

Chapter 58 Evidence

A few minutes later, several groups of pictures suddenly appeared on the TV. Those pictures quickly separated and then reassembled into a video. This video was the same video that appeared online earlier.

Everyone was dumbfounded. They didn't expect several groups of pictures to be separated and then reassembled into a new picture.

Soon, some reporters started to take pictures and record videos with their cameras.

Alyssa looked at those reporters and thought they were quite interesting. In fact, it wasn't hard to tell the truth from the photos and videos, but they probably hadn't seen a way to clarify the truth by splitting the photos as she did.

After all, it all happened so fast.

"Mrs. Hunter, someone must be jealous of you for doing this. Who did this?"

"That's what I'm going to ask you guys. Who called you guys? What website did the video come from? I'll call the police now. As long as I follow the clues, I will definitely be able to find out who actually did it."

When the crowd heard Alyssa's words, they all realized that it was actually very easy to find out who was behind it.

One of the reporters quickly stood up, "I know where this video came from. The first time I saw this video was on a forum. That forum seems to be a school forum, and I took a screenshot."

"I know that too." Another reporter also came over, "That is the forum of the finance department of A University."

Alyssa took the reporter's phone and quickly searched for that account's information.

The account information was quickly checked out.

Emily, a junior in the finance department at the A University.

Alyssa projected the information she found on the TV, which not only had Emily's information, but also her picture.

Since she could do such a thing, she should know that she would be found out sooner or later!

Today she was going to reveal her true face!

The reporter saw the information and hurriedly took pictures of the TV.

A few minutes later.

The reporters who were invited by Alyssa to have tea all left.

Alyssa breathed a sigh of relief and jumped around to clean up the floor.

Although she was injured, her movement was not affected at all.

Leon looked at Alyssa's relaxed look and couldn't help but ask her, "Do you have evidence to prove that Emily made the video?"

"Yes!"

"I know the video is fake, but I don't believe what you just showed in front of the reporters. Anyone can make a video like that. Even if Emily did post that kind of video, she probably just retweeted it."

Alyssa laughed, "The evidence for you is certainly not that."

She limped to Leon and shoved her phone into Leon's hand.

When she saw that Leon hadn't moved, she simply opened the recording she had saved earlier.

Soon, the conversation between the two men who had attacked her earlier and her was heard on the phone.

After a few minutes, the conversation ended.

Alyssa took a cup of tea to Leon, took back her phone, and walked back to her room without saying anything.

Leon held the hot tea and watched Alyssa's back as she left, unable to stop the corners of his mouth from turning up.

This girl was so interesting!

Alyssa went back to her room and it didn't take long for her to feel that there was someone else beside her.

She sensed that it was Leon and turned around and got into Leon's arms.

His embrace was so warm.

It was really comfortable.

"Does it still hurt?"

"No."

In fact, it still hurt a little, but she could see that Leon seemed to feel sorry for her.

"Then you should go to sleep! You have to take me to work tomorrow."

"It has been snowing for the past few days. It's getting cold, so we need to leave early tomorrow. It's not good to get stuck in traffic." Alyssa was a little tired. Now leaning into Leon's arms, she felt especially warm.

Once she was warm, she especially wanted to sleep. She couldn't control herself any longer, so she closed her eyes and leaned into Leon's arms, falling asleep peacefully.

Leon looked at Alyssa who was sleeping and suddenly felt that she was as good as a kitten.

He touched her cheek and saw her frowning slightly and humming softly.

Her voice like a wounded little beast actually sounded a little pitiful.

"Leon ..."

"Hmm?"

"Don't leave me again! I love you so much, please don't leave me."

Leon heard Alyssa's voice and moved over to kiss her on the forehead.

She slept soundly and showed no signs of waking up.

Leon hugged her and soon closed his eyes and fell asleep too.

Early the next morning.

Alyssa drove Leon to work and then slowly made her way to school.

She had just arrived at school when she heard a lot of talks.

"I heard that Emily was called away early in the morning by the Student Affairs Office. I am so curious about what happened to her. It's quite strange."

"Emily is a good student. Did she get praised?"

"I don't think so. Her performance seemed to have declined earlier, and even Alyssa did better than her. She didn't look like she received a praise. Could she break the rules? I heard that our department had several violations in this competition. Those who broke the rules are going to be disqualified from the exam and have to be given a demerit."

"You're saying that Emily broke the rules?"

"I guess so."

When Alyssa heard this, she suddenly froze.

She was so busy with those reporters yesterday that she forgot to bring the signature that Mr. Harvey gave her.

She was going to hand in her grades today.

How could she be so careless!

Alyssa turned around to go back to get it, and saw Ella just in time, "Ella, I forgot to bring something here. I have to go back and get it."

"Alyssa, the teacher is asking for your grades for the competition! You should hurry over there!"

Alyssa came up to Ella's ear and whispered a few words.

Ella nodded, "Then you go! I'll talk to the teacher."

She was in a hurry to leave when Emily, who walked from afar, stopped her.

"Alyssa, you're the one who gave my information to those reporters yesterday, right? Those reporters recorded it all. The evidence is solid, you can't deny it! You are so vicious! I just retweeted that video, and you slandered me as the one who started it! Do you envy me or are you jealous of me? You have to pay the legal responsibility for slandering me!"

"Fine! Then you can sue me! I was worried that you wouldn't sue me. Besides, even if you don't sue me, I'm going to sue you!" Alyssa looked at Emily and leaned to her ear, "You really think I only have that kind of evidence. I have more than that. If you don't believe me, you can try!"

"What do you ... you mean?"

"I'm busy right now, so go away!"

Emily looked at Alyssa's anxious look and suddenly laughed, "You didn't finish the task of the competition, right! I heard that you were unlucky and drew the most difficult topic. Even if you didn't finish the task, it doesn't matter. After all, it's not that humiliating that you drew the hardest topic."

Alyssa looked at Emily's smug look and really wanted to hit her.

But she didn't have time for her now. She walked around Emily and turned to leave, but Emily stopped her again.

Alyssa's face was very bad, and she swung her fist at Emily.
