chairman of the Mathieson Group was Ethan Mathieson. Mathieson Group had several companies, most of which were entertainment companies. Its entertainment companies enjoyed a good development and had many popular celebrities. Besides, it also had two cultural companies, mainly engaged in books.