

Chapter 97 Temptation

Suddenly, a big fire burned in front of her.

Seeing the fire, she began to back up.

Soon the fire spread to her side.

She felt a burning pain and immediately sat up from the bed.

After sitting up, she looked around nervously.

There was no fire around!

This was her and Leon's bedroom.

She sighed with relief and leaned back against the bed, thinking about the dream she had just had.

That dream was so real. She propped her head up with her hands. When her fingers touched her eyes, she realized that she had tears in her eyes.

There were footsteps outside.

Immediately, a fire started in her head. She looked up nervously. When she saw that the person in front of her was Leon, she didn't care about her injuries and rushed to Leon.

Looking at Alyssa, whose eyes were red with tears, Leon subconsciously hugged her tightly.

"I'm scared. Don't go, okay?" Alyssa closed her eyes and spoke nervously in Leon's ear. Her hands gripped Leon's shirt tightly.

Leon patted her shoulder, "I won't leave."

"Honey, you're not going anywhere, okay?" Hearing Leon's low magnetic voice and feeling Leon's warm embrace, Alyssa finally couldn't control her emotions and rubbed herself hard into his arms.

"What's wrong?" Leon hugged Alyssa. Looking at her red eyes, he simply picked her up.

"I had a dream. I dreamed that a lot of people beat me up and I was scared."

She was red-eyed, like an aggrieved rabbit.

"It was just a dream."

"Then you don't leave me. You are mine. When I sleep, you have to stay with me. Honey, don't leave me."

Alyssa's petulant and sweet voice rang in Leon's ears.

If any other woman had said that, Leon would have pushed her away.

But she was Alyssa, and he couldn't push her away.

Looking at Alyssa, who was scared in his arms and wouldn't let him go, Leon suddenly felt warmth in his chest. He tried his best not to look at Alyssa to make him look normal.

But Alyssa still made her way into his arms.

He couldn't help himself.

He went over and kissed Alyssa directly.

Alyssa felt Leon's response and couldn't control her feelings anymore. She couldn't care less about her injuries and kissed Leon directly on her toes.

As soon as she came close, Leon could smell her fragrant scent. He couldn't let her go. He kissed her with all his might, soon leaving a trail of kisses.

Alyssa was in a daze when she realized Leon had taken her to bed.

Her eyes were red as she looked at him. Only a few minutes had passed and she was unable to say anything else after being kissed.

Leon quickly turned off the lights.

They were inseparably embraced.

Moonlight and starlight poured into the room. The people in the room didn't bother to enjoy the view. It took a long time for the bed to stop swaying.

After this incident, Alyssa continued to work at Citic.

Hassan did not mention the Jones Group case again.

She didn't ask about it and just did whatever Hassan said. She had no contact with the Jones Group project, so she didn't know how far it had gone.

The day before New Year's Eve, Hassan called her into his office and handed her a bank card.

"You suffered last time. However, you did a good job. This is the reward I promised you last time. I will give you the rest after the Jones Group project is finished. Now things are pretty much settled, and Jones Group will undergo a reorganization of its assets next year. I hope you can stay and work on this project."

"Last time ..." Alyssa thought about it for a moment and decided not to mention it. She took the card and looked at it, "After the New Year, I'm sure I won't be here because I'm going to pursue my studies and I have to get so many certificates. Otherwise, after I graduate, no company will want me."

Hassan knew from the beginning that this girl was smart.

When he went to the Lloyds' party yesterday, he met Ella and asked about Alyssa. But before he could know any useful information, Ella went out. However, he knew that Alyssa was going to pursue her studies and he also knew that she might start preparing for the exam after the New Year. But he still had some reluctance to let go of Alyssa.

If he gave up such a nice girl, she would certainly be a curse to him once she was recruited by his rival company.

Hassan pursed his lips and said, "Have you thought about a part-time job?"

"Mr. Wood, you want to keep me?"

Hassan frowned. He'd said that, and she still didn't believe him?

Alyssa smiled and said, "The business world is deceitful. I was inspired by the Jones Group case last time. I don't think I'm ready to enter the business world yet, so I wouldn't consider working again. Even if it was part-time, I don't have the ability to do that."

Adults had to make choices.

Now she chose to return to her studies in the hope that her life would be a little simpler.

When she was at Jones Group, because she was a newcomer to the workplace, Hassan used her to get their attention and give a warning to the people behind all of this. Then, they would focus on her.

This kind of trick was common in the business world. She had seen some of the projects Hassan had done before. It was normal to take advantage of someone. She had seen it all before.

Again, she wasn't angry. It was true that she wasn't that generous, but Leon had reminded her that this was the workplace, and these were the rules.

Hassan glanced at Alyssa, who was calm, not angry.

There were too few newcomers who could be this calm. He truly wanted Alyssa to stay, "How about this? I'll pay you according to the way partners in asset companies are paid. I'd like you to stay. Of course, you're free to do what you want with your job. You can do whatever you want as long as you can make sure your work is done."

Hearing Hassan's words, Alyssa was somewhat tempted.

Of course, Hassan could see that Alyssa was tempted. He said, "Mr. Jones will be happy to see you continue to work with Jones Group because after all, you are familiar with him. Alyssa, as a newcomer, you can work continuously on projects, which will not only provide you with experience but also, accordingly, your ability will be improved. With your ability, you will attract more companies to be interested in you. When the time comes, I will only offer you a higher salary if I want to keep you in my company."

Alyssa nodded, "What you said is quite good, but I really can't promise you. Because I really have to put my studies first. I'm sorry!"

To be continued