

Chapter 94 Collusion

"Derick."

Even though his voice was small, Alyssa heard the name he said.

Derick was Chloe's father.

He wouldn't do such a thing if he didn't do anything wrong!

He must have gotten someone to warn her because he was afraid.

The corners of Alyssa's mouth twitched. She was about to say something when she felt a figure come up behind her.

Just as she turned her head, a harsh slap struck her shoulder. She immediately felt a dull pain. Before she could see the person clearly, she had already closed her eyes and collapsed to the ground.

Ten minutes later.

Leon walked out of the Hunter Group without Alyssa in sight.

In the past, Alyssa would be here waiting for him at this time.

But why wasn't she here today?

Leon looked around and soon saw Alyssa's car parked in the other direction.

Alyssa drove cautiously and always parked in a very disciplined manner. Why did she park her car at the intersection today?

This didn't fit Alyssa's habits.

Leon had a vague feeling that something was wrong. He hurried over and found the car door open. Alyssa's bag was still on the passenger seat, but she was gone.

He quickly searched around and didn't find Alyssa's phone. So he immediately took out his phone to call Alyssa.

The phone rang quickly in the vicinity.

Leon found the phone on the ground. It was Alyssa's phone.

He looked down around the phone. There were obvious signs of a struggle nearby. He knew something had happened to Alyssa.

Leon immediately called his bodyguard to search for Alyssa while he searched the scene for clues.

There were no useful clues left at the scene. But the good thing was that Alyssa's car had a dashcam.

Leon looked at the dashcam and found the footage of Alyssa being knocked out and taken away. His face was grim, and the air around him became cold.

He calmly took out the phone to tell his bodyguard the license plate number of the big car.

After doing this, he immediately started Alyssa's car and drove into the distance.

North of the town.

In a dangerous house.

Alyssa felt a little cold and moved her body slightly. But she felt she couldn't move. Her legs and arms were bound.

She quickly remembered what had happened earlier. She had been kidnapped?

Who had kidnapped her?

It seemed that she must have gotten in the way of some people's interests at Jones Group.

This could be done by the mole in Jones Group.

Thinking about it, Alyssa wasn't afraid.

She was missing, and Leon would definitely come looking for her.

She might even be able to find the mole in Jones Group.

But right now, Alyssa was upset at the thought that she had been kidnapped.

She was the one who had learned taekwondo for two months. If there weren't so many of them, how could she have been kidnapped!

A cold wind blew over and she couldn't help but shiver.

What the hell kind of place was this? Why was it so cold?

She obviously felt that her waist was uncomfortable.

The body ached.

Alyssa calmed down.

No matter what this place was, she knew Derick would not kill her.

Otherwise, she wouldn't be able to catch her breath so easily right now.

With this in mind, Alyssa became even calmer.

She had to find a way to get out of here now. Even if Derick didn't want to kill her, he might be up to something else.

If he used her to threaten someone, then it would be serious!

Alyssa thought of Leon first. For Leon's sake, she had to get out of here.

She tried to move her hands but found she couldn't move at all. They had tied her up real tight.

It was pitch black and she had no idea what the hell was going on here.

For the first time since her rebirth, Alyssa felt that she was so useless.

Just as she was wondering what to do, she faintly heard the sound of footsteps.

At the thought of someone coming soon, she dared not move even more. She stood quietly where she was, closing her eyes and pretending to be unconscious.

"Let's just throw this woman into the sea! What the hell was Derick thinking? I can't believe he still keeps this little girl."

"Cut the crap! We'll do whatever Derick tells us to do. Keep an eye on her! We have to use her to force Zayne to withdraw voluntarily! As long as Derick and Davis work together, we can help Derick make this happen. In the future, we will share the benefits. As long as Jones Group is Derick's, how can we worry about not having money to spend in the future?"

"Got it! You're so nosy."

"Work a little harder! Our good days are ahead of us!" The man walked to Alyssa and found her still unconscious, "Why is she still unconscious?"

"Maybe I used too much force just now. After all, she's just a little girl. It's normal for her to be unable to take that hit. You're just too nervous. She will wake up in a while."

"Okay, you keep an eye on her. I'll take those two people to Derick," the man stopped again before leaving, "Don't kill her. Otherwise, we'll be in big trouble!"

"Don't worry. I'll definitely keep an eye on this little girl."

Soon, the sound of talking was gone, and the sound of footsteps was gradually distant.

Hearing no more voices, Alyssa breathed a sigh of relief.

Although she didn't know where this was, she figured out one thing. She had been tied up here by Derick. Derick didn't kill her because he was worried that it would interfere with his cooperation with Davis to take over Jones Group. On the other hand, her presence affected Derick's plan, which was why he brought her here. Maybe she was useful to Derick in another way.

She really regretted not checking Derick before. If she had investigated him before, she would not have let him have it so easily.

However, it was good that there was only one person here. She had to find a way to escape. She had to inform Hassan that Derick had colluded with Davis. Maybe there was information she hadn't found out about the design department. She was so careless.

Fortunately, they didn't seem to know that she was Leon's wife. Now she didn't want to influence Leon.

Thinking about Leon, she was a little worried. Did Leon already know that something had happened to her?

If Leon knew that, he would be very anxious.

Maybe, he was trying to find a way to save her right now.

The thought that Leon would come to her rescue made her even more unafraid.

Alyssa stayed quiet. She opened her eyes when she was sure there was really no more noise.

She rolled over and saw the darkness of the night outside the window. A little starlight filtered into the house. It was dark now, so she didn't know what time it was.
